ADOLPH NEUENDORFF.

NEUENDORFF was born at Hamburg, on the thirteenth of June, 1843. His father was a wealthy merchant who gave his son a good education, and fostered his early musical inclination with sound instruction in piano playing, never dreaming that these youthful talents would ever be turned to professional account. The year 1855, however, wrecked the fortunes of the senior Neuendorff, and he brought his family to America. A year after, at Niblo's Garden, New Yorkers were treated to their first experiences of German opera, and Joseph Weinlich, the basso of the troupe, took up his residence with the Neuendorffs. Weinlich became greatly interested in Adolph, and gave him gratuitous lessons on the violin, and so proficient did the youngster become in his musical studies that it was determined that he should make music his profession Within two years Adolph became chorus master and trumpet player at the German Theatre in the Bowery.

In six months Franz Herwig, the leader, promoted him to the second violin at the munificent salary of $1.50 per week, with extra compensation for balls and parties. Though he was forced to work early and late to assist in the support of his parents, young Neuendorff found time to study theory and composition with Dr. Gustave Schilling, under whose patronage he made his debut as a pianist in the old Dodsworth Hall in 1859. Shortly after this Herwig made him first violinist, but before he could settle down to the enjoyment of his new laurels his father took him off to Brazil, where for two years he was baffled about, fiddle in hand, by all sorts of ill fortune. He returned to New York in '61, a youth of 18, with the experience of a man of 40. At this time he made the acquaintance of Carl Anschutz, with whom he renewed his studies, and by whom he was practically and thoroughly instructed in the details of orchestral leadership.

Neuendorff has the higest regard for Anschutz, and to-day he speaks of him as his musical father. The two became the most intimate of friends and the most constant of companions. Anschutz loved him as if he were his son. They were inseparable in studies, occupations and pleasures. Neuendorff to day possesses many orchestral scores bearing their mutual handwriting, the old man marking out his ideas and the young man executing them. Neuendorff made rapid strides in his profession. He fairly breathed, ate, drank, talked and dreamed music. "Then was the time," he says, "when music came to me to remain with me forever, and since that time music has been my second nature."

He was 20 years old when he made his first bow as conductor of an orchestra. This was at the German Theatre in Milwaukee. He was 21 when he became the musical head of Anschutz's German opera, under Leonard Grover's management.

It would require an entire page of the Record to enumerate the operatic and other musical enterprises of which Neuendorff has been the mainspring. It was Neuendorff who brought Wachtel to America; it was Neuendorff who, in 1872, in conjunction with Carl Rosa, effected that never to be forgotten combination of Parepa, Adelaide Phillipps, Wachtel and Santley, and it was Neuendorff who brought Pappenheim to America on Watchel's second visit.

Neuendorff's American production of the Wagnerian operas is historic. As he gave them the works it may be said to have come fresh from the hands of their creator. His 11 years management at the Germania Theatre furnish a brilliant chapter in the annals of the German drama in America. He succeeded Thomas as conductor of the Philharmonic Society of New York. But in his endeavor to transfer to the larger stage of the old Wallack house his dramatic work at the Germania, Neuendorff lost a fortune. The public refused to follow him to the new location. Nothing daunted him. He was on his feet in a moment hard at work at the conductor's stand. Neuendorff is as good as stage manager as at the conductor's desk. It has been written of him that, besides his years of important work in the line of grand opera, "he has found time and opportunity to direct his own theatre, translate plays into German for other managers, French plays into German for his own stage; translate and produce "Pinafore" in German, carry on active litigation with reference to property right in the German drama, adopt light opera, vaudeville and burlesque to the requirements of his own company and the capacity of his own house, and more than satisfy his audiences with novelties and revivals. To be a theatrical manager, or a purveyor of theatrical material or a director of a theatrical stage, or the conductor of an orchestra—either of these positions would suffice for most men, but Neuendorff has filled them all in conjunction with his larger work as a sort of recreation from more onerous musical labors, and has been able besides to spend several weeks in Europe every year seeking for new attractions."

Neuendorff has never done anything with a better purpose than he is now doing in the opening of the New-Central Park Garden Concerts, in placing within the reach of everybody's purse a form of enjoyment which is all the career because so easily attainable.

Ethel. Agnes Ethel, the owner of "Agnes" rechristened "Andrea," "Anselma" and "In Spite of All," is now a millionaire widow, though she was once a poor sewing girl employed by Mrs. Matilda Heron, the mother of Bijon Heron. It was Mrs. Heron who first discovered her talents and brough her out in a small part. She made later her first success with Augustin Daly in an emotional part as Frou Frou, being leading lady, and Clara Morris supporting her. Having made a mark here, she went to Europe and bought the play "Agnes" from Sardou. In this she reached her highest fame, and while she was playing in "Agnes" Mr. Tracy fell in love with her and proposed marriage. Miss Ethel responded to Mr. Tracy's affections and agreed to leave the stage for his sake, though the latter lost by it one of the best american actresses that had ever trod its boards.

The New Central Park Garden.

Another popular Summer resort has been added to our City. The New Central Park Garden is delightfully situated on the plaza bound by 59th and 60th Streets, and by Eighth Avenue and the Boulevard. It is directly opposite the Central Park, and can be reached by the Sixth and Ninth Avenue Elevated Roads; by the Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Broadway and Belt line, and from the Grand Central Depot via the 42nd Street and Boulevard surface cars.

Mr. Adolph Neuendorff, so long and favorably known in connection with many of the best Musical enterprises of this and other cities, is at the head of the organization. He proposes to model his musical programmes after the plan of the famous "Bilse Concerts" in Berlin A blending of popular music with the gems of the classic works will form the distinctive feature of the musical arrangements. The favorite overtures and airs of days gone by will be revived and find association with all that is fresh and new of the present. During a recent trip to Europe Mr. Neuendorff has collected several gems which will be given for the first time in this country at the New Central Park Garden Concerts.

The orchestra consists of sixty soloists selected from the Philharmonic and other Musical organizations and from the orchestras of the Metropolitan Opera House and American Opera Company. From time to time, it found necessary, famous soloists will be introduced as special features. The general excellence of the orchestra itself however will be its principal recommendation.

The New Central Park Garden will aim to be the most complete resort of its kind in this country. The concert hall is 250 feet long by 110 wide. It contains a spacious balcony from which a full view of the main floor may be had.

Over four thousand persons can be accommodated on the floor and balcony. The decorations are fanciful in design and pleasing in color; shrubs, evergreens and tropical plants, artfically arranged lend a charm to the Garden. The magnificent illuminated fountain placed in the center of the garden will be in full play during the progress of the Concerts. Underneath the balcony the space is subdivided into bowers, partially separated from each other by partitions, intertwined with trailing vines and variegated flowers. Between these and the main floor a wide promenade, lined on each side by evergreens and palms affords an opportunity to visitors to move about. The cooling apparatus, has been thoroughly tested and in the most efficient of its kind in the country. The situation of the building admits of the most perfect ventilation. Standing alone, with open windows on all sides, it has the advantage of cooling breezes from any point of the compass.

It has been determined to make the price of admission twenty-five cents so that none may be denied the privilege of enjoying a rich musical treat of the works of the best masters by an orchestra, composed of the most accomplished instrumentalists, led by Mr. Adolph Neuendorff.

Parties going out of town or leaving for Europe, should not fail to supply themselves with HUYLER'S delicious BON BONS. Our depots in New York are on Broadway, between 17th and 18th streets, and Broadway, corner Liberty street.

Mr. H. E. Krebiel's Review of the Musical Season, 1885–1886, has appeared at Novello, Ewer & Co., New York and London.

Madame Madeline Schiller assisted at a concert in Newark on Saturday evening, given By the Ladies' Auxiliary Society. Her performance was especially fine; she played Labeck's "Berceuse" and Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2; in both she was immensely applauded.

Miss Clara Louise Kellogg sailed for Europe on the White Star steamship Germanic; she means to take a recreative trip after her great Southern tour. She is in excellent health and spirits.

On May 10 Rubenstein conducted a grand orchestral concert at the Eden Theatre, Paris. He carried away the whole audience with the personal magnetism and enthusiasm of the performances under his baton.

When Mrs. Langtry visits America next autumn she will bring with her a new play written for her by Mr. Charles Coghlan. It is a three-act society comedy, which will be produced at the Princess's Theatre, London. Mrs. Langtry will take a part entirely different from any she has previously undertaken, being that of an adventuress almost wholly wicked. Of the merits of the play of course nothing can as yet be said, but the constructive skill of the author may to a certain extent be judged from the fact that in the course of the three acts "Mrs. Langtry will wear five magnificent dresses—one plain riding dress, two opera cloaks and two hats'

ADOLPH NEUENDORFF.

NEUENDORFF was born at Hamburg, on the thirteenth of June, 1843. His father was a wealthy merchant who gave his son a good education, and fostered his early musical inclination with sound instruction in piano playing, never dreaming that these youthful talents would ever be turned to professional account. The year 1855, however, wrecked the fortunes of the senior Neuendorff, and he brought his family to America. A year after, at Niblo's Garden, New Yorkers were treated to their first experiences of German opera, and Joseph Weinlich, the basso of the troupe, took up his residence with the Neuendorffs. Weinlich became greatly interested in Adolph, and gave him gratuitous lessons on the violin, and so proficient did the youngster become in his musical studies that it was determined that he should make music his profession. Within two years Adolph became chorus master and tympani player at the German Theatre (now the Volks Garten) in the Bowery. In six months Franz Herwig, the leader, promoted him to the second violin at the munificent salary of $1.50 per week, with extra compensation for balls and parties. Though he was forced to work early and late to assist in the support of his parents, young Neuendorff found time to study theory and composition with Dr. Gustave Schilling, under whose patronage he made his debut as a pianist in the old Dodsworth Hall in 1859. Shortly after this Herwig made him first violinist, but before he could settle down to the enjoyment of his new laurels his father took him off to Brazil, where for two years he was buffled about, fiddle in hand, by all sorts of ill fortune. He returned to New York in '61, a youth of 18, with the experience of a man of 40. At this time he made the acquaintance of Carl Anschutz, with whom he renewed his studies, and by whom he was practically and thoroughly instructed in the details of orchestral leadership.

Neuendorff regards Anschutz as the greatest conductor who ever came to these shores, and today he speaks of him as his musical father. The two became the most intimate of friends and the most constant of companions. Anschutz loved him as if he were his son. They were inseparable in studies, occupations and pleasures. Neuendorff to-day possesses many orchestral scores bearing their mutual handwriting, the old man marking out his ideas and the young man executing them. Neuendorff made rapid strides in his profession. He fairly breathed, ate, drank, talked and dreamed music. "Then was the time," he says, "when music came to me to remain with me forever, and since that time music has been my second nature."

He was 20 years old when he made his first bow as conductor of an orchestra. This was at the German Theatre in Milwaukee. He was 21 when he became the musical head of Anschutz's German opera, under Leonard Grover's management, a company of over 100 singers, including such artists as Madames Johannsen and Friderici, and Joseph Hermanns, Habelmann, Himmer, Steinecke, and his old master Weinlich. With this company he made his Boston debut as a conductor at the German Opera Festival at the Boston Theatre in the spring of 1865, and from that time on his star was in the ascendant.

It would require an entire page of the Record to enumerate the operatic and other musical enterprises of which Neuendorff has been the mainspring. It was Neucudorff who brought Wachtel to America; it was Neuendorff who, in 1872, in conjunction with Carl Rosa, effected that never to be forgotten combination of Parepa, Adelaide Phillipps, Wachtel and Santley, and it was Neuendorff who brought Pappenheim to America on Watchel's second visit.

Neuendorff's American production of the Wagnerian operas is historic. As he gave them the works may be said to have come fresh from the hands of their creator. His eleven years of management at the Germania Theatre furnish a brilliant chapter in the annals of the drama in America. He succeeded Thomas as conductor of the Philharmonic Society of New York. But in his endeavor to transfer to the largest stage of the old Wallack house his dramatic work at the Germania, Neuendorff lost a fortune. The public refused to follow him to the new location. Nothing daunted him. He was on his feet in a moment hard at work at the conductor's stand. Neuendorff is as good as stage manager as at the conductor's desk. It has been written of him that, besides his years of important work in the line of grand opera, "he has found time and opportunity to direct his own theatre, translate plays into German for other managers, French plays into German for his own stage; transla'e and produce "Pinafo.e" in German, carry on an active litigation with reference to property right in the German drama, adapt opera, vaudeville and burlesque to the requirements of his own company and the capacity of his own house, and more than satisfy his audiences with novelties and revivals. To be a theatrical manager, or a purveyor of theatrical material or a director of a theatrical stage, or the conductor of an orchestra—either of these positions would suffice for most men, but Neuendorff has filled them all in conjunction with his larger work as a sort of recreation from more onerous musical labors, and has been able besides to spend several weeks in Europe every year seeking for new attractions."

Neuendorff has never done anything with a better purpose than he is now doing in the opening of the New Central Park Garden Concerts, in pleasing within the reach of everybody's purse a form of enjoyment which is all the dearer because so easily attainable.

The New Central Park Garden.

Another popular Summer resort has been added to our City. The New Central Park Garden is delightfully situated on the plaza bound by 59th and 60th Streets, and by Eighth Avenue and the Boulevard. It is directly opposite the Central Park, and can be reached by the Sixth and Ninth Avenue Elevated Roads; by the Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Broadway and Belt line, and from the Grand Central Depot via the 42nd Street and Boulevard surface cars.

Mr. Adolph Neuendorff, so long and favorably known in connection with many of the best Musical enterprises of this and other cities, is at the head of the organization. He proposes to model his musical programmes after the plan of the famous "Bilse Concerts" in Berlin A blending of popular music with the gems of the classic works will form the distinctive feature of the musical arrangements. The favorite overtures and airs of days gone by will be revived and find association with all that is fresh and new of the present. During a recent trip to Europe Mr. Neuendorff has collected several gems which will be given for the first time in this country at the New Central Park Garden Concerts.

The orchestra consists of sixty soloists selected from the Philharmonic and other Musical organizations and from the orchestras of the Metropolitan Opera House and American Opera Company. From time to time, if found necessary, famous soloists will be introduced as special features. The general excellence of the orchestra itself however will be its principal recommendation.

The New Central Park Garden will aim to be the most complete resort of its kind in this country. The concert hall is 250 feet long by 110 wide. It contains a spacious balcony from which a full view of the main floor may be had.

Over four thousand persons can be accommodated on the floor and balcony. The decorations are fanciful in design and pleasing in color; shrubs, evergreens and tropical plants, artiesally arranged lend a charm to the Garden. The magnificent illuminated fountain placed in the center of the garden will be in full play during the progress of the Concerts. Underneath the balcony the space is subdivided into bowers, partially separated from each other by partitions, intertwined with trailing vines and variegated flowers. Between these and the main floor a wide promenade, lined on each side by evergreens and palms affords an opportunity to visitors to move about. The cooling apparatus, has been thoroughly tested and in the most efficient of its kind in the country. The situation of the building admits of the most perfect ventilation. Standing alone, with open windows on all sides, it has the advantage of cooling breezes from any point of the compass.

It has been determined to make the price of admission twenty-five cents so that none may be denied the privilege of enjoying a rich musical treat of the works of the best masters by an orchestra, composed of the most accomplished instrumentalists, led by Mr. Adolph Neuendorff.

The American opera seems to have met with great success in the West. Chicago papers speak in glowing terms of the artists, music, scenes and orchestra, and the crowded houses attest to the interest the public take in the performances. The Western tour will come to a close in June, and the fall season will open in San Francisco.

The Meininger Court Co. will open the season at the Academy of Music, Oct. 11th. According to the first announcement of the management they were to begin Oct. 20 but owing to successful negociations of Mr. Simon, who is now in Europe, the Meininger Company will arrive a fortnight sooner in New York. Hence the change

Parties going out of town or leaving for Europe, should not fail to supply themselves with HUYLER'S delicious BON BONS. Our depots in New York are on Broadway, between 17th and 18th streets, and Broadway, corner Liberty street.

Mr. H. E. Krebiel's Review of the Musical Season, 1885–1886, has appeared at Novello, Ewer & Co., New York and London.

Madame Madeline Schiller assisted at a concert in Newark on Saturday evening, given By the Ladies' Auxiliary Society. Her performance was especially fine; she played Lubeck's "Berceuse" and Liszt's Hnngarian Rhapscdy No. 2; in both she was immensely applauded.

Miss Clara Louise Kellogg sailed for Europe on the White Star steamship Germanic; she means to take a recreative trip after her great Southern tour. She is in excellent health and spirits.

On May 10 Rubenstein conducted a grand orchestral concert at the Eden Theatre, Paris. He carried away the whole audience with the personal magnetism and enthusiasm of the performances under his baton.

ORGANS are celebrated throughout the world. At every one of the GREAT WORLD'S EXHIBITIONS for SIXTEEN YEARS they have been awarded the HIGHEST HONORS; no other American organs having been found equal to them at any. A late despatch announces that they are again awarded the highest honors at the World's Exhibition now in progress in Amsterdam, Netherlands.
The largest sizes, from $500 to $900 each, are not only UNEQUALLED but quite UNRIVALLED. NO ONE SHOULD JUDGE THEIR CAPACITY AS AN INSTRUMENT UNTIL HE HAS SEEN AND HEARD THEM. They are, of all single instruments, the VERY BEST INTERPRETERS of operatic and orchestral as well as sacred music; and their sustained tones afford the best possible support to the voice. Popular styles are from $22 to $200 each. For cash, easy payments, or rented. Catalogues free. We usually have on hand at our own warerooms styles not on catalogue and second-hand organs which can be offered at very low prices.
PIANOS. We have recently commenced the manufacture of Upright Pianos for us, introducing important improvements, adding to power, beauty of tone and durability.

THE NEW SONG.

"The Lullaby Sung me by Mother."

STEPHEN MASSETT has just published at Chickering Hall one of the most charming melodies, and, if we mistake not, it will soon become one of the popular ballads of the day. It is dedicated to Alexander Taylor, Jr., Esq., of Wall Street, and the words, which are very touching, are by the editor of the Mail and Express, Mr. James Foster Coates. Madame Nilsson has promised to sing it, and next week that phenomenal soprano, Walter Hawkins, Esq., of Haverly's Minstrels, includes it in his programme. Orders are coming in rapidly for it.

Pianos and Organs of the best makers in great variety for sale and to rent.

An Important Invention,

One evening, several years ago, Franz Liszt, Camille Saint-Saens, and one or two other distinguished pianists were sohcing themselves with musical chit-chat at the house of a mutual friend, and the conversation happened to turn upon pianoforte playing. After several topics had been touched upon, one of the party suggested, "Would it not be a fine thing if a sustaining pedal could be made, which, instead of raising the dampers from all the strings at once, would keep the dampers raised only from those strings which have been struck by the player?" "Ah!" exclaimed Liszt, with enthusiasm, "such a pedal would be the crowning of all our wishes; with its aid we could make pianoforte-playing really worthy the name of a fine art!" But, he added, with a sigh, "neither you nor I will live long enough to see it invented." This despairing prophecy of the great pianist, was, however, destined not to be fulfilled. The Messrs. Chickering & Sons have just patented, both in the United States and abroad, a new sustaining pedal, which accomplishes exactly what was so earnestly wished for by Liszt on the occasion referred to above.

We do not propose describing the mechanism of this new invention of the Chickerings, but, as it is, in our deliberate opinion, the most important advance in piano manufacture that has been made since the pianoforte came into existence, we will attempt to give the reader some idea of the advantages it insures both to the pianist and his hearers.

The old sustaining pedal (vulgarly called loud pedal) raises the dampers from all the strings at once, and keeps them raised so long as the player presses it down with his foot. This keeping the dampers raised, allows everything struck by the player to continue vibrating after he has withdrawn his fingers from the keys. Were this all, the old pedal would be perfect, but this is by no means all. As the dampers are kept raised from all the strings at once, not only those struck by the player are at liberty to vibrate, but every string in the whole instrument is equally free to do so, if it chooses. In fact, very many strings do so choose to vibrate, in accordance with the physical law of sympathetic vibrations, and thus a number of dissonant notes are added to the notes struck by the player. For instance, suppose the player to raise the dampers with the pedal, and to strike the chord of C major; only the notes, C, E, G. These three notes ring out bravely, but they do not ring out alone. Many other notes "respond" to them, faintly, to be sure, but quite audibly for all that. The C is answered by every C, E, G and B-flat that lies above it in the instrument; the E is answered by every G-sharp, B and D; while the G calls forth sympathetic response from every B, D and F. The result is that the original chord of C major, struck by the pianist, is heard with a humming accompaniment of the following collection of mutually dissonant notes C, D, E, F, G-sharp, B-flat, B-natural. Indeed, the old pedal sustains the tone not only of every note struck by the player, but also allows the harmonic overtones of each one of these notes to sound too.

The new sustaining pedal of the Chickerings keeps the dampers raised only from such strings as are actually struck by the player. As the dampers are not raised from the other strings, all sympathetic response from those represents the harmonic overtones of the notes struck is impossible. Unlike the so-called Sostenuto pedal, which only sustains notes which have been struck before it is pressed down by the player's foot, this new sustaining pedal sustains every note that may be struck while it is kept pressed down. Thus it performs all the useful functions which the old pedal was intended to perform, while it silences at once that background of buzzing dissonances which was inevitable with the old pedal and which hitherto has constituted the chief imperfection of the pianoforte as an instrument. With this new pedal, absolute clearness and distinctness of performance, is, at length, possible; and not the least of its merits is that, in so far as the pianist is concerned, it is used precisely as the old pedal is. The performer has no new trick to learn.

The Poet's "Twilight." becomes an Universal Dawn!

IN THE TWILIGHT.

BY JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL.

Men say the sullen instrument,
That from the Master's bow,
With pangs of joy or woe,
Feels music's soul through every fibre sent,
Whispers the ravished strings
More than he knew or meant;
Old summers in its memory glow;
The secrets of the wind it sings;
It hears the April bosom sprang;
And mixes with its mood
All it dreamed when it stood,
In the wonderful wood,
Long ago.

The magical moonlight then
Steeped every bough and cone;
The roar of the brook in the glen
Came dim from the distance blown;
The wind through its glooms sang low,
And it swayed to and fro
With delight as it stood,
In the wonderful wood,
Long ago.

O my life, have we not had seasons
That only said, "Live and rejoice?"
That asked not for causes and reasons,
But made us all to living and voice?
When we went with the wind in their blowing,
When Nature and we were peers,
And we seemed to share in the flowing
Of the inexhaustible years?
Have we not from the earth drawn juices
Too fine for earth's sordid uses?

Have I heard, have I seen
All I feel and I know?
Doth my heart overween?
Or could it have been
Long ago?

Sometimes a breath floats by me,
An odor from Dreamland sent,
That makes the ghost seem nigh me
Of a splendor that came and went,
Of a life lived somewhere, I know not
In what diviner sphere,
Of memories that stay not and go not,
Like music heard once by an ear
That cannot forget or reclaim it,
A something so shy, it would shame it
To make it a show,
A something too vague, could I name it,
For others to know,
As if I had lived it or dreamed it,
As if I had acted or schemed it,
Long ago.

And yet could I live it over,
This life that stirs in my brain,
Could I be both insider and lover,
Moon and tide, bee and clover,
As I seem to have been, once again,
Could I but speak and show it,
This pleasure more sharp than pain,
That baffles and lures me so,
The world should not lack a poet,
Such as it had
In the ages glad,
Long ago.

MRS. CORA L.V. RICHMOND,

Under Spirit Control, will continue the remarkable series of Discourses upon THE SOUL,

AT CHICKERING HALL.

Subject for Sunday Evening, December 16th,

"TYPICAL ILLUSTRATIONS OF HUMAN EMBODIMENTS; AND WHAT THESE SIGNIFY IN THE LIGHT OF THE SOUL."

An opportunity is here afforded to learn what the "PHILOSOPHY OF EMBODIMENTS" implies; possibly to find the beautiful dream of the poet proven to be a glorious reality.

It is believed that this, first public presentation of these teachings in New York, constitutes an Era in our Religious History.

The Truths so eloquently presented, are indeed old as the ages, but they are ever fresh, and as invigorating as the sunlight in their application to the needs of the world.

Answers to Questions from the Audience at 7.30.

Admittance, (to defray expenses) 25 Cents.

[TRANSLATION.]

Messrs. CHICKERING & SONS, Boston:

GENTLEMEN—I have not the honor to be personally acquainted with you, but I have had the pleasure to play upon one of your admirable Pianos. Permit me to say to you, that, after having played the Pianos from the most celebrated manufactories of Paris, London, Berlin, Vienna, Copenhagen, and St. Petersburg, I have never found an instrument so fully entitled to praise as yours. The tone is of extreme sweetness and vigorous force; it has not the bad qualities of the European Pianos, while it has all their virtues. I have already spoken of your Pianos to M. Hector Berlioz, M. Gounod, and M. Stephen Heller, and they are all of my opinion, that we have much to do in Europe to arrive at the perfection of your method of manufacture.

Receive, gentlemen, the assurance of my perfect consideration.

(Signed,) ASGER HAMMERICK.

[Letter from the renowned Pianist and Composer, Henry Litolff.

[TRANSLATION.]

Messrs. CHICKERING & SONS:

DEAR SIRS—I have examined carefully, at the Exposition, all the American Pianos, and must acknowledge that yours, the best, have astonished me wonderfully. Your instruments possess every quality, equality of key-board, homogeneity of tone, majestic power—in one word, everything which constitutes perfection.

The Cross of the Legion of Honor which has been conferred upon you, in addition to the Gold Medal, proves the just and enlightened appreciation of the Jury, and places you above all the other competitors. I add my voice to that of your numerous admirers, and I offer you my sincere felicitations.

(Signed,) HENRY LITOLFF.

[Letter from Franz Liszt, the "King of Pianists,"]

[TRANSLATION.]

Messrs. CHICKERING & SONS:

It is very agreeable to me to add my name to the concert of praises of which your Pianos are the object.

To be just I must declare them perfect, (perfectissimes, superlatively perfect).

There is no quality which is foreign to them. Your instruments possess, in the supreme degree, nobility and power of tone, elasticity and security of the touch, harmony, brilliancy, solidity, charms, and prestige, and thus offer a harmonious ensemble of perfections, to the exclusion of all defects.

Pianists of least pretensions will find means of drawing from them agreeable effects; and in face of such products—which truly do honor to the art of the construction of instruments—the role of the critic is as simple as that of the public; the one has but to applaud them conscientiously and with entire satisfaction, and the other but to procure them in the same manner.

In congratulating you sincerely upon the great and decisive success obtained at the Exposition of Paris, I am pleased to anticipate the happy continuation of the same in all places where your Pianos will be heard, and I beg that you accept, gentlemen, the expression of my most distinguished sentiments of esteem and consideration.

(Signed,) F. LISZT.

Stephen Massett's New Song

THE GREATEST HIT OF THE SEASON!

READ

Mme. Christine Nilsson's Letter

Dated— 53d FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK, December 4, 1883.

DEAR MR. MASSETT:

I am very much obliged to you for sending me a copy of your charming song, "The Lullaby Sung me by Mother," which I like very much, and will take great pleasure in singing it the first opportunity I have.

Yours, very sincerely

CHRISTINE NILSSON.

To MR. STEPHEN MASSETT,
New York Hotel,
New York City.

JUST PUBLISHED!

ONE OF THE MOST BEAUTIFUL AND PATHETIC SONGS OF THE DAY, THE

"Lullaby Sung Me by Mother."

Words by FOSTER COATES.
Music by STEPHEN MASSETT,
AND
Dedicated to his friend, ALEXANDER TAYLOR, Jr. OF NEW YORK.

I.

A song comes back from the by-gone years,
Whose melody never grows old,
And I hear it again, through smiles and tears,
Though the singer is dead and cold!
'Tis a song so sweet, by a voice so rare,
Far dearer than any store,
And I hear it to-day, through toil and care,
"The Lullaby sung me by Mother!"

II.

There are times, it seems, when all alone
The singer is by my side,
And I hear her voice in its gentlest tone,
Like the rise and fall of the tide,
While the days go by—to the end of my years,
And the struggle of Life is o'er;
That song comes to my listening ears,
Like a chime from the Heavenly shore.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"The Stranglers of Paris," of which so much has been said and printed, is now playing to large houses at the New Park Theatre. The cast is an exceptionally strong one, headed by Mrs. Agnes Booth and Harry Lee.

Henry Irving and his Lyceum Theatre Company are doing a large business at the Star Theatre.

"In The Ranks," with its beautiful scenery and stage effects, has completely won the hearts of the patrons of the Standard Theatre.

"The Passing Regiment" is the attraction this week at the ever popular Windsor. Mr. Murtha is to be congratulated with the strong attractions he provides at this house,

"Excelsior" still continues at Niblo's Garden, and will hold the stage of this favorite resort until further notice.

"Lieutenant Helene of the Guards," is the title of the romantic comic opera now being sung at the Fifth Avenue.

The Madison Square Theatre continues to be crowded by the admirers of "The Rajah."

"Two Hours of Solid Fun" is the announcement made by the San Francisco Minstrels.

"Moths" is having a large and distinguished patronage at Wallack's, crowding the houses nightly.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is the best remedy for Coughs and Colds. Price 25 cents.

A stranger in Boston, seeing the places of public resort full of young men, night after night, asked if this was the land of night son.

WHAT IS THE USE.

What is the use of this impetuous haste?
The end is certain. Let us take our time
And hoard the vital forces that we waste
Before our day has reached its golden prime.

What is the use of rushing with spen, breath
After old age, its furrows, its white hair?
Why need we hurry so to welcome Death,
Or go half way, with hands stretched out, to care?

There is no use. Dear heart, if we but wait
All things will find us. Let us pause, I say,
We cannot go beyond the silent gate
That lies a short day's journey down the way.

So let us take our time in youth's fair bowers,
The Summer season is so brief at best;
Let us look on the stars, and pluck the flowers,
And when our feet grow weary, let us rest.

Let us take time for love and its delight;
It is one sweet thing that pays for all
The bitterness of life, for Sorrow's blight,
For Pain's despair and Death's funereal pall.

In the lost era when the world was new,
Love was men's first pursuit and life's excuse.
Now has the time come back to me and you—
Why should we reck for more? What is the use?

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

The gilded youths all watch the play,
Its rich and changing sets,
But from the music run away,
To smoke their cigarettes.

Each time the pictured curtain drops
Clarissa idly chats
Of Newport and its dizzy hops,
And eke her neighbors' hats.

'Tis when the band plays dreamy airs
Sir Graybeard does not fail
To talk about the Bulls and Bears,
And of Pacific Mail.

The farmer reads the programme jests,
Or thinks about his crops,
And has no other interest
Until the music stops.

In short, the music does not cheer,
The play all sorrow drowns—
The music is by Meyerbeer,
The tragedy is Brown's.

GETTING THE WORTH OF HIS MONEY.—Yesterday evening a man, a little top-heavy, rushed into a Sixth avenue telegraph office, seized a telegraph blank and a stub pen with a ball of dried ink on the end, and propping himself against the counter, managed to write the following message:

"Kate, I won't be home till morning.—HARRY."

"What'll that cost?" said the man, handing the message through the port-hole to the manipulator of electricity.

"Let me see. Seven words—15 cents."

"Fifteen, eh? How much for ten words?"

"The same price; anything not exceeding ten words will cost you 15 cents to any address in the city," answered the operator, making a spring to muzzle an instrument that was sputtering as if it had delirium tremens.

"I'm bound to have the worth of my money out of you corpora tions, then," said the man, handing his shekel against the counter as he traced on a blank sheet this clear message:

"Incomprehensibility, manufacturers, transcendentalism, Constantinople, concavo-convex, Massachusetts, assassination, Pennsylvania, imperturbability, philoprogenitiveness."

"There, string that on your wire and send her at a 2:40 gait," said he man, with a look of vengeance in his eye.

The operator counted the words, but volunteered the information that there was no sense in the message, and that the dictionary must have been ransacked for the longest words.

"I know there's no sense in it, but Kate'll understand it all the same; she'll know I'm on a drunk anyway when I send a message at this hour, whether its sense or not. I make 'em long on purpose to break the back of your darned machine. Shovel 'em in and start the crank. I'm in for a good time. Never mind the expense. Here's your fifteen cents." And the man ran out and hailed a passing cab, and he was seen in the morning in Washington Square Farm, and looked as if he was struck by a general survey of the synopsis and scenery.—New York World

MASON & HAMLIN
ORGANS are celebrated throughout the world. At every one of the GREAT WORLD'S EXHIBITIONS for SIXTEEN YEARS they have been Awarded the HIGHEST HONORS; no other American Organs having been found equal to them at any. A cable dispatch announces that they are again Awarded the Highest Honors at the World's Exhibition now in progress in Amsterdam, Netherlands. The largest sizes, from $200 to $600 each, are not only UNEQUALLED but quite UNRIVALLED. NO ONE SHOULD JUDGE THE ORGAN AS AN INSTRUMENT UNTIL HE HAS SEEN AND HEARD THESE. They are, of all single instruments, the VERY BEST INTERPRETERS of Operatic and Orchestral, as well as Sacred Music, and their sustained tones afford the best possible support to the voice. Popular styles are from $22 to $300 each. For cash, easy payments, or rented. Catalogues free. We usually have on hand at our own warerooms styles not on catalogue, and second-hand organs which can be offered at very low prices.

PIANOS We have recently commenced the manufacture of Upright Piano-fortes, introducing important improvements, adding to power, beauty of tone and durability.

Men and women having given away to horses at the Windsor, it must not be inferred that there is no "acting" at that place. The steeds which form the "Equine Paradox" are in every sense of the word actors. The exhibition is much more, and different from a circus, presenting new and novel features and more refined. If the actions of the animals be the result of drilling, the drilling is of the most thorough kind. If they be the result of an awakened intelligence, the fact proves that the horse is capable of sharp understanding.—Boston Advertiser.

EQUINE PARADOX!
JOHN D. MISHLER, MANAGER.

NOTE.—The horses understand over 300 different commands, comprising a vocabulary of over 1400 words. Know their own names and numbers, and those of the scholars. They like to be on the stage, and they enjoy the performance. Sometimes when a horse is negligent, those next to him will urge him out and in various ways chastise him if he fails to perform properly or promptly. They show their appreciation of the audience's favors by bowing. The only school of horses in the world ever educated exclusively for appearance upon the stage. Numerous new features are presented for the first time. They were all educated by and appear at each performance under the personal direction of their owner, Prof. Geo. Bartholomew.

Photographs of the horses, single and in groups, can be had in the Lobby of the Theatre during and after the performance.

The horses will hold receptions on the stage AFTER EACH MATINEE PERFORMANCE, to which the audience are respectfully invited. Please enter the stage to the right and pass out to the left.

THE FIRST BELL
Announces the appearance of the horses on their way to School, and the Scholars at play.

THE SECOND BELL
Shows the great discipline by the scholars coming of their own accord from wild confusion to perfect order to receive their teacher.

ARRIVAL OF THE PROFESSOR.
Bucephalus, take my hat and bring me a chair. Chevalier, take my coat. The School forms in two classes. Prince, the faithful monitor. Mustang appeals for mercy. Pope and Brutus the delinquents. Pope teasingly upsets the chair, and Brutus takes a handkerchief out of the Professor's pocket. Nellie, bring my mail. Mustang rings the bell for blackboard exercises by Sprite, who erases the figures on the blackboard. Music hath charms.

CÆSAR THE EQUINE MARVEL.
This act of Cæsar's is unexplainable in any way unless you accord to a horse an active intelligence, as it is evident that he not only understands right from left, but the difference between a circle and a figure eight. He also walks sideways to the right or left and lays down. To make this act of more than ordinary interest the audience should express their desire promptly and distinctly. CHEVALIER distinguishes colors, red and white, and finds either when concealed with sawdust on the stage. Recess.

Bucephalus dances a waltz and marches. Cæsar trots and dances a jig. Abdallah will, by command, walk, trot, gallop, pace and march

THE SCHOOL AT LEAP FROG
Shows a great display of intelligent action. If any pupil fail to promptly respond to the Professor, you will observe those in his vicinity force him out. The grace and ease with which all leap, especially SPRITE, never fails to elicit admiration.

BEAUTY AND THE BARREL.
"Does it hurt your nose?" and Nellie and the barrel over the plank, are two accomplishments comical, surprising and beautiful. Nellie admires Beauty's act while standing with her fore feet on a pedestal, and Beauty reciprocates by standing with her fore feet on a pedestal twelve inches square during Nellie's performance.

The largest audience of the season, and certainly one of the most delighted, welcomed Bartholomew's Equine Paradox last evening. An exhibition of "horse sense" was given, surpassing anything of the kind ever before seen in this city, and the more wonderful considering the space in which the sixteen educated horses were obliged to execute their manœuvres. Under the direction of their owner and educator, Prof. George Bartholomew, a series of feats were performed which almost convinced the spectators that these animals had human intelligence; especially fine was the military drill, applauded to the echo.—Boston Journal.

PRINCE AND POPE,

In their extraordinary exhibition of reasoning from cause to effect. In this unequalled feat the most stubborn doubter is convinced that horses do possess the power of reason. Pope will turn on the teter plank, which is less than 20 inches in width, the only horse in the world that has ever accomplished it.

ORIGINAL & BRILLIANT TABLEAUX,

At the word of command, by the whole school taking various positions assigned them, forming an interesting and beauiful picture that will linger pleasantly in memory.

THREE MINUTES DROP OF CURTAIN.

THE GREAT COURT SCENE,

As near reality as possible, showing the judge, jury, lawyers, prisoner in the dock, witness on the stand, two lawyers arguing the case with their fore feet on the table and hooks, officers of the court. The jury retire. Verdict not guilty. Sheriff releases the prisoner. Thanks to the court and jury.

INTERMISSION OF FIVE MINUTES.

THE TWO PUGILISTS, Draco and Gold Dust, with their seconds, Petite and Judge, and Barney, the restless referee.

THE MARVELOUS MILITARY DRILL

Is something so near human intelligence that it seems hard to dispossess yourself of the idea that the animals are not sentient beings, the discipline is so perfect. They go through all the intricate evolutions, form in two lines, move off in platoons of two and divisions of four, wheel to the right and left, form a hollow square, march in company front, about face, present and shoulder arms, and generally conduct themselves like regular soldiers; in fact, put to blush many pretentious military companies.

A NIGHT IN CAMP.

The soldiers have retired with Denver Jim and Sprite on guard duty. An alarm. The signal shot. To arms. Arrival of Drace, the handsome, graceful and daring messenger from headquarters. Forced march to the scene of battle.

THE BATTLE.

To them it is a genuine affair, and they enter into it with as much spirit and energy as is possible to their natures. The flag scene is of special interest and beauty, making one feel like doubting that the transmigration of souls is a myth. It must he seen to he understood, let alone appreciated, and is a fitting finale to the most extraordinary exhibition of the age, and the only one of the kind in the world.

Dr. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP

THE EQUINE SCHOLARS.

NELLIE is an Arabian mare of great beauty, and possessed of remarkable acuteness. She is a natural flirt, delighting the children and ladies with her pretty ways, and exciting their admiration by her graceful acting. The remark that she is "too cute for anything!" is a very common one, and true to life.

ABDALLAH is Arabian and Messenger, with great symmetry of form and grace of motion. Her beautiful movements and intelligent actions make her a general favorite.

CÆSAR, a pure Hambletonian, is very nervous and restless, full of that fire which great mental powers give to man and brute. Some of his acts astonish the most scientific, and set them to considering as to whether the equine race is not fitted for yet greater advancement than the Professor claims for it.

POPE takes the lead in reasoning from cause to effect, proving by his intelligence that the common American carriage horses possess more good horse sense than many of their drivers. It is impossible to explain what he does from any other standpoint than that of reasoning, from cause and effect, even as we do.

PRINCE shares equal honors with him hough not so thoroughly reliable, sometimes getting careless and negligent in performing his duty.

MUSTANG is the favorite among the boys for he is full of odd pranks, in keeping with his wild nature. In 1876 he was the leader of a band of wild horses, roaming the broad prairies of New Mexico. Then he was a savage chief, proud, defiant and glorying in a seemingly untamable spirit. To-day he is the most obedient of scholars, delighting to exhibit his newly acquired knowledge.

AWKWARD BUCEPHALUS comes next in the list, being a Kentucky thoroughbred of great value, outside of the exhibit. To see him is to laugh, but what he does is well done and always appreciated.

SPRITE AND BEAUTY give evidence of their origin in many ways pleasant to witness, Sprite being a Spanish beauty, and Beauty a Broncho queen. Sprite is worthy of special mention, having merits in harmony with her name. In Leap-Frog she is superb, vying with Mustang for encores.

CHEVALIER, DRACO, PETITE, GOLD DUST AND THE JUNO ably fill their places in the school, each adding his mite to make the entertainment pleasant and interesting. Their performance is peculiarly adapted to their different characteristics, making the setting as charming as it is perfect.

A SONG OF ISMS.

Sing a song of isms,
Of fads and foibles past,
Sing a song of crazes
Too ludicrous to last;
Sing of odd caprices,
Inspiring social cliques,
Sing of wild sensations,
Of silly whims and freaks.

Sing a song of isms,
And when this song is done
Let's sing another
Of the latest one,
Showing how each ism,
Even as of yore,
Always is succeeded
By one ism more.

ACQUITTED ON THE SPOT.

You s-s-say you found li-li-liquor in this man's house?"

"Yes."

"W-w-what kind of liquor w-w-was it?"

"Whiskey."

Um! Now, h-h-how much w-h-hiskey did you f-f-f-find?"

"About half a pint, sir."

"H-h-half a pint; yes. Now, g-g-gentlemen of the j-j-jury, I want you to take a good l-l-l-long look at my c-c-client."

The jury took a good long look at him. He wasn't a very pleasant sight to see; his nose was a sort of purple vermilion, and considerably exaggerated in its proportions at that; his brows were low and shaggy, and his eyes bleared.

"Now, g-g-g-gentlemen of the j-j-jury," the lawyer went on, "I want you to t-t-t-t-tell me if my c-c-client looks like a man that would s-s-s-sell half a pint of whiskey if it was all he had in the house?"

The jury acquitted the man without leaving their seats.

TOO SHARP.

OLD LADY (severely)—There's worms in these figs.

NEW CLERK—Yes, ma'am; Certainly, ma'am! The presence of the worms shows the excellence of the figs. The fig-worm, ma'am, is an epicure, and will have none but the best in the market.

OLD LADY (feebly)—But the figs over at Scales & Company's ain't wormy.

NEW CLERK—Probably not, ma'am, and, in that event, they are artificial figs and not genuine. The fig-worm, ma'am, is a connoisseur whom it is impossible to fool.

OLD LADY—I dunno, but I'll take a couple o' pounds.

HEAD OF THE FIRM (to partner)—My heavens, Sands, discharge that young man instantly! He's dangerous! I like enterprise, but he has entirely too much of it. And, say, stand between him and the safe as he goes out. He might want it.

A SHATTERED ILLUSION.

I know not if 'twere chance or fate
That brought the maid and me together,
At table d'hote one night at eight
Our talk began about the weather.
We had no introduction, no;
But this displayed no lack of breeding,
Our seats were next each other, so
It was a natural proceeding.

She dressed in stunning English style;
Her hair was neatly coiled and braided.
"Ah! bless!, I thought, "a Britain's isle
It but for eyes so softly shaded!"
Our rambling chat that waxed apace
Was interspersed with frequent "ahems."
I'll not deny the fetching grace
Of "really's" slipped betwixt her glances.

Still, something nameless made me doubt
Her being truly, bluely Briton,
And when one little phrase slipped out,
With horror was my bosom smitten.
"I guess!" she could not call it back,
And laughed to hide her sweet confusion.
Oh lovely Anglo-maniac,
To shatter thus my fond illusion!

"PSHAW!" exclaimed Grimshaw, "I have no patience with a woman. You look under the bed to see a man, and you'd scream blue murder if you saw one." "What of that?" retorted his patient wife. "I saw you put your hand on the stove to see if it was hot, and you jumped up and down and swore like a trooper when you found that it was." Grimshaw has now less patience with 'em than ever.

THOUGHTS AT SEA.

The first day called up greatest fears that made me nervous-hearted.

The next day called up memories of friends from whom I'd parted:

The third day called up thoughts of land where one is safely carted;

The fourth day called up everything I'd eaten since I started.

In order to deserve a true friend you must first learn to be one.

NOT ONE, BUT THREE.

Perfect-appointed "Limited" trains leave Grand Central Station, 42d Street, each day, for Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, and the West, Northwest and South-west. All desirable features are to be found in the equipment of the trains of the New York Central.

DIVERS INTERROGATORIES.

Oh, why did the strawberry sin
And run from bread roll in the flour?
Oh, why did the old mud dam
And then even run right at our door?

Oh, why did the lemon drop
And run from milk in the barn?
Oh, why did the sweet milk sop
And the fish hook near the tarn?

MARRIAGE IN MONTANA.

Out in Montana the minister began: "Will you take this woman to be your wedded wife?" "Ah'm the groom interrupted him accordin'ly. "Say, Mr. Minister, quit yer foolin' and get down to bizness. You know I'm here to take this lady, an' so what's the use to askin' me? Besides I don't allow no one ter call her a woman. She's a lady, she is."

Upon the completion of the Tribune Building, which may be looked for about November, Dr. C. T. Parker, of the Arm Pharmacy—one of the best known of the many down-town drug stores—will still further increase his business responsibilities by taking additional premises on the ground floor of the great establishment now being erected. There will be three stores in the Tribune Building, and the most spacious of these has been secured by the wide-awake and energetic Doctor. The two stores will be in close proximity, so to speak, but the fact is, that the Doctor has determined to make the system as to make this step a necessity. The present limited quarters being entirely inadequate for the accommodation of Dr. Parker's rapidly growing trade. The opening of the new place will serve to double the capacity, of course but not before it was needed. It will be handsomely constructed fitted with every improvement, and under the guidance and control of the savvy and genial Doctor be complete prosperity and success is assured beyond doubt.

The charming styles in ladies' hats and bonnets displayed by Dunlap, in his Fifth Avenue establishment, attract the elite of the metropolis.

A TREAT FOR ARTISTS.

The varied beauty of the scenery along the Hudson and through the Mohawk Valley, touched by the soft natural tints, invests a journey by the New York Central with a peculiar charm to persons of artistic temperament.

Eight magnificently appointed passenger trains leave Grand Central Station, daily, for the North and West.

FASHIONS IN FANS.

This season's importation reveals many beautiful and artistic designs, rich in color and conceptions. An exclusive novelty is a fan of "mousseline de soie" which when opened and closed forms a wave of shimmering texture. These fans are in different colors to match any costume. Bridal fans are shown in oriental pearl inlaid with gold sticks, covered with Duchesse and Point lace, which meets a centre piece of "Crepe de Chine" on which are hand-paintings of great artistic merit. There are others with tortoise shell sticks inlaid with gold, covered with chantilly lace worked with hand-painted gold medallions. The exhibition at B. ALTMAN & CO.'s, 18th St., 19th St. and Sixth Avenue, is varied and grand. Superb butterfly fans applied on gauze in all colors are quite new and fashionable.

THE PRIESTLEY FABRICS are so widely known that it is now, perhaps, scarcely necessary to repeat the caution, to see that the name B. Priestley & Co. is found stamped on the under side of the selvedge in gilt letters; but it is wise to be careful. Many fabrics are called Henriettas which have little in common with the Priestley fabrics except the name. Some of the results of imitation Henriettas, such as fraying and crocking, reveal themselves at once to a careful shopper, but others, like creasing and getting rusty, are only discoverable after the material has been made up. It is wise, therefore, to purchase only the Priestley black fabrics, since these have the manufacturers guarantee.

FATE'S MEASURE.

Some measure their age by years,
Some measure their life by art;
But some tell their days by the flow of their tears,
And those lives by the throbs of their heart.

WHISTLER-ISMS.

Once when the two were together, and Mr. Whistler had perpetrated a characteristic mot, Mr. Wilde exclaimed: "Heavens! I wish I had said that." "You will," said Whistler.

"I only know of two painters in the world," said a newly-introduced acquaintance to Mr. Whistler—"yourself and Velasquez." "Why," answered Whistler in dulcet tones. "Why drag in Velasquez?"

"Mable!"

It was George who spoke. George was hanging by his elbows on the stone wall and was looking over timorously.

"What is it?"

"Will you—will you—"

"Will I what?"

"Will you communicate with your dog and inform him that he owes me about three square inches of rebate in this pair of trousers?"

"Why is Miss B—wearing black."

"She is mourning for her husband."

"Why, she never had a husband!"

"No; that is why she mourns."

A PLEASANT DELUSION.

"Woman in a delusion," we have heard
The ones well schooled in worldly knowledge say
And this is why it has to us occurred,
The men still hug delusions day by day.

SHAKESPEARE'S MISTAKE.

Country Theatre Manager—"Very sorry, but it won't do to bill 'Hamlet,' Won't 'Othello' do? 'Hamlet' won't go here."

Star Actor—"It's a sublime tragedy."

Manager—"Yes, yes, I know all that; but you see, whenever old Polonius comes out and says, 'Neither a borrower nor a lender be,' it makes folks mad."

LOVE AND BUSINESS.

Mabel—The man who marries me must have a good big bank account.

Ethel—You don't mean to say you will marry solely for money?

Mable—No, not exactly; but if any one swears he loves me I shall require a deposit merely as an evidence of good faith.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER, 23rd.

will be the first night of the next Novelty,

An entirely new comedy of Washington Society, based upon a play from the German by Franz Von Schonthan, and entitled

THE LAST WORD,

Adapted by Mr. AUGUSTUS DALY, and to be presented by a cast which will include Miss Rehan, Kitty Cheatham, Isabel Irving, Mr. John Drew, James Lewis, George Clarke, Frederic Bond, Sidney Herbert, Charles Wheatleigh, Sidney Bowkett, William Sampson, &c., &c., &c.

The Sale of Seats begins Thursday, 23rd inst.

THE LONDON REPERTOIRE

IN MR. DALY'S COMPANY, during their recent very successful season at Mr. Irving's Lyceum Theatre, included but five plays, of which "As You Like It" received 23 representations; "Seven-Twenty-Eight" was played 21 times; "Nancy and Company" had 14 performances; "Taming the Shrew" was given 7 times, and "The Great Unknown" 3 times. The production of "As You Like It" was the sensation of the past theatrical year in London, and Miss Rehan's "Rosalind" was the chief society topic of the English fashionable season. No performance has made so profound a sensation in England for at least ten years.

THE SUBSCRIPTION TUESDAYS, so extremely successful during the past two winters, will be suspended this season on account of the very arduous extra labor in every department of the theatre which they entail, and of the necessity for concentrating all those forces upon the Novelties which have been designed and appointed for the present season.

THE OLD COMEDY SEASON

this year will include a special revival of Mr. Daly's original re-arrangement of Sheridan's "School for Scandal" and of Garrick's comedy of "The Country Girl."

The Shakspercan revival will be of a comedy by the immortal master which is seldom acted, and has not been seen in this city for sixteen years.

THE STODDARD ILLUSTRATED LECTURES

to be given during the Lenten Season this winter, at the ANNUAL ELEVEN O'CLOCK MATINÉES, are upon entirely new subjects; which promise a most interesting series of entertainments. Vienna, Paris during the Reign of Terror, Sweden the Queen of the Baltic, The Land of the Midnight Sun, and the Passion Play at Ober-Ammergau, are the subjects.

There will be three courses of the lectures this year: COURSE A on Mondays and Thursdays; COURSE B on Tuesdays and Fridays; and COURSE C on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

 MR. GEORGE CLARKE, as well as MR. JOHN MOORE, will assist Mr. Daly in the stage management hereafter. Mr. Moore is, probably, not only the oldest living stage manager in the world, but he is the sole link now living, which connects the stock companies of the New York stage of the days of Burton and the elder Wallack with that of to-day. His experience has been invaluable to the present management. Especially in the old comedy revivals, where tradition is most appropriately remembered. Mr. Clarke's early connection with Mr. Daly's theatres has made him familiar with the newer stage methods, and the labors of these two artists will hereafter be devoted to this house.

LOVE AND LEARNING.

She talked to him of Plato and Tacitus and Cato, spoke of Æsop and Diogenes with tears in her blue eyes.
Asked him what he thought of Homer and of Hesiod
the manner; how the jokes of old Hercules compared with William Pyre's.
Her breath came short and scanty as she flew along by Dante, but she pulled herself together and she got her second wind.
She mentioned old man Chaucer, Milton's wife, and did he boss her; and dwelt on Burns and Byron and the dreadful way they sinned.
He sat quite mum, though frowning, till she settled down on Browning; and deeming she meant Peter he said he thought perhaps.
She would like to hear of Ewing and what Brother Ward was doing; recalebrant old Anson, and of Kelly's tender taps.
He could talk base ball, he stated, and with eloquence related the history of every game down to the present year.
And when his tale was ended, she said he was just splendid, as she got down upon her knees to adore him as her peer.

LOVE AND FISH.

Bilkins—There, old fellow, cheer up! Never mind if she has jilted you. Look around for another. Remember there are plenty of good fish in the sea yet.

Tompkins (dolefully)—Yes; but confound it, I didn't want to marry a fish you know.

LOVE AND MORTGAGE.

Suitor—Sir, I love the very ground your daughter treads on.

Father—Well, young man, you aint the first surety that's had an attachment for it howsomever, if you love it well enough to come here and help pay up the mortgage on it, like Jacob did, you kin marry Sarah.

LOVE AND PA.

"Do you think," he asked in hesitating accents, "that you could learn to love me?"

"Yes," she replied coyly, "I could learn, but I'm afraid you'll have a good deal of trouble teaching father."

LOVE AND MINISTRY.

"But I can't marry you Charlie," she said sadly.

"Don't say that, darling! Oh, don't say that! Why can't you?"

"Because, Charlie, I am neither a minister nor a magistrate, and have no authority." Then the soul of Charlie was quieted, and a great light shone round about him.

LOVE AND REALISM.

New Light—He—Were you ever in love? She—I thought I was once, but since I have read a few of these modern society novels I have concluded that I wasn't.

HE DIDN'T TELL.

"Let me never hear of you disobeying me again," said his father, as he laid the hair-brush aside.

"I w-won't," sobbed Tommy, "if I can help it. I-I-didn't t-tell you t-this time."

Indefectible is an adjective seldom used, because people are accustomed to its synonyms; such as perfect, faultless, paragon, sound, unblemished, etc. Any one of these words is appropriate enough, but any one of them happily applies to the famous Emerson piano, which is declared by all who have seen it to justify the use of any of these words.—EMERSON PIANO CO., 92 FIFTH AVE., N. CLOSE OF THE NINTH SEASON.

THE season at this theatre will end on Saturday evening, April 7th. But three plays have been presented since the opening, in October last:

"Dandy Dick," acted for 32 times.

"Railroad of Love," acted for 108 times.

"Midsummer Night's Dream," which will receive its 79th representation on the closing night of the season.

 THERE will be no performance at this Theatre on Good Friday, March 30th.

THIRD VISIT TO LONDON.

After the close of the season in New York, Mr. DALY will take the company upon their annual tour, which this year will include a third visit to London. Only two home cities can be visited during the present year, as arrangements made quite twelve months ago necessitate an earlier opening than usual in London. The entire tour of the company will extend over six months, and will be found of more than ordinary historical interest as will be seen from the following itinerary:

April 9th, Boston, one week;
April 16th, Philadelphia, one week;
April 21st, sail for England;
May 3rd, open in London at the Gaiety Theatre, for 13 weeks;
August 2nd, Stratford-upon-Avon: — a single performance of "Taming the Shrew;"
August 6th, Glasgow, one week.

After this the company will take a recess, until

September 3rd, when they will play in Paris, for one week, at the Vaudeville Theatre;
September 10th, Manchester, one week;
September 17th, Dublin, one week;
September 25th, sail for home, from Queenstown, to begin the Tenth Regular Season at DALY'S THEATRE, New York, early in October.

A SUMMER SEASON

Will be inaugurated at DALY'S THEATRE, on Monday, April 16th, by Rosina Vokes and her company, who will appear in an entirely new programme.

THREE THREADS OF GOLD.

Away o'er the sea as swallows fly,
I would, to all the world to behold,
Flut my wishing fe vain, for a cruel one sigh
Has bound my heart fast with three threads of gold.

Ah! one i- her glance, another her smile,
The third her flower lips. I cannot depart,
For I love her too well; I'm a slave to her will,
With three threads of gold she has fettered my heart.

Ah! could I but break the bright links of my chain,
Adieu, tears, torments to flee I'd be bold;
But, no, no, for better to die of the pain
Than to break you asunder, oh! my three threads of gold.

THE STODDARD LECTURES

now in progress, at the ELEVEN O'CLOCK LENTEN MATINEES, given at this Theatre — will continue as follows:

Course A (beginning Tuesday, Feb 26th) is given Wednesdays and Thursdays, March 5th, 12th and 19th.

Course B (beginning Thursday, March 21st) is given Tuesdays and Fridays, March 26th, 29th, 13th and 16th.

A MAGNIFICENT volume of travels entitled, "Red Letter Days Abroad," by John L. Stoddard, embodying some of his experience in European travel (told in the inimitable way which has placed him at the head of all popular speakers), containing one hundred and thirty beautiful illustrations, is published by Fickner & Co., of Boston, and for sale by the book-trade generally.

A TESTIMONIAL benefit will be tendered to Mr. Tony Hart (late of Harrigan & Hart) at the Academy of Music, on Thursday afternoon, March 19th, on which occasion some of the leading attractions in New York and vicinity will appear.

We are always complaining our days are few and acting as if there would be no end of them.—Addison.

THE talent of success is nothing more than doing what you can do well, and doing well whatever you do, without a thought of fame. —Longfellow

THE finest flowers are used to make the grand bouquet which is now so popular, and known as "WENCK'S" Opera Bouquet. It is truly the most refreshing and lasting perfume for the boudoir chief.

 During the past summer recess, this theatre has been made stronger and safer than ever. A brick proscenium wall 24 inches thick separates the stage from the auditorium; and an entirely new double floor has been laid to the parquette; a new ceiling has been built to the balcony, and every precaution for the safety and comfort of the public has been regarded.

 Attention may be called to the fact that this is the only theatre in this city absolutely without doors, the entrances being all curtained, and most ample, while upon each floor they give out upon a foyer (the only one of the kind in the United States), spacious enough to contain the entire audience of each section of the house.

PRESS OF HUNTER & BEACH, 31 WEST 13TH ST., N. Y.

REDFERN has been making some rather daring experiments in pink broadcloth for outdoor wear, and has succeeded in producing some of the most original and stylish gowns this artist has ever achieved.

Louis Roederer's Grand Vin Sec (Brown Label) is gaining favor daily among lovers of fine Dry Champagne.

TABLE D'HOTE Dinner at the Hotel Brunswick, from 6 to 8 P.M., $1.50. The Restaurant a la carte is open until 1 o'clock for the accommodation of Theatre Parties.

REDFERN'S hand-braiding on the gowns and coats made by him is, without doubt, unequaled — some we saw on a new spring gown the other day resembled the fine seed-pearl embroidery of Honiton lace, in its general effect and richness.

THERE are so many kinds of Henriettas," is the complaint of the purchased heroine in the play — and so many of the stage as well. They too will find, when the truth is known, that there is but one Henrietta. "Henrietta finished Cashmere" and "All Wool Henrietta" bear no more resemblance to a genuine Priestley Henrietta than the "Witch of Wall street," or a chestnut Billy do to a silver mine. A Priestley Henrietta has a warp all silk, a bloom (not a gloss). The effect of this silk never frays nor causes dust, is weather-proof, and very durable. "Henrietta finished Cashmere," or "Wool Henrietta," on the contrary, has a woof warp, very thin, on which the filling slips so that the gown frays in the seams and gives way generally; and a gloss, produced by pressing, which spots with water, and speedily wears off, leaving a rough, stringy surface, catching dust and impossible to clean.

REDFERN'S latest riding-habit bodice is without buttons, and the skirt is as scanty as is consistent with grace — it is also very short, the wearer, when standing, showing a good two inches of trouser leg.

THE sparkling wine par excellence for a game dinner is Louis Roederer's Grand Vin Sec (Brown Label)

"ONE of the great secrets of Redfern's success in buttons lies in the fact that a lady, ordering from him, feels perfectly sure that the annoyance of seeing an exact duplicate of her own toilette on another person will never occur to her — Redfern never repeats."—Extract.

ALL first-class restaurants have Louis Roederer's Grand Vin Sec (Brown Label).

THE proprietorship of the Vendome Baths having passed into other hands, a considerable change in the way of accommodation, improvement and rebeautifying has also been effected — to brief, the establishment may be said to have been entirely remodeled and renewed. No expense has been spared in the interior decorations and appointments which are tasteful and luxurious to a degree, while every attention has been given to the important subject of ventilation, and sewer gas is effectually excluded. In every detail the Vendome Baths will favorably compare with those of the best in the city. The plunge is supplied from a natural spring, and is constantly filled with water of crystal purity. Turkish, Russian and Electric Baths may be enjoyed from 9 A.M. till 12.30 P.M. and on Sundays from 9 A.M. to 6 P.M. These hours are for gentlemen only. The Baths are open to ladies from 9 A.M. to 5.30 P.M., every day except Sunday. The proprietor, Mr. Joseph A. Rich, on, extends a cordial invitation to the public to call and see what a model establishment he has made of the Vendome Baths.

KATE.

There's something in the name of Kate
Which many will condemn;
But listen now while I relate
The traits of none of them.

There's deli-Kate, a modest dame,
And worthy of your love;
She's nice and beautified in frame,
As gentle as a dove.

Communi-Kate's intelligent,
And we may well suppose;
Her fruitful mind is ever bent
On telling what she knows.

There's intri-Kate, she's so obscure,
'Tis hard to find her out,
For she is often very sure
To put your wits in rout;

Prevari-Kate's a stubborn maid,
She's sure to have her way;
The cavilling, contrary jade,
Objects to all you say.

There's silver-Kate, a perfect pest,
Much given to dissolute;
Her prattling tongue can never rest,
You cannot her refute.

There's sloki-Kate, quite a feet,
Who fails to gain her point;
Her case is quite unfortunate,
And sorely out of joint.

Equivo-Kate no one will woo;
The thing would be absurd;
She is so faithless and untrue;
You cannot take her word.

There's windy-Kate; she's good and true
And strives with all her might
Her duty faithfully to do,
And battles for the right.

There's rust-Kate, a country lass,
Quite fond of rural scenes;
She likes to ramble through the grass,
And through the evergreens.

Of all the maidens you can find,
There's none like edu Kate;
Because she elevates the mind,
And aims for something great.

THE two-legged crank is the hardest to tame.

The grand balls given at the Metropolitan Opera House, and the more select affairs given at Delmonico's, Hotel Brunswick and other places during this year, has furnished one very noticeable feature—the variety and richness of the costumes worn on such occasions surpassing all previous seasons. Many of the prettiest and most novel in design are the production of the house of B. ALTMAN & CO., whose dressmaking department being most extensive and complete in arrangements is fast becoming the Mecca of the fashionable world. At this great establishment one finds the different departments for Silks, Laces, Velvets etc., stocked with the finest goods the European markets furnish, so that ladies in ordering Ball Dresses, Wedding Outfits, Reception Gowns, Street and Tailor-made Garments, etc., can select from an endless variety of goods, such as no dressmaking house in this country can exhibit.

SHE HAD HIM.

"Yes," said the young man, as he threw himself at the feet of the pretty schoolteacher, "I love you, and would go to the world's end for you."

"You could not go to the end of the world for me, James. The world, or the earth, as it is called, is round like a ball, slightly flattened at the poles. One of the first lessons in elementary geography is devoted to the shape of the globe. You must have studied it when a boy."

"Of course I did, but—"

"And it is no longer a theory. Circumnavigators have established the fact."

"I know, but what I meant was that I would do anything to please you. Ah! Minnie, if you knew the aching void—"

"There is no such thing as a void, James. Nature abhors a vacuum; but, admitting that there should be such a thing, how could the void you speak of be a void if there was an ache in it?"

"I meant to say that my life would be lonely without you; that you are my daily thought and my nightly dream. I would go any where to be with you. If you were in Australia, or at the North Pole, I would fly to you. I—"

"Fly! It will be another century before men can fly. Even when the laws of gravitation are successfully overcome there will still remain, says a late scientific authority, the difficulty of maintaining a balance—"

"Well, at all events, except the youth, I've got a pretty fair balance in the savings bank and I want you to be my wife. There!"

"Well, James, since you put it in that light, I—"

Let the curtain fall.—Boston Courier.

And one, declining my heart.

A SPECIAL MATINEE.

TUESDAY, February 22d (Washington's Birthday), a special HOLIDAY MATINEE. Regular Saturday matinee prices.

A NOVELTY FROM SHAKSPERE.

It sounds strange in the last quarter of the nineteenth century to announce a novelty by Shakspere, who ceased writing in the first quarter of the seventeenth century.

And yet the representation which Mr. Daly gave on Tuesday night, January 18, 1887, was positively the first performance on any stage in America of Shakspere's "TAMING OF THE SHREW" as a comedy, with its quaint "Induction" just as Shakspere wrote it.

In the form of a farce, as Garrick reduced the piece, and robbed of all its ingenious comedy contrasts and conceits, this play has had very frequent representation during the past hundred and twenty-five years; but in its entirety it has never before been acted in this country, and only once or twice in England within the past century and a half.

ALL NOVELTIES POSTPONED.

In consequence of the enormous success of "The Taming of the Shrew," all other novelties are postponed.

A special and most elaborate revival of Mr. Daly's popular comedy, "Needles and Pins," with several new features and a VERY GREAT CAST, may be given before the end of the season.

GIFT OF
LOUISE ST. JOHN WESTERVELT
1938

THE LENTEN MATINEES OF 1887.

Mr. Stoddard's illustrated lectures have come into such great favor, and so many families were disappointed last spring, being unable to obtain course or even single tickets, that Mr. Daly has deemed it advisable to arrange with Mr. Stoddard (through Messrs. Burdett & North, his managers) for a double course this year, to be given simultaneously, as follows:—

The First Course, or "COURSE A," will consist of five illuminated lectures, and will be given: Monday, March 7; Monday, March 14; Thursday, March 17; Monday, March 21; and Thursday, March 24.

The Second Course, or "COURSE B," will consist of precisely the same five lectures, and will be given: Tuesday, March 8; Tuesday, March 15; Friday, March 18; Wednesday, March 23; and Friday, March 25.

The lectures will begin each morning at eleven o'clock precisely, as before.

AN ORGAN RECITAL of about fifteen minutes' duration will precede each lecture.

THE COURSE TICKETS for each course of five lectures will be Five Dollars securing the same reserved seat for each lecture of the course. Single seats for either course will be $1.50.

In ordering tickets, please designate whether "Course A" or "Course B" is preferred. There will be absolutely no difference in the subjects or illustrations of either course.

The subjects for the present series will be as follow:—

First Lecture—"Napoleon III. and the Fall of Paris."

Second Lecture—"Queen Elizabeth and her Times."

Third Lecture—"Charles Dickens and His Travels." This is an entirely new lecture and deals rather with the man and his life than with his works.

Fourth Lecture—"Egypt and the Nile."

Fifth Lecture—"Peter the Great, or the Birth of Russia."

 Orders for course tickets will be filed, and filled when the tickets are ready, in the order in which they may be received.

SEEKING INFORMATION.—"PA, why is a girl called a belle?" asked Clara.

"Oh, I guess it's because of her tongue," unfeelingly replied the old man.

THE RIGHT ROAD.

"I have lost the road to happiness—
Does any one know it, pray?
I was dwelling there when the morn was fair,
But somehow I wandered away.

"I saw rare treasures in scenes of pleasures,
And ran to pursue them, when lo!
I had lost the path to happiness
And I knew not whither to go.

"I have lost the way to happiness—
Oh, who will lend me back?"
Turn off from the highway of selfishness
To the right—up duty's track!

Keep straight along and you can't go wrong,
For as sure as you live, I say,
The fair, lost fields of happiness
Can only be found that way.

CHARLEY LONGBOW—Yes, an inveterate smoker uses the weed merely from habit. Why, I knew an old fellow who smoked all the time, and one day I filled his pipe with leather chips, and he said it was the best tobacco he ever tasted.

SHE—You must look much younger than you really are.

HE—Er —— why?

SHE—Why, papa says he heard that story when he was a little boy.

II.

MARIA—John, do you remember when we used to swing on my father's front gate?

JOHN—Yes, Maria, I do.

MARIA—And the moon used to look so beautiful, John.

JOHN—It did, Maria.

MARIA—And the stars were so bright.

JOHN—They were.

MARIA—I wonder if the moon is so beautiful and the stars just as bright now as they were then, John.

JOHN—I presume they are, Maria.

MARIA—Then, why can't we swing on the front gate now and look at the moon and the stars and the blue night skies, with their fleecy clouds, as we used to do then?

JOHN—We can, Maria, if we want to.

MARIA—Then, John, let us go out to the front gate for a while and see if it will seem anything like it used to.

JOHN—All right, Maria. You go out and try it a while, and if you like it maybe I'll take a turn at it.

But Maria thought him too much of a brute to do anything of the kind.

MAN.

What a queer combination of cheek and perversity,
Insolence, pride, gab, impudence, vanity,
Jealousy, hate, scorn, baseness, insanity,
Honor, truth, wisdom, virtue, urbanity,
Is that whimsical biped called man!

Who can fathom the depth of his innate depravity?
To-day he's all payety, to-morrow all gravity.
For blowing his own horn, he has a propensity,
Even under clouds of singular density.

Oh, mythical clay-bank called man!—Life.

HOW TO BUY A PIANO.—In former times, when pianos were sold from $300 to $800, and then only for spot cash, none but the wealthy could afford such a luxury. But to-day it is very different. We are reminded of this by noticing that the enterprising firm of Horace Waters & Co., of New York, offer elegant new pianos, of their own manufacture, at about one-half these prices, and, moreover, sell them in all parts of the country, near and remote, on small monthly payments. By their advertisement in another column we see they offer to sell new pianos on a payment of only $25 cash and take the balance, $10 monthly, until all paid. On organs their terms are only $15 cash and $5 monthly until paid. This certainly affords all persons of moderate means an opportunity to get a first-class piano or organ at a low price and on easy terms. Our own dealings with Horace Waters & Co. warrant us in stating that all parties who buy of them will be honorably and liberally treated.—Farm, Field and Fireside.

DIVISION OF PROFITS.—W. Duke, Sons & Co., have gone to the expense of a neat little holder for each CAMEO CIGARETTE, which is made from the finest tobacco grown, and furnish them to the consumer at the same prices as the old-fashioned cigarette.

IMPORTANT.—When you visit or leave New York City, save Baggage, Expressage and $3 Carriage Hire, and stop at the GRAND UNION HOTEL, opposite Grand Central Depot.

643 Elegant rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars. $1 and upwards per day. European Plan. Elevator.

Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city.

THE BALLET GIRL.

With complexion like the rose
'Mid the snows,
Due to powder on her nose,
I suppose,
She twirls upon her toes
In abbreviated clothes,
And exhibits spangled hose
To her beaux.

When cruel time bestows
Adipose,
Fairy parts and all those
She outgrows,
And murmuringly goes
To the very hindmost rows,
To pirouette and pose
With the "crows."

When life frayed and faded grows,
Like her bows,
She in garret sits and sews
Furbelows,
Till her weary eyelids close
In the presence of Ready-prone.
Is she reaping what she sows?
Heaven knows.

To write and still be wrong:

They all decline declining.

BLACK goods are always handsome, and many ladies who are not in mourning, wear black in preference to colors. In silk and wool, and all wool dress fabrics in 40-in. we have attained such popularity as Priestley's, and this manufacturer has just introduced right here to market fabrics than the celebrated Henriettas, the material scarcely warmer than silk muslin, being intended for mid-summer wear, as are some of the other weilings.

In order that our friends may know what to ask or write for, we give some of the names of Priestley's black goods. Clairette is a firm handsome goods with a deep mourning effect, and can be used as a substitute for the crape veil, without fear of injury, as dust brushes off from it, and dampness does not affect it. Princetta cloth is a fine light Henrietta and Convent cloth has a Monie surface, while Imperial twill, and Royal serge, both have the effective diagonal cord. Gipsy cloth, a fine soft stuntine, yet with a firm texture in suitable for children or young girls, who should not wear crepe, and then there are the Feather and Pansy cloths, which are specially intended for summer wear.

THE SEASON.

The present season (the 7th of "Daly's Theatre"—the 18th of Mr. Daly's management of theatres—with the little House in 14th Street, the original Fifth Avenue Theatre and permanently on Saturday evening, May 1st).

A repertory season of four weeks will follow, to-night, once on Monday, May 3d, when Agnes Vokes and her popular company, from London, will appear.

The Daly Company will begin their annual tour on Monday, May 3d, opening in Boston for one week. Monday, May 10th, they will begin an engagement of five weeks, in two matinees in Philadelphia.

On Saturday noon, May 15th, Mr. Daly and his company depart from New York for England in the S. S. Aurania.

On Thursday evening, May 27th, Mr. Daly begins his second London season, opening at the Strand Theatre, and playing there for ten weeks, under the management of Mr. William Terriss. The entire repertoire of Daly's Theatre successes will be given there.

Then begins a remarkable tour for Mr. Daly's company.

August 2nd they will appear in Edinburgh.

August 9th they will commence an engagement in Glasgow.

August 15th they are to appear in Hamburg, Germany.

August 23d they will appear at the Wallner Theatre, Berlin.

September 3d they will be seen in Paris.

September 6th they will begin a week's engagement in Liverpool.

September 13th they are to appear at the Gaiety Theatre, Dublin.

September 19th they sail for home, and begin the next season in New York about October 1st.

ANOTHER FARCICAL COMEDY.

Mr. Daly has in reserve another novelty from the German, to be produced if circumstances permit, before the close of the season —a companion picture to those printed pieces from the German, which have been so popular at this house. A fair sample of which is now running so successfully here in "Nancy and Company."

ELEVEN O'CLOCK MATINEES.

Mr. Daly has arranged with Mr. John L. Stoddard to give another series of his very popular Illustrated Morning Lectures, during the Lenten season now approaching.

The course will consist of five of Mr. Stoddard's most interesting illustrated monologues.

Each lecture will begin at eleven o'clock in the morning; and they will be given on Mondays and Thursdays as before.

First Matinee will be given Thursday, March 11. Subject—Napoleon Bonaparte: from Corsica to the Imperial Throne.

Second Matinee, Monday, March 15. Subject—Napoleon Bonaparte: from the Throne to St. Helena.

Third Matinee, Thursday, March 18. Subject—A Second Walk through England with Charles Dickens.

Fourth Matinee, Monday, March 29. Subject—Mary, Queen of Scots.

Fifth Matinee, Thursday, April 1. Subject—The Beauty and Sublimity of Switzerland.

THE DECORATIVE MANIA.

Put away the little coal-hod that our darling wants to paint,
For she fain would decorate it with devices quaint
Hide the dish-pan and the wash-tubs, and likewise the garden hose,
Or, Matilda will adorn them with the lily and the rose.

When our Bridget in the morning gets the wooden chopping-bowl
To commit the morning corn-beef hash, it vexes of her soul
To uphold a wreath of pansies where she most must cut and slash,
So she scraps it off because the paint might permeate the hash.

On the household rolling-pin is tied a pretty yellow bow,
And its allies of the valley oft commingle with the dough,
While the new potato-masher and the kitchen pans and pots
Are magnificent with butterflies and sweet forget me-nots.

All our articles of furniture, the socieot and the new,
Are resplendent quite with drapery and bows of brightest hue.
In the house we look about with mingle sorrow and amaze,
For Matilda is afflicted with the decorative craze.

GROWTH OF THE CHESTNUT.

The modern humorist, he whose scissors serve the purposes of brains can cut and slash away ad libitum. This is about the kind of growth into which the "chestnut" develops in the suburban sanctum of many a quiet town whose citizens pay so much a year in advance for their thinking. Let us suppose, for instance, that the original germ is contained in the following sentence:

Tailors will give you fits, but it requires a lawyer to run up a suit.

Chestnut No. 1.—Why are tailors liable to epilepsy? Because they are so prone to fits.

Chestnut No. 2.—The only suit that never wears out—a suit at law.

Chestnut No. 3.—Lawyers usually borrow their suits from their clients.

HOW COULD YOU FAIL.

I sing a maiden fair,
I sing an easy chair
With carvings quaint and rare
And arms.
Ah, foolish easy chair,
When you had Kitty there
How could you fail to dare
To use your arms?—Life.

Man finds the genuine diamonds in nature. The false ones he makes himself.

The little thieves are hung, but the big ones die of old age.

My son, eat and drink in moderation, for no man is happy with the dyspepsia.

By associating with low companions you are made worse, and they are not improved.

A dew drop is the purest of all things, but when it falls into the dust it makes mud.

If the swelled head preceded the spree, men would get drunk by proxy.

My son don't bother yourself about unlaid eggs, but examine the laid ones carefully to ascertain if they do not belong to the vintage of a previous year.

If the sun had nothing else to do but shine on the righteous, it would be hardly worth while for him to rise as early as he does.

In wine there is truth, but nobody loves wine on account of the truth that is in it.

Be modest, but not too modest. Be just modest enough. The violet is so modest that everybody tramples it under foot.

Happiness, as a general thing, exists in the imaginations of the unfortunate. Those who are believed to be happy don't know of it.

There are some people who are always grumbling. If they escape from a ship wreck they growl because they got their clothes wet.

Reuben says, dresses entirely of striped wool are made with a Norfolk bodice with wide belt, and instead of box-pleats the stripes are cut in bias bands and stitched down the waist in front, and in the back.

A SENSITIVE CLERK.

Two clerks in a Texas dry good store are engaged in conversation.

"The Boss said something to me this morning that I didn't like."

"He often does that. He don't care what he says."

"Well, I don't like it, and if he don't take back what he said to me, it will be impossible for me to stay with him."

"What did he say?"

"He gave me notice to quit on the first of the month."

FOOTPRINTS.

She'd a great and varied knowledge, picked up at a female college, of quadratics, hydrostatics, and pneumatics very vast.

She was stuffed with erudition as you stuff a leather cushion, all the ologies of the colleges and the knowledges of the past.

She had studied the old lexicons of Peruvians and Mexicans, their theology, anthropology, and geology o'er and o'er.

She knew all the forms and features of the prehistoric creature—ichthyosaurus, plesiosaurus, megalosaurus and many more.

She'd describe the ancient Tuscans, and the Basques and the Etruscans, their griddles and their kettles and the victuals that they gnawed.

She'd discuss their charmed charmer—the theology of Brahmah, and the scandals of the vandals and the sandals that they trod.

She knew all the mighty giants and the master minds of science, all the learning that was turning in the burning mind of man.

But she couldn't prepare a dinner for a gaunt and hungry sinner, or get up a decent supper for her poor voracious papa, for she never was constructed on the old domestic plan.

The SENSATION of the MIDWAY PLAISANCE

THE

DANSE DU VENTRE

Straight from Chicago's Pan-Cosmos, the celebrated MIDWAY PLAISANCE. Every one of the Midway's Sensations will in turn be intercepted and be held to delight the patrons of this Museum. Harbinger of Halcyonic Days, Fore-runner of Delights in Anticipation, come Hawaiian Houris in the Apotheosis of the Choregraphic Art, the World Renowned "HULA-HULA DANCE," the voluptuous saltatory exercise favored of Venus Callipyges.

You have all heard of the DANSE DU VENTRE at the Cairo Village on the MIDWAY PLAISANCE and the HULA-HULA DANCE of the Sandwich Islanders. Such a ballet as HULA recently was discussed over them and their alleged immodesty by prurient prudes, hypocritical hypocrites, and nonentities generally, that it became a very question in Congress or magazine in the United States has had its every action, comment and paragraph on these wonderful choregraphic representations of a nation's ballet, editorial and social comment and paragraph on these wonderful choregraphic representations of a nation's habits, customs and modes of thought. Have parsons cut Double and Quadruple pose of a pouting Olympian babe because of warm blooded individuality? Anthony Comstock of the Society for the Suppression of Vice made pertinent investigation of this DANSE DU VENTRE, the performers of which we have secured for your entertainment and shall station this week and could not find one jot, one tittest tittle of accusation or evidence on which to proceed against it. As old as the everlasting hills, draped in virgin verdure and silhouetted against a cerulean tropic sky, and girded by the waist of blue seas, among which it took its primal being and was nourished into glorious maturity, the HULA-HULA DANCE, with its lovely corpulences dressed in their red Holcons of the finest tap-a, richer in the folds than the richest silk, their luminously limpid dark eyes aglow with languorous desire, their voluptuous busts the color of dark honey, their raven jet hair set off with the blood red flowers of the Hibiscus, their scarlet ripe lips pouting petulantly with palpitating passion, and their graceful lava like limbs swaying in unison in suggestive but not immodestly flattering poses, the abdominal muscles working with supple swell and symmetrical curve, the HULA-HULA DANSE we repeat is a sight for gods and men.

You could not afford to pay the heavy fare to Chicago and see the dance over whose merits and conspicuous originality, verve and significance, two continents were sore, could you, eh? And you thought that you had missed a chance of seeing the DANSE DU VENTRE either, eh? Well, but up you go! You would have missed it,—but for us whose enterprise unlike that of the rest of the adage did not let "grass not wait upon." I would—New York needed the DANSE DU VENTRE when Chicago could no longer keep it and for New York it was secured—at what cost, a storm of the exposure—by a management that promises it as but the first of a series of World's Fair Midway Plaisance Trump cards.

La Belle Fatma, favorite of a Sultan's Seraglio, Queenly ruler and odoriferous odalisque of the Harem is the inspiring genius of the DANSE DU VENTRE, while the Kanaka maid Kokua from far Papeeta where the palms keep slinging out and the cocoanuts fly like cannon balls about the village green,—Kokua born under the mighty shadow of Volcanic Kilauea, the Sea of Fire, and nourished to the fullness of voluptuous beauty by the keen air of mist capped Mouna Kaweoah the great cliff and the deep sea, is the presiding divinity of the Oathypotic HULA-HULA DANCE, the national dance of the Eight Island, the Sacred Isles. To the Kanaka lane of Hiki-no-au, the Hawaiian maidens wave brown arms, shapely and clinging as their own lianas and throughout every line of their beautiful bodies in the voluptuously rounded curves of the DANSE DU VENTRE present a picture of swaying, tropical, feminine sensuously seductive loveliness that causes a man, however well regulated, aye even glacial his disposition, to feel a warmer current of blood, a quicker pulse, a more burried heart beat, a nimbler eye, a dryer lip as he watches, wonders, admires and finally adores. What poetry of motion! What languorous grace! What incitement, voluptuous and intoxicating Tarantula of Terpsichoreanism, no attitudinous elevation of silken skirts and pink dyed fleshings, but sinuous motions, curves and suggestive supplings of the forms, every muscle contributing to display having its significance and telling some part, in pictorial pose, of a narrative story, a nation's love. Such is the HULA-HULA DANCE in which, such the DANSE DU VENTRE, so called from the bewitching sibylline movements of the abdominal muscles, Pyrrhic in their sublime simplicity and pregnant meaning. Let the Lady Managers of the Chicago Fair come to fingertwash over these national dances of nature's revered children; let guipil rave and partizon press revile at, and hypocrite condemn the dance which not one visitor to the Chicago Fair could see, and which Your chance is at least a short time to see. A little more work the Hula-Hula dancers whose bodies are lyrics, canzonets of rythmic poetry and arabesque loveliness will be on their way west to the sunny isles of the Southern seas, and Chicago, Queen City of the Lakes, will be denied the dance which to her is her life mission on the level beach of Faloa with the eternal wall of the breakers crumbling on the ringed reef of coral murmuring hoarse approbation, the tall cocoa palms waving their plumes on the hills above her, nodding admission of her grace and beauty. Unless more than your present can afford to miss what but for our enterprise would never have loomed upon your horizon. Chicago itself can no longer command the choregraphic services of the Hula-Hula dancers of Tahiti, the Sandwich Isles, the Marquesas, the Southern Archipelago, would have to be the destination of those determined to see the HULA-HULA DANCE, and the DANSE DU VENTRE. Secured at great cost by the management of Doris's Museum who have no coquarel time, spare and other things equivocal as to be able to do what all others longed and desired impossible,—secured for TEN CENTS what otherwise could not be seen for over ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS, to present the free, genuine unexpurgated and unimpaired saltatory sensations, the MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

Valuable expressions of approval from Patti and Davenport.

Music and the Drama cannot be better represented than by Madame Adelina Patti and Fanny Davenport. With the experience in their relative roles no one is more capable of speaking with authority upon questions connected with their profession. Patti says: "So much has been said in the newspapers about the color of my hair that I deem it but just to say it is due to your IMPERIAL REGENERATOR. The result has been beyond my highest expectation. The result obtained is most beautiful, uniform, and best of all, I find it is perfectly harmless. I believe there is nothing in the world for the hair like it."

Fanny Davenport writes: "My satisfaction with the Regenerator is enhanced because I know it is perfectly harmless; therefore I have no hesitation in cordially indorsing it in the dramatic profession 'tis invaluable."

The Imperial Regenerator restores gray or bleached hair to its natural color, or produces any desired shade. Send sample of hair to the IMPERIAL CHEMICAL COMPANY, 54 West 23d Street, New York, and it will be regenerated to fine Patti, Cleopatra or any other shade free of charge.

POINTED REMARKS

Made by Some Who Have Been There.

"The backgrounds of refinement and luxury [illegible] establishment [illegible] are very seductive, and I have examined all over it with a critical eye. Simple surroundings. The decorations are something wonderful. The place is certainly [illegible] the finest in the world." "The interior [illegible] more dinner of twelve courses for 75 cents is the best in New York." "Their music is perfect, fresh and good decisions." "The only place to [illegible] trifle from pure [illegible] is Paradise." "The cooking and service are of the very best, and the prices reasonable." "The whole place is charming."

The mammoth establishment occupies an entire building, [illegible] on two floors, square feet of floor room, and will comfortably seat 1,000 persons. Among the many attractions may be mentioned the hundreds of electric lights in diamond cut glass globes, the $10,000 solid appointed, the largest and handsomest in the world, the rich onyx counters and wainscoting, the hundred or more beveled French plate mirrors reflecting the elegant wall and ceiling decorations of finest silk and plush, the grand Mosaic floors, the large and airy dining rooms, halls for dining, supper and [illegible] parlors for exclusive ladies' lunch rooms, and the comfortable gentlemen's cafe and smoking rooms. The public are cordially invited to inspect this establishment, located at 18 E. 14th Street (Union Square), and known as The Clarendon.

That the Dainty Kitchen, Nos. 14 and 16 East 14th Street (Union Square), has become celebrated for the superior quality of its Viands Sodà, with pure Fruit Juices, Chocolates, Bonbons, and delicious Candies, which are all made on the premises, is attested by an average of over 7000 delighted patrons daily. The magnificent Dining room said to be the largest in the world, with its elegant appointments, Spacious Parlors, Reading and Toilet Rooms, delightful music, and extremely moderate prices, are certainly irresistible. A visit to this immense establishment, consisting of seven separate floors, is, without doubt, one of the greatest sights in New York City. The place is open every day in the year from 6 to 1 a. m., and is a favorite resort for Lunch after the Theatre.

MERIT AND ENTERPRISE.
REMARKABLE REPORT OF FIRST SUCCESSFUL YEAR OF THE PIANO OF THE SCIENTIFIC
The firm of Sohmer & Co. are regarded as alone by the piano trade, but in business circles generally as one of the most enterprising and deservedly successful houses in the business. Starting in 16×2, with limited facilities, and passing safely in the early stages of its existence through a period of unprecedented financial depression, this house, though it has had to contend with established favorites of many years' prestige and almost unlimited resources, has by the excellence of instruments and through the merit of the instruments won for itself a leading position in the piano trade. It is due to the skill and care exhibited in the construction of these instruments and their consequent strength, durability and unsurpassed musical qualities that the limited production of 10 years ago has expanded into its present large proportions. Where they then made four pianos per day at present over-age production reaches the high figure of 40 pianos per week, and is yet insufficient to supply the extensive demand, and the firm is to-day largely in arrears of its orders. The Sohmer piano possesses in such pure tone of great volume and sympathetic quality with a precision, delicacy and responsiveness of touch seldom found in other instruments, and these characteristics have not only made it popular with performers generally, but have also made it the prime favorite among artists for both concert and private use. That firm makes every variety of instruments—square, upright and grand—and, constantly striving to meet every demand, has produced the Bijou Grand, the smallest grand piano ever made—the most practical novelty yet presented to the public. This instrument, while occupying little space, has great power and volume of tone, together with the tone sustaining quality and elastic touch heretofore only found in the concert grand. Exceptional durability, combined with perfection of tone and touch, make the Sohmer piano peculiarly adapted to the use of pupils and teachers in establishments where piano playing is taught. The writer some time since, through the courtesy of Mr. Fahr, who has general charge of the flourishing affairs of the house, had an opportunity of visiting the factory, and the tour was a source of as much surprise as gratification. When in 1872 the old factory on Fourteenth street was found to be too small to accommodate the business, it was enlarged by taking in the houses numbered from 149 to 159 on that street. Very soon this was found to be insufficient to meet the demand, and the works were transferred to Twenty-third street, but on a considerably larger scale, while the salesroom, which now requires considerable space, remains on Fourteenth street. While Sohmer & Co. have relied upon the inherent value of their instrument rather than upon the artificial facilities advertisements obtained from Exposition awards, they have yet received the highest distinction in many exhibitions, notably Philadelphia, 1876; Montreal, 1881-2; and at Minneapolis and Sacramento—and they can point with pride to the magnificent endorsement their instruments have received at the hands of the best native and visiting musicians prominent among whom are Ed. Neupert and Gottschalk, the celebrated composers and pianists, and other native and visiting artists. It is not, therefore, surprising, that the name of Sohmer & Co. upon a piano has become a guarantee for its excellence.—New York Times.

THE

"NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW"

SAYS OF THE CELEBRATED

SOHMER

PIANOS:

"No one can fail to notice in them every good quality which one has a right to expect from a good instrument; nobility, elasticity and utmost clearness of tone, and an extent of power which never fails to add it to which a perfect evenness of touch renders them in every performance has been thus far attained. Their mechanism with absolute precision, delicacy and pliability, and a most happy and responsive touch, are found in the instruments of any other maker.

While the present firm of Sohmer & Co. was not formed in 1872, its existence really extends further back than 1860. Its author and head, Mr. Hugo Sohmer, is a native of the Black Forest, in Germany, coming of a good family in comfortable circumstances, and was given a most finished scientific and literary education, at the same time acquiring a thorough knowledge of music and the pianoforte. At eighteen years of age he arrived in New York, and was appointed to piano-making in the factory of Schreiber & Ludolph. Thoroughly learning his trade with this firm, he returned to Europe in 1858 and traveled in the various capitals, studying pianos in a very carefully and scientifically from every possible standpoint. In 1859 he returned to New York, and at once commenced embodying in practical form the ideas which his training and travel had brought. His partner was Mr. Joseph Kinder, who still occupies as the first; a piano-maker who studied the art and trade thoroughly in the Vienna Shops, and added considerable experience gained in the shops of prominent makers. At present the firm consists, in addition to Messrs. Sohmer and Kinder, of Mr. Charles Fahr and George Reichmann, each member of the firm having in charge of a special department, to whom he devotes his entire energies. The concern has, in addition to its extensive warerooms on Fourteenth Street and Third Avenue, a new factory at Astoria, which is the most magnificent and complete establishment in the country, and the latest addition has done much for Long Island in attracting other manufacturers to establish themselves there.

Even with the present average production of the firm, which is the high figure of forty pianos a week, it is yet insufficient to supply the extensive demand, the firm being to-day largely in arrears of its orders.

A widely-spread constituency demanding these celebrated instruments, may be had not only at the main and warerooms, 149 to 155 East Fourteenth Street, New York, but at Montreal, Canada; 204 Wabash Street, Chicago; Union Code Building, San Francisco; 1,502 Olive Street, St. Louis, Mo.; 1123 Main Street, Kansas City; as also of local dealers throughout the country.

The name of the firm of Sohmer & Co. have been justly earned and cheerfully bestowed."

Fond mother (excitedly)—"Sakes alive, chile, yo' brudder's gone to dat dar dance at Johnsing's an' he'll nebber come back no mo'!" "Why not?" "He's done gone forgot to take his razor with him."

A philosopher says "woman is the Sunday of man." Man also has his weak days. One of them is when he spends a day shopping with the Sunday of man.

A man in Nebraska is reported as having just died of hydrophobia from the bite of a mad dog received twelve years ago. The physician in this case was not very rabid.

Man is always smart in some things, but nobody has ever discovered one that could ram a hat pin clear through his head and make it come out on the other side, as the women do.

He—"I met your cousin yesterday, Miss Smith." She—"Oh, did you?" We are said to look very much alike. Did you not find her very pleasant?" He—"Yes, she is pleasant, but she isn't very pretty."

A three-year-old child mysteriously disappeared from one of the New Jersey seaside resorts a few days ago. There is no clew, but suspicion strongly points to several able-bodied mosquitoes that were seen hovering about the place on the afternoon of the child's disappearance.

"Now, ladies an' gents," vociferated an orator in front of a Boston dime museum, "walk right in and view the great Athenian knife swallower, the only one on exhibition. Ten cents, ladies an' gents, it will neither make nor break—" "Is he a genuine Athenian?" demanded the crowd. "So help me, he was born, brought up, and captured in the wilds of Athenia!" Then they rushed in.

"Let the loud thunder toll along the skies," cried John, "in virture clad I do the storm despise." "Indeed!" cries Richard, "how your lot I bless, to be so sheltered in so thin a dress!"

The Salvation Army in Boston is becoming very familiar with the Apostles; some of its members now speak of "Jack the Baptist."

It is possible for a lovely girl to be possessed of geographical traits. She may have Mobile features, an A la balmy breath, and a Mississippi mouth.

Mr. Walters—"How do you like our New York guest? Old family, you know. Her folks came over with the Hugnots." Mr. Beers—"I thought she seemed to be a little cold."

Butchers are great hands to "cut up."

An exchange, in an anatomical article, speaks of "a lady's skeleton;" but it doesn't explain how to distinguish a lady's skeleton from a woman's skeleton.

Fat women, says a philosopher, do not talk half so much as lean ones. So from this it would appear that the woman with a double chin hasn't as much chin as the woman with a single chin. Funny, isn't it?

"There's no telling" would be a good motto for a sewing society, if the members could only justify it.

Important Information Concerning VASELINE.

We are sorry to say that some druggists palm off on their customers a cheap imitation which they claim to be genuine, and some even go so far as to buy up our empty bottles from junk dealers and fill them with the imitation. How can anybody hope to get any benefit from such worthless stuff? As it is difficult for the public to tell the imitation from the real, the only safety lies in accepting only original bottles packed in our circulars and card-board boxes, refusing anything else, no matter what the druggist says, nor how persuasive he may be. In this way only can you be sure of getting the best remedy known to the world.

The furniture used on the stage of H. C. Miner's 8th Avenue Theatre is from the Furniture Warerooms of Daniel O'Farrell & Co., 408, 410 and 412 8th Avenue, near 31st Street.

After the performance, stop at H. McHugh's, 8th Avenue, corner of 31st Street. Mr. McHugh personally superintends his business, and patrons of this house are sure to be courteously received.

Oh, come fair Columbia, and turn from the crowd
Of political combatants, clamoring loud;
Oh, leave them to bicker and wrangle and jar,
For the fact and the shadow that they frequently are.

And turn to the instrument perfect, complete,
That needs Time himself, and can use to be beat,
For the Sohmer Piano, acknowledged to be
The Standard Piano, for the year '88.

Copyright by Sohmer & Co., 1888. From "The Midsummer Puck," 1888.

In the Midsummer number of Puck, a cut of which is published in this issue, there is a handsome picture descriptive of the present condition of affairs in the political world, and also showing in the most striking manner that although the politicians are fighting among themselves, yet the winning ticket for 1888 in the musical world is the Sohmer piano.

In the front of the picture is Columbia being most courteously received by Mr. Sohmer, who desires to present to her the "Sohmer" piano. By the side of Mr. Sohmer, in a group, are Josef Kuder on the left, Mr. Charles Fahr in the centre, and Mr. George Reichmann at the right, rejoicing over the recognition of the instrument's merits on the part of Columbia, representing the people of the United States. Above this is a banner waving the words, "Sohmer & Co." In the background one sees the Capitol, with masses of struggling politicians surrounding Cleveland, Thurman, Harrison and Morton.

But in one thing they all agree, that is the high position and standing of the celebrated Sohmer piano.

MERCHANT'S GARGLING OIL.—This old standard article, under the admirable management of John Hodge, Esq., has reached an enormous sale. It is an honestly compounded article—it has merit, and now that the best business talent of the country is handling it, there is no reason why it should not double its present usefulness. No family can afford to be without it; for family use as well as animal it is indispensable.—Toledo (Ohio) Blade, July 6, 1871.

MERCHANT'S GARGLING OIL has been thoroughly tested by the public during the past fifty years and always with the most gratifying results, so that it now stands unrivaled as a successful remedy for the several complaints which it is designed to relieve. This valuable preparation was first compounded by Dr. Geo. W. Merchant, of Lockport, N. Y., who devoted twenty years of personal labor in bringing it to its present state of perfection. It is now manufactured by the well-known firm of Merchant's Gargling Oil Company, whose reputation for honorable dealing is not excelled by that of any individual or company in the world. In the manufacture of their products the company use the greatest possible care, both in following the original recipe and in procuring drugs of absolute purity. The company is now manufacturing two kinds of oil, one for human and the other for animal flesh. No person who keeps a horse, cow, or any other domestic animal can afford to be without it.—The American Cultivator, Boston, Mass., Aug. 12, 1882.

It is an honestly compounded article—it has merit, and now that the best business talent of the country is handling it, there is no reason why it should not double its present usefulness. No family can afford to be without it; for family use as well as animal it is indispensable.—Toledo (Ohio) Blade, July 6, 1871.

MERCHANT'S GARGLING OIL has been thoroughly tested by the public during the past fifty years and always with the most gratifying results, so that it now stands unrivaled as a successful remedy for the several complaints which it is designed to relieve. This valuable preparation was first compounded by Dr. Geo. W. Merchant, of Lockport, N. Y., who devoted twenty years of personal labor in bringing it to its present state of perfection. It is now manufactured by the well-known firm of Merchant's Gargling Oil Company, whose reputation for honorable dealing is not excelled by that of any individual or company in the world. In the manufacture of their products the company use the greatest possible care, both in following the original recipe and in procuring drugs of absolute purity. The company is now manufacturing two kinds of oil, one for human and the other for animal flesh. No person who keeps a horse, cow, or any other domestic animal can afford to be without it.—The American Cultivator, Boston, Mass., Aug. 12, 1882.

How to treat a wife—Treat her to a new dress.

Rumor tells us that a husband of a well known actress is on the verge of insanity, driven nearly to madness by the infidelity of his wife. Last week his mother remarked to a lady friend—"Truly, I cannot understand my poor son, to fret as he does. In his father's time, men didn't go mad for a little thing like that." The lady friend said nothing but thought a heap.

NOTICE.—This is the only safe Theatre on the West Side, where there is a brick wall built, commencing four feet underground below the foundation, and extending eight feet above the roof, thus separating the Stage from the Auditorium. The large patent ventilators are worked from the Stage, and can be opened in one second in case of fire, thus forming an immense chimney, protecting the Theatre from smoke or fire. As proof positive, we invite inspection by the authorities to our assertion. Bear in mind that this establishment when crowded can be emptied in two minutes.

ADELINA PATTI.

During my artistic career in the art centres of the world, I have used the pianos of nearly all celebrated manufacturers, but none of them can be compared to yours,—none possess to such a marvelous degree that sympathetic, poetic and singing tone quality which distinguishes the Steinway as peerless among them all.

RICHARD WAGNER.

Sounds of such beauty as those coming from my Steinway Grand, flatter and coax the most agreeable tone-pictures from my harmonic melodic senses.

In a word, "I find your Grand piano of wondrous beauty. It is a noble work of art.

FRANZ LISZT

The magnificent Steinway Grand piano now stands in my music room, and presents a harmonic totality of admirable qualities, a detailed enumeration of which is the more superfluous, as the instrument fully justifies its world-wide reputation.

ANTON RUBINSTEIN.

Your unrivalled piano-fortes have done full justice to their world-wide reputation, both for excellence and capacity of enduring the severest trials. For, during all my long and difficult journeys all over America in a very inclement season, I used and have been enabled to use your pianos exclusively in my two hundred and fifteen concerts, and also in private, with the most eminent satisfaction and effect.

THEODORE THOMAS.

I consider the Steinway piano the best piano at present made, and that is the reason why I use it in private and also in all my public concerts. As long as the pianos of Messrs. Steinway and Sons retain that high degree of excellence of manufacture, and those admirable qualities which have always distinguished them, I shall continue to use them in preference to all other pianos.

FELICIEN DAVID.

In my idea, they are superior to all I have heard or tried to the present day, and in giving you this certificate I not only fulfill a duty of conscience, but at the same time render justice to the man and manufacturer who has realized in his productions the greatest progress in the art of piano-making.

ADOLPHE HENSELT.

It is with the greatest pleasure that I have just played upon your pianos, and cannot refrain from expressing to you in writing my admiration, and how much I was satisfied with them.

MARMONTEL.

The International and French Jury, in placing them first on the list, brilliantly confirm the lively and deep impression which these excellent pianos have produced on me.

ANNETTE ESSIPOFF.

No other European or American pianos known to me possess such extraordinary durability under the severest usage, nor combine all excellences to such a high degree as yours, and in them I have found my ideal instrument.

ETELKA GERSTER.

I regard the Steinway as the beau ideal of all pianos, and with their essentially noble and poetic tone quality these instruments are wonderfully sympathetic to me. I admire the easy, elastic and agreeable touch, the evenness, richness and surprising duration of tone, blending so effectively with and supporting the human voice, and all these qualities render, in my opinion, the Steinway piano the most desirable instrument of all—certainly the best to accompany the voice.

HER REPUTATION WAS AT STAKE.

"There is an insurmountable barrier to our marriage, Mr. Artefy," she coldly replied to his proffer of an alleged heretofore untouched heart.

"What is it? My love shall sweep every barrier away," he declared on the impulse of the moment and both knees.

"It is simply this. I happen to know of at least six girls who have promised to be sisters to you, and I cannot consent to be criticised by such a large family of sisters-in-law."

The suit was adjourned sine die.

AN OBEDIENT BOY.

"Mamma, may I speak?"

"You know that you must not talk at table."

"May I not say just one thing?"

"No, my boy. When papa has read his paper you may speak."

(papa reads through his paper and says, kindly):—"Now, child, what is it?"

"I only wanted to say that the water pipe in the bathroom had burst."

CHUMLEY: "Yes, Clara is certainly a lovely girl. I used to be very soft on her, Dumley. In fact, I think I would have married her but for the determined opposition of one of the family."

DUMLEY: "Her father, I suppose?"

CHUMLEY: "No, herself."

A LUCKLESS SOPHOMORE.

I held her hand—'twas years ago;
She loved me then and told me so,
As, lingering by the lattice gate,
She pressed my arm and bade me wait.
She can't forget it all, I know.

We spoke in whispers, sweet and low,
I begged a kiss, and then, although
She sighed and seemed to hesitate,
I held her hand.

'Tis strange that love so cold can grow,
That time can deal so keen a blow.
Her love, alas! is turned to hate.
Perhaps, I held the hand of Fate.
Ah, well! I can't forget—heigh ho!
I held her hand.

REV. CHARLES PROUDTEXT (who has been writing his sermon, looking up suddenly): "Maria, will you take the children out of the room for a few minutes?"

MRS. PROUDTEXT (in surprise): "Certainly, my dear. But—are they annoying you?"

REV. PROUDTEXT: "Not at all; but I have just dipped the mucilage brush in the ink-well, and I would like to be at liberty to make a few remarks."

FRENCH AS SHE IS PRONOUNCED.

I stopped yesterday to price some very beautiful pears which were exposed for sale upon a fruitstand.

"What sort are they?" I asked, "and how much do you charge for them?"

"Fifteen cents apiece," replied the vender, briefly. "They're the real duchy dangle 'em."

It took me until morning to make out that he meant the "Duchesse d'Angouleme."

Fast New York State Express.

To accommodate the increasing travel to principal cities in Central and Western New York, the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad has just placed in service a new fast train for Buffalo and intermediate cities, leaving Grand Central Station daily, at 8.30 A. M., and running through under a very fast schedule, arriving at Albany at 12.15 P. M., Utica at 2.50 P. M., Syracuse at 4.15 P. M., Rochester at 6.07 P. M., Canandaigua at 6.9 P. M. and Buffalo at 8.30 P. M. Wagner Palace Drawing-room Cars N-w York to Canandaigua and Buffalo also Buffet Smoking Car to Buffalo.

A very pretty riding habit designed by Redfern for summer wear, has a stop collar and vest—the latter being of some checked or striped material of light color and texture. The skirt is scanty and made in the latest approved "safety" style.

REAL SILK WARP HENRIETTAS

Are made only in England. Those manufactured by the PRIESTLEY'S OF BRADFORD, are of pure silk, pure wool, and unchangeable dye, superior in softness and beauty, very durable, and tenderness as long as they last. The Priestley fabrics includes all new and desirable Weaves. They never fray, slip, crock nor change color. Every yard is guaranteed by the manufacturers to be perfectly satisfactory to the wearer. For additional security they all are rolled on the "Varnished Board," and stamped on the underside of the selvedge every five yards, with the name B. PRIESTLEY & Co's. in Gilt Letters. They are for sale by the principal dealers throughout the United States, and in New York City by James McCreery & Co., B. Altman & Co., Lord & Taylor, Hern Bros. Simpson, Crawford & Simpson, Jackson's Mourning Store, Edward A. Morrison, Lobenthller Bros. of 14th Street, and others.

THEY NEVER SPEAK NOW!

Miss Travis: "Don't you think my new dress is too sweet for anything?"

Miss DeSmith: "Oh, lovely—exquisite! I do believe your dressmaker could make a bean-pole look graceful!"

ON SECOND THOUGHT.

Time flies—and through no fault of hours,
But just for instants, I'm
Convinced, with all his flying powers,
There are no flies on Time.

IT HAD BEEN THE ROUNDS.

Miss Clara: "It that a new ring you have on, Ethel? It strikes me I have seen it before."

Miss Ethel (blushing): "Yes, Clara, young Mr. Paperwate presented it to me last night. I have accepted him."

Miss Clara: "Oh, indeed! I'm so glad. Accept my best wishes. I thought that ring looked strangely familiar."

"What's the matter, Johnny," asked one of the neighbors' boys as his companion came out of the alley gate. "Ain't finished your dinner a'ready, have ye?"

"Nop."

"Didn't ye git any?"

"Yep; but I didn't stay to finish it."

"What made ye leave so soon?"

"Well, I said something at the table and everybody but pa laughed."

We seem to have four kinds of people: those who are moving forward; those who are on the move backward; those who are standing still; and those who are going to start in some direction soon.

A FACT.

O sing a song of sixpence,
A pocketful of cheff,
The folks that try to copy me
At them I always laugh;
With flaming advertisements
They gull the public mind,
And intimate to one and all
That they are wondrous kind.

They'll give for Fifty Dollars
What for a hundred can't be bought
And yet they think with this like these
The public sure are caught;
They swear their goods are foreign,
Fresh from old Europe's shores,
While nothing else but poorest goods
Are found within their stores.

3.

And o'en their very salesman
They keep upon the rack,
For if he don't swear black is white
He'll surely get the sack.
I'll stick to honest dealings,
As I've always done before,
And sell my goods—upon the square—
Number One in Avenue Four.

And I, John Moriarty,
Am proud that I can say:
"You'll find as represented
My goods—in every way.
And then my Special Credit,
It fills a want much felt,
And helps you furnish up your home
If you are short of 'Geld.'"

5.

So now, then, come and see me,
And my stock both fine and new,
'Tis the motto of my business
To rend'em all their due.

How awkward and uncomfortable one feels when freedom of motion is restrained, yet, how often at theater, ball, reception, or on promenade, is this unnecessary restraint placed upon some ladies who think that to be correct, though indispensable, is a matter of fashion.

The corset is an absolute necessity as a part of dress, but all corsets do not serve the purposes for which they are intended.

To enhance the beauty of symmetrical harmony, and yet give ease and comfort, the Foam Corset stands perfection. In a made in so many different models, that all figures can be perfectly fitted. This means a great deal, for your habit and gown maker can therefore please you, for an imperfect corset will never allow perfect dress. The Foam Corset is imported solely by *B. If a man wants his wife to believe that he is a genius, his wisest plan is to persuade her of it before he gets married. He will generally find it easier then.

HER OWN FAULT.

Now, why does she say, "You don't say so!"
When she knows very well that I do?
I'd have promised to wed me some day, so
I think that she trusts me. Don't you?
She is charming, but this one habit,
Which she seems quite unable to break,
If a chance ever comes, how I'll grab it
And tell her it makes my heart ache.
To hear her exclaim "You don't say so!"
When she knows very well that I do?
She has promised to wed me some day, so
I think she'll reform then. Don't you?

COURTSHIP—OLD AND NEW.

On his knees he vows his passion;
Tells her that he'll die without her;
Then (it's now quite out of fashion)
Slowly draws his arms about her
And whispers, "I love you."

THE

FASSO CORSET.

This Corset, after its many years' trial, both in Europe and this country, has been found and acknowledged to be superior in every particular to all others.

It has served as a model for many imitations, none of which have ever equalled it in form, finish or material.

As each Corset is cut, basted, and finished with the same care that is given to the making of a Dress Waist, it has that accuracy and symmetry which it is impossible to obtain in machine-made goods.

Its points of excellence are a long, tapering waist, gracefully curved back, perfectly-shaped and easily-fitting hips, with the lines of the bust and shoulder so proportioned in each model as to insure the greatest advantage in appearance, while affording perfect ease to the wearer.

It is made in 16 models, and of a variety of materials which include Coutille, Linen, Wool, Kid, Brocaded Silk and Satin, &c., &c., &c. Sold in all the principal cities of the United States.

How awkward and uncomfortable one feels when freedom of motion is restrained, yet, how often at theatre, ball, reception, or dinner party, this unnecessary restraint placed upon some ladies who think that a corset, though indispensible, is a thing of torture.

The corset is an absolute necessity as a part of dress, but all corsets do not serve the purpose for which they are intended.

To enhance the beauty of symmetrical harmony, and yet give ease and comfort, the Ferris Corset stands Perfection. It is made in so many different models, that all figures can be perfectly fitted. This means a great deal, for your ladies and gown maker can therefore please you, for an imperfect corset will never allow perfect dress. The Ferris Corset is imported solely by B. Altman & Co., and can only be procured of them.

"VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA

BEST & GOES FARTHEST."

The ORIGINAL and, ever since its invention, BEST of all Cocoas.

Highest Awards in the Principal Exhibitions.

Being very strong and nutritious, this cocoa is cheaper and more satisfying than tea.

Tea and Coffee in a new certain, cannot be considered as articles of food.
Cocoa, however, is both a stimulant and a nourisher, and has the great advantage of leaving no injurious effects on the nervous system.
Home cocoa, it is true, and all cocoa and chocolate manufactured in the ordinary way, are difficult of digestion, their flavor and aroma also being very imperfect.

But these defects were obviated by the invention of the "Pure Soluble Cocoa" in powder by the founder of this firm.

It is acknowledged by the most eminent doctors and analysts that by the special treatment which Van Houten's Cocoa has undergone, the solubility of the flesh-forming constituents is increased by fifty per cent., while the whole of the tissues are softened and rendered more palatable and digestible.

The consequence is that the most valuable elements—which otherwise are largely wasted—may be easily assimilated by the most delicate invalids or children; the delicious flavor and aroma natural to cocoa—but which, without this treatment, are not perceptible—are most highly developed, and the great solubility renders the making of the cocoa extremely simple.

Van Houten's cocoa is thus stimulating and nutritive. Even when made weak, it is a delicious beverage, and is then much cheaper than tea or coffee.

No wonder, therefore, that in all parts of the world Van Houten's Cocoa is recommended by medical men instead of tea or coffee or other cocoas and chocolates, for daily family use by children and adults, sale and sick, rich and poor.

The great success of Van Houten's Cocoa has led to many imitations, but it is generally admitted, and a comparison will easily prove, that none of them equals the inventor's in solubility, agreeable taste, and nutritive qualities.

BEAUTY; HOW ACQUIRED.

The principal tale-bearer of age is the skin of the human face. To regain a youthful appearance we must scale this outer sheet off and form a new skin outside. Mme. A. Rupert's world-renowned Face Bleach does this without injury or harmful effect. Bleach-on-the-wheel bottles (usually required) one bottle $2.00, three bottles $5.00, sent to any address. To cover the complexion $5.00, sent to any address. Call at office and see young girl with one side of face bleached and other side as was originally; she grew old-looking, or send four cents postage for full particulars. Mme. A. Rupert, 20 E. 14th St., New York, or 13 W. 42d st., New York, or 479 Fulton St., Brooklyn.

REAL SILK WARP HENRIETTAS

Are made only in England. Those manufactured by the PRIESTLEY'S OF BRADFORD, are of pure silk, pure wool, and unchangeable dye, superior in softness and beauty, very durable, and handsomer as long as they last. The Priestley fabrics includes all new and desirable Weaves. They never fray, slip, crack nor change color, Every yard is guaranteed by the manufacturers to be perfectly satisfactory to the wearer. For additional security they all are rolled on the "Varnished Board," and stamped on the underside of the selvedge, every five yards, with the name B. PRIESTLEY & CO. in Gilt Letters. They are for sale by the principal dealers throughout the United States, and in New York City by James McCreery & Co., B. Altman & Co., Lord & Taylor, Stern Bros. Simpson, Crawford & Simpson, Jackson's Mourning Store, Edward A. Morrison, Lebenthller Bros. & 14th Street, and others.

HER OWN FAULT.

Now, why does she say, "You don't say so!"
When she knows very well that I do?
She has promised to wed me some day, so
I think that she trusts me. Don't you?

She is charming, but for this one habit,
Which she seems quite unable to break,
If a chance ever comes, how I'll grab it
And tell her it makes my heart ache.

To hear her exclaim "You don't say so!"
When she knows very well that I do?
She has promised to wed me some day, so
I think she'll reform then. Don't you?

MUSIC BY THE MILE.

Despite the rapidly growing popularity of the new musical instrument, "The Æolian" few people have any idea of the enormous proportions the business is assuming. During the last six months over one million two hundred and fifty thousand feet of this music has been sold: this is equal to two hundred and forty-four miles, and represents over one hundred thousand different pieces.—Tribune.

During the past few years, many brands of champagne have been introduced into this country, and various means have been used in the city to push them, as the Holidays are drawing near, a suggestion in reference to choice is not ill timed. If you want to make sure of having a delicious, honest, rich wine, and one which is, and has been, popular all over Europe and America, get the Moet & Chandon white seal champagne. The house of Moet & Chandon is one of the most extensive in France, and no finer spark ng wine is imported. For sale by all first-class hotels

New Limited Train on the New York Central.

The increasing popularity of the "New York and Chicago Limited," via the New York Central & Lake Shore, has made the running of a second limited train a necessity. To meet this demand for increased facilities a new train called the "Southwestern Limited" has been placed in service, leaving Grand Central Station, New York, every day in the year at 4.30 a. m., via New York Central, Lake Shore and Big Four Route for Cincinnati, Columbus, Indianapolis and St. Louis. It consists of a combined library, smoking and cafe car, a regular smoking car, a regular standard day coach, a sleeping car for St. Louis, a sleeping car for Cincinnati, and a dining car—all from New York—also a sleeping car for Cincinnati from Boston. These cars are all of the latest designs and most luxurious appointments, built expressly for this service by the Wagner Palace Car Company, and are ventilated throughout. No extra fare will be charged on this train.

The "Cafe" Car.

This is a new and valuable addition to the luxury of modern railway travel, which has just been introduced by the Wagner Palace Car Company, on the "SOUTHWESTERN LIMITED," the new fast train via the New York Central, Lake Shore, and Big Four route, between New York and Cincinnati and St. Louis. It contains, in addition to the regular library and smoking apartment features, a kitchen where you may have prepared a cup of tea and a piece of toast, or a full meal, as your appetite may dictate. Meals prepared in this car are served in the sleeping or drawing room cars, the passenger paying only for what he eats.

New Limited Train on the New York Central.

The increasing popularity of the "New York and Chicago Limited," via the New York Central & Lake Shore route, has made the running of a second limited train a necessity. To meet this demand for increased facilities a new train called the "Southwestern Limited" has been placed in service leaving Grand Central Station, New York, every day in the year at 5.30 P. M., via New York Central, Columbus, Indianapolis and Four Route for Cincinnati, Columbus, Indianapolis and St. Louis. It consists of an observation library, smoking and cafe car, a compartment sleeping car, a regular standard buffet sleeping car for St. Louis, a sleeping car for Cincinnati, and a dining car—all from New York—also a sleeping car for Cincinnati from Boston. These cars are all of the latest designs and most luxurious appointments, built expressly for this service by the Wagner Palace Car Company, and are vestibuled throughout. No extra fare will be charged on this train.

The "Cafe" Car.

This is a new and valuable addition to the luxury of modern day travel, which has been put on intervening by the Wagner Palace Car company, on the "SOUTHWESTERN LIMITED," the new fast train via the New York Central, Lake Shore, and Big Four route, between New York and Cincinnati and St. Louis. It contains, in addition to the regular library and smoking apartment features, a kitchen where you may have prepared a cup of tea and a piece of toast, or a full meal, as your appetite may dictate. Meals prepared in this car are served in the sleeping car without any extra charge, the passenger paying only for what he eats.

New Limited Train on the New York Central.

The increasing popularity of the New York and Chicago Limited, via the New York Central & Lake Shore route, has made the running of a second limited train a necessity. To meet this demand for increased facilities a new train called the "South-western Limited" has been placed in service, leaving Grand Central Station, New York, every day in the year at 4.30 p. m. via New York Central, Lake Shore and Big Four Routes for Cincinnati, Columbus, Indianapolis and St. Louis. It consists of a combination library, smoking and buffet car, a regular smoking car, a regular standard sleeping car, a sleeping car for St. Louis, a sleeping car for Cincinnati, and a dining car—all through. There is also a sleeping car for Cincinnati from Boston. These cars are all of the latest and most luxurious appointments, built expressly for this service by the Wagner Palace Car Company and are ventilated throughout. No extra fare will be charged on this train.

The "Cafe" Car.

This is a new and valuable addition to the luxury of modern railway travel, which has just been introduced by the Wagner Palace Car Company, on the "SOUTH-WESTERN LIMITED" New York fast train via the New York Central, Lake Shore, and Big Four routes between New York and Cincinnati and St. Louis. It contains, in addition to the regular library and smoking apartments, features a kitchen where you may have prepared a cup of tea and a piece of toast, or a full meal, as your appetite may dictate. Meals prepared in this car are served in the sleeping or drawing room cars, the passenger paying only for what he eats.

The manufacturers of the "Fair and Square" ribbons are satisfied in pushing their goods without disclosing their identity to the public. They think what the "women folks" want is the best ribbon, and they are willing to supply this demand and themselves remain in the background. Truly, modesty is as rare a commodity in these pushing days that they ought to satisfy the general question, who makes the "Fair and Square"?

New Limited Train on the New York Central.

The increasing popularity of the "New York and Chicago Limited," via the New York Central & Lake Shore route, has made the running of a second limited train a necessity. To meet the demand for increased facilities a new train called the "Southwestern Limited" has been placed in service, leaving Grand Central Station, New York, every day in the year at 4.30 p. m. via the New York Central, Lake Shore and Big Four Route for Cincinnati, Columbus, Indianapolis and St. Louis. It consists of a combination library, smoking and cafe car, a regular smoking car, a regular day coach, also with a sleeping car for St. Louis, a sleeping car for Cincinnati, and a dining car—all from New York—also a sleeping car for Cincinnati from Boston. These cars are all of the latest designs and most luxurious appointments, built expressly for this service by the Wagner Palace Car Company, and are ventilated throughout. No extra fare will be charged on this train.

The manufacturers of the "Pair and Square" ribbons seem satisfied in pushing their goods without disclosing their identity to the public. They think that the "woman-folks" want in the best of ribbon, and they are willing to supply this demand and themselves remain in the background. Truly modesty is so rare a commodity in these pushing days that they ought to satisfy the general question, who makes the "Pair and Square"?

New Limited Train on the New York Central.

The increasing popularity of the "New York and Chicago Limited," via the New York Central & Lake Shore route, has made the running of a second limited train a necessity. To meet this demand for increased facilities a new train called the "North-western Limited" has been placed in service, leaving Grand Central Station, New York, every day in the year at 5.30 A. M. via New York Central, Lake Shore and Big Four Route for Cincinnati, Columbus, Indianapolis and St. Louis. It consists of a combination library, smoking and cafe car, a regular smoking car, a regular standard day coach, a sleeping car for St. Louis, a sleeping car for Cincinnati, and a dining car—all from New York—also a sleeping car for Cincinnati from Boston. These cars are all of the latest designs and most luxurious appointments, built expressly for this service by the Wagner Palace Car Company, and are well lined throughout. No extra fare will be charged on this train.

The "Cafe" Car.

This is a new and valuable addition to the luxury of modern railway travel, which has just been introduced by the Wagner Palace Car Company, on the "NORTH-WESTERN LIMITED," the new fast train from New York, Grand Central Station, and Big Four route, between New York and Cincinnati and St. Louis. This car combines the best of the regular library and smoking apartment features, a kitchen where your meals are cooked, a cup of tea and a piece of toast, or a dinner to suit your appetite may dictate. Meals prepared in the car are served in the sleeping or drawing room cars, the passenger paying only for what he eats

D. L. DOW'S SCHOOL FOR SCIENTIFIC, PHYSICAL AND VOCAL CULTURE, for ladies, gentlemen and children. If you desire a robust, healthy physique and a color of rare charm and power, you can obtain it by attending this School of Scientific principles. By the methods, a dragging color for the practically colorless and a healthy body, for the unhealthful, is possible. The best voice can positively be secured. Prospectus sent on application to the Principal or proprietor of all, 7 East 16th St., N.Y.

An extremely social but at the same time very stylish gown has just been made by Redfern. The color is dark green, the skirt has long draperies which on the right side are carried into a graceful pleating, lined with light green; the braiding on the under petticoat is of green and silver, and on each side of the light green waistcoat some braiding appears.—Extract.

"Wraps that stand salt water, coats that are proof against mist and storms, every variety of cloak to keep out different degrees of damp—shooting suits, gowns that are neither heavy nor over light, but just have a certain amount of warmth and power of resistance—all these have begun to be necessary to the many seasons we love to spend an out-of-door life, and up in for sport and special-air amusements of all kinds. Hedden has recently been interested in the variety and style of the garments prepared for him for just such occasions."—Town Estates.

The manufacturers of the "Fair and Square" ribbon seem satisfied in making their goods without disclosing their identity to the public. They think what the "women like" want is the best ribbon, and they are willing to supply this demand and themselves remain in the background. Truly, modesty is as rare a commodity in those pushing days that they ought to satisfy the general question, who makes the "Fair and Square"?

New Limited Train on the New York Central.

The increasing popularity of the "New York and Chicago Limited," via the New York Central & Hudson River, has made the running of a second limited train necessary. To meet this demand for increased facilities a new train called the "North-western Limited" has been placed in service, leaving Grand Central Station, New York, every day in the year at 4.30 p. m. via New York Central, Lake Shore and Big Four Routes for Cincinnati, Columbus, Indianapolis and St. Louis. It consists of a combination library, smoking and cafe car, a regular smoking car, a regular standard day coach, a sleeping car for St. Louis, a sleeping car for Cincinnati, and a dining car all from New York; also a sleeping car for Cincinnati from Boston. These cars are all of the latest designs and most luxurious appointments, built expressly for this service by the Wagner Palace Car Company, and are ventilated throughout. No extra fare will be charged on this train.

The "Cafe" Car.

This is a new and valuable addition to the luxury of modern railway travel, which has just been introduced by the Wagner Palace Car Company, on the "NEW YORK AND CHICAGO LIMITED." The new fast train via the New York Central, Lake Shore, and Big Four routes, leaves New York at 4.30 p. m. daily and St. Louis, it consists of combination car, regular library and smoking apartment features, a kitchen where you may have prepared a cup of tea and a piece of toast, or a full meal, as your appetite may dictate. Meals prepared in this car are served in the sleeping or drawing room cars, the passenger paying only for what he eats.

"Wraps that stand sail water, coats that are proof against man's and storms, every variety of cloak to keep out different degrees of damp—shocking cutaffits, gowns that are neither heavy nor over light, but yet have a certain amount of warmth and power of resistance—all these have begun to be necessary to the many among us who love to spend an out-of-door life, and "go in" for sport and open-air amusements of all kinds. Redfern has excelled even himself in the variety and style of the garments prepared by him for that sixth ocea-tion."—Extract.

The manufacturers of the "Fair and Square" ribbon seem satisfied with pushing their goods without disclosing their identity to the public. They think what the "women folks" want is the best ribbon, and they are willing to supply the demand and themselves remain in the background. Truly modesty is no curse—especially in these pushing days that they ought to satisfy the general question, who makes the "Fair and Square"?

COMPENSATION.

I know he is awfully rude,
His manners are shockingly crude,
He limps when he walks, and he lisps
when he talks,
And his brains are the brains of a dude:

He heats the snare drum in a band;
He is red-headed, freckled and tanned;
But search the State over you'll never discover
Such a dandy to drive with one hand.

Philosophy has not so much enabled men to overcome their weaknesses, as it has taught the art of concealing them from the world.

It is an acknowledged fact that one of the five considerations in life is a comfortable home, and one where you take pleasure in having your friends around you.

There are three things of the utmost importance which must be borne in mind, when trying to arrive at this desirable end, 1st, Good location; 2d, good construction, and 3d, to enjoy the two former, good health.

No. 46 East 74th St. fulfils these three conditions. It is a 1st class four-story brown stone Dwelling, 20 feet in width and 80 feet in depth, has a large two-story extension, and is built on a lot 102 feet 2 inches deep. It was built by days' labor and of the very best materials. The gas fixtures are extra fine, and the whole house has just been thoroughly overhauled, and redecorated with great taste. Last, but not least, the plumbing is perfect.

This dwelling can be had at a bargain, and is ready for immediate occupancy. Apply on premises or to TERENCE FARLEY'S SONS, 1164 3d Avenue, between 71st and 72d Streets.

HIS REQUEST.

The policeman had given his testimony, which was unqualifiedly to the fact of the old gentleman's intoxication. Then the old servant was called to the stand. There was a mingled expression of indignation and determination on his countenance. He testified flatly, to the surprise of the court room, that the old man was sober when he came home. The prosecuting attorney proceeded to cross-question :

"You say that Mr.—— was sober when he came home ?"

"Yes sir."

"Did he get to bed alone? "

"No, sir."

"Did you put him to bed? "

"Yes, sir."

"And he was perfectly sober? "

"Yes, sir."

"What did he say when you put him to bed? "

"He said 'good night.'"

"Anything else? "

"He said as how I was to call him early."

"Anything else? "

"Yes, sir."

"What was it? Tell us exactly what he said, every word."

"He said as how I was to wake and call him early, for he was to he the Queen of the May!"

The old man was fined.

Falsehood is often rocked by truth, but she soon outgrows her cradle, and discards her nurse.

When a girl elopes with a coachman she is resolved to take him for wheel or whoa.

It is safer to he attacked by some men, than to he protected by them.

Mrs. Knickerbocker: "Where is your husband to day, Mrs. Van Slycur?"

Mrs. Van Slycur: He went up the Hndson to Tarrytown."

"He frequently goes up there, doesn't he?"

"Very often. He is a great lover of nature. He goes to Tarrytown to admire the beauty of the place. It is so romantic."

"So I've heard ; but do you know that the beauty of the place is a young widow?"

Mrs. Van Slycur faints.

Want of care does more damage than want of knowledge.

No man was ever so much deceived by another as by himself.

WHAT MAKES A MAN.

Not numerous years, not lengthened life,
Not pretty children and a wife,
Not pins and beains and fancy rings,
Not any such like trumpery things;
Not pipe, segar nor hottled wine,
Nor liberty with kings to dine ;
Nor coats, nor boots, nor yet a hat,
A dandy vest, or trim cravat ;
Nor houses, land, nor golden ore,
Nor all the world's wealth laid in store :
Not Mister, Colonel, Sir, nor Squire,
With titles that the memory tire ;
Nor ancestry traced back to Will,
Who went from Normandy to kill ;
Not Latin, Greek, or Hebrew lore,
Nor thousand volumes rambled o'er ;
Not Judge's robe, nor Mayor's mace,
Nor crowns that deck the royal race ;
These all united, never can
Avail singly to make a man.

A truthful soul, a loving mind,
Full of affection for its kind,
A helper of the hnman race,
A soul of beauty and of grace,
A spirit firm, creet and free,
That never basely bends the knee ;
That truly speaks of God within,
And never makes a league with sin ;
That worships God and him alone,
And bows nowhere hut at His throne ;
That trembles at no tyrant's nod—
A soul that fears no one bnt God,
And thus can smile at Hnman ban—
That is the soul that makes a man.

The family were gathered around the supper table one evening recently, when little Tommy snddenly remarked :

"Say, do folks eat horses?"

"In Paris they do, my dear," said his mother.

"Well, I guess they do in New York too," Tommy went on. "Pa does anyway."

"What do you mean, Thomas?" asked his father, sternly.

"Well," said Tommy, "I heard you tell Uncle Charlie that you took a pony with your coffee every day at your dinner at Delmonico's, and it braced you up lots for your work!"

A LOVER'S COMPLIMENT.

"A pretty thing in gloves," said she,
"I wish to get a perfect glove."
"The prettiest thing in gloves," said he,
"Are those white hands of yours, my love."

HE GAVE UP ALL HOPE.

"Prisoner," said a Nevada judge, "what have you to say to this indictment: are you guilty or not guilty?"

"Before I answer the question, judge, I'd like to ask your Honor if this little spectacled dude is all the lawyer I've got?"

"That is Mr. Ferguson, sir," responded the judge, sternly; "I have appointed him to defend you, as you seem to have no counsel."

"Judge," said the prisoner, sighing heavily, "I am guilty."

The firmest friendships have been formed in mutual adversity, as iron is most strongly united by the fiercest flame.

The best woman has always somewhat of man's strength; the noblest man, a woman's gentleness.

A necessitous man who gives costly dinners, pays large sums to be laughed at.

They who have experienced sorrow are the most capable of appreciating joy ; so those only who have been sick, feel the full value of health.

"I've just found out why lightning never strikes twice in the same place," said Farmer Furrow to the deacon, as they stood under a tree during a thunderstorm. "Why is it?" said the deacon. "Because sir, the same place is never there after the lightning once hits it."

Never he discouraged by trifles; patience and perseverance will win.

Countryman (to dentist): "I wouldn't pay nothin' extry for gas. Jest yank her out if it does hurt."

Dentist: You are plucky, sir. Let me see the tooth."

Countryman: "Oh, 'taint me that's got the toothache ; it's my wife. She'll be here in a minute."

Wilhelm—"A penny for your thoughts, my dear."

Marguerite—"Do you mean my thoughts this minute?"

Wilhelm—"Yes, this second."

Marguerite—"I was wondering why men invariably think that women think that the odor of orris root is preferable to the odor of a sherry cobler."

The most disagreeable two-legged animal is a little great man ; and the next, a little great man's factotum and friend.

"Papa, how do they catch monkeys?" inquired Willie, who had been to the menagerie.

"The best way nowadays, I think, is by means of a double-barreled hustle and triple size cart-wheel hat and flashy parasol."

"Yes," remarked Willie's mother amusingly, "I used to be very much addicted to those little foibles before we were married."

SUPERIOR SERVICE TO THE WEST.

Important changes and improvements for the benefit of travelers have been introduced on the Vanderbilt system of Railroads, of which the initial line out of New York is the GREAT FOUR TRACK.

New York Central and Hudson River Railroad.

THE FAMOUS VESTIBULE NEW YORK AND CHICAGO LIMITED

leaves Grand Central Station, New York, daily at 9.30 A. M., and arrives in Chicago same hour next day. This is the fastest and only steam-heated train to the West. The novel features are the Dining Car, Barber Shop, Bath room and Library.

☞ The New York state and Pacific Express leaves Grand Central Station at 10.30 A. M., with drawing-room and sleeping cars to Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Chicago.

☞ The best appointed evening train to the West leaves Grand Central station at 6.20 P. M., serving dinner en route in car equal to a first-class restaurant, and with new sleeping cars through to Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis and Chicago by both the Lake Shore and the Michigan Central Routes.

☞ The fast Night Express leaves Grand Central Station at 11.30 P. M., with through sleeping cars, giving an entire evening in New York, making over two hours quicker time than heretofore. Stopping cars can be occupied any time after ten o'clock in evening, and run to Chicago, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo, etc.

Ticket offices: 413, 785, 942 Broadway, 12 Park Place, 5 Battery Place, Grand Central Station, 125th Street.

CLARA MORRIS

IN HER NEW PLAY

RENÉE DE MORAY

NEXT WEEK.

Commencing Easter Monday, April 26, Clara Morris begins a limited engagement at this house in her new and undeniably successful play of the "Renée de Moray." Since she returned to the profession, at the head of which she still stands to-day, Miss Morris has never been more perfectly fitted with a character than that afforded her in the latest and greatest of her plays. As Madame de Moray, the model wife, loving daughter and devoted mother, the great actress has full scope for displaying her great genius and those rare emotional powers that have earned for her the title of "America's Greatest Actress" to the utmost advantage. The play is one that speaks with wonderful potency to the emotions and better impulses of the heart, and yet it is not sombre. Comedy and pathos are admirably blended, while together with the first there is become legal called upon to die to disentangle the story, makes it the very best play with which the name of Clara Morris has yet been associated. The story is that of a woman who is carrying a weight of grief, the result of another's sin—for heavier than the World's pen the broad shoulders of such a birthless creature than that any man has been known to bear up under—and the character is one so strange! It tells of something that has been of the experience of but few women on this earth; all its plotures are well painted, and the author has presented to pay the price asked for the letters, but legitimate with her illegitimate husband, and is covered by the adventurer and his sister, who, by exciting the suspicions of the husband of the countess, cause him and her father and mother to appear at the room where she and her lover are met together. The husband accuses the lover and the countess, and, for a time, is convinced that the brother, who has come to the rescue and declares his mother, will not expose up the letters that throws them in the fire, and leaves him. The countess, in the absence of her mother's guilt to be known, admits that the husband was loved her, in silence and in the absence of her parent's homes, and the adventurers who visited her ruin become the victims of Renée de Moray. Finally, through the love which both the countess and countess bear their mother, who was absent in India when the trouble between them occurred, together with the agency of an English merchant, the wonderful sacrifice of the loving countess is made known; the villainy of the adventurer and his sister is discovered, and the family again happily united.

Miss Morris so absorbs the character of the noble countess, that while she is before the audience she seems not to be acting a part, but to be the real Renée de Moray. In the opening scene when she meets her brother, she first treats him as an adventurer who has adopted a part to gain his ends, but when the proofs of his identity are given her his former noble nature comes to the front and she feels for one who would sacrifice so much for her. In the second act, where she herself cannot conceal, the sorrow of her and the shame that she feels for the fear lest the truth will be disclosed to that mother's detriment, she rises to the second act when he brother has been absent, but rather than betray her mother's secret that the dead man loved her, her acting is realistic in the extreme. The scene in the garden between herself and her child, the scene between her and her father, and later with her mother, keeps the audience in tears of sorrow or joy in turns, and shows the great power of the actress as no other play can do.

MISS MORRIS' SUPPORTING COMPANY.

The Company supporting Miss Morris this season is a strong and well-balanced one. Mr. R. D. Graham, who plays the Count de Moray is an excellent actor. There is a sympathetic and emotional portrayal of the part of the husband of Renée that makes it a most acceptable portrayal. Mr. Leonard Clergra, as the just and stern old father gives a most excellent picture of the part. Mr. Lee, as the illegitimate brother has but little to do, but what that little well does. The part of Ernest Drake, the interesting medical student, who is in love with the countess, but whose love is unknown to her, is made extremely funny by Mr. Frederick Dowell. The part of the villain, Alfonso Palmer, is entrusted to Mr. Ogden Stevens, who is an excellent villain, as the part demands, and Mr. M. W. Rawley gives a most creditable and satisfactory coloring to the faithful and devoted Indian servant Mather. As Cecile, the daughter of the Count and Countess de Moray, Miss Lilla Vane is seen to great advantage, as is also Mrs. Octavia Allen as Madame de la Morcie. Mrs. Charles Watson as the scheming adventuress does good work, looks well and dresses elegantly, in fact, it is acknowledged that the Morris Company is to-day one of the very best on the road.

MERIT AND ENTERPRISE.

REMARKABLE RECORD OF SUCCESS, THE PIANO OF THE MUSICIAN.

The firm of Schmer & Co. are regarded not alone by the piano trade, but in business circles generally, as one of the most enterprising and deservedly successful houses in the business. Starting in 1872, with limited facilities, and passing safely in the early stages of its existence through a period of unprecedented financial depression, this house, though it has had to contend with established concerns of many years' experience and almost unlimited resources has by the exercise of business tact and thorough the merit of its instruments won for itself a leading position in the piano trade.

It is due to the skill and care exhibited in the construction of these instruments and their consequent strength, durability and unsurpassed musical qualities that the limited production of 15 years ago has expanded into its present large proportions.

Where they then made four pianos, their present average production reaches the high figure of 40 pianos per week, and is yet insufficient to supply the extensive demand, and the firm is to-day largely in arrears of its orders. The Schmer piano combines a rich, pure tone of great volume and sympathetic quality with a precision, delicacy, and responsiveness of touch seldom found in other instruments, and these characteristics have not only made it popular with performers generally, but have also made it the prime favorite among artists for both concert and private use.

This firm makes every variety of instruments, square, upright and grand, and constantly striving to meet every demand, has produced the Bijou Grand, the smallest grand piano ever made, the most practical novelty yet presented to the public.

This instrument, while occupying little space, has great power and volume of tone, together with the tone-sustaining quality and elastic touch heretofore only found in the concert grand.

Exceptional durability, combined with perfection of tone and touch, make the Schmer piano peculiarly adapted to the use of pupils and teachers in establishments where piano playing is taught.

The writer some time since, through the courtesy of Mr. Fahr, who has general charge of the financial affairs of the house, had an opportunity of visiting the factory, and the tour was a source of as much surprise as gratification.

When in 1879 the old factory on Fourteenth Street was found to be too small to accommodate the business it was enlarged by taking in the house, numbered from 149 to 155 on that street. Very soon this was found to be insufficient to meet the demand, and the works were transferred to Twenty-third street but on a considerably larger scale, while the salesroom, which now requires considerable space, remains on Fourteenth Street.

While Schmer & Co. have relied upon the inherent value of their instrument rather than upon the oftimes factitious advertisements obtained from Exposition awards, they have yet received the highest distinction in many exhibitions, notably: Philadelphia, 1876, Montreal, 1881–3, and at Minneapolis and Sacramento, and they can point with pride to the magnificent indorsement their instruments have received at the hands of the best native and visiting musicians, prominent among whom are Ed. Neupert and Gottschalk, the celebrated composers and pianists, and other native and visiting artists. It is not, therefore, surprising that the name of Schmer & Co., upon a piano has become a guarantee for its excellence.—From the New York Times.

The Name of SCHMER & CO has become a synonym for liberality and enterprise throughout both continents, and the future of the house cannot fail to worthily sustain the past record and achievements

From Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper.

A LEADING PIANO HOUSE.

Almost immediately after the birth of the now great firm of SCHMER & CO., in 1872, came the memorable business depression of a year later. This fatal year proved the disastrous ruin of many long-established firms, but when the sun burst clear once more above the clouds of business panic this young firm came out unharmed. It is one which now occupies a separate and absolutely unique position in the piano trade, was striving manfully without pretense to supply instruments of strength, durability and unsurpassed musical qualities. And it was not long before the critical pauses of other establishments recognized the merits of the young firm and the Schmer piano had gained its merited fame From a limited production of four pianos the business rapidly out grew its bounds, until now no less than forty beautiful instruments stand ready for shipment each week. To keep pace with the ever growing demand an enormous factory has been built in Astoria, L. I., occupying 250 feet of the river front, facing Eighty fifth street, New York, while the great salesrooms number from 149 to 155 East Fourteenth street. Around this six story giant of masonry has grown up a little village of workmen. Here they labor and here they have their homes, under the shadow of the great industry which earns a livelihood for hundreds of men. Scattered through the town are the various auxiliary workshops which have been added as the pressure of business increased. It is at Astoria that the famous Schmer pianos are made. They combine a rich, pure tone of great volume and ear- quality with a delicacy and sympathetic responsiveness of touch seldom found in other instruments. This is especially true of the Bijou Grand—the smallest grand piano ever made—which has already alone earned a proud reputation for its makers. The history of this firm in later years and the wonderful durability, combined with perfection of tone and touch of the square, upright and grand pianos, are known to hundreds of musicians and in thousands of homes all over the world. while the collection of prize medals from scores of expositions attest the indorsement of the ablest critics.—New York World.

FROM THE NEW YORK SUN.

The SCHMER pianos are the centre of attraction in the musical department of the present Chicago Exposition, where throngs of visitors are constantly gathered around them, charmed with the rich pure tones of the instruments on exhibition. It frequently happens that all the celebrated makes are being performed upon at once, but amid this vast melody, so musicians say, the magnificent tone of the Schmer swell out in sweet and sympathetic individuality, excelling all others.

Messrs. Schmer & Co. are a progressive house, and their constant aim has been always to gratify the desire of their many customers.

When the greatest of Leaders his baton upraises
All Europe breaks forth into Harmony's praises;
And a Schmer piano, 'mid wild acclamations,
Is chosen for use at the "Concert of Nations."
THE MOST POPULAR PIANO IS THE SCHMER.

The above picture illustrates, in a most well-devised manner, the preeminent position of the Schmer Piano among the rival makes. As the Iron Duke of Wellington, the director of the orchestra, holds the baton with a true hand, and accurately measures the harmony of the European concert, thus the Schmer Piano holds dominion over the concert halls of to-day, and is preferred by leading artists to express the harmonic feeling of music in full, clear, sympathetic tones.

As shown in the picture, the Schmer Piano will create harmony in the halls of the millionaire as well as in the parlor of the well-to-do citizen.

New Limited Train on the New York Central.

The increasing popularity of the "New York and Chicago Limited," via the New York Central & Lake Shore route, has made the running of a second limited train a necessity. To meet this demand for increased facilities a new train called the 'Southwestern Limited' has been put in service, leaving Grand Central Station, New York, every day in the year at 8.30 a. m. via New York Central, Lake Shore and Big Four Route for Cincinnati, Columbus, Indianapolis and St Louis. It consists of a combination library, smoking and cafe car, a regular smoking car, a regular standard day coach, a sleeping car for St. Louis, a sleeping car for Cincinnati, and a dining car—all from New York—also a sleeping car for Cincinnati from Boston. These cars are all of the latest designs and most luxurious appointments built expressly for this service by the Wagner Palace Car Company, and are vestibuled throughout. No extra fare will be charged on this train.

The "Cafe" Car.

This is a new and valuable addition to the luxury of modern railway travel, which has just been introduced on the Big Four Route. Passengers on the "BIG FOUR WESTERN LIMITED," the new fast train via the New York Central, Lake Shore, and Big Four route between New York and Cincinnati and St. Louis. It contains, in addition to the regular library and smoking apartments, a cafe, a kitchen where you may have prepared a cup of tea and a piece of toast, or a full meal, as your appetite may dictate. Meals prepared in this car are served in the sleeping or drawing room cars, the passenger paying only for what he gets.

Bands of mink or sable are shown at Gunther's for ball dresses, especially for those of scarlet or yellow tulle: a band of fur is slit at the tablier, the low bodice is outlined with fur and the white neck made to look whiter. Ten gowns of white silk have collar and revers of the golden fur, and the full quaint sleeve is confined at the wrists by tetters in the shape of bands of soft sable.

Messrs. Tompkins and Reynolds have the honor to announce that the eminent conversationalist,

Professor GEO. R. CROMWELL, will appear each Sunday evening until further notice, when he will illustrate magnificently, with gigantic cosmographs, his lectures upon the

WONDERS OF NATURE

and

THE BEAUTIFUL IN ART.

The New York World says: "Prof. Cromwell is the 'Lone Star of America.'"

The New York Herald says: "It is one of the most pleasing and instructive entertainments ever given in New York."

The New York Mail and Express says: "They are enjoyable alike to the young and old."

The New York Sun: "Beautiful, interesting and instructive."

The New York Daily Times: "A couple of hours passed gazing on these grand sun-painted pictures convey to the mind a better impression of the world than all the books in the Astor Library."

The Tribune says: "The statues seemed the actual verity—solid as marble and beautiful as the original Medinan sculpture."

Expressions of Eminent People.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes said: "It is like dreaming a long, beautiful dream with eyes wide open."

Ralph Waldo Emerson said: "Daguerre, himself, ought to have lived to have seen it."

Rev. Dr. James McCosh said: "They are all that he represents them as being."

Archbishop M. J. Spaulding says: "They are chaste and inexceptional."

Hon. Andrew D. White said: "I think any community fortunate that is allowed to enjoy it."

John G. Whittier said: "The stereoscopic effect was wonderfully preserved in the largely magnified pictures."

President and Faculty of Vassar Female College said: "Make a stronger impression on our mind than could the originals themselves."

Hon. John D. Philbrick said: "The statuary seemed to be—it was—real."

Dr. John Towler said: "Need to be seen only once to be appreciated."

Dr. Charles A. Aiken: "The entertainment is instructive and pleasing in a very high degree."

The President and Faculty of St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., said: "Cheerfully endorse them as excellent in every respect."

In order that the general public may be afforded an opportunity to attend Professor Cromwell's Sunday lectures at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, the following moderate prices of admission have been adopted.

Family Circle 25c., Balcony 50c., Orchestra $1.

Seats may be secured on and after high noon.

The lecture and illustrations will begin promptly at 8.15 o'clock. Carriages may be ordered at 9.45 o'clock.

THE FASSO CORSET.

This Corset, after its many years' trial, both in Europe and this country, has been found and acknowledged to be superior in every particular to all others.

It has served as a model for many imitations, none of which have ever equalled it in form, finish or material.

As each Corset is cut, basted, and finished with the same care that is given to the making of a Dress Waist, it has that accuracy and symmetry which it is impossible to obtain in machine-made goods.

Its points of excellence are a long, tapering waist, gracefully curved back, perfectly-shaped and easily-fitting hips, with the lines of the bust and shoulder so proportioned in each model as to insure the greatest advantage in appearance, while affording perfect ease to the wearer.

It is made in 16 models, and of a variety of materials which include Coutille, Linen, Wool, Kid, Brocaded Silk and Satin, &c., &c., &c. Sold in all the principal cities of the United States.

MUSIC BY THE MILE.

Despite the rapidly growing popularity of the new musical instrument, "The Xolian," few people have any idea of the enormous proportions this business is assuming. During the last six months over one million two hundred and fifty thousand feet of this music has been sold; this is equal to two hundred and forty-four miles, and represents over one hundred thousand different pieces.—Tribune.

How awkward and uncomfortable one feels when freedom of motion is restrained, yet, how often at theatre, ball, reception, or on promenade, is this unnecessary restraint placed upon some ladies who think that a corset, though indispensable, is a thing of torture.

The corset is an absolute necessity as a part of dress, but all corsets do not serve the purposes for which they are intended.

To enhance the beauty of symmetrical harmony, and yet give ease and comfort, the Kaso Corset stands Perfection. It is made in so many different models, that all figures can be perfectly fitted. This means a great deal, for your habit and gown maker can therefore please you, for an imperfect corset will never allow perfect dress. The Kaso Corset is imported solely by B. Altman & Co., and can only be procured of them.

NOTE.—A reproduction of the Incantatory, Talismanic Sorcery, known and practiced by the Ancients from the earliest historical times. It is mentioned in Deut. xviii 10, 11; in I Samuel xxviii; also by the most ancient Greek poets, who speak of the descent into Hades to consult with the spirits of the dead, and obtain a knowledge of future events. Its practice was frequent in all known countries at the dawn of Christianity. Dead bodies were said to be reanimated by demons. Black Art was forbidden under severe penalties by Constantine, also by the Pagan emperors. Colleges of the necromantic, or Black Art, existed in Spain throughout the Middle Ages.

A LEADING PIANO HOUSE.

Almost immediately after the birth of the now great firm of Schmer & Co., in 1873, came the memorable business depression of a year later. This fatal year proved the disastrous ruin of many long-established firms, but after the storm had ceased once more above the clouds of business panic this young firm came out unharmed. This house, which now occupies a separate and absolutely unique position in the piano trade, was striking, sensibly although pretense to supply instruments of strength, volume, and unsurpassed purity of tone and touch. It was not long before the critical minds of other establishments recognized the merits of the young firm and the Schmer piano had gained its merited fame. From a limited production of four pianos the business rapidly outgrew its bounds, until now no less than forty beautiful instruments stand ready for shipment each week. To keep pace with the ever-growing demand an enormous factory has been built in Astoria, L. I., occupying 250 feet of the river-front, facing Eighty-fifth street, New York, while the great saleswoms numbers from 149 to 155 and Fourteenth street. Around this factory group of masonry has grown up a little village of workmen. Here they labor and here they have their homes, under the shadow of the great industry which earns a livelihood for hundreds of men. Scattered through the town are the various sanitary workshops, and here the visitor is conducted through a labyrinth. It is at Astoria that the famous Schmer scales are made. They combine a rich, pure tone of great volume and fine quality with a delicacy and sympathetic responsiveness of touch seldom found in other instruments. This is especially true of the Bijou Grand—the smallest grand piano ever made which has already since earned a proud reputation for its makers. The history of this firm in later years and the wonderful durability, combined with perfection of tone and touch of the square, upright and grand pianos, are known to hundreds of musicians and in thousands of homes all over the world, while the collection of prize medals from scores of expositions attest the full consent of the oldest critics.—New York World.

Prop. M. L. BURR.

THE great secret of Redfern's success as a Ladies' tailor lies in the extraordinary vein of originality he possesses—no two ever sees two gowns exactly alike—the face, the form, of each customer suggests some alteration, some little addition here or there—the result is that a gown is made to suit the customer and anything like repetition avoided.

The Big Hat Question.

Another complainant resorts to the hoary big-hat question. "I know this subject has been exploited ad nauseam," he writes, "but the women still remain defiant. Evidently they enjoy giving discomfort to their neighbors, for many of the hats this fall are more monstrous than ever. I should not refer to so venerable a nuisance had I not discovered a simple and effectual means of completely abating it. Let every manager in the city, next Monday night, insert the following announcement conspicuously in his programme:

Until further notice men visiting this theatre will be permitted to wear their hats during performance.

"If this suggestion is adopted and the privilege exercised by male play-goers, I'll wager that the big hat will become obsolete within a month."

No doubt this ingenious plan would settle the difficulty, but the men aren't game enough to carry it out. A man would about as soon call for a cocktail over a coffin as put on his tile with a woman sitting in the next orchestra-chair.—New York Mirror.

The bitter tenacity with which some unscrupulous dealers fight the HARDMAN PIANO, and their untruthful statements regarding it, are good proof of its matchless superiority.

All men fight their strongest foes the hardest, and well do these dealers know that in the HARDMAN PIANO they have a competitor behind which their inferior instruments must retire.

A careful examination and comparison is all that is necessary to SETTLE that question, and it is being settled every day by intelligent purchasers who want THE BEST.

Their pre-eminently fine qualities have won for them the proud distinction of unquestionable superiority over all competitors, and their brilliant success is without parallel in Piano history.

MUSIC BY THE MILE.

Despite the rapidly growing popularity of the new musical instrument, "The Zoëlian," few people have any idea of the enormous proportions this business is assuming. During the last six months over one million two hundred and fifty thousand feet of this music has been sold, this is equal to two hundred and forty-four miles, and represents over one hundred thousand different pieces.—Tribune.

A MODEL HAT AND ITS POPULAR APPRECIATION.

THE New York Police Commissioners in their effort to procure a suitable hat for the members of the force, and after frequent consultations, reached the determination to take a new departure. They therefore gave their order to KNOX, leaving it to his taste and judgment to produce such an article as they sought for. The result has proved entirely satisfactory. The Commissioners have expressed their approval and satisfaction, and the men are delighted with their new, comfortable and becoming winter hats. Since their introduction here, orders have been received from nine different cities, for these hats, which have been promptly filled.

OLIVETTE.

The greatest musical success since "Pinafore" is the delightful and melodious operetta of "Olivette." The version now presented at this Theatre is from the original London libretto, written by Mr. Farnie, and which for the past seven months has been presented to such crowded houses at the Strand Theatre that the seats are all sold weeks ahead. Other transcriptions of the opera, since its success by the present Comley-Barton Company, have been placed in the field, but Mr. D'Oyly Carte, who controls the present version given by the Company at this Theatre has been the means of obtaining the control of the Farnie London version, which has proven to be, in a literary sense, by far the brightest and the best. The wonderful success of this company lately at the Bijou Opera House, has induced Mr. Haverly to secure a transfer of the organization to this theatre, where the large facilities at his command will enable him to produce the opera with a due regard to its scenic and mechanical requirements The company, which includes Catherine Lewis and John Howson, has been largely increased for the present production. A great deal of money has been spent upon the costumes, and upon the scenery, and every effort has been made to give the opera a splendid presentation.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Among the engagements at this Theatre for the rest of this season are Genevieve Warde, who will be seen in her version of "Forget-Me-Not," a play, which from its strong character, and the fine impersonation of Miss Warde in the leading part, is destined to create a widespread interest. Miss Warde has made a great success in London with this play, and her first appearance in New York will occur at this theatre during next month. The Strakosch-Hess Opera Company, with Marie Roze, will be heard in "Carmen," "Mephistopheles," "Aida," etc., in English, and the ever-popular comedian, John E. Owens, will present his new play, "The Man from Cattaraugus," a comedy in which he is said to have made an unquestionable hit. Other important engagements will shortly be made public.

THE PLOT OF OLIVETTE.

The daughter of Seneschal Marvejol, Olivette, who is in love with Valentine, an officer of the Roussillon Guards. The Countess of Rousillon is herself in love with Valentine, and, in order to get Olivette out of the way, promises her hand to an old sea captain, De Merrimac, of the man-of-war Cormorant, who has written to the countess asking her to command Olivette to marry him. The captain, after an interview with the countess, sails away on a cruise, when Valentine assumes a disguise, and, presenting himself as the captain, receives Olivette, who is aware of the trick, in marriage. He is greatly troubled at the ball given in honor of his marriage, by the necessity which exists for his constant change of costume, as he has to play the double part of the sea captain and the officer of the Roussillon Guards. All goes well, however, till the unexpected arrival among the guests of the real De Merrimac. The two men are of the same height, and, their make-up being identical, some comical business ensues when they appear, and Olivette endeavors to so dispose of them as to have only one appear on the scene at a time. The men finally meet, and, after an amusing encounter and explanation, the captain, who is greeted by the guests as the happy bride-groom, determines, to Olivette's horror, on quietly claiming the young bride Valentine has married in his name. Meanwhile matters are further confused by the countess announcing her intention of marrying Valentine. This is prevented by the abduction of the countess by a venerable old courtier, the Duc des Ifs, who is desirous of benefiting his fortunes by marrying the countess, and has formed a conspiracy to carry her away, with that object in view. But Valentine and Olivette free the countess as she is about to be carried on board a ship, and, in the happy way in which all crooked things are made straight in the last lines of such a story, everybody forgives everybody else, and the curtain is rung down amidst a flood of red light and a jolly chorus on the union of numerous pairs of lovers.

Return to America of Haverly's United Mastodon Minstrels.

In their recent auspicious trip to Great Britain, Haverly's "United Mastodon Minstrels" attained a success that is acknowledged by the press of both hemispheres as phenomenal in the history of amusements. Never, within the past decade, has any troupe, or even artist, met with triumphs so signal and pronounced, or greeted by audiences so vast and enthusiastic, or received ovations so overwhelming and genuine. From the night of the first appearance of the "Mastodons" at Her Majesty's Theatre, London—the largest Thespian temple of the largest city in the world—until the closing performance, the capacity of the great structure was taxed to its utmost, and throngs were each night unable to gain admission. During the London engagement the "Mastodons" were frequently honored with the patronage of H. R. H., the Prince of Wales, the Royal Family, and the entire nobility of the British Kingdom, thus proudly endorsing the excellence and refinement of the entertainments. Now the "Mastodons" return to their native land, crowned with additional laurels of bright victories, and justly boastful of having earned a prestige of superiority that has never been, nor ever can be equalled. They bore into the Old World banners on which were inscribed their successes in the New; these banners they now bring back adorned with new trophies of artistic merit. The "Mastodons" sojourn in America at this time has necessarily to be but brief, owing to the engagements that demand their early return to "the land beyond the sea." Their tour of the principal cities of the Union will consequently be comet-like, brilliant and dazzling, as well as swift, for in the fall they will repeat their transatlantic glories.

A MODEL HAT AND ITS POPULAR APPRECIATION.

THE New York Police Commissioners in their effort to procure a suitable hat for the members of the force, and after frequent consultations, reached the determination to take a new departure. They therefore gave their order to Knox, leaving it to his taste and judgment to produce such an article as they sought for. The result has proved entirely satisfactory. The Commissioners have expressed their approval and satisfaction, and the men are delighted with their new, comfortable and becoming winter hats. Since their introduction here, orders have been received from nine different cities, for these hats, which have been promptly filled.

"FORGET-ME-NOT."

GENEVIEVE WARD THIS WEEK.

The play of "Forget-Me-Not" has nothing in common with the simple little flower that might be mistaken for its title. On the contrary, it is the story of an adventuress, such as are to be found in the world's great capitals, desirous of turning over the blotted pages of their lives, and of being received, whitewashed, into good society, among pure women and respectable men. The Stephanie of the play makes the plea that a woman may reform as well as a man, and so long as repentant (or the unrepentant) roues are received in good and decent houses, why should not she also pass current as fairly? It is an ingenious argument, but the woman's antecedents are full of crime, and her present repentance merely aims at social restitution, so that the whole of the struggle, in spite of this adroit fencing, can only be regarded as so many skilful moves in the game. The one element that would create sympathy, namely, repentance, is not here, and a repentant Stephanie, it might be said, would not be ambitious of social shining, but of forgetfulness, rather. Her weapon is the French marriage law, which denies legality to the marriage of a son under twenty-five years of age without the consent of his parents which must be either given or withheld formally, within a certain fixed period. Her son has married, and left as his widow the English girl into whose circle and by means of whose introduction the adventuress hopes to become established in society. It is the legitimacy of his child that depends upon her consent, so she forces herself upon Alice Verney, the sister of Kerr, her son's wife. It is a game of "check" all through. The Englishman who undertakes to rid the family of her persecutions, Sir Horace Welly, is only enabled to do so at last by the weapon of physical fear, and it is by showing Stephanie one of her late victims, a Corsican bravo, that the scheming and intellectual ambition of the woman turns to rank cowardice and takes flight. Miss Warde conceives the part of Stephanie mocking, cold and with the glittering ability of the serpent upon it. She is, therefore, entirely true to the part, which she plays with admirable finesse and power. The terrible scene in which she dares the comparison of the Englishman's past with her own, and shows him to himself as equally unfit with her for the presence of the pure English girl, Alice Verney, has no equal in anything in modern melo-drama. But there is a still greater triumph of Miss Ward's genius. Stephanie has believed the Corsican dead, and herself secure from his vengeance, and so, with calm security, jests and trifles with the agony of all these people in having to make her one of them, and in compelling even Alice to her intimacy. But when Sir Horace lifts the curtain of the balcony, and shows her the spy smoking coolly in the moonlight, and waiting for his orders, then her fear and agony overcome her, and in abject terror she signs the paper and prays to be allowed to fly. "Forget-Me-Not," is indeed a wonderful performance, and in spite of the details of the story, its influence is altogether good, and strongly good. If there has been any doubt before as to the rank of this accomplished lady among living actresses, her performance shows her to be easily among the first in any country, and certainly the first, in power, on the American stage.—Philadelphia Ledger.

"THAT MAN FROM CATTARAUGUS."

On Monday, March 28th, the popular comedian, Mr. John E. Owens, will begin an engagement at this theatre in his new and bright comedy entitled "That Man from Cattaraugus." It is a clean, wholesome, natural play of everyday life; neither distorted by any exaggerated dramatic sketches nor warped in its purpose to suit the idle fancy of an hour; but a comedy so full of genuine effects, pathetic and humorous, that Mr. Owens will have occasion to play nothing else for many years to come.

"OLIVETTE."

The Comley-Barton Company, with "Olivette," including Catharine Lewis and John Howson, and the same brilliant ensemble, will be seen and heard again at this theatre on Easter Monday. Their success since their departure from New York has been simply overwhelming.

WHY is a doctor better taken care of than his patients?—Because, when he goes to bed somebody is sure to rap him up.

MIDDLE AGES.—Probably the happiest period in life most frequently is in middle age, when the eager passions of youth are cooled, and the infirmities of age not yet begun as we see that the shadows, which are at morning and evening so large, almost entirely disappear at midday.—Dr. Arnold.

BOTH WAYS.—"It's a poor rule that will not work both ways," as the scholar said when he sent it back at the teacher's head.

CYNICAL.—Take care of the pennies, and the pounds will be taken care of by some other person.

SHADOWY.—We are told that the smallest hair throws a shadow. And so it does It throws a shadow over your appetite when you find it in your victuals.

SAUER KRAUT.—A contemporary says "sauer kraut is healthy." And this is the truth. You never hear sauer kraut complaining of feeling weak. On the contrary, it never loses its strength; and the older it gets, the stronger it beeomes.

TONICS.—"What," said a lady, "do you think of platonic love?"—"Madam," said the gentleman, "it is like all other tonics—very exciting."

A CURIOUS HALF.—An Irish clergyman once broke off the thread of his discourse, and thus addressed the congregation: "My dear brethren, let me tell you that I am now just half through my sermon; but as I perceive your impatience, I will say that the remaining half is not more than a quarter as long as that you have heard."

LOVE AND BUTTER.—A matter-of-fact philosopher asserts that "love is to domestic life what butter is to bread—it possesses little nourishment in itself, but gives substantials a grand relish, without which they would be hard to swallow."

RATHER TOO BIG.—Old John Berry, that used to live up Lake Champlain, liked to tell a big story. One evening, sitting in the village store, he said he once drove a horse seventy-two miles in one day on the ice, when the ice was so thin that the water spurted up through the holes cut through it by the horse's corks. One of the bystanders remarked that seventy-two miles was a pretty good drive for one day.—"Yes," said Uncle John, "but it was a long day in June."

THE CREDIT SYSTEM.—A beautiful girl with a pair of pouting lips stepped into a store to buy a pair of mits. "How much are they?" "Why," said the gallant but imprudent clerk, lost in gazing upon her sparkling eyes and ruby lips, "you shall have them for a kiss!" "Agreed!" said the young lady, pocketing the gloves, and her eyes speaking daggers, "and as I see you give credit here, charge it on your books, and collect in it the best way you can!" so saying, she hastily tripped out at the door.

The Matinee prices are the same as above except the General Admission, which is 50 cents.

THE DOORS

Will be opened every evening at 7:30 o'clock. The performance will begin at quarter past 8 o'clock promptly. For the Matinees the doors will be opened at 1:30, and the play begin at 2.

A SMOKING ROOM

For Gentlemen exclusively has been added to the Theatre, and will be found on the Broadway side of the Lobby. The new papers will be found always on file.

THE TOILET ROOM

For Ladies will be found on the East side of Dress Circle, in which a maid is always in attendance. Ladies may here have their wraps, hats and parasols checked free of charge.

ARTICLES LOST AND FOUND.

Any one finding lost articles in the auditorium will oblige the management by depositing same at the Treasurer's office in the lobby where they will be found on application. Articles so left will be carefully kept for the owners.

HAVERLY'S FIFTH AVE. THEATRE.

The famous Opera Bouffe Opera Company will begin a brief engagement at this theatre, presenting Audran's delightful opera "Olivette" as a primary attraction. Miss Catherine Lewis will again come forth as Olivette and Mr. John Howson will reappear as Captain Mathieu, while the cast generally will be entirely the same as that which gave such complete satisfaction in the original performances of this work. The musical direction will be in the hands of Mr. Alfred Cellier. We had almost forgotten to mention that Mr. Mr. Frederick Leslie appears as Duc Des Ifs in "Olivette." Later in March "Lavart" will be placed upon the stage in magnificent style, new scenery and costumes having been prepared expressly for its production.

HAVERLY'S 14TH ST. THEATRE.

"The Tourists in the Pullman Palace Car" are again the attraction at this house, and will remain till further notice. The return of this talented company will certainly be cordially welcomed for there's music in the air when they are around. Perhaps a more popular entertainment than that afforded by the "Tourists" was never presented. We are inclined to this belief from the fact that at every representation of this interesting little sketch the house is filled to its uttermost capacity, and a more emphatic proof of its "drawing" and hardly be had or required. The "Tourists in the Pullman Palace Car" are the possessors of excellent outfits that leave nothing to be desired as before, no a former mention of them is deemed unnecessary.

The Comley Barton Opera Company with Catherine Lewis, John Howson, Frederick Leslie and original great cast will be heard at Haverly's Fifth Avenue Theatre in "Olivette" until further notice.

Mestayer's musical play, in three acts, entitled "The Tourists" will be seen at Haverly's Fourteenth Street Theatre this week.

Messrs. Barry & Fay, the well known comedians, will appear at Haverly's Niblo's Garden Theatre each evening in their extremely laughable farce-comedy, entitled "Muldoon's Pic-Nic."

"Esmeralda" at the Madison Square Theatre has entered upon a career of prosperity that from present indications bids fair to rival that reached by "Hazel Kirke."

S. Hohenemer, Florist, Office, 91 Spring Street (St. Nicholas Hotel). Greenhouses, Astoria, L. I.

A very neat not by Mlle. Farguell, the Actress.—One night, on entering the green-room of the Vaudeville, she surprised Mlle. Elmira Paurelle in the act of "taking off" her acting, with many gestures and grimaces. The mimic stood petrified; but Mlle. Farguell smiled benignly on her, and said: "Very good, indeed! Try and act like that always! then you won't be hissed!"

UNION SQUARE THEATRE.

Messrs. Wm. B. Riker & Son: Your Face Powder is superb. It shall always form part of my toilet. FANNY DAVENPORT.

Ladies! do you wish to draw Crayon heads from photographs or life; or sketch from nature while in the country next Summer? In three lessons you can learn to sketch any scene or design by an easy method. A patent invention; no talent necessary; and so simple that a child can learn. Pearl's Studio, 23 Union Square, New York. Circulars Mailed.

The London and Liverpool Clothing Company, corner of Bowery and Hester streets, are making the handsomest display in the city. The corner window contains a life-size wax figure of the late President, besides an immensely varied quantity of clothing. The lower window is stocked up with boys' clothing, and shows four wax figures of boys. In the center is the wooden image of a pony, upon whose back sits the life-sized wax figure of a boy, dressed in a jockey suit. The appearance of both windows is strikingly attractive, and holds the attention of large crowds. The London & Liverpool Clothing Company are transacting an enormous business.

One of the most useful and curious products of that wonderful substance Petroleum, is the article known as "Vaseline," or petroleum jelly. A few years ago it was quite unknown, and now hardly a household is without it. As a universal remedy for burns, wounds, rheumatism, catarrh, chilblains, skin diseases, sore throat, colds, &c., it is without doubt the most efficient substance ever discovered, while the toilet articles made from the pure Vaseline, such as pomades, cold cream, camphor-ice, toilet soaps, &c., are in universal use, and acknowledged to be superior to all similar productions or substitutes. These articles are sold by all respectable drug gists. They are more than those of similar articles, but imitations abound, (as they always do of good things,) and buyers should insist upon having original packages put up by the Chesebrough Manufacturing Company, with their name upon them, as none others are genuine.

If you wish something decidedly new to give for a Present see the Patent Wax Pocket for holding Comb and Brush, Tie, Pin and Handle Bars Buttons, &c. Also one Patent Nickel-plated open Mirror or Flesh Backs, or a Photograph may be inserted. These goods are just out, and are not sold everywhere this season, consequently are not common. Price quite reasonable for the character of the goods, and decidedly unique, ranging in price from $1 to $5.

Shayne, 104 Prince Street, (corner of Broadway), are the most popular. The goods are made from selected skins, properly cured and dressed, elegantly finished, and are thoroughly reliable in every particular. The low prices at which they are offered should be an inducement to wholesale and retail buyers.

Prof. Sarg, the most popular and well known teacher of dancing in this city, is meeting with deserved success with his school at Clarendon Hall. His method is simple and thorough. His "Art of Dancing" is the most complete work on the subject published, and must prove invaluable to the dancing public.

A GREAT CONVENIENCE.

Gentlemen dining at out-late, exhausted by midnight study or revels, or arriving in the City in the early morning hours, will be glad to know that the new Turkish Bath, No. 7 West Twenty-fourth Street, near the Fifth-Avenue Hotel, is now open night and day, and always ready for its patrons. The Russian vapor department at the same establishment continues to attract numerous visitors. The rapid growth of patronage, in the ladies' Department especially, shows that the gentler sex is learning to appreciate the hygienic and cosmetic advantages of these sensible luxuries!

The teacher had grown eloquent in picturing to his little pupils the beauties of heaven, and he finally asked: "What kind of little boys go to heaven?" A lively four-year old boy, with kicking boots flourished his fist. "Well, you may answer," said the teacher "Dead ones!" the little fellow shouted, at the extent of his lungs.

Dignity is at once the dullest and most effective of all the coverings under which duncedom sneaks and skulks. Most of the men of dignity, who awe or bore their more genial brethren are simply men who possess the art of passing off their insensibility for wisdom, their dullness for depth, and of concealing imbecility of intellect under haughtiness of manner.

Up to the present time, Yakutsk, in North-east Siberia, has often been cited as the place on our earth where the winter is coldest, while the minima observed during Artic expeditions is believed to be the lowest known. A correspondent of Nature disputes this, and claims that to Werkhojansk, in North-east Siberia, in longitude 134° east from Greenwich, and latitude 67° worth belongs that honor. The lowest winter recorded at Yakutsk is 77.8° Fahr. below zero, and at Werkhojansk 81° below.

When is a wall like a fish? When it is scaled.

A codfish produces 3,686,760 eggs. There's millions waiting for the man who succeeds in crossing the codfish with the hen.

The Hartford Post says: "Philadelphia gin mills are adorned with canary birds." We might have lived in that city a year and not have found that out.—Boston Post.

Business man: "You vagabond! You send in word that you would see me on business, and when I ask you what your business is, you beg!" Vagabond: "But you forget, sir, begging is my business!"

A Kansas schoolmistress has introduced a new feature into her school. When one of the girls misses a word, the boy who spells it gets permission to kiss her. As a result, the girls are becoming very poor spellers, while the boys are improving.

TWO MORE INNOCENTS.—"Here, James, take these two cakes, and give the smaller one to your little brother." James examines the cakes carefully, appears undecided, and finally takes a heroic bite out of one of them, which he passes over to his brother, with the remark, "There, Tommy, I've made you a smaller one, they were both the same size!"

THE CHALLENGE.—At a public meeting held in Dundee a poor-law official was discanting on the misrepresentations to which his opponents had subjected him. "They have," he said, "called be everything but a gentleman, everything that is bad—nay, they have compared me to the devil himself. Now," he proceeded, coming forward to the front of the platform and exhibiting a well-shaped foot, "I ask you if you see any cloven hoof there?" "Tak' aff yer shue!" (shoe) shouted a voice from the gallery.

An old man was recently seen to jump into the Danube, near the city of Pesth. He was rescued, and it then turned out that he was crippled by an accident twenty-five years ago, and ever since has been obliged to gain the means of subsistence by begging. Finding this a hard life, he made up his mind to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of his career as a mendicant by bringing it and his life to a summary conclusion. There was no doubt about the genuineness of this purpose, and it awakened such compassion that the old man will be taken care of for the remainder of his days.

ÆSOP IMPROVED.—An old monkey, designing to teach his sons the advantage of unity, brought them a number of sticks, and desired them to see how easily they might be broken one at a time. So each young monkey took a stick and broke it. "Now," said the father, "I'll teach you a lesson;" and he began to gather the sticks into a bundle. But the young monkeys, thinking he was about to beat them, set upon him all together and disabled him. "There," said the sufferer, "behold the advantage of unity! If you had assailed me one at a time, I should have killed every mother's son of you!"

THE THEATRES.

FIFTH AVENUE THEATRE.

Mr. H. B. Farnie's version of the opera comique, "Madame Favart," will be seen at this theatre until further notice. The opera has enjoyed extraordinary popularity in Europe, and it is believed that its success in this country will be commensurate to that gained elsewhere. The popular actress Miss Catharine Lewis, has been engaged to play the leading feminine rôle and Mr. John Howson fills the chief part on the gentleman's side, while the cast includes the entire Comley Barton Opera Company. The piece will be produced under the direction of Mr. Charles Harris, by arrangement with D'Oyly Carte, Esq.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Tony Pastor and company are at the Grand Opera House this week.

Edward Harrigan's new play, "The Major," is still announced at the New Theatre Comique.

Mr. Williams is engaging a strong company to support Miss Katharine Rogers, in her new play entitled "Clarice."

Mr. Augustin Daly's brilliant comedy of "Quits" is proving a very remunerative card at that gentleman's theatre.

The fact that the great diva, Patti, is not coming to the United States does not seem to effect amusement-seekers very seriously.

Oliver Doud Byron, in his sensational dramas, "Across the Continent" and "Ten Thousand Miles Away," is at the Windsor Theatre.

"Madame Favart" has scored a big hit at Haverly's Fifth Avenue Theatre. The house is nightly crowded to its utmost capacity.

Miss Catharine Lewis has added to her already large measure of popularity by her performance of Madame Favart in the opera so entitled.

The Professor" continues to draw large houses at the Madison Square Theatre, and in consequence thereof it will be retained for some time longer.

Mr. Maze Edwards will travel with Edwin Booth as business manager during the great tragedian tour of the principal cities of the United States.

Wallack's new theatre, it is now stated, will be opened by December 1. "The School for Scandal" will probably form the programme on the opening night.

The Kiralfy Brothers' "Around the World in Eighty Days" will be seen at Theall and Williams' Novelty Theatre, Brooklyn, E.D., throughout the present week.

"Michael Strogoff" will be seen at Booth's for the last time on Saturday evening, Sept. 30. The play will then be transferred to Haverly's Niblo's Garden Theatre.

"William and Susan" continues the attraction at Haverly's Fourteenth Street Theatre and the acting of Mr. and Mrs. McKee Rankin as the hero and heroine elicits the hearty plaudits of the audience.

"The very successful drama, "The World," will be withdrawn from Haverly's Niblo's Garden Theatre upon the expiration of the current week, and on Monday, October 3, "Michael Strogoff" will then be substituted.

On the evening of October 3, Fanny Davenport will make her appearance at the Brooklyn Park Theatre. During the week of her engagement she will appear in seven plays, a change of bill being effected each night and at the matinee.

Miss Emma Abbott and her company of English Opera singers appear at the Brooklyn Park Theatre throughout the current week. Eight operas will be presented, the programme being changed each night, and at the matinees of Wednesday and Saturday.

"Forget-Me Not," with Miss Genevieve Ward in her great rôle of Stephanie, is announced until further notice at the Union Square Theatre. Miss Ward is supported by a strong company, including Mr. Clemens and Miss Hudspeth, of the principal London theatres.

Next Monday evening will witness the inauguration of the legitimate drama at Haverly's Fifth Avenue Theatre, the eminent actor, Mr. Lawrence Barrett, being engaged to play a series of his best known impersonations. All the plays in which Mr. Barrett will appear are to be mounted in a manner befitting the importance of the event, and as the company supporting the star are of his own selection and are drilled and competent to their tasks, therefore we may confidently anticipate a masterly and artistic representation of the standard plays in which Mr. Barrett is announced to perform.

On Thursday evening, Sept. 29, the occasion of the 200th representation in this city of "The World," a grand souvenir will be presented to each lady visiting Haverly's Niblo's Garden. In addition to a handsome bouquet of cut flowers, an exquisitely wrought steel engraved programme, with an artistically designed picture of the famous "Ruit scene" will be handed to the ladies among the audience.

On the occasion of the last performance of "William and Susan" at the St. James' Theatre, London, Mrs. McKee Rankin, who was seated in the "royal box," received a most graceful compliment from Mrs. Kendal, the Susan of the production. It came just after the curtain had fallen upon the first act. A note was handed into the box, together with a package, which turned out to contain the gray woollen stocking knitted throughout the run of the piece by Mrs. Kendal. The note ran as follows: "May I be permitted to offer this humble present to my worthy successor, with every good wish.—MADGE KENDAL." It is needless to say that Mrs. Rankin treated the gift of stocking to the coming production of the play, at Haverly's Fourteenth Street Theatre, just where her gifted predecessor left off.

On the evening of Monday, Oct. 3, the eminent tragedian, Mr. Lawrence Barrett, will begin an engagement at Haverly's Fifth Avenue Theatre, appearing as Richelieu in Bulwer's fine play so entitled.

Mlle. RHEA, esteemed by many competent judges a better actress than Sarah Bernhardt, will make her first appearance in the United States at Colonel SINN'S Brooklyn Park Theatre. Mlle. RHEA is a genius of the first order, and will, doubtless, create a profound sensation. Mlle. RHEA speaks English with fluency. She will play CAMILLE, JANE DE LYS and other well-known characters.

SAUSE'S DANCING ACADEMY, Clarendon Hall, is the most popular School in the city. His method of instruction is the simplest and most thorough now in use. His Work on Dancing is the best published. Its perusal will benefit the accomplished dancer as well as the beginner.

Religion is powerless to bestow the contentment of mind and comfort that a gentleman feels in one of MCCANN'S $2.00 DERBYS, to be obtained at 218 BOWERY.

A GREAT CONVENIENCE.

Gentlemen dining out late, exhausted by midnight study or revels, or arriving in the City in the early morning hours, will be glad to know that the new Turkish Bath, No. 4 West Twenty-fourth Street, near the Fifth Avenue Hotel, is now open night and day, and always ready for its patrons. The Russian vapor department at the same establishment continues to attract numerous visitors. The rapid growth of patronage in the Ladies' Department especially shows that the gentler sex is learning to appreciate the hygienic and cosmetic advantages of these sensible luxuries.

Seal Skin Sacques, Dolmans and fur-lined garments will be more fashionable than ever this season. The styles manufactured by C. C. SHAYNE, 103 Prince Street, (formerly of Broadway), are the most popular. The goods are made from selected skins, properly cured and dressed, elegantly finished, and are thoroughly reliable in every particular. The low prices at which they are offered should be an inducement to wholesale and retail buyers.

ARTISTIC
Tapestry Wall Papers
AND CEILING DECORATIONS,

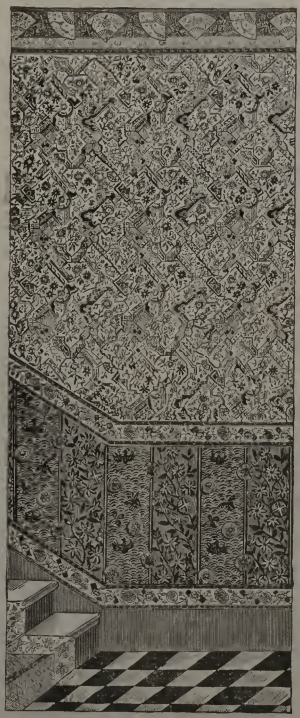
MANUFACTURED BY



FR. BECK & CO.

SEVENTH AVENUE,

Corner of 29th Street, NEW YORK.

Now that the element of coloring and decorative effect is entering so largely into even the pictures which adorn our rooms, with the purpose of developing the effect of ancient tapestries and rich hangings, it is all the more important that the walls should correspond with and aid the general effect.

These tapestry effects have been especially regarded in the new patterns brought out by FR. BECK & CO., who have recently added to their large Twenty-ninth Street Factory the adjoining corner of Seventh Avenue, where they have on hand the best foreign and domestic productions, and are prepared to make goods to order in any style that may be wanted.

Besides their original designs by the best artists at home and abroad, this firm will reproduce, with absolute fidelity, the most expensive fabrics of European design and manufacture, which they sell often at half the prices of imported goods.

Some of these papers reproduce the effects of the old Venetian or Dutch Leathers. Their effect, with their quaint, antique patterns, especially when used in an apartment furnished with dark woods, is extremely rich. The same may be said of a similar class of papers which produce the effect of oxidized metals. Another novelty is a genuine velvet, so attached to paper backing that it can be put upon the wall with the facility of the most ordinary wall hanging.

The ordinary "velvet" papers, so-called, are handsome, but this is not an imitation, and any one who wants his walls hung with real velvet, can now obtain the article he needs at a cost not disproportionate to the effect produced.

A visit to their factory will repay any one who has in mind the subject of interior decoration, which they carefully attend to in all its branches.

A MODEL HAT AND ITS POPULAR APPRECIATION.

The New York Police Commissioners in their effort to procure a suitable hat for the members of the Force, and after frequent consultations, reached the determination to take a new departure. They therefore gave their order to Knox, leaving it to his taste and judgment to produce such an article as they sought for. The result has proved entirely satisfactory. The Commissioners have expressed their approval and satisfaction, and the men are delighted with their new, comfortable and becoming winter hats. Since their introduction here, orders have been received from nine different cities, for these hats, which have been promptly filled.

"FORGET-ME-NOT."

GENEVIEVE WARD THIS WEEK.

The play of "Forget-Me Not" has nothing in common with the simple little flower that might be mistaken for its title. On the contrary, it is the story of an adventuress, such as are to be found in the world's great capitals, desirous of turning over the blotted pages of their lives, and of being received, whitewashed, into good society, among pure women and respectable men. The Stephanie of the play makes the plea that a woman may reform as well as a man, and so long as repentant (or the unrepentant) roues are received in good and decent houses, why should not she also pass current as fairly? It is an ingenious argument, but the woman's antecedents are full of crime, and her present repentance merely aims at social restitution, so that the whole of the strange, in spite of this adroit lencing, can only be regarded as so many skilful moves in the game. The one element that would create sympathy, namely, repentance, is not here, and a repentant Stephanie, it might be said would not be ambitious of social shining, but of forgetfulness, rather. Her weapon is the French marriage law, which denies legality to the marriage of a son under twenty-five years of age without the consent of his parents which must be either given or withheld formal within a certain fixed period. Her son has married, and left as his widow the English girl into whose circle and by means of whose introduction the adventuress hopes to become established in society. It is the legitimacy of his child that depends upon her consent, so she forces herself upon Alice Verney, the sister of Rose, her son's wife. It is a game of "check" all through. The Englishman who undertakes to rid the family of he persecutions, Sir Horace Welby, is only enabled to do so at last by the weapon of physical fear, and it is by showing Stephanie one of her late victims, a Corsican bravo, that the scheming and intellectual ambition of the woman turns to rank cowardice and takes flight. Miss Warde conceives the part of Stephanie mocking, cold and with the glitter ing ability of the serpent upon it. She is, therefore, entirely true to the part, which she plays with admirable finesse and power. The terrible scene in which she dares the comparison of the Englishman's past with her own, and shows him to himself as equally unfit with her for the presence of the pure English girl, Alice Verney, has no equal in anything in modern melo-drama. But there is a still greater triumph of Miss Ward's genius, Stephanie has believed the Corsican dead, and herself secure from his vengeance, and so, with calm security, jests and trifles with the agony of all these people in having to make her one of them, and in compelling even Alice to her intimacy. But when Sir Horace lifts the curtain of the balcony, and shows her the spy smooking coolly in the moonlight, and waiting for his orders, then her fear and agony overcome her, and in abject terror she signs the paper and prays to be allowed to fly. "Forget-Me-Not," is indeed a wonderful performance, and in spite of the details of the story, its influence is altogether good, and strongly good. If there has been any doubt before as to the rank of this accomplished lady among living actresses, her performance shows her to be easily among the first in any country, and certainly the first, in power, on the American stage.—Philadelphia Ledger.

"THAT MAN FROM CATTARAUGUS."

On Monday, March 28th, the popular comedian, Mr. John E. Owens, will begin an engagement at this theatre in his new and bright comedy entitled "That Man from Cattaraugus." It is a clean, wholesome, natural play of everyday life; neither distorted by any exaggerated dramatic sketches nor warped in its purpose to suit the idle fancy of an hour; but a comedy so full of genuine effects, pathetic and humorous, that Mr. Owens will have occasion to play nothing else for many years fo come.

"OLIVETTE."

The Comley-Barton Company, with "Olivette," including Catharine Lewis and John Howson, and the same brilliant ensemble, will be seen and heard again at this theatre on Easter Monday. Their success since their departure from New York has been simply overwhelming.

WHY is a doctor better taken care of than his patients?—Because, when he goes to bed somebody is sure to rap him up.

MIDDLE AGES.—Probably the happiest period in life most frequently is in middle age, when the eager passions of youth are cooled, and the infirmities of age not yet begun, as we see that the shadows, which are at morning and evening so large, almost entirely disappear at midday.—Dr. Arnold.

SAUER KRAUT.—A contemporary says "sauer kraut is healthy." And this is the truth. You never hear sauer kraut complaining of feeling weak. On the contrary. It never loses its strength; and the older it gets, the stronger it becomes.

TONICS.—"What," said a lady, "do you think of platonic love?"—"Madam," said the gentleman, "It is like all other tonics—very exciting."

A CURIOUS HALF.—An Irish clergymen once broke off the thread of his discourse, and thus addressed the congregation: "My dear brethren, let me tell you that I am now just half through my sermon; but as I perceive your impatience, I will say that the remaining half is not more than a quarter as long as that you have heard."

LOVE AND BUTTER.—A matter-of-fact philosopher asserts that "love is to domestic life what butter is to bread—it possesses little nourishment in itself, but gives substantials a grand relish, without which they would be hard to swallow."

THE CREDIT SYSTEM.—A beautiful girl with a pair of pouting lips stepped into a store to buy a pair of mits. "How much are they?" "Why," said the gallant but imprudent clerk, lost in gazing upon her sparkling eyes and ruby lips, "you shall have them for a kiss!" "Agreed!" said the young lady, pocketing the gloves, and her eyes speaking daggers, "and as I see you give credit here, charge it on your books, and collect in it the best way you can!" so saying, she hastily tripped out at the door.

CAREFUL BROTHER.—The other evening, as bedtime approached for the two young sons of a family, the smaller, a lad of six, stood before his father, and said: "Father, they say it's dreadfully unhealthy for two persons to sleep together; and if you can't get another bedstead for Bill you'd better sell him, and get me a velocipede!"

THE young ladies' question: "Is he married?"

Mr. Henry F. TURNED.—A stranger entered a pump and blockmaker's shop a few days since, and, as the proprietor was turning a piece of wood in his lathe, the visitor asked what would turn the quickest and easiest, "Milk." was the reply. The stranger gave a look at the turner, and then quietly left.

ALLEN'S BRAIN FOOD is beyond doubt the most reliable, useful and permanent tonic to the genital organs of both sexes, known. Acting directly upon the nervous system it restores the debilitated functions of the principal organ of the human frame, and is unsurpassed as a nervine. Its merits are a powerful, permanent and determined aphrodisiac, as well as an alterative agent of remarkably fine quality. Sold by all Druggists. $1 package; 6 for $5. THE FIRST THING.—A little girl was listening with much interest to the story of Jonah. When the question was asked, "What would you suppose would be the first thing Jonah would do after the great fish threw him upon the land?" she answered, promptly: "I sh'd fink he'd go home quick as he could and get cleaned up."

MAN, while he loves, is never quite depraved.

IMPORTANT

To the Residents of New York.

Owing to the great demand for the "WILSONIA MAGNETIC GARMENTS among the residents of New York who have been much inconvenienced, being obliged to come to Brooklyn for our goods, we have, to meet the general requirements of the public, opened elaborate Counting and Sales Rooms at

No. 695 BROADWAY,

(Near Fourth Street), next block to Grand Central Hotel.

A large assortment of our MAGNETIC CLOTHING kept in stock constantly.

Qualified male and female assistants always in attendance.

IMPORTANT TO THE INVALID OF NEW YORK.

Who have been humbugged into the belief that there is no cure for their maladies outside the murdering system of our colleges.

Thousands of persons in the city of New York are hurried on to eternity by the blunders of practicing physicians.

The "WILSONIA" MAGNETIC GARMENTS will relieve and cure every disease known to man, less a totally rotten lung.

Avoid quack nostrums as you would a pestilence, Listen to the Practicing Physicians of New York and die, or wear the "WILSONIA" MAGNETIC GARMENTS and live.

"SWEARING OFF."

We're going to swear off everything
That we've been doing wrong
As soon as New Year's bells shall ring
Their signals loud and long.
All the bad habits we have known
Forever will forswear,
Our vices will be overthrown,
Our virtues will declare.

We'll be so dreamspect and good
And do just what is right,
Our conduct shall be understood
As being perfect quite.
And this we will economize,
For married life provide,
And then select if we are wise,
A housestead for the bride.

And still determined to do right,
Our sense we'll further show,
If we our promised wife invite
To one store on Park Row.
Or rather seven stores in one,
In all of which awaits
Goods that have many praises won
For PARK ROW COWPERTHWAITS.

There's furniture of every kind
For furnishing complete.
The Carpets are the best, we find
In patterns new and neat
There's Oilcloth, Matting Persian Rug,
There's pictures fine and rare,
And stoves to make your rooms so snug
Are in profusion there.

The qualities are unsurpassed,
The prices are but low,
The terms are very liberal cast
By this firm on Park Row.
So swear off buying furniture,
Except where there awaits
The kind the shrewd test would prefer
At PARK ROW COWPERTHWAITS.

Why Should Lovers Languish?

How many lovers long to wed
But for the "boodle" wait,
Until at last when plenty comes,
Love cries, you are too late.
Great pity if such misery
Is yours, now you have read it—
Thus you can furnish faultlessly
On New and Special Credit.

John Moriarty sells you goods
That both have style and wear,
And sells as cheap to you or me
As to a Millionaire.
Now here's a cozy home at once,
To pay you've plenty time,
Why should you go on waiting till
You've paid up every dime.
John Moriarty all alone,
With others no connection,
At Number One on Avenue Four,
He'll suit you to perfection.

A FACT.

O sing a song of sixpence,
A pocketful of chaff,
The folks that try to copy me
At them I always laugh;
With flaming advertisements
They gull the public mind
And intimate to one and all
That they are wondrous kind.

2.
They'll give for Fifty Dollars
What for a hundred can't be bought,
And yet they think with fibs like these
The public sure are caught;
They swear their goods are foreign,
Fresh from old Europe's shores,
While nothing else but poorest goods
Are found within their stores.

3.
And o'en their very salesman
They keep upon the rack,
For if he don't swear black is white
He'll surely get the sack.
I'll stick to honest dealings,
As I've always done before,
And sell my goods—upon the square,
Number One in Avenue Four.

And I, John Moriarty,
Am proud that I can say:
"You'll find as represented
My goods—in every way."
And then my Special Credit
It fills a want much felt,
And helps you furnish up your home
If you are short of Gelt.

5.
So now, then come and see me
And my stock both fine and new
'Tis the motto of my business
To render all their due.

MERIT AND ENTERPRISE.

REMARKABLE RECORD OF SUCCESS. THE PIANO OF THE MUSICIAN.

The firm of Sohmer & Co., are regarded not alone by the piano trade, but in business circles generally, as one of the most enterprising and deserving of the world-famed houses in the business. Starting in 1872, with limited facilities, and passing safely in the early years of their career through a period of unprecedented financial depression, the house, though it has had to contend with established concerns of many years' experience and almost unlimited resources, has by the exercise of business tact and through the merit of its instruments won for itself a leading position in the piano trade.

It is due to the skill and care exhibited in the construction of these instruments and there consequent strength, durability and unsurpassed musical qualities that the limited production of 15 years ago has expanded into its present large production.

Where they then made four pianos, there present average production reaches the high figure of 40 pianos per week, and is yet insufficient to supply the extensive demand, and the firm is to-day largely in arrears of its orders. The Sohmer piano combines a rich, pure tone of great volume and sympathetic quality with a precision, delicacy, and responsiveness of touch seldom found in other instruments, and these characteristics have not only made it popular with performers generally, but have also made it the prime favorite among artists for both concert and private use.

This firm make every variety of instruments square, upright and grand and constantly striving to meet every demand, has produced the Bijou Grand, the smallest grand piano ever made, the most practical novelty yet presented to the public.

This instrument, while occupying little space, has great power and volume of tone, together with the tone-sustaining quality and elastic touch heretofore only found in the concert grand.

Exceptional durability, combined with perfection of tone and touch, makes the Sohmer piano peculiarly adapted to the use of pupils and teachers in establishments where piano playing is taught.

The writer some time since, through the courtesy of Mr. Fahr, who has general charge of the financial affairs of the house, had an opportunity of visiting the factory, and the tour was a source of as much surprise as gratification.

When in 1879 the old factory on Fourteenth Street was found to be too small to accommodate the business it was enlarged by taking in the houses numbered from 149 to 155 on that street. Very soon this was found to be insufficient to meet the demand, and the works were transferred to Twenty-third street, but on a considerably larger scale, while the salesroom, which now requires considerable space, remains on Fourteenth Street.

While Sohmer & Co., have relied upon the inherent value of their instrument rather than upon the oftimes factitious advertisements obtained from Exposition awards, they have yet received the highest distinction in many exhibitions, notably: Philadelphia, 1876; Montreal, 1881-2, and at Minneapolis, 1885-6, and they can point with justifiable pride to the magnificent indorsement, their instruments have received from the hands of the most native and visiting musical celebrities, of whom are Ed. Neupert and Gottschalk, the celebrated composers and pianists, and other native and visiting artists. It is not, therefore, surprising that the name of Sohmer & Co. upon a piano has become a guarantee for its excellence

ACROSTIC.

Two lovers sitting in the noonday shade
Have plighted troth and vows of passion made,
Exchanging oft' that current coin of bliss

Sometimes described by mortals as a kiss.
On fire with love, the youth has rashly told
His bride prospective of his wealth in gold,
"My fortune, dear," he says, "is at thy feet—
Employ it as thou will, thy wish to meet.
Rare gems, rich dresses, horses, servants, too,

Procure as fancy urges thee to do."
"If I might want a treasure greater still,"
Asks the fair maiden, "Can I have my will?"
"Name it!" he cries in an impassioned way
"Oh, well," quoth she, "A Sohmer Grand Piano."

The Sohmer Pianos are recommended to the public for their power, purity, richness and quality of tone, and are considered the most durable and reliable pianos ever made.

THAT MERITORIOUS MAN.

I.

Since Merit now doth rule the World,
The World will happier be
For merit takes the foremost rank,
Where merit's stand should be.
'Tis Merit makes the Merchant strive
With all his might and main
To merit custom for his goods,
And customers retain.

II.

Now if to merit you're inclined
There's one man I know well
Whose meritorious custom is
The best of goods to sell.
At prices too so very low
That they can ne'er be beat.
Why just a visit to his store
Is certainly a treat!

III.

You there will see of furniture
The best in every line,
In styles quite new and pretty too
Which you can buy on Time!!
You can select whatever you want
And pay a portion down,
And have your goods sent free of charge,
To any part of Town!!

IV.

The balance by installments then,
Of course you'll duly pay
And feel within your pretty home,
Happier, day by day—
John Moriarty is the man,
Whose merit is so rare
That you will find him always dear
With you upon the square.

V.

"Do you to others as you'd have
All others do to you."
This is his watchword every time,
A watchword firm and true.
Just as he represents the goods,
So you will find them sure,
Thereby he merits custom from
The rich as well as Poor.

VI.

On Avenue Four; The Number is "One!"
You there will find his stand,
Six floors well filled with furniture,
As good as in the land.

In England crackers are called biscuits and biscuits rolls. Syrup is treacle; a pie is a tart; a pitcher a jug, and a bureau a chest of drawers. A dry goods store is a haberdasher's; a drug store is a chemist's; a vegetable store is a green grocer's. Raw meat is always undone, and shoes of checkbooks are counterfoils.

Says a contemporary: "A superfluous subscriber who found a spider in his paper, wants to know if it is considered a bad omen. Nothing of the kind. The spider was merely looking over the column of the paper to see who was not advertising, so that it could save its web across his shop door and be free from disturbance.

At Cheyenne.

Young Lochinvar came in from the west
With fringe on his trousers and fur on his vest;
The width of his hat brim could nowhere be beat—
His number ten brogans were check full of feet;
His girdle was horreat with pistols and things,
And he flourished a handful of aces on kings.

The fair Mariana sat watching a star,
When who should turn up but the young Lochinvar!

Her pulchritude gave him a pectoral glow,
And he reined up his horse with stentorian "whoa."

Then turned on the maiden a rapturous gria,
And modestly asked if he mightn't step in.

With presence of mind that was marvelous quite,
The fair Mariana replied that he might;
So in through the portal strode young Lochinvar.

Pre-empted the claim and cleaned out the bar;
Though the justice allowed he was't wholly to blame,
He taxed him ten dollars and costs just the same.

(Young women walk on and pay no heed to the invitation.)

Polite Man (louder)—Ladies, you will find a seat back here.

(Young ladies still ignoring the proffered courtesy.)

Polite Man (growing red)—Of course, ladies, you can stand up if you prefer, but int the top of his voice) you can get a seat if you come back.

(Polite man sees young women accept a seat at farther end of car, and proceed to converse with each other in deaf and dumb alphabet, whereupon he goes into forward car to cool off.)—Chicago Tribune.

The Farmer, the Tramp and the Dog.

Tramp (to farmer, digging in the garden)—Hayseed, can't you give me a little something to eat?

Farmer—Naw. I ain't got nuthin' fur ye; there ain't a thing in the house fur ye.

Tramp—All right, so let it be. That's a fine dog you got there.

The farmer, dropping his shovel and coming over by the fence, said: "Friend, are ye a jedge o' fine dogs?"

Tramp—What I don't know about dogs wouldn't make a hark. That dog, sir, never cost less than a hundred.

Farmer (shouting to wife)—Jane, git up suthin' nice to eat an' bring it out here!—The Epoch.

The newest gowns ordered by Mrs. John A. Mackay from the Paris modistes are of surpassing magnificence. One, according to a Philadelphia paper, is of old rose satin, covered with costly white lace and studded with several thousand dollars' worth of gems.

More than 37,000 people in five days were admitted to view Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain's wedding presents. The Puritan maiden seems to have yielded to British curiosity, or perhaps she had learned to understand ways of propitiating the British voter. That her portraits are on view in the Birmingham shop windows is another evidence of her acceptance of political customs.

We have the very best evidence that FUCHSA AMERICANA is one of the most perfect Cosmetics now in the market. Ladies please give it a trial and you will never again use anything else.

An Honest Tailor.

Twenty years ago a man commenced business in Grand street, New York, as a dealer in Misfit clothes—that is, suits that had been made by fashionable tailors and refused on account of some defect in make, shape or style. To represent a great variety of clothing which they had in his guiding rule, we will let himself as for his employers. Persistently following this rule has led to a big success. D. Shea (the tailor in question) still does business at the old corner (Broadway and Crosby streets), but as a consequence of strict integrity, his business is fully trebled what it was. He has just made a bona fide reduction of 20 per cent. on his present stock.—Morning Journal, Dec 16, 1888.

An industrial journal gives the following valuable information: A one inch shaft running one hundred revolutions per minute will transmit one horse power; a one inch shaft will stand the force of fifty pounds at the end of a crank one foot long. A one inch belt running eight hundred feet per minute will transmit one horse-power. A one-inch wrought iron rod will support seven thousand pounds, and a two inch rod four times as much.

There is no property of steel that is not common to cast iron; as for instance, the hardening of steel and the chilling of cast iron, and soldering either by heat, and from the mildest steel, containing only traces of carbon, to the highest cast iron, we have only one substance, iron, containing various quantities of alloys or substances in solution, and the properties which we observe vary only in degree, due to the quantity of alloy that is present.

SOZODONT
SMILES ARE BECOMING WHEN THE LIPS DISPLAY PRETTY TEETH
The shells of the ocean yield no pearl that can exceed in beauty teeth whitened and cleansed with that incomparable Deutrifice, Fragrant
SOZODONT,
Which hardens and invigorates the GUMS, purifies and perfumes the BREATH, beautifies and preserves the TEETH, from youth to old age.
By those who have used it, it is regarded as an indispensable adjunct of the toilet. It thoroughly removes tartar from the teeth, without injuring the enamel.
ONE BOTTLE OF SOZODONT WILL LAST SIX MONTHS.
It is an exceedingly economical and inexpensive dentifrice. Purchasers are requested to note the size of the bottle, and particularly to remember that, unlike tooth powders and tooth pastes, there is no waste. Each bottle has a sprinkler top, so that any number of persons may use the same bottle.
SOZODONT is a shining mark for the unscrupulous who seek to trade upon its established reputation, by representing valueless compounds as superior to or similar to it, but which are positively injurious to the teeth. Sozodont, on the contrary, beautifies and preserves them. Nothing resembles it in its properties or composition, or is comparable to it but itself. Therefore, do not allow yourself to be persuaded that another article offered as a substitute will produce the same effects, or is as pure as Sozodont.

HER MAJESTY'S
CORSET
IS THE BEST, BECAUSE
1st, IT IS THE ONLY CORSET EVER made that reduces the size and increases the length of the waist of Fleshy Ladies without tight lacing.
2d, IT IS THE BEST SPINAL SUPporter ever made, and it supports equally as well the abdomen and all other parts of the body.
3d, IT IS PROOF AGAINST PERspiration and moisture, and will neither corrode nor soil the underwear, stretch or break at the waist —the bones never move or come out in wear.
4th, IT NEVER CHANGES ITS FORM, always resuming its original shape; it is invaluable to young ladies, because it removes and prevents stooping and round shoulders.

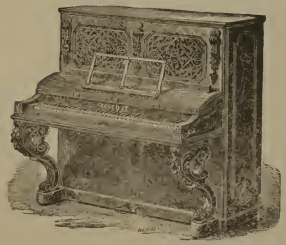
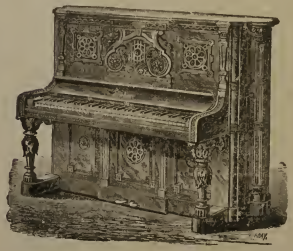
WEBER

UPRIGHT, GRAND AND SQUARE PIANOS.





THE WEBER PIANO is constructed from the musician's standpoint, as well as that of the mechanic; hence these instruments are distinguished from all others by that pure and sympathetic quality of tone that contains the greatest musical possibilities; that consumation of mechanical excellence that admits of the most delicate and impressive effects, while insuring the durability of the instrument, and that uniform superiority that enhances the pleasure of both performer and listener. Constructed from the very best materials and employing only the most skillful workmanship, these instruments combine the highest achievements in the art of piano making, and are comprehensively the best now made, and because of their great durability, power and sweetness of tone, they are the choice of the leading artists and the favorites of the concert room.

WOULD YOU KISS ME AGAIN?

You kissed me! my head had dropped low on your breast
With a feeling of shelter and infinite rest;
While the holy emotion my tongue dared not speak
Flushed up like a flame from my breast to my cheek;
Your arms hold me fast; oh, your arms were so bold!
Heart beat against heart in that passionate hold;
Your glances seemed drawing my soul through my eyes,
As the sun draws the mist from the seas to the skies;
And your lips clung to mine till I prayed in my bliss
That you might never unclasp from that rapturous kiss.

You kissed me! my heart, my breath and my will,
In delirious joy for the moment stood still;
Life had for me then no temptations, no charms,
No visits of pleasure—outside of your arms;
And were I this moment an angel possessed
Of the glory and grace that are given the blessed,
I would fling my white robes inexpressibly down,
I would tear from my forehead that beautiful crown
To nestle once more in that haven of rest
With your lips upon mine and my head on your breast.

You kissed me! my soul in a bliss so divine
Reeled and swooned like a foolish man drunken with wine;
And I thought 'twere delicious to die then, if death
Would come while my lips were yet moist with your breath;
'Twere delicious to die, if my heart might grow cold
While your arms wrapped me round in that passionate fold;
And these are the questions I ask day and night.
Must my life taste but one such exquisite delight?
Would you care if your breast was my shelter as then?
And if you were here would you kiss me again?

GIRLS ANALYTICALLY CONSIDERED.

[From the Bloomington Through Mail.]

Girls are of few days and full of mischief, and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise.

When the fair young girl cheweth her gum with greater haste and stampeth her pretty foot, do thou look out.

She cometh forth in the evening in low neck and short sleeves; but a-morning she lieth in bed while her mother hustleth.

When the sleigh-bell tinkleth she standeth at the window and yearneth for a beau, and when he cometh she doeth up his purse. He wrappeth the buffalo robe about her and huggeth her much, and stayeth out beyond his time, and the livery man addeth four good dollars to his bill.

In the evening he hieth himself away to her father's mansion. He goeth in and sitteth by the fire and then he poppeth the question.

PROSPECT AND RETROSPECT.

An old farm-house, with pastures wide,
Sweet with flowers on every side;
A restless lad who looks from out
The porch, with woodbine twined about,
Wishes a thought from in his heart:
"Oh, if I could only depart
From this dull place the world to see!
Oh me! how happy I would be!"

Amid the city's ceaseless din,
A man who round the world has been,
Who, 'mid the tumult and the throng
Is thinking, wishing all day long:
"Oh, could I only tread once more
The field-path to the farm-house door;
The old green meadows could I see;
Ah, me! how happy would I be!"

For a limited season, in order to more fully introduce my work, I will make Imperial Cabinets, for which I now charge $8.00, with same finish and expense, posing the sitter personally,—two sittings for choice, and re-sittings if desired—for $5.00.—PARKINSON, 29 W. 26th Street.

GRAND UNION HOTEL, opposite Grand Central Depot.—Important.—Travelers and families arriving or leaving the city for business, pleasure, or to visit summer resorts, will find superior accommodations at this Hotel. European plan, 600 elegant rooms at $1.00 and upwards per day. Richly furnished suites for families. Also rooms for supper or dinner parties. Restaurant, Cafe, and Wine Room supplied with the best at moderate prices. Guests leave $3.00 carriage hire, and by handing their baggage checks to hotel clerk, can have it delivered from this depot to their rooms in fifteen minutes, free of charge.

THE new style Seelskin short wrap introduced by C. C. Shayne this season, is now the recognized leading style, and will be the popular winter wrap the coming season. It shows off the figure and is very stylish and light weight, with all the comfort and warmth required in a fur wrap. Mr. Shayne manufactures all the leading styles in fashionable fure and has attained the reputation of being the leading New York furrier. Owing to low rent and small expence at his establishment, 103 Prince st., he is enabled to sell reliable and elegant furs at reasonable prices.

[From the Chicago News.]

"Waiter," said the gentleman who had ordered his dinner at a fashionable restaurant sometime in the dim past, "will you send ont for paper and ink and a notary and two witnesses?"

"Wha' for, sah?"

"Oh, I just want to make a will leaving that dinner I ordered so long ago to my heirs and assigns forever. That's all."

They hurried that man's dinner right up, and he got it within two hours from that moment.

A burglar got into the house of a lawyer the other day. After a terrible struggle the lawyer succeeded in robbing him.

TWO MONTHS AFTER.

She—"Why don't you sit here beside me on the sofa, as you used to?"

He—"Oh! Let's go to the theatre and see something lively."

An Austin colored man, with protruding eyes, rushed into Justice Tegener's office and exclaimed:

"I wants Cal Jones, who libs next door to me, put under a $1,000,000 bond ter keep de peace."

"Has he threatened your life?"

"He hes done that herry thing. He said he war gwine ter fill de next nigguh he found, after dark, in his ben house, plum ful' oh buckshot."—Texas Siftings.

The most extravagantly-dressed women of Paris are the actresses, many of whom do not hesitate to expend from $600 to $800 for a single dress to be worn in some society drama. To such a pitch has this extravagance been carried that the manager of the Comedie Française has repealed the rule compelling the lady members of the company to furnish all their own dresses for pieces the scene of which is laid at the present day. These are now supplied by the theatre, as well as the historical costumes.

"I see the papers speak of a manin Alabama with three arms," said a Madison Avenue belle to her dearest chum. "I wished he lived up here."

"Why?" said the dearest chum.

"Just thiuk what a bonuuza he'd be to go driving with.

"My dear," remarked Podsnap to his wife, "just think of it, every time you draw your breath somebody dies."

"Well," snapped Mrs. P., "do you suppose I am going to stop breathing for that reason?"—Oil City Derrick.

A Western youth, who had been to a grand dinner, was asked how he liked the menu.

"Well, I don't know whether I ate any of it or not," he replied. "You see the programme was all printed in French, an' half the time I didn't know what I was eatin'. What's the French for menu?"

Scene at Theatre Matinee—Gentleman to lady—"I fear there will be a rush and we shan't get in." Lady—"Not get in! What do you mean? There are very few matinees where I ever failed to get in, with perseverance and—this big shawl pin!"

WHERE HE GOT IT.

John McCullough's illness recalls an anecdote he used to tell of Edwin Forrest.

Forrest was particularly impatient with the trick that amateurs have of holding their heads down.

"Confound it, sir Do you suppose that Cæsar, an ancient Roman, ever went around, hanging his head down like a dog?"

"No, sir," said the super meekly.

"Then why do you do it?" continued the tragedian.

"I don't know, sir," said the super.

"But you should, sir," roared the tragedian.

The super, finally despairing of learning his part, asked Forrest in a reverent tone how he acquired his knowledge of acting.

"Was it from genius or energy, sir?" he said, meaning no offense.

"No, sir," roared Forrest; "from good lungs and plenty of self-conceit."

"Has he gone, dear?" "Yes, grandma." "And what was that sound in the hall, Jessie " "Why, it must have been the door shutting, grandma." "Your grandma may he old and deaf, Jessie, but doors did not shut like that when she was a girl." "Did the men wear mustaches then, grandma?" "No, my dear." "Well that makes the difference probably."

"Father," he said, as he came running in from school, "did you ever drill an oil well and make $50,000?"

"No, my son I never did."

"I was in hopes you had, for I wanted to brag to the boys."

"Well, you can tell 'em, although I never drilled an oil well and made $50,000, an oil broker once drilled me and made $75,000, which is about the same thing, I guess."—Wall Street News.

"I do love dress!" exclaimed a young society belle, "Then I should think you would wear more of it," retorted the cynical bachelor friend of middle age.

"Charming girl, that Miss Lucy, Jack, "Think so? I never could bear her. She always treats me as if I were an ass, you know." "Indeed! I did'nt know she knew you."

A girl visited a music store and asked for "The Heart Boiled Down With Grease and Care" and "When I Swallowed Home-Made Pies." The clerk recognized what she desired, however.

A young man asked the lady of his affections, the other evening, how she liked the look of his new standing collar. After critically surveying him and the collar, she replied: "Very nice, indeed. It looks like a whitewashed fence round a lunatic asylum."

LIVERY service that is commendable, where every effort is made to satisfy a patron in the fine appearance of horses, harness and vehicles and presentable coachmen, polite, courteous, and prompt in obeying calls. and at the same prices charged for inferior service by other establishments, should be known to those who appreciate such things. Therefore attention is invited to the Hoffman House Stables, 35 and 37 West 20th St. (Telephone Call "175 21st St.") Mr. Geo. Green, Proprietor. This is probably the most perfectly equipped establishment in the city. Carriage calls will be put in houses and messengers furnished free of charge. All kinds of light turnouts.

Barry Sullivan was once playing "Othello" at a Dublin theatre. When the scene appeared for him to ask Desdemona for the handkerchief, he commenced: "Give me the handkerchief." A pause. "The handkerchief." Another pause. "Give me the handkerchief." When a voice from the front was heard to exclaim: "Mister Sullivan, wipe yer red nose wid yer fingers, and go on wid de play."

A conntryman led his bride into a fashionable restaurant, with the avowed purpose of "gittin' a first-class meal of vittals if it cost dollars."

"We have Mulligatawny soup," said the polite waiter.

"What kinder soup?"

"Mulligatawny soup, sir,"

"Come, Mariar, let's git. We've struck a second-class place," Then as they started to go the countryman said to the waiter:

"This is a bridal couple, mister, an' we're not lookin' for Irish stews."

"Did you notice, dear, at the party last evening how grandly our danghter Clara swept into the room?" Husband (with a grunt)—"Oh, yes, Clara can sweep into a room grandly enough, but when it comes to sweeping ont a room she isn't there."

MATINEES will be given every TUESDAY and FRIDAY at this Theatre, by HARRIGAN & HART.

A country fellow entered one of the banks, and, walking up to the counter, exclaimed: "Here I am, I want you to take a fair look at me." Without a word further, he strode out. The next day the same customer appeared, uttered the same words, and again disappeared. The third day, at about the same time, he walked in, and advancing to the teller's desk, threw down a draft payable three days after sight. "Now," said he, "you've seen me three times, I want the money for it."

"Don't you know it's wicked to catch fish on the Sabbath?" Small boy (just having had a bite all the morning)—"Who's catching fish?"

"What is your occupation?" asked a traveler of a moonshiner whom he had met in his rambles. "I am an artist, sir," was the reply. "Is it? Give attention to nothing but 'still life'."

"The way to forget our miseries is to remember our mercies," is the way some philosopher puts it. When we have a felon on our finger and a double barreled toothache to boot, there don't seem to be much consolation in remembering that we were not drowned last summer. We wish we had drowned.

"There's something crooked about this," remarked the teacher, as he took a bent pin away from a scholar.

He wore a N...7 slipper,
Was flip and couldn't be flipper;
He went down to the rink,
And, what do you think!
He kicked a hole through the Great Dipper.

"You may talk as much as you please," remarked the irascible man; "but let me tell you that I consider your arguments as well as yourself beneath my notice. I don't give you so much as a thought." "I hope not," was the response; "I wouldn't have you bankrupt yourself on my account."—Boston Transcript.

The willow that bends to the tempest often escapes better than the oak which resists it, and so in great calamities it sometimes happens that the light and frivolous spirits recover their elasticity and presence of mind much sooner than those of a loftier character.—Walter Scott.

PURSUIT OF KNOWLEDGE.

Maud—"What kind of n ow is a Texas steer, Pa?"

Pa—"Steer! steer! Oh, why it is a steer raised in Texas, to be sure."

Maud—"Of corrse; but why is is called a steer?"

Pa—"Well, ahem! It's—it's because nobody outside of Texas can steer one when it gets loose."

The high-school girl explained to her particular friend yesterday that "He kicked the bucket" was slang, and that the polite expression was, "He propelle his pedal extremities with violence against a familiar utensil used for the transportation of water and other fluids."

"One of the minor accomplishments to be acquired by every girl, is the science or art of carving," says the Boston Beacon. "Let her learn how to cook by all means, if she has any gift for that divine art, but do understand the graceful dissection of a joint or a fowl is still more important if she intends being at the head of an establishment. Generally this duty falls to the man of the house, who, though he may not be skillful, is yet strong of wrist, and knows right it is to hack and slash without reproof from the other end of the board. But when a lady can easily and dexterously perform this share of man's prerogative, it has a very pretty appearance."

FROZEN KINDNESS.

[Dr. Holland.]

The world is full of kindness that never was spoken, and that is not much better than no kindness at all. The fuel in the stove makes the room warm, but there are great piles of fallen trees lying on rocks and tops of hills where nobody can get them; these do not make any one warm. You might freeze to death for want of wood in plain sight of these fallen trees if you had no means of getting the wood home and making a fire of it. Just so in a family; love is what makes the parents and children, the brothers and sisters happy. But if they take care never to speak about it; if they keep it a profound secret, as if it were a crime, they will not be much happier than if there was not any love among them; the house will seem cool even in summer, and if you live you will envy the dog when any one calls him poor fellow.

[From the Boston Journal.]

"My dear," said a husband to his wife. "I am unable to get any sleep. I have tossed ever since I came to bed. I wish you would get up and prepare me a little laudanum." "It's hardly worth while now," she replied, consulting her watch; "Its almost time to build the kitchen fire." Then he sank into a quiet, restful slumber.

HOW TO CLEAN CARPETS.

Moquette, Brussels, or the more ordinary ingrain carpets and rugs are very destructive, and in any state of wear, may be renovated, made perfectly clean and renewed without blending or fading the colors, or stretching or breaking the most tenderly woven threads in the warp or filling. Steam made by the gas, coal, &c., by a variety of chemicals used in skillful hands, can be easily removed, giving to the colors their original freshness, and to the fabric its original appearance. Carpets nowadays are loaded and brushed with patent steam power machines at a very trifling expense. This process defects the most thorough ventilation of the fabric, pure air and afterwards super-heated steam being drawn through them. The advantage of this process, especially in the cleansing of carpets that have been in use in such rooms, is easily seen. All this, and more too, is accomplished at the establishment of T. M. STEWART, 326 7th Ave. The building used for the purpose is five stories high and presents a perfect beehive of industry. There are here combined the results of chemical science and skilful application of mechanical forces, as well as experienced manual labor. The STEWART STEAM CARPET CLEANSING WORKS take up, alter and relay carpets, and also lubricate them in chemically prepared paper and guarantee them moth-proof for one year. They store them for the fall temporarily out of housekeeping. The firm is reliable as well as old, prompt and numerous like in its dealings. Ladies and others interested are cordially invited to call. The place is between 28th and 29th Sts.; but if the object is simply to send an order, a postal card addressed to T. M. STEWART, 326 7th Ave., will answer the purpose.—[From Home Journal.]

Notwithstanding the fact that the ladies of New York and vicinity have been well satisfied with the goods they have purchased for so many years from Cantrell, he is now able, in his new store, 25 W. 23d St., to give better shoes, and to show a much larger stock in hand-made goods than before; also a full line of genuine Common Sense shoes at prices as low as are asked for the better grades of machine work elsewhere.

Beyond a doubt the finest Oyster and Chop House in this city, is Bristol's 362 and 364 6th Ave., next door to Booth's Theatre Building. For delicious oysters, game in season and salads this house has an unrivalled reputation. All the appointments are first-class and the service unexcelled.

Thentre parties will find this an attractive resort and are assured of every comfort.

There are low, if any, doing a larger retail trade than Schmer & Co. of this city. It is almost impossible to call at their warerooms any time of the day without finding some person contracting for a Schmer Piano.

A MEAN TRICK.—James Turk, a guileless citizen of Detroit, was ambling around St. Louie the other day when a stranger stopped him, offered him a cigar, and said: "You have a frank and honest face, and I appeal to you to do me a favor." "Well, I reckon I will, unless you want to borrow money." "Oh, no! You see that clothing store over there? Well, on the left as you go in is a counter full of overcoats. I want one the worst way, but the price is $20, and I don't want to pay over $15. I could have beaten him down, I think, except that we both got mad, and I left." "Well, what do you want of me?" "Simply to go in and offer him $15. If he accepts, bring the coat to me on the corner below. If he refuses, you will have my gratitude all the same." James promptly consented, and when he had offered $15 for one of the coats the latter also promptly accepted. It was done up in a neat bundle, and Mr. Turk carried it to the corner for delivery and waited. The other party was not there. Mr. Turk waited half an hour—three-quarters—over an hour, and the idea crept through his wool that he had been sold. He returned to the clothier's and asked: "What is your asking price for these overcoats?" "Eight dollars." "But I paid $15." "Oxactly. When a man comes in and likes to pay me dot price I vas foolish to drive him away!" Mr. Turk reached home with two overcoats, and he is so pale and quiet, and sad appearing that his friends whisper their fears of consumption.

HER GLOVE.

I have found such a dear little glove,
So daintly scented and free,
That I've sent it away to my love.
Will a mitten come back to me?

For a message I placed within—
Its meaning she surely must see;
Will she find the words sweet that I wrote,
Or send back a mitten to me?

To-night I will follow the glove,
To know what my fate may be;
Shall I kiss the hand that it fits,
Or bring back a mitten with me?

HAVERLY'S 14TH ST. THEATRE.

Mr. J. K EMMET, the renowned comedian, will appear at this theatre each evening of the week in his great impersonation FRITZ in the extremely popular play entitled "Fritz in Ireland." The achievements of Mr. EMMET in this piece need not be referred to, as they are already familiar to playgoers the country through, and further record would prove only wearisome. Suffice it to say, however, that no star has ever succeeded in arousing a greater degree of interest and curiosity than this gifted and accomplished actor and vocalist. In every city throughout the United States his experience has been uniform—the rush to see him being always so great as to necessitate the refusal of admission to the theatre of many hundreds of persons at each performance. Those who are wise will take a hint and purchase their seats in advance, otherwise they will certainly suffer great inconvenience. We hazard but little in predicting that the present engagement at Haverly's Fourteenth Street Theatre will surpass even his previous successes. A matinee performance of "Fritz" will take place on Saturday at Two o'clock.

HAVERLY'S FIFTH AVE. THEATRE.

MCCULLOUGH as SPARTACUS.

Mr. MCCULLOUGH'S Spartacus is a noble and touching personation, depicting with equal skill the mute agony and dull despondency of the proud Thracian, torn from those who were dearest to him; the dauntless courage of the gladiator battling for the freedom of wife and child, but loathing the inhuman butchery which was the price of ransom; the warlike spirit of the conqueror whose cravings for revenge was softened by compassion for helpless supplicants for mercy; and finally the strong despair of a man overwhelmed by disaster, yet struggling defiantly to the death.

A new play from the pen of Mr. LEWIS WINGFIELD, an English dramatist of fine ability, is underlined for production at HAVERLY'S Fifth Avenue Theatre on Monday evening, Dec. 12th. The new work, it is believed, will afford Mr. MCCULLOUGH free scope for the display of those manly and robust qualities that are so conspicuous in his acting. It deals with episodes in the life of JACK CADE, but treats of the subject in a manner entirely different from that hitherto presented.

The Madison Square Theatre is doing an immense business and the new play of "Esmeralda" is a favorite one with all classes of society.

The reputation of UHLER'S Tar, Boneset and Honey, is now so well established that the dealer, knowing its merits, does not hesitate to recommend it in preference to all others. Sold by Druggists at the moderate price 25 cents.

MOMOTARO SATO was the first Japanese Merchant to locate in this city. The past three years he has resided in Japan collecting Curios for the market. Having opened at 849 Broadway, "Domestic Building," he would be pleased to receive his old friends and customers, and as many new ones as delight in Japanese Wares.

GERMAN EYE SALVE acts like magic upon Sore, Granular and Scrofulous (Kings' Evil) Eye-Lids. 50 cents per box. FISHER, 24th Street and Seventh Avenue.

FISHER'S BRONCHIAL TABLETS cure Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Coughs, etc. Agreeable and effective. 25 cents per box.

We will admit that most face powders are injurious, but RIKER'S AMERICAN FACE POWDER is a bright exception. Endorsed by all the leading lyric and dramatic artistes and the medical profession. Sold everywhere.

THE London and Liverpool Clothing Company, corner of Bowery and Hester streets, are making the best window display in the city. The corner window contains a life-size wax figure of the late President, besides an immensely varied quantity of clothing. The lower window is stocked up with boys' clothing, and shows four wax figures of boys. In the center is the wooden image of a pony, upon whose back sits the life-sized wax figure of a boy, dressed in a jockey suit. The appearance of both windows is strikingly attractive, and holds the attention of large crowds. The London & Liverpool Clothing Company are transacting an enormous business.

RIKER'S CREAM OF ROSES is harmless, delicate, beautiful in effect, easy of application, made suitable to all complexions, really beneficial to the skin, and inexpensive in price. What more can any one ask? 50 cents per bottle. RIKER & SON, Druggists, 353 Sixth Avenue, sole manufacturers. Sold everywhere.

One of the most useful and curious products of that wonderful substance Petroleum, is the article known as "Vaseline," or petroleum jelly. A few years ago it was quite unknown, and now hardly a household is without it. As a universal remedy for burns, wounds, rheumatism, catarrh, chilblains, skin diseases, sore throat, colds, &c., it is without doubt the most efficient substance ever discovered, while the toilet articles made from the pure Vaseline, such as pomades, cold cream, camphor-ice, toilet soaps, &c., are in universal use, and acknowledged to be superior to all similar productions or substitutes. These articles are sold by all respectable druggists. The prices are lower than those of similar articles, but imitations abound, (as they always do of good things,) and buyers should insist upon having original packages put up by the CHESEBROUGH MANUFACTURING COMPANY, with their name upon them, as none others are genuine.

ALL GOODS MADE ON THE PREMISES

Sealskin Sacques, Dolmans and fur-lined garments will be more fashionable than ever this season. The styles manufactured by C. C. SHAYNE, 103 Prince Street, (formerly of Broadway), are the most popular. The goods are made from selected skins, properly cured and dressed, elegantly finished and are thoroughly reliable in every particular. The low prices at which they are offered should be an inducement to wholesale and retail buyers.

Our Esthetic Styles on a Sierra Poet, Texas Steer or Colorado Cattle Ranche would not rupture a romantic young woman. Cold But for the very day young man whether he is in Law, Literature, Dry-goods or Idleness, one of our Two 50/100 hats is the correct thing. MCCANN'S, 218 Bowery, the same class of goods can be procured elsewhere for Four 7/100.

A GREAT CONVENIENCE.

Gentlemen dining out late, exhausted by midnight study or revels, or arriving in the City in the early morning hours, will be glad to know that the new Turkish Bath, No. 7 West Twenty-fourth street, near the Fifth Avenue Hotel, is now open night and day, and always ready for its patrons. The Russian vapor department at the same establishment continues to attract numerous visitors. The rapid growth of patronage, in the ladies' Department especially, shows that the gentler sex is learning to appreciate the hygienic and cosmetic advantages of these sensible luxuries.

"I HAINT SEEN NUFFIN OF YER CHICKENS"

PEARL'S ART-GRAIO.
[COPYRIGHTED 1878.]
The Easy Method of Crayon Drawing with a mechanical invention patented 1877. No stumple a child can learn to draw from object or copy in from one to three lessons. This popular system requires no talent or long study. It has positive merit—as evidence—three hundred pupils have taken this method in New York since January 1st, and Mr. Pearl's studios are crowded with visitors daily. Over eleven hundred pupils in Boston. To show the genuineness of this great art, no money is ever required in advance and the pupil does not pay if not exactly as represented. Owing to the very large number of pupils constantly, applications must be secured from five to ten days in advance through Mr. Russell, the author of this art. Mr. Frederic Pearl, will give illustrations before pupils personally. Visitors welcome.

THE TROUBADOURS.

MR. HAVERLY takes great pleasure in presenting this evening this unique company of artists, who have won laurels in every part of our own country, and whose fame and success extend to the Antipodes.

The reputation achieved by this organization has been won by earnestness and sincerity in the direction of giving a charming, pleasant entertainment, full of fun and vim, and without the slightest taint of coarseness or vulgarity.

Through a season of discouragement, they never lowered the high standard they had set before themselves, and have consequently reaped the rich reward of success by a faithful adherence to good art and high aims.

The following from the New York Tribune of May 17th, 1875, will give some idea of the acceptance this charming company have gained from discriminating critical minds:

"The merits of the exhibition, both in the piece and the manner of its presentation, are positive and exceptional, and for this reason the success of the Troubadours already considerable, and destined to increase as a fact to be recorded as equally creditable and beneficial to the public taste. Journalism has sometime occasion to lament, with reference to the stage, that the ministry of mirth is wantonly allied to the ministry of vulgarity and vice. In this instance the welcome demonstration is afforded that merriment can be diffused by the exercise of talent and the operation of animal spirits, directed upon a perfectly pure subject, and con ucted with equal refinement and vigor. Although pasteboard in tone, and illustrative of nothing wise, substantial than the frolic of a party of lovers at a picnic in the country, The Brook is, nevertheless, full of fun, vim, sparkle and effervescent animation, and in this result it shows that a good popular entertainment may be as well made out of good materials as out of bad ones

To specify and depict the incidents of this little production would be very much like numbering the feathers on the burnished oriole. Sprays of melody and swift flashes of color require their characteristic and appropriate surroundings. The effect upon the audiences is that of exultation in the enjoyment of others, and this is manifested in frequent and resounding laughter. These troubadours charm in a double sense—not only by their engaging attributes and special accomplishments, but by their happy maintenance of the buoyant atmosphere and gay, flying, forest-like spirit of the strolling players of an older and more picturesque time. The breeze that seems to blow through all their doings is a breeze from the rosy fields of youth, and it comes indowed with the fragrance of the flowers of romance. The quality—illusive, no doubt, but all the more potent for that reason—explains in large measure the acceptance which these players have gained."

Such is "The Brook"—the picnic party of actors, off for a day's sport among the lights and shades of mea's and shaded spoiled coffee, jingling laughter and vinegar-soaked sandwiches.

Salsbury's Troubadours were received at he Conlter Opera House, last evening, by the elite of this "Boston of Illinois," as Dubuque calls Aurora, and their appreciation was expressed in the unmistakable language of hearty laughter, though there were present those who unfortunately expected to stand on the banks of a great, deep river of thought and see the wheezing, coughing, steamboats of study plow their ways past, leaving wakes on which the mind might dwell and find no rest. Such were disappointed. But those who went to picnic with the actors in the beautiful little spot chosen by them, and ramble, unaccompanied by a care, through leaves by nature built, were rested, were refreshed, were improved for the heavy work of to-day.

"The Brook" is recreation. That is all.—Aurora Daily News, Jan. 24th, 1880.

Sparring up in little unseen jets come the fresh waters that form the sparkling well-spring in which "The Brook" is conceived. Fed through a thousand little fissures of thought its spring cannot run dry. It is not an ocean; it does not pretend to be. It is not even a river; it is a little rippling brook—a rollicking, jumping, tossing, splashing brook. Meandering through the shadowy vales of business care, it brightens up the scene and invites the sorrow to shake their thirst for smiles from its laughing, prancing waters.

Now dancing over shoals of pebbly puns, now running leisurely, as if to rest, into a depth of thought. But it rests not for few and short. It did not rise to waste its waters in froth-covered eddies; and it soon goes howling along with decided preference for little cataracts of wit and bubbles of humor.

Mr. NEIL BURGESS AS THE WIDOW BEDOTT.

Later in the season Mr. Haverly will have the pleasure of presenting to New York audiences the unparalled success of the creative character actor, Mr. Neil Burgess, in Pemberton V. Nasby's farcical comedy, Widow Bedott A few notices of the appreciation of Boston critics of this marvelously clever impersonation are appended:

"An audience large in numbers laughed until their sides ached over the comical situations, and still more comical dialogue, until it really seemed as though they had a surfeit of fun. If such a thing were possible."—From the Boston Traveler, January 20.

Nasby has outdone himself in the dramatization of the Widow Bedott, and Neil Burgess as the Widow presents a character which can be duly met with in many of the country towns in New England. Crowded houses attend every performance."—Boston Post, January 23.

"Wit unalloyed, humor undiluted and satire uncorrupted by any extraneous effort marked the impersonation of the Widow by Mr. Neil Burgess. There was nothing contentional about the assumption, and the fact that Mr. Burgess was called three times before the curtain indicated the appreciation of his efforts by the large and cultivated audience.—Boston Daily Globe, January 20.

Dramatic Notes.

HAVERLY'S FIFTH AVENUE THEATRE, Broadway and Twenty-eighth Street, will open under the proprietorship and management of Mr. J. H. Haverly on or about the first day of September next, with a very strong attraction. Mr. Haverly will continue the Fourteenth Street Theatre under his management, having ample attractions for both theatres.

"CRAWLES; or, A FOOL AND HIS MONEY," will be continued throughout the week at Abbey's Park Theatre.

MISS NEILSON, the celebrated English actress, will play in New Orleans, La., commencing March 8th.

"THE FALSE FRIEND" is still attractive to the patrons of the Union Square Theatre, and is likely to run for some time to come.

NIBLO'S GARDEN THEATRE will be jointly managed by Messrs. Haverly and Gilmore, beginning with Easter Monday. Mr. J. H. Haverly's famous Mastodon Minstrels, augmented to sixty performers, will be the opening attraction.

WALLACK'S THEATRE will this week be devoted to complete Mr. Boucicault's successful engagement, with the following programme: Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, "The Colleen Bawn;" Thursday, "The Shaughraun;" and Friday and Saturday, "Kerry."

"ALL THE RAGE," at the Gaiety Theatre, Boston, has entered upon the second week of its career.

HAVERLY'S BROOKLYN THEATRE. The attraction for this week is the world-famed Hermann, the prince of prestidigitateurs, who appears in conjunction with Mlle. Adèle, and offers an entertainment of legerdemain such as no living slight-of-hand can hope to approach. The Lorellas, grotesque dancers and contortionists, and Val Vose, the gifted ventriloquist, complete a most entertaining performance.

MR. WILLIAM D. GEMMILL has re-leased the Chestnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia, and will, at the end of the present regular season, which terminates April 26, change the character of the house to a first-class star and combination theatre.

THE OLYMPIC THEATRE is doing a fair business under the management of Mr. Frank Mayo.

LOTTA is playing a most prosperous engagement at Abbey's Park Theatre, Boston

ACADEMY OF MUSIC, Brooklyn.—"La Sonnambula" will be sung on Thursday, March 4th, with Mlle. Marimon as Amina, under the management of Mr. J. H. Haverly. "Aida" will be rendered Thursday, March 11th.

MR. LESTER WALLACK will re-appear on Monday, March 8th, at his own theatre, in "Rose and Matthews' comedy "The Lion."

"MY SON-IN-LAW," Leonard Grover's new comic play, will shortly be produced at the Standard Theatre.

HAVERLY'S THEATRE, CHICAGO.—Messrs. Gilbert and Sullivan's new operatic success, "The Pirates of Penzance," will be sung during the week.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Four operas will be rendered by Mapleson's Company this week, as follows: Monday, "Lucia de Lammermoor;" Wednesday, "Linda di Chamouni;" Thursday, "La Favorita;" and Saturday matinée, "Do sonnambula."

MR. AND MRS. MCKEE RANKIN are playing at McVicker's Theatre, Chicago.

EDWIN BOOTH will commence a short engagement on Easter Monday at the theatre which bears his name.

"HAZEL KIRKE" is meeting with uninterrupted success at the Madison Square Theatre. It will be continued a few weeks longer.

MISS ADA CAVENDER is at the Grand Opera House, Pittsburgh.

"PIRATES OF PENZANCE" is drawing crowded audiences at the Broad Street Theatre, Philadelphia.

The Musical Incidents of "THE BROOK" have been carefully selected by Mr. FRANK MARDER, who will personally conduct the Orchestra, commencing with his original "Brook Overture."

THE PLOT OF "THE BROOK."

A party of ladies and gentlemen of the theatrical profession accept the hospitality of a gentleman who has provided a cabinet in the woods, and thither they repair to give themselves up to the enjoyment of the hour in true picnic style. The gurgling brook keeps time to the happy voices of the joyous revelers, whose overflowing spirits find vent in admirably arranged situations, permitting a vast amount of exquisite songs and melodies, blended with recitations, dancing, merry-making, and shaded only by ridiculous mishaps, which are necessary, making the woods ring with joyous laughter, thus assuming the appearance of a Rural Operatic Jubilee.

The Beautiful WOOD-LAND SCENE used in THE BROOK was painted expressly for this production by Mr. WM. J. FETTERS.

BATHING AS A FINE ART.—Those who have ever taken a Russian Bath are well acquainted with its processes, but only the patrons of the very popular baths in Lafayette Place are conversant with the special excellences which surround it. From the entrance through the office at No. 18, through the bath and dressing-rooms, thence by the parlors and coffee-room, the visitor is greeted with elegant surroundings. The recent addition of No. 16 enables the proprietors to allow three very fine parlors instead of one for the guests to repose in before leaving after taking the bath, and it rich carpets, hangings and furniture, fine paintings and bric-a-brac have attractions, these are to be found here. The coffee-room is a new feature, and those who can appreciate a cigar and a cup of coffee after the bath, and while "cooling off," are thus enabled to obtain and enjoy them with comfort. The addition of an Electric Bath is also a valuable feature which many take advantage of to their own benefit. Owing to the considerably increased demand upon the facilities of this popular establishment, the hours for bathing have been extended to midnight, so that those who desire it can take a bath after leaving the theatre. Those who have once been accustomed to the Russian Baths never change them for any other kinds, as the benefits derived therefrom exceed the luxury, which alone is a great boon to many. Ladies use the bath largely for their complexions as a beautifier, and many a ci-devant belle has bloomed anew from this place in all the beauty and attractiveness of her younger days.

A BEAUTIFUL ART.—Pearl's Art-Croix. The easy method of drawing is attracting much attention in art circles. Hundreds visit the Pearl's studios, 39 Union Square daily, and wonder at the marvellous drawings by pupils after only one or two lessons. Ladies pronounce it "charming," "delightful," and all who take up the art are fascinated with the beautiful pictures produced, mechanically, without any previous study of art. In the studio imbibing Boston over eleven hundred took lessons in art-craic. Mr. Pearl, the author, receives pupils personally, and cordially invites all to visit his studios, 39 Union Square.

AN INTERESTING RELIC.—There is now on exhibition and for sale at Randebeck's, No. 710 Broadway, a foil once owned and used by Lafayette, and by him presented to Lieut. Marcellin of the U. S. Navy. This statement is vouched for by a member of the family in whose possession the foil has remained to the present time. This relic should be located permanently in our Metropolitan Museum. Here also may be found a fine lot of arms, porcelains and other antiquities.

The possession of SOUND TEETH and a SWEET BREATH is a blessing which, since the introduction of SOZODONT, is within the reach of all. This famous dentifrice is FREE FROM ALL MINERAL TAINT OR ACID, and is as HARMLESS as it is efficient. It purifies the mouth; SWEETENS THE BREATH; CLEANSES, WHITENS and PRESERVES THE TEETH, without injury to the enamel; HARDENS THE GUMS, and keeps them in their healthy and normal condition. The universal popularity of SOZODONT, after so many years of publicity and trial, is convincing PROOF OF ITS MERITS. All druggists keep it.

THE TEETH.—People are naturally very much afraid to try any preparation for the teeth, especially if they are healthy and they certainly have just cause for fear, as there have been so many ingenious articles placed in the market. There is, however, one Dentifrice in the market which may be relied on as absolutely harmless and very beneficial. It is RIKER'S FLUID DENTIFRICE, an article prepared for the last twenty years by the well-known and reliable druggists Wm. B. RIKER & SON, of 353 Sixth Avenue, who have a standing offer of $100,000 for a case of injury resulting from the use of their Dentifrice. $1 lid by all druggists or 50 cents per large bottle. Trial size, 25 cents.

MILK OF MAGNESIA.
Good for Sour Stomach.

There is no woman worthy of the name who does not wish to enhance her personal charms. True, the effort is not always successful, the reason being that the correct means to the desired end are not applied. But those who use the famous specific, first prepared some thirty years ago by Dr. T. Felix Gourand, are never disappointed. The essential virtues of this magical beautifier, Cream Oriental, are to elicit a clear, transparent complexion, freeing it from tan, freckles, and blemishes generally, and imitating nature so closely as to defy detection. Dr. Sayer, apropos of cosmetics, once said to a lady of the beau ton: "If you ladies use them, I recommend Gourand's Oriental as the very best of all skin preparations.

What Ada Rehan says about "BOVININE."

An unsolicited tribute is always the most convincing. In conversation with a friend Miss Ada Rehan said recently that she never fears the fatigues of extra rehearsals or her usual stage duties so long as she has Bovinine. She depends absolutely on this valuable preparation, and derives from it immediate and lasting benefit. It is a fluid food, containing the vital principles of beef; is palatable, can be assimilated by the most delicate stomachs and is stimulating without the after depression of wine. (N. Y. Recorder.)

First Presentation of

SOLOMON & MORTON'S

One Act Nautical Operetta,

"The Admiral."

Arranged by FREDERICK SOLOMON.

A man went into a crowded store to buy some stockings for his wife. "I want striped ones," he said to the clerk. "We have very few stripes, sir," the clerk replied; "they are not so much worn now." "Are you sure?" "Oh, yes! quite sure? I will demonstrate the fact to you." Then he leaned over the counter and shouted: "Rats!" "See?" he added. "Yes," said the customer, "give me plain colors."

Examiner — Now Mr. Murphy, while on the subject of physical science, what are the properties of heat? Murphy (a Tipperary Candidate for license) — "Expanshun, surr." Correct. Give me an illustration. In Summer, surr, the sun, being hotter, causes the days to lengthen.

Literary Man (to his new factotum) — What became of the letter that was on my desk? 'at — Shure I mailed it, sor. Literary Man — Mailed it? You idiot. Why, there was no address on it. Pat — Shure I know that, sor, but I thought you didn't want me to know who you was writing to.

'Do you know how to build a stone wall?" — "Oh, yes, any fool knows that: you just have to set one stone on another."—"No, you don't!" thundered the farmer: "you have to set one stone on two."

CURED OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

Watson, Chippewa Co., Minn., Jan. 31, 1890

The Owen Electric Belt and Appliance Co.

Gentlemen: Your No. 4 Belt was received six weeks ago. It is now a great pleasure to inform you that it has performed a miraculous cure. My wife had for years suffered with Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, and she also had been troubled with Fits. She had been doctored for years by many different physicians, and had taken endless prescriptions of medicine, without any relief. After wearing your belt six weeks, she says she is entirely cured and feels strong and well. Your Electric Body Belt has done it all. God bless you and lead many to use your wonderful Electric Belt. Many, many thanks.

Your Faithful Friend and Well Wisher,

S. ANDERSON.

CHESEBROUGH MFG. CO., N. Y.

Moriarty Did It.

I sat within my lonely room
So cheerless and so drear;
With shabby furniture around,
Grown worse from year to year.
I thought of every earthly plan
By which to change my life,
But nothing seemed the proper thing
Except to take a wife.

But how ask any woman fair
To share this dingy spot.
I told Bess I had not the heart
To bring her to my lot.
But she, wise little woman, said,
Joe, leave this while you can
Give me the right to manage, dear,
I have a scheme and plan.

Hundreds of men as poor as you
Have blessed the day they went
To Moriarty, who gives worth
For every dollar spent.
He asks but honesty and truth.
Square dealing when you buy;
He's shown the masses how to live,
Then why not you and I?

His furniture is not excelled
By any in the town;
His carpets are as fine and good
As ever were put down;
He drapes the windows o'er with lace,
Hangs pictures on the wall;
Adds tables, sofas, easy chairs
Until he's furnished all.

"So, Joe, dear, let us not delay,
This credit's just the thing
Will fix us comfy at home
Before the buds of spring.
Think how you dwell in stuffy rooms,
And waste your money dear;
When home is always to be had
With Moriarty near."

Park Place, New York, runs out of Broadway opposite the Post Office. Among its features is the largest lamp store in the world, that of the Rochester Lamp Company. Ladies often like to go down among the large wholesale houses, and buy of first hands. They will find at 4 Park Place the largest and most artistic display of lamps ever shown—over 2000 varieties. The house sells single lamps.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many Dress Shields, each represented to be "just as good as The Lily," THEY ARE NOT, but, like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. In buying Shields ask for the Lily Dress Shields and insist on getting them. Wide-awake dealers generally sell them; the sleepy ones soon will.

That Meritorious Man.

I.
Since Merit now doth rule the World,
The World will happier be
For merit takes the foremost rank,
Where merit's stand should be.
'Tis Merit makes the Merchant strive
With all his might and main
To merit custom for his goods,
And customers retain.

II.
Now if to merit you're inclined
There's one man I know well
Whose meritorious custom is
The best of goods to sell,
At prices too so very low
That they can ne'er be beat,
Why just a visit to his store
Is certainly a treat!

III.
You there will see of furniture
The best in every line,
In styles quite new and pretty too
Which you can buy on Time !!
You can select whatever you want
And pay a portion down,
And have your goods sent free of charge,
To any part of Town!!

IV.
The balance by instalments then,
Of course you'll duly pay
And feel within your pretty home,
Happier, day by day—
John Moriarty is the man,
Whose merit is so rare
That you will find him always deal
With you upon the square.

V.
"Do you to others as you'd have
All others do to you,"
This is his watchword every time,
A watchword firm and true,
Just as he represents the goods,
So you will find them sure,
Thereby he merits custom from
The rich as well as Poor.

VI.
On Avenue Four; The Number is "One"
You there will find his stand,
Six floors well filled with furniture,
As good as in the land.
No Connection with any other Store.

EDDIE COLLYER, (Bro. of Dan Collyer) teacher of stage dancing is doing nicely, making a specialty of teaching amateurs & instructing and perfecting professionals in advanced and special dances. Represented in 44 different travelling companies by pupils. Terms moderate. 46 Clinton Place.

The Sohmer Piano factory is kept busy night and day to supply the immense demand for this wonderful instrument. Its success is phenomenal in the history of the piano-trade, and the leading professional artists, the world over, are ever bestowing glowing encomiums upon it, which its beautiful and faultless construction fully entitles it to. In these days of competition an article must be, indeed, perfect to excel. The unparalled sales of the Sohmer during the past, fully demonstrates the fact that it has achieved a reputation, which for merit is be so enduring as the love for music itself. Merit is always appreciated and meets its own reward; and we are glad to know that the efforts of Sohmer & Co. to furnish a Piano second to none in the world have been crowned with unprecedented success.

Call and see them, call and you will surely become a regular customer.

LADIES who value a refined complexion must use DR. CLAYTON'S RARE ARSENIC COMPLEXION WAFERS. They impart a brilliant transparency to the skin, remove all pimples, freckles and discolorations, and render the skin delicately soft and beautiful. The most reliable and "absolutely safe" Arsenic Complexion Wafer manufactured and sold at the popular price. Unlike any other arsenious preparation made and sold for the complexion. DR. CLAYTON'S Arsenic Complexion Wafers are compounded by a secret process of his own, which renders them "absolutely safe," and when taken according to directions will remove all complexions from the face and body, making the skin soft, white and clear, thereby giving to it that glossy appearance caused by most arsenical preparations manufactured and sold as a cosmetic for the complexion. Price of (reinforced) one dollar per box sent by mail to any address. Sold by druggists generally throughout the U.S. at 100 Wafers, $1.00; six boxes for $5.00. Sole Agency in America, ALFRED SHERMAN & CO., Manufacturing and Importing Chemists, 193 SIXTH AV., New York City. For sale by all first-class druggists.

PEPSIN.—No remedy for Dyspepsia and Indigestion has been discovered the equal of Pepsin. It is nature's own cure, and the only reliable form is that of Dr. Jansen's Tablets. They are sold by all Druggists, and are especially adapted to chronic cases and immediate in their action, when nearly nearly or over indigestion. Strength and uniformity is their combined, and the utmost confidence is had in them if the direction is observed, not to take more than half an hour after meals.

...litan Magazine in an article entitled
"Famous Beauties,"
By ELIZABETH BISLAND, says about
CARMENCITA
"When you dance, I would you were a wave of the sea,
That you might dance forever."

Shakespeare makes the young prince say to Perdita, and would have said it with twice the fervor had he happily lived to a green old age of two or three hundred years and seen the fair Pearl of Seville—Carmencita, who has found a new expression for the fire and passion of youth, for the young joy of life, and the ecstasy of love. Born in Malaga, of Andalusian parents, nineteen years ago, instead of learning to walk the first year of her life, like the average child, she learned to dance. Not the tiptoe pirouette of the Italian or French baby, who is artistic and artificial by hereditary instinct, but "like the wave of the sea," like the tossing of fuschia bells in the wind, like a wind-blown flame, a flashing, vivid bit of Spanish life, deep colored as pomegranate flowers, full of the untamed, animal grace of a people who have touches of the wild desert blood in them, and perchance, somewhere, far away, a strain of the Zingari. At sixteen she was in full blossom of womanhood—the most exquisite type of Spanish beauty. Brought up on grapes—she says—the warmth and bloom of them got into her blood, and gave her a loveliness that was as intoxicating as wine. And she danced. No steps that masters could teach her. No wiggling on iron toes down the length of the stage with coarse exposure. She wore modest skirts to her ankles; she was slender as a reed, and her slim feet, under whose instep water would flow, were eased in satin slippers, whose high heels clicked with her castanets. When the heart runs over with the first joy of love, soul and body yearn for wild motion, to spread wings for the stars, to cry, to leap, to run; and it was that ecstasy of life and movement that Carmencita danced. Spain went wild over her, and Seville called her its "Pearl." She danced before the baby King, and he watched her with round eyes and clapped his hands when she was done—the most spontaneous applause she has ever had. Paris heard of her. For two years she danced before them, and they struck a gold medal for her. In the home of art nature and genius were triumphant.

All communications and orders should be addressed to the Proprietors.

Music in this country has long been a cultivation with the utmost care and has always been appreciated. The cultivation of this art, however, was hitherto confined to performances of a special character. Our great metropolis has never had what the large centres of the European countries deem indispensable, namely, a family-resort for the interpretation of good popular music. American visitors to Europe missed on their return the charming concert-gardens of Vienna, the brilliant palace-cafés of Paris, the grand promenade-concerts of London.

Messrs. Koster & Bial, after long and careful consideration, resolved to offer the public an establishment to fill the want referred to. Having regard to the habits and taste of New Yorkers, differing, as they do from those of European Capitals, they did not aim to erect some shavish imitation of one or the other trans-Athantic establishment of the kind, but to create an entirely original institution, which might be safely called an ensemble of all that Europe offers in the line of popular concert-halls.

In order to carry out this plan, the services of Mr. Hermann J. Schwarzmann, the renowned architect of the Centennial Exhibition, were secured. A glance at the premises will show how far Mr. Schwarzmann has succeeded.

Two large Salles connect with a smaller one, so that three halls form one continuous line of uninterrupted promenade, changing three times in character, but impressing the visitor as spacious and in keeping with the general design.

Perfect harmony prevails between the ornamentation and decoration.

The rich and noble decorations, in the modern Renaissance-style, of the Entrance-hall blend beautifully with the fantastic oriental frescoing of the connecting smaller hall, which may appropriately be styled a conservatory. The third, that is the Concert-hall proper, has a calm and dignified repose about it, which feeling is increased by the fine appearance of the orchestra-platform, backed imposingly by its large Jardine-Organ.

Instead of the monotony not unusual in European establishments of a similar character, the visitor here finds variety of style, elegance and artistic excellence.

As to details of decorations, they can hardly be described. Mr. Schwarzmann's chief quality is artistic independence. Sticking closely to the style decided on he still creates numbers of delightful combinations of his own good taste. So the modern Renaissance of the Entrance-hall has about it an oriental charm entirely original, the effect of which is very striking when illuminated. Then the perfect unity of the ornamentation of the ceiling, the walls, the boxes and galleries becomes most apparent. You will then easily recognize the similarity of the decorations of this hall, and the oriental coloring of the fantastic conservatory, with its fine statues in the corners and the elegant fountain in the centre, when the beauty of the Concert-hall, which could not have had more artistic care bestowed on it, had it been intended for the apartment of a prince, will be fully appreciated.

The character of the whole establishment cannot fail to give satisfaction to the members of our best families. Every gentleman may take his wife and children to such a resort and listen to the strains of the music of the Grand Orchestra, which is under the direction of Herr Rud. Bial, the famous Conductor of the Kroll's-Garden Concerts, and the Walhner-Theater, and the Kroll Opera in Berlin, whose services Messrs. Koster & Bial have succeeded in securing. No music other than finest specimens of popular compositions of every kind and nationality will be rendered.

As to the acoustic properties of the building, one will be able to hear perfectly from any part of the halls, and boxes, and galleries.

Ventilation - arrangements have been made, based on the latest experiences in this important matter.

The seats are exceedingly comfortable, and invariably in connection with tables.

Refreshments of all kinds will promptly be served by expert waiters. In the halls the visitor will not meet with the eyesore of a bar. This will be found in the basement; it is in itself a model of originality and beauty, and ornamented with various German and English "Trinksprüche." The basement contains also a bowling and a shooting-gallery.

In short, every provision has been made for the comfort of lady and gentlemen visitors.

In conclusion: Messrs. Koster and Bial present the attractions of this establishment to the public after thoughtful preparations. They believe they have neglected nothing that seems necessary for the success of their enterprise.

New York needed an elegant, popular concert-resort; it exists now. Our metropolis will no longer be without that which Paris, Vienna, Berlin, London, have so long patronized!

Let us enjoy the most popular art in the most popular manner, in the only way indeed, that can result in making popular music a refining medium for the public at large.

The women suffragists of Great Britain are apparently no less resolute than those of our own country. Notwithstanding the rebuffs they have received from Parliament on the question of the franchise, the leader of the movement are preparing themselves not only to obtain Parliamentary votes, but to take part personally in the House of Commons debates. It was recently announced that Mrs. Fawcett had been elected president of a ladies' debating association. The best debaters are those who hold their opinions strongly, and it is pretty well known that most women have notions of their own on a wide variety of subjects. Women in general do not trouble their heads much with politics; but the lady politician, as experience in many ages and countries has proved, is not quite such a rara avis as some ignorant people suppose. The late Miss Marlineau was an able expounder of the soundest principles of political economy, and her advice was often eagerly sought for by Ministers of the Crown. And in this country some of our most distinguished statesmen have found their wisest and ablest advisers in the women of their households.

A LOVE SONG.

Kiss me, darling. Let your lips
Be a rose that breaks apart,
And I'll be the bee that sips
Honey from the rose's heart.
Ah! the scarlet leaves inclose
Of this blossom blown for me.
Happy fate to be a rose!
Happier fate to be a bee!

Kiss me, darling. Let your eyes
Be the violets on the hill:
I will be the wind that flies
Hither, thither, at its will.
When my kiss upon them lies
Then the blossoms, sweet and shy,
Must look up in swift surprise
While the laughing wind goes by.

Kiss me, darling. Let my heart
Be a warm and pleasant nest;
Come and swing its doors apart,
Enter in and be my guest.
Love stands just within the door
Tender shall his welcome be:
There, my darling, evermore
Sing your song for him and me.

The Press on the Opening.

The theatre in West Twenty-third street, built for Dan Bryant's Minstrel Troupe, and afterward called the St. James Theatre, was opened last night as a summer concert hall. It will hereafter be known by the simple designation of KOSTER & BIAL'S. A wonderful transformation has taken place. The parquet has been levelled, the stage torn out, and a rear building added, affording a depth of 200 feet, through to Twenty-fourth street, with a uniform width of fifty feet. The result of a claimed expenditure of $75,000 in making these changes was displayed when the doors of the new place were thrown open. The interior, filled, as it was later on, with well dressed people, seated or moving about in a flood of brilliant light, presented a most pleasing aspect. The new concert hall was patterned by H. J. Schwarzmann, who designed the Centennial Buildings.

The building added to the theatre proper is connected with the part formerly used as a stage. The roof of the latter is pierced by hammered glass skylights, affording good light. Around the four sides of the dome are rows of gas jets, while there are two sunlights and innumerable crystal chandeliers at the sides of the building. The style of frescoing is that of the Renaissance, which has been employed throughout. A fountain in the centre of the floor bears a figure of Venus of heroic size, with two Cupids riding on dolphins, while on every hand are ferns and tropical plants of all descriptions. Underneath the added building is the department from which the edibles and fluids were furnished, and this is reached by a broad staircase from the main hall. At the side of the latter are handsomely upholstered logea for parties. The balcony has been transformed to similar use. A stage at the rear had an orchestra of twenty-five well trained musicians, led by RUDOLPH BIAL, of Berlin, whose programme of light music seemed to be fully appreciated. Upon the stage is also an organ for the projected Sunday evening concerts. In the basement are bowling alleys and a rifle range. Judging from the throng that attended last night it may be assumed that the new place is to become popular with the masses.

[N. Y. Herald.

The people enjoyed an opening night-a notable opening night, for the unqualified success of the venture will cause it to be long remembered.

After an Organ solo on the great Jardine organ played by Mr. Jardine himself—Mr. RUDOLPH BIAL was welcomed with great enthusiasm as he took his place, violin in hand, to conduct the opening march, "Greeting to New-York," a clever composition written expressly by Mr. BIAL for the occasion. The most interesting numbers on the programme for the night were the selections from Deblitz's new comic opera, "Le Roi l'a Dit"—as interesting a work as Bizet's "Carmen"—the "Fledermaus" overture of Stranss, Schubert's "Ave Maria," as a solo for oboe, played by Mr. J. Eller; Terschak's Fantasie for solo flute, played by Mr. Weiner, and the several dance pieces of Mr. BIAL. But criticism of the playing is out of the question. It is enough that the immense audience, apparently highly respectable, was satisfied, contented, merry and, as the hour grew late, as jolly as much music (&c.) could make them.

Mr. Wallack has purchased from Henry J. Byron, the English dramatist, "Our Girls," the companion piece to "Our Boys," which has had such a wonderful run in London. It will be produced in the fall.

The "Fest-Polonaise" by RUD. BIAL is a favorite piece of the German Emperor. In Berlin it was once executed, by order of his Majesty, by an orchestra of 120 and a chorus of 80.

The movement looking to a World's Fair in this city in 1883 is gathering strength. A national convention of Governors of States and Mayors of cities will be held in this city in June next, to consider measures of finance and legislation. Hon. Richard C. McCormick, who so creditably represented this country at the Paris Exposition, suggests in a published letter that at least three years should be allowed for the construction of the buildings and the adornment of the grounds, and that the administration of the Exhibition should be intrusted to a very small commission, with absolute powers, who should be well paid for their services. He thinks that the Exhibition grounds should have a water front, where heavy and bulky goods may be unloaded directly from vessels without onerous terminal charges. It is stated that the site of the Exhibition has been already selected, but the committee decline to make it known at present.

KOSTER & BIAL,
Importers & Bottlers of Lagerbeer.
Tribune Building, and 23d St., near 6th Ave.

Messrs. Koster & Bial, a couple of German gentlemen, have been quietly turning the old St. James Theatre (formerly Bryant's Opera House), in West Twenty-third street, near Sixth ave., into a concert hall. The leader, Professor Rudolph Bial, a cousin of one of the proprietors, has been specially engaged from Berlin. There for twelve years he was conductor at the Wallner Theatre. Later, for three years, he was proprietor and director of the famous Kroll's Garden. Here Madame Gerster began her operatic career, and Professor Bial says that for the first four weeks she was an entire failure, but suddenly she sprung into favor, and from the Emperor down all contributed to her fame. Professor Bial brought out last year Adelina Patti, her first appearance in Berlin since 1861, paying her 12,000 thalers a night and making a very profitable engagement of it, notwithstanding the Emperor said the Berliners would not pay $5 for a seat. Professor Bial proposes to give concerts after the style of Strauss in Vienna light, cheerful and thoroughly musical. He has selected his orchestra of twenty-five from the Philharmonic and Symphonic societies. It is the purpose of Messrs. Koster & Bial to give New Yorkers a musical resort on the European plan, where a man and his wife will be as safe as in any theatre, and where the strictest decorum will always prevail.

[N. Y. Herald.

A NOVELTY IN NEW-YORK RESORTS.

A want is shortly to be supplied which the peculiar cosmopolitan population of New-York has long felt. Messrs. Koster & Bial are about to open in Twenty-third-st., near Sixth-ave., a building which will embrace the chief distinctive features of a Berlin beer garden, a London music hall and a Parisian café chantant. The building selected for the purpose is the old St. James Theatre, and a rear building on Twenty-fourth-st. has also been used. The two have been thrown into one, making a hall 40 feet wide and 200 feet long, with a seating capacity for 1,000 persons at tables upon which will be served all manner of drinks and edibles. The room has been frescoed in the most magnificent manner neither Delmonico's nor even the Brunswick surpasses it in richness of color. In fact, New-York will be genuinely surprised at this part of the display. There are to be galleries with semi-private boxes, and seats without number. In the basement will be a bar, bowling alley and shooting gallery, but set apart from the concert room itself. Every imaginable provision for comfort (not dissipation) has been made. Such strict order is to be maintained as to commend the place as a family resort to which children may be brought. There are to be given daily and nightly concerts by a band of twenty-five performers, led by Rudolph Bial, late director of the Kroll Garden, Berlin. From time to time soloists will be introduced in song and instrumental music.

[N. Y. Tribune.

Our theatrical managers evidently put a practical faith in The World's diagnosis showing the restoration of business confidence throughout the country. Mr. Lester Wallack is about to make his first grand Western tour under conditions which preclude the possibility of financial mishaps. Mr. Haverly, a Western manager of much repute, while controlling other places of amusement has boldly taken charge of the fine Lyceum Theatre in Fourteenth street which has proved to be the cutecomb of so many of his predecessors, and bids fair to make it a treasure house for himself. Mr. Daly proposes to galvanize the old Olympic Theatre, once so renowned under the joint auspices of Jefferson and Mrs. John Wood and more recently illuminated by the pantomimic genius of poor George L. Fox. There he will bring out a dramatic version of "L'Assommoir," which has been made really readable as a novel in English by a clever translator and adapter, Mr. John Stirling. Mr. Palmer, of the Union Square Theatre, has just produced a new and successful drama with lavish expenditure upon stage and scenic effects. An enterprising German firm is transforming the old St. James Theatre, near Masonic Hall, into a Kroll garden of the Faderland pattern, and appears to have given unlimited scope to architects, fresco painters and general decorators at this novel place of amusement. Neither have Mr. Steele Mackaye and Mr. Amos R. Eno spared expense in re-creating the Madison Square Theatre at the rear of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, while at the same time Mr. Duff in the Standard Theatre seems to be constantly rebuilding "H. M. S. Pinafore" and providing it with new canvas to catch the steady breezes of popular favor. All of which enterprises unmistakably corroborate the witness borne by our correspondents and contributors in The World of Saturday as to the return of good times.

[N. Y. World.

Colonel Ash, the well-known Secretary of the Board of Directors of the Centennial Exhibition, who, just returned from Europe, said, that this Concert establishment of Koster & Bial surpasses in beauty almost everything of a similar character in Europe.

Great are the lamentations of certain of the Parisians about the demolishing of the Théâtre Ventadour, and yet they have allowed it to be accomplished without taking any effectious steps to arrest the hand of the destroyer. Where their so long cherished Italian opera is henceforth to find a new home is becoming a question of significant importance.

Two young lovers glide
In a sleigh side by side,
And the man had his sheltering arm
'Round the maiden's trim waist,
And her lips he stole quick
And he vows he will shield her from harm.

He thinks no one near,
So, into her ear,
He whispers words—you know what kind—
But he quickly grows dumb,
As he hears a "Yum-yum!"
From a boy on a sled tied behind!

TO THE PUBLIC.

The pleasure and satisfaction manifested at our last re-union has encouraged the Roscius to appear before their patrons in a new role.

We will present the beautiful drama "Eileen Oge, or Dark is the Hour Before the Dawn." To many it may be familiar, but we will endeavor to do justice to its various parts.

Miss Louise S. Wooley, who kindly aided to make our last entertainment a success, will, we are pleased to announce, with Mrs. W. V. Schmeckenbecher, Miss Eva Kelly, Miss Maggie Collins and several others of our lady members, lend their presence and accomplishments for this occasion. To these ladies the Roscius are greatly indebted and offer their sincere thanks.

The music will be under the direction of Prof. Alexander, whose ability and choice of selections are too well known to require mention.

Last season, at our Entertainment and Reception, many prominent citizens, from our own and sister cities, were noticeable, and we trust they will flatter us with their patronage, while we extend to them and all a Merry Christmas and the greetings of the New Year.

A Matter of American National Pride.

The Glasgow Herald, one of the foremost of British newspapers, is referring to the great house of J. Muir Wood & Co. of London and Glasgow, says editorially:

"The firm are the sole importers of perhaps the finest pianos now made—the Hardman—an American instrument manufactured in New York, examples of which have been furnished to the Queen, the Prince of Wales and the Duchess of Fife, the heroines many of the nobility of Scotland and England."

Such a statement, made in so prominent a British journal, and involving so high a compliment to our art-products, is not only very gratifying to honest American pride, but it furnishes material for speculation. If the superlative excellence of American agricultural implements and machinery generally has been practically recognized throughout the world, why should not the field be extended to every department of human industry where we are the acknowledged superiors? In no special branch of manufactures has America developed more wonderfully than that of pianos, and when the product of a sterling house like that of Hardman, Peck & Co., the leaders to-day in enterprise and improvement in constructing pianos, has obtained the first position at home, it is quite reasonable to expect that the example set by the Queen, the Prince of Wales and hundreds of the best informed persons in England, will be followed by great numbers of intelligent people throughout Europe.

Buelow Budget.

Hans von Bulow has accepted the invitation to conduct Beethoven's "Bismarck"—beg pardon, "Eroica"—symphony at the Suebian music festival, which takes place on Whitsuntide at Augsburg. From Florence Bulow sent a highly complimentary letter to Verdi, in contradistinction to his oft-expressed harsh judgments on the Nestor of Italian composers. The latter replied with a hearty letter of thanks.

An Honor.

Luisa Cappiani has been appointed a member of the advisory council of the woman's branch of the World's Fair auxiliary on music.

Goldmark's Birthday.

Carl Goldmark, the composer, celebrated his sixtieth birthday at Vienna on the 18th inst. The occasion was marked by ovations on the part of the Vienna Tonkunstlerverein, of which the composer of the "Queen of Sheba" is an honorary member, and by presents and congratulations from the entire Viennese artists' guild.

Rimsky-Korsakow's Latest.

The celebrated Russian composer, Rimsky-Korsakow, has just finished a new opera, the title of which is "Mlada."

Women and Music.

It might have been thought that if practice gives perfection, women would have excelled her male counterpart, not only as an executant, but as a composer of music. But what are the facts? In instrumental performance she cannot for a moment compare with him, while as to composition she is nowhere. The repertory of music from the dawn of the art to the present day owes simply nothing to her. Considering the time she has spent over it, her failure to evolve new harmonies or even new melodies is one of the most extraordinary enigmas in the history of the fine arts.

Where in ancient times or in modern can woman, with all her practice, be found to have created one chef d'œuvre in music? The inference implied by the negative answer to such a question seems simply this: That in the higher efforts of mind—even in those where the admixture of an emotional element, as in music, might be supposed to give her the advantage—woman is inferior to her male counterpart and cannot by any educational forcing system be made to equal him, deficient as she is in the physiological conditions of ideoplastic power.—London "Lancet."

OUT IN JUNE.

The Dolgorouky Concerts.

Princess Lily Dolgorouky, of Russia, violinist, and several European musicians will give three entertainments at the Academy of Music on the evenings of May 28, 29 and 31. The princess has recently appeared in London, Berlin, Paris, Rome and every other European city of note. In Paris she conducted an orchestra of 200 pieces. She is expected to arrive on the Waesland next Thursday, and as her leave of absence is limited, she will be compelled to make short stays in the many American cities she desires to visit.

London News.

The new Polish pianist, Slivinski, is meeting with enormous success in London. He studied under the same master who instructed Paderewski. The fame of the latter virtuoso, however, is undimmed. Two hundred and sixty guinea tickets have been sold within the week for Paderewski's next recital, when he will probably beat the Rubinstein record by a total of receipts reaching £1,200. The rather long list of American prima donnas has just gained another name, that of Miss Sedohr Rhodes, of New York. This lady, who studied under Marchesi in Paris for three years, made a highly successful début this week at the Nicolini Theatre, in Florence, in the ever popular "Lucia." Italian critics who have heard her predict a brilliant future for Miss Rhodes.

The Knight of the Danneborg.

Asger Hamerik, Knight of the Danneborg, director of the Peabody Conservatory of Music, Baltimore, is going to Europe this summer to select a piano teacher for the conservatory, to succeed Richard Burmeister, who is going off on a long vacation.

Mr. Nikisch Invited.

Conductor Arthur Nikisch has been invited by Director Jahn to conduct one of the concerts at the Vienna Musical Exhibition. Mr. Nikisch had to decline the honor, as he will not leave this country during the present summer season.

WHY SWEAR OFF SMOKING?
A veget. "CURACOCO" Tablet dissolved in the mouth while smoking, or after the day, will thoroughly counteract the hurtful and unpleasant aftereffects, such as sleeplessness, nervousness, heartburn, dyspepsia, etc., resulting from excessive use of tobacco. Tobacco is pleasant to use, if "Curacoco" is occasionally indulged in. Delighted and recommended by the best physicians. At all tobacco and cigar stands.

One can excuse cheap colored goods, but black should be of the best quality, for it is mistaken economy to purchase any other. You take no risk whatever in buying and having made up a Priestley Dress Fabric. Be sure that the goods are stamped every five yards, on the under side of the selvedge, with the name B. Priestley & Co., in gilt letters, and you will have a dress which will wear well and look well as long as there is a thread left.

"This is the only stage of the game at which I can hold four aces," remarked a discouraged poker-player, as he took up all the cards to deal them.

"Awthaw's laid up with a terrible cold," said Gus to one of his friends. "How did he catch it?" "He changed too suddenly from a scowl to a sailor's-knot, don't you know."

Teacher: You must not come to school any more, Tommy, until your mother has recovered from the smallpox. Tommy: There ain't a bit of danger. She ain't going to give me the smallpox. Teacher: Why, how is that? Tommy: She's my stepmother. She never gives me anything.

Alvary for London.

American Wagnerites who are in London in June and July will have a chance of hearing a good many operas of the Bayreuth master, and their especial favorite, Alvary, as "Siegfried." One complete performance of the "Ring of the Nibelung" is promised by Augustus Harris on the evenings of June 22 and June 29, July 6 and 13, while there will be an extra "Siegfried" night on June 8. Alvary will then be heard in England for the first time He is spoken of in London as "a robust and indomitable 'Lohengrin,' 'Tristan' and 'Siegmund,' whose reputation is based upon a long series of successes in Germany and the United States alike." "Lohengrin," "Die Meistersinger" and "Der Fliegende Hollander" will be given in Italian, with casts familiar to the London public as far as the male vocalists are concerned, the rôles of "Elsa," "Eva" and "Senta" being intrusted to Melba and Eames and Macintyre.

Every time a tramp washes himself he "loses ground." He loses ground about twice a year.'

A woman in Chicago was arrested and fined five dollars for kissing men in the streets. The time will come when no man will be safe in the streets without a guardian.

A living dramatist makes one of his heroines, when driven to despair and about to commit suicide by jumping off the parapet of an embankment, exclaim to the night stars before she takes the fatal plunge: "There is now nothing left for me in this world but to get out of it."

The latest collar is called the "Spokane." And we will venture to say that if a man donned one of them in Spokane or vicinity, the local pride would be submerged by a wild desire to drive him out of town as a dude and tenderfoot.

"Willie," said the school teacher "spell measles." Willie made the attempt with the confidence born of youth, but floundered hopelessly. "I am surprised, Willie," she said. "Did you study your lesson?" "Yes'm; but you can't expect a boy to spell measles when he's never had 'em."

Won by a scratch—Relief from mosquito bites.

Nothing in the world will produce such activity in real estate as an earthquake.

Donothing: Well, Colonel, what are you doing now? Colonel: Something that you never did, young man. Donothing: What's that? Colonel: Attending to my own business.

If the increasing army of globe-trotters should take the northward route, and return via the South Pole, the result would have been more satisfactory to a weary public.

Aunt: Didn't you get another thrashing in school to-day? Johnny: Yes, indeed I did; but it didn't hurt a bit. Aunt: Did you cry? Johnny: Yes, I hel ered like anything; but I only did it to humor the teacher.

"And let us again assail your ears;" "Fair and Square" is on the best Ribbon made.

LONDON, May 15.—The opera season at the Covent Garden Theatre, under the management of Sir Augustus Harris, was reopened, a double bill being presented. The house was crowded

The first part of the programme was Gounod's opera in two acts, "Philemon et Baucis," with the following cast:

"Philemon," Montariol; "Jupiter," Plaucon; "Vulcan," Lorrain; "Baucis," Sigrid Arnoldson. The conductor was Léon Jehin. Arnoldson's voice appeared to have lost the sonority of former years.

The above was followed at 10 o'clock by Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana," which was superbly mounted. The cast was as follows: "Turridu," Di Lucia; "Alfeo," Dufriche; "Lola," Giulia Ravogli; "Lucia," Bauermeister; "Santuzza," Miss Eames. Conductor, Mancinelli.

Visitor: Your little boy doesn't seem to be very cheerful. Isn't he well? B. Yes he's well enough, but he is feeling a little out of sorts just now. You see, there was a great drop in leather this morning. V.: Bless me! You don't mean to tell me that child knows anything about the market? B.: Well, perhaps not, generally speaking; but, you see, the particular leather that dropped this morning was his mother's slipper.

"W——, do you know why you are like a donkey?" "Like a donkey!" echoed W——, opening his eyes wide. "No, I don't." "Because your 'better half' is stubbornness itself." "That's not bad. Ha! ha! I'll give that to my wife when I get home." "Mrs. W——" he asked, as he sat down to supper, "do you know why I am like a donkey?" He waited a moment expecting his wife to give it up. But she didn't. She looked at him somewhat commiseratingly as she answered: "I suppose because you were born so."

There is less tile about the Derby than here is about a silk hat, but the latter is more fashionable.

NOT A SUPPOSABLE CASE.—"No, Grubbins, you will never be a brain-worker." "Why not?" Haven't got the tools."

If the stage sets the fashions, mankind will have to put on smoked glasses after we are visited by the coming mob of Cleopatras

Freshleigh (to Miss Autumn, who has just made a sarcastic remark): You are withering, Miss Autumn. Miss Autumn: Sir——r——r?"

Some one says: "No woman ever dresses low from a high motive. And we don't suppose a woman ever dresses high from a low motive."

Lady—Are you not rather small for a nurse? Bridget—Oh, that won't make no difference, mum; the baby'll hurt hisself less when I let him fall.

HE—If I were to ask you to marry me, you would not be offended, would you? She—Why, certainly not. I always enjoy being proposed to.

Boy: Say, mister, shall I carry your bag? Do it for a dime. Masher: My bag is not heavy. Boy: Well, mister, let me carry your walking-stick. then.

Dashaway—I hear that you upset some soup on Miss Palisade's dress at the dinner-party last night? Stuffer—Yes, and I was fearfully put out about it. You know it isn't polite to ask for soup twice.

A LOVING WIFE.—MRS. Watts: I am so glad you have come home. Mr. Watts: You are? There must be something wrong, sure. What is it? Mrs. Watts: It's Fido. I'm afraid he has the hydrophobia. I have been so anxious for you to come home, so you could feel his nose and see if it is hot and dry. They say that it is a pretty sure sign.

THE PIANO OF AMERICA.

Honors of the highest distinction have followed merit well earned, and obtained only by the closest application, expert judgment and perseverance. Notwithstanding the manifold successes attained by the manufacturers of the Hardman piano, the preference displayed by her Majesty Queen Victoria, H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, H. R. H. the Duchess of Fife, the English Nobility, and General Reyes, Vice-President of San Salvador, in selecting "The Piano of America" for their use, gives the Hardman piano a standard position in the front ranks. Royal patronage, general popularity and a decided movement in advance of one instrument, and rare combination in favor of pleasure advanced. Notwithstanding the reports of several morning papers to the contrary, the engagement of Anton Dvorak as Director of the National Conservatory of Music is an accomplished fact. This engagement marks an epoch in the history of music in this country which is not to be underrated. Mr. Antonin Dvorak is a musician, composer and conductor of such eminent genius that he must naturally cast a bright reflection upon the future of musical events of the coming season, and those who have been instrumental in bringing him to this country deserve the praise of the nation. We congratulate Mrs. Jeannette M. Thurber on this brilliant acquisition.

"Why, Adolphus, what is the matter? Why do you tremble so?" "My best girl just 'shook' me."

THE CELEBRATED

PIANOS SOHMER PIANOS

ARE THE BEST.

Are Preferred by the conscientious Musical Instructors and Musicians. Are the FAVORITES of the Music Loving Public.

The "North American Review" says of the Celebrated Sohmer Pianos:

"No one can fail to notice in them every good quality which one is entitled to expect from a good instrument; nobility, elasticity and utmost clearness of tone, and an extent of power which never fails, added to which a perfect evenness of touch readers them as near perfection as has been thus far attained. Their touch unites with absolute precision a delicacy and pliability, and a most happy responsive quality not found in the instruments of any other maker.

While the present firm of Sohmer & Co. was founded in 1872, its existence really extends further back than 1860. Its author and head, Mr. Hugo Sohmer, is a native of the Black Forest, in Germany, coming of a good family in comfortable circumstances, and was given a most finished scholastic and literary education, at the same time acquiring a thorough knowledge of Music and the Pianoforte. At sixteen years of age he arrived in New York and was apprenticed to piano-making in the factory of Schwetzer & Lindolph. Thoroughly learning his trade with this firm, he returned to Europe in 1868 and travelled in the various capitals, studying piano-making critically and scientifically from every possible standpoint. In 1850 he returned to New York, and in 1852 commenced embodying in practical form the ideas which his training and travel had brought. His partner was Mr. Joseph Kuder, who still continues in the firm—a pianomaker who studied the art and trade thoroughly in the Vienna Shops, and added considerable experience gained in the shops of prominent makers. At present the firm consists, in addition to Messrs. Sohmer and Kuder, of Mr. Charles Fair and George Reichmann, each member of the firm being in charge of a special department, to which he devotes his entire energies. The concern now has, in addition to its extensive warehouse on Fourteenth Street and Third Avenue, a new factory at Astoria, which is the most magnificent and complete establishment in the country, and the advent of which has done much for Long Island in inducing her manufacturers to establish themselves there.

Even with the present average production of the firm, which is at the high figure of forty Pianos per week, it is yet insufficient to supply the extensive demand, the firm being, to-day by necessity in arrears of its orders.

A widely spread constituency demanding those celebrated instruments, they may be had not only at the principal warerooms, 149 to 155 East Fourteenth Street, New York, but at Montreal, Canada; 238 State Street, Chicago; Union Club Building, San Francisco; 1320 Oliver Street, St. Louis, Mo.; 1123 Main Street, Kansas City; as also of local dealers through out the country.

The laurels of the firm of Sohmer & Co. have been justly earned and cheerfully bestowed."

Ignace J. Paderewski

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH.

IGNACE JAN PADEREWSKI is admittedly the legitimate successor of Anton Rubinstein, and the mantle of fame worn through four decades by he most illustrious Moravian has fallen upon the shoulders of this already world-famous Polish artist.

Even in the present days of juvenile prodigies and phenomenal exhibitions of pianistic power, Paderewski has appeared to astonish the general public, and to charm music lovers by the marvelous dexterity he displays upon the key-board, and by the manifestation of much rarer qualities—lifting him above the heads of all his contemporaries—he has acquired in an unusually short time the highest position in the artistic world. The many frequently the opportunity has been afforded of hearing Paderewski; the greater admiration his performances have excited.

In purely mechanical skill it seems impossible to exceed the limits of his amazing achievements. He has his light and delicate moods as well as his dreamy and romantic humors, which find expression in the performance of the beautiful piano-forte works of his fellow-countryman, Frederic Chopin, interest in whose works increases year by year, for fire and firmness of execution nothing can surpass his playing of his master's Scherzos and Fantasies; for breadth of style and forcible delivery his performance of his own concerto in A minor, together with the concertos of Rubinstein and Beethoven, is superb, while for sweep of hand, extraordinary rapidity of finger and mastery over Liszt's Rhapsodies and Fantasias he is practically unrivaled in the world. There is yet to be considered the surpassing beauty of those moments any fancies and [illegible] touches, which, when the music admits [illegible] only be imparted by the most gifted of [illegible], can which adds so much charm to the [illegible] efforts, but In this delightful quality he [illegible] Rubinstein himself. pianist I have heard; in [illegible] he excels any never gives me the sense [illegible] of fact, his playing but seems to be rather the [illegible] exalted performance, spontaneous outcome of inherent and he reveals in playing. Of all living pianists manipulative [illegible] most of Anton Rubinstein; but his [illegible] is more delicate, far surer and clearer [illegible] that of the great Moldavian. He never pays a false note, and the fire and musical impulse which animate Paderewski never infringe upon the border-land which divides enthusiasm from extravagance.

Ignace Jan Paderewski first saw the [illegible] in Podolia, a province of Russian Poland, on the 6th of November, 1860, and at the early age of three began to play the piano. At seven his father placed him under the care of a local teacher, Pierre Sowinski, and with this master the young Ignace remained for four years. In 1874 he went to Warsaw, where the foundation of his knowledge of harmony and counterpoint was acquired from Roguski; but he subsequently pursued the branch of his studies under the late Frederick Kiel, the eminent teacher and theorist of Berlin.

Sporils after this date Paderewski undertook his first journey, which extended throughout Russia, Siberia, Servia and Roumania, during the course of which he performed nothing but his own compositions. At eighteen years of age he was nominated Professor of Music to the Warsaw Conservatory, and it is no secret that the money earned in this capacity was given to the acquisition of general knowledge after the hours were his musical duties had ceased. [illegible] he [illegible] Conservatory of Music in Strassburg, [illegible] that year he abandoned teaching and resolved upon the more fascinating career of a [illegible] Virtuoso. Paderewski accordingly removed to Vienna and placed himself under his fellow-countryman, Theodor Leschetsky, the well-known successful trainer of pianists and husband of no less [illegible] pianiste, Annette Essipoff, and at the expiration of three years hard study he made his début before the critical Viennese public in 1887, and was at once proclaimed to be one of the most remarkable pianists of the day.

From [illegible] he has paid several visits to be principal towns throughout Germany, always with increasing success, and in the Autumn of 1889 he made his first appearance before a Parisian audience, and, as my readers are aware, became the "lion" of the Paris season.

The first performance in England was given at the instigation of Mr. Daniel Mayer at St. James's Hall, on the 9th of May, 1890, since which date he has appeared at a large number of concerts and recitals in London and the provinces, his performances being uniformly marked by a crescendo of success and enthusiasm by the increasing audiences.

Paderewski has composed a large number of piano-forte pieces, many of which have attained great popularity; a concerto in A minor, for piano and orchestra, conceived in a broad and lofty style, and evincing great originality of subject and treatment; a Suite for orchestra in G, a Concerto for violin and orchestra in G minor and over eighty vocal pieces in the German, French and Polish languages.

Paderewski married at the early age of nineteen. Although he lost his wife through illness, he has a son living. Paderewski is exceeding y natural in his manners, kind-hea ted and unaffected in the last degree, and possesses one of the rare qualifications among great players, that of being a wonderfully good and patient listener. I may add that his memory is so vast and comprehensive that he is enabled to perform without book a repertory which covers a range of compositions of the ancient and modern writers practically without limit.

Since Franz Liszt and Anton Rubinstein, admittedly the pianistic giants of their time, no artist has appeared to create the same sur in the artistic world as Ignace Jan Paderewski, and it is highly gratifying to know that his transcendent ability is meeting with that recognition and reward which only the most highly gifted can command.

AUTUMN TOURS TO THE SOUTH.

Under Pennsylvania Railroad's Personally-Conducted System.

Without crossing the oceans into foreign lands a decided movement by Northern State inhabitants has been directed to the New South, and every fall and winter hundreds journey, some for health, many for pleasure and speculation, to the genial suns of the near South.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company announces a personally conducted pleasure tour from New York to the mountains of Maryland and Virginia, and the prominent cities of the upper South. The specific points covered by the tour are Buena Vista, Md.; Gettysburg, Pa.; Luray Caverns the Natural Bridge, the Grottoes of the Shenandoah, Va., and the cities of Richmond and Washington. The scenery of the entire route is picturesque and attractive, and the season is so well timed as to present the scenic beauties in their best form. The tour will leave New York on Thursday, October 15. The entire round trip covers a period of nine days, and the excursion tickets, covering all travelling expenses, will be sold from New York at $72.00.

For itineraries containing complete information as to routes special train service, descriptive notes, etc., apply to or address Tourist Agents Pennsylvania Railroad, 849 Broadway, New York.

The Dairy Kitchen has moved 8 doors west to Nos. 24 and 26 East 14th Street, and is now known as "The Metropolis." Retaining all its old popular features, it has added three new ones, namely—the Royal Hungarian Band; a $12,000 soda fountain finest and largest in the world; a first-class table d'hote dinner of 12 courses for 50 cents; a fancy cake and bread bakery; ladies' dining rooms; gentlemen's cafe and smoking rooms; delicious candies; pure fruit juice sodas, 5 cents, surpassing all others. Open every day from 6 A. M. to 12 P. M.

After his Concert Tour, 1890.

To Wm. Knabe, Esq., Baltimore.

Dear Sir.—My renewed and by more use—under aggravating circumstances, as bad health and tiresome traveling—enlarged experience of your Pianos this (second and last trans-atlantic) season has throughout confirmed myself in the opinion I expressed last year, viz., that sound and touch of the Knabe Pianos are more sympathetic to my ears and hands than sound and touch of any other Pianos in the United States. As I met with frequent opportunities of establishing comparisons between the Knabe Pianos and instruments of rivalizing or would-rivalizing producers, I dare now add that I declare them the absolutely best in America. With sincere regards,

Yours truly,

HAVE YOU SEEN IT?

Have you dined there? Where? Why, at "The Columbia," on Union Square. The talk of all New York. The most luxurious and magnificent place of its kind in the world. A perfect palace of delight, it stands unrivaled, and at first, last and all the time the best place in the city to obtain a table d'hote dinner, a lunch, a box of delicious confections, or a glass of most refreshing soda, drawn hot or cold, with syrups made from pure fruit juices. Your attention is first drawn to "The Columbia" by its exquisitely arranged windows, each being composed of one solid slab of priceless onyx, dazzling in its purity and whiteness, and on these are arranged with rare tact and skill the choicest confections. But once across the threshold and a lethe fades into insignificance. "Surely," you exclaim "this must be Aladdin's palace." A vista of Mexican onyx, French plate mirrors, tapestries, plush and silk draperies, mosaic floors, moquet carpetings and myriads of electric lights, twinkling like phantom will-o'-the-wisps from diamond cut glass globes, is presented to your view, making a scene unequaled in its beauty, exhilarating, entrancing, and, once seen, will ever linger in your memory like a strain of heavenly music. As you enter the door, the soda fountain first claims your attention, and well it might, for it is the largest, the handsomest and the most expensive ever made. Next come the counters of solid onyx, laden with sweets unsurpassed purity and delicious flavor, the pride of this the restaurant, seating 1,000. The band is playing, now soft and low, soothing your tired nerves, now stirring your very soul with a merry waltz. Well could you imagine yourself in fairyland, for rich tapestries adorn the walls and Persian rugs the floor, and velveteer and magnificence are found within the door. But you are rudely forced to arouse yourself from the spell cast upon you by the beauty of your surroundings, and be like unto those you are served with course after course of the choicest viands. Everything as an epicure to the palate and the environments are to the eye. Surely more than this could not be said.

The accommodations for private dinner or theatre parties are such as to excite even the most exacting delighted with the almost inexhaustible resources of this wonderful place. To fully appreciate the banquet rooms they must be seen. No one can do justice to their luxurious furnishings. "The Columbia" is open every day in the year from 6 a. m. until midnight. The cost of fitting up this palatial edifice was $80,000. Every where are displayed the most refined taste and thorough knowledge of the beautiful in art. Not in a single instance could a suggestion be made that would add to its beauty or the comfort and satisfaction of its guests. "The prices are marvelously moderate, the table d'hote dinner, from 5 to 8 p. m., being but 75c. A charming music for banquet or dancing is furnished gratis.

The National Conservatory is the Only Musical Institute

In America in which the ground work of a thorough musical education is laid, and the structure is afterward carried to completion Its professors have been appointed without consideration of expense and wholly on their merits and reputation, and they form an

ADMIRABLE FACULTY.

With no end in view but the spread of knowledge and the consequent elevation of the public taste, with no other revenue than that contributed by lovers of music and the very small returns derived from the nominal tuition charged, and with no contribution what-ever from talented candidates for admission unable to pay for such class tuition. It is believed that the National Conservatory addresses itself to all patriotic and music-loving Americans.

NATIONAL ENTERPRISE

Of the most important in the artistic future of the land.

It has now been in existence six years; it enlists the services of fifty-three instructors, some of international reputation. Its actual pupils number 548, and has supplied tuition, since its establishment, to 2,293 students.

PURPOSE AND SCOPE

The Conservatory is open to all persons evincing sufficient talent to justify their admission. The full course of instruction covers from 3 to 5 years, but varies with the aptitude and diligence of students.

The Vocal Course includes Singing, Solfeggio, Piano, Diction, History of Music, Deportment, Fencing and Chorus.

The Instrumental Studies include Piano, Organ, Harp, Violin, Viola, Violoncello, Contrabass, Flute, Oboe, Clarionet, Bassoon, French Horn, Cornet, Trombone, etc. An Orchestral Class is formed and also a special Children's Solfeggio Class.

R. M. WALTERS, the Piano Manufacturer, of Universities Place, corner 14th Street, has scored a great triumph by the introduction of his celebrated pianos in the public schools of New York and many of the large educational institutions throughout the country.

ALFRED GRUNFELD,

Who will make his first appearance before an American audience in the Madison Square Garden Concert Hall on October 25, has visited in turn all the large cities of Europe; and everywhere, in Berlin and in Paris, in St. Petersburg and in London, his playing has called forth the wildest enthusiasm. His triumphs, it will be seen, have not been won over the moneyed masses exclusively. Half of the nobility of the old world has at one time or another been under the spell of his achievements. That he has not lacked valuable recognition may be inferred from his title of "Court Pianist to his Majesty the King of Prussia" and "Court Pianist to the Emperor of Austria," while no end of exceptional experiences have fallen to his lot. Grunfeld and his brother Heinrich, the great European violoncellist, who accompanies the pianist on his American tour, were the only participants in the last concert which the late Emperor Frederick gave while still Crown Prince of Germany. At the special request of Carmen Sylva, he appeared in Bucharest before a select audience of one hundred listeners. On another occasion he was summoned into the presence of the Empress of Russia, in the Anitsk Palace, the Czarina desiring to thank him in person for a concert given in aid of the Red Cross Society. Grunfeld has been received by the King of Sweden and honored by the patronage of Prince Hohenlohe, Count Wrzesk, Prince Furstenberg, Prince Metternich and Baron Rothschild. In a word, all classes of society have done him homage. No less precious than social tributes have been those of the virtuoso's colleagues. Hans Von Bulow wrote of him in a musical journal as follows: "He is not only the foremost representative of the modern school of Kullak, but so distinct [illegible] as to impress most favorably both [illegible] candidly admit," continues [illegible] concern but anything [illegible] sundry friends [illegible] console me when I disappointed [illegible] he treated the piano in a fashionably [illegible] bride." I, as I would treat my grandmother in depicting him to me as a sort of graceful piano-[illegible] who was not to be taken [illegible] Per-[illegible] so al experience has taught me something more [illegible] I forbear to mention those qualities concerning which all critics are in accord. The wonderful versatility of his technique, the softness, tenderness and fullness, the beautiful light and shade of his touch, etc. His interpretation of Schumann's masterworks, and especially of his Etudes, symphonoques and Fantasie op. 17, I must declare the fairest possible approach to perfection. Such deep poetic conception united with such minute correctness, those compositions have seldom been favored with. If, then," concludes Von Bulow, "Mr. Editor, I should still have the good fortune of being regarded as competent to judge, permit me to request you to award Alfred Grunfeld a foremost place among those virtuosos whom it is really worth while considering in earnest."

THE PIANO OF AMERICA.

Honors of the highest distinction have followed merit well earned, and obtained only by the closest application, expert judgment and perseverance. Notwithstanding the manifold success attained by the manufacturers of the Hardman piano, the preference displayed by her Majesty Queen Victoria, H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, H. M. H. the Duchess of Fife, the English Nobility, and General Rieta, Vice-President of San Salvador, in selecting "The Piano of America" for their use, gives the Hardman Piano a standard position in the front ranks. Royal patronage, general popularity (rarely combined in favor of one instrument), and the immense increase in its sale throughout the world, its price has not been advanced. The same rates for renting prevail, and it is still sold on the usual liberal terms. It is fair to assert that the Hardman piano is indeed a marvel of musical progress it; worth and value has been permanently established, and time can only serve to add to the golden opinions won by its many excellent qualities. Hardman, Peck & Co. also have an exhibition at their warerooms, 5th ave. and 19th street, the "Self-Acting Symphony," an instrument which you, or anyone, can play selections from Chopin, Liszt and Wagner, or any piece of music ever written, with the proficiency of a virtuoso. It would be wise to visit their warerooms and hear this wonderful instrument, or to write Hardman, Peck & Co. for a catalogue, which is furnished free on application.

Notwithstanding the reports of several morning papers to the contrary, the engagement of Antonin Dvorak as Director of the National Conservatory of Music is an accomplished fact. This engagement marks an epoch in the history of music in this country, which is not to be underrated. Mr. Antonin Dvorak is a musician, composer and conductor of such eminent genius that he must naturally cast a bright reflection upon the future of musical events of the coming season, and those who have been instrumental in bringing him to this country deserve the praise of the nation. We congratulate Mrs. Jeannette M. Thurber on this brilliant acquisition.

"Why, Adolphus, what is the matter? Why do you tremble so?" "My best girl just 'shook' me."

THE CELEBRATED

PIANOS SOHMER PIANOS

ARE THE BEST.

Are Preferred by the conscientious Musical Instructors and Musicians. Are the FAVORITES of the Music Loving Public.

The "North American Review" says of the Celebrated Sohmer Pianos:

"No one can fail to notice in them every good quality which one is entitled to expect from a good instrument; nobility, elasticity and utmost clearness of tone, and an extent of power which never fails, added to which a perfect evenness of touch renders them as near perfection as has been thus far attained. Their touch unites with absolute precision a delicacy and pliability, and a most happy responsive quality not found in the instruments of any other maker.

While the present firm of Sohmer & Co. was founded in 1872, its existence really extends further back than 1860. Its author and head, Mr. Hugo Sohmer, is a native of the Black Forest, in Germany, coming of a good family in comfortable circumstances, and was given a most finished scholastic and literary education, at the same time acquiring a thorough knowledge of Music and the Pianoforte. At sixteen years of age he returned to Europe in 1866 and travelled in the various capitals, studying piano-making critically and scientifically from every possible standpoint. In 1870 he returned to New York, and in 1872 commenced embodying in practical form the ideas which his training and travel had brought. His partner was Mr. Joseph Kuhrer, who still continues in the firm—a pianomaker who studied the art and trade thoroughly in the Vienna Shops, and added considerable experience gained in the shops of prominent makers. At present the firm consists, in addition to Messrs. Sohmer and Kuhrer, of Mr. Charles Fahr and George Reichmann, each member of the firm being in charge of a special department, to which he devotes his entire energies. The concrete now has, in addition to its extensive warehouses on Fourteenth Street and Third Avenue, a new factory at Astoria, which is the most magnificent and complete establishment in the country, and the advent of which has done much for Long Island in inducing her manufacturers to establish themselves there.

Even with the present average production of the firm, which is at the high figure of forty Pianos per week, it is yet insufficient to supply the extensive demand, the firm being so-day largely in arrears of its orders.

A widely-spread constituency demands these celebrated instruments, they may be had not only at the principal warerooms, 149 to 155 East Fourteenth Street, New York, but at Montreal, Canada; 136 State Street, Chicago; Lyon's Club Building, San Francisco; 1502 Oliver Street, St. Louis, Mo.; 1103 Main Street, Kansas City; an also of local dealers throughout the country.

The laurels of the firm of Sohmer & Co. have been justly earned and cheerfully bestowed."

Ignace J. Paderewski

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH.

IGNACE JAN PADEREWSKI is admittedly the legitimate successor of Anton Rubinstein, and the mantle of fame worn through four decades by the illustrious Moskavian has fallen upon the shoulders of this already world-famous Polish artist.

Even in the present days of juvenile prodigies and phenomenal exhibitions of pianistic power, Paderewski has appeared to astonish the general public, and to charm music lovers by the marvelous dexterity he displays upon the key-board, and by the manifestation of much rarer qualities—lifting him above the heads of all his contemporaries—he has acquired in an unusually short time the highest position in the artistic world. The more frequently the opportunity has been afforded of hearing Paderewski, the greater admiration his performances have excited.

In purely mechanical skill it seems impossible to exceed the limits of his amazing achievements. He has his light and delicate moods as well as his dreamy and romantic humors, which find expression in the performance of the beautiful piano-liste works of his fellow-countryman, Frederic Chopin, inasmuch as in whose works increases year by year; for fire and fineness of execution nothing can surpass his playing of his master's Scherzos and Fantasies; for breadth of style and forcible delivery his performance of his own concerto in A minor, together with the concertos of Rubinstein and Beethoven, is superb, while for sweep of hand, extraordinary rapidity of finger and mastery over Liszt's Rhapsodies and Fantasias he is practically unrivaled in the world. There is yet to be considered the varied loveliness of those momentary fancies and graceful touches, which, when the master admits of it, can only be imparted by the most gifted of artists, but which adds so much charm to the compositions itself. In this delightful quality Paderewski excels any pianist I have heard; in point of fact, his playing never gives me the idea of a studied performance, but seems to be rather the outcome of inherent and spontaneous musical feeling. Of all living pianists he reminds me most of Anton Rubinstein; but his manipulation is more delicate, far surer and clearer than that of the great Moldavian. He never pays a false note, and the fire and musical impulse which animate Paderewski never infringe upon the border-land which divides enthusiasm from extravagance.

Ignace Jan Paderewski first saw the light at Podolia a province of Russian Poland, on the 6th of November, 1860 and at the early age of three began to play the piano. At seven his father placed him under the care of a local teacher, Pierre Sowinski, and with this master the young Ignace remained for four years. In 1878 he went to Warsaw, where the foundation of his knowledge of harmony and counterpoint was acquired from Roguski; but he subsequently pursued the branches of his studies under the late Friedrick Kiel, the eminent teacher and theorist of Berlin.

Shortly after this date Paderewski undertook his first tournée, which extended throughout Russia, Siberia, Servia and Roumania, during the course of which he performed nothing but his own compositions. At eighteen years of age he was nominated Professor of Music to the Warsaw Conservatory, and it is no secret that the money earned in this capacity was devoted to the acquisition of general knowledge after the hours when his musical duties had ceased. In 1884 he held a professorship at the Conservatory of Music in Strasburg, but during that year he abandoned teaching and resolved upon the more fascinating career of a pianistic virtuoso. Paderewski accordingly removed to Vienna and placed himself under his fellow-countryman, Theodor Leschetizky, the well-known successful trainer of pianists and husband of the no less famous pianiste, Annette Essipoff, and at the expiration of three years hard study he made his début before the critical Viennese public in 1887, and was at once pronounced to be one of the most remarkable pianists of the day.

From that date he paid several visits to the principal towns throughout Germany, always with increasing success, and in the Autumn of 1889 he made his first appearance before a Parisian audience, and, as my readers are aware, became the "lion" of the Paris season.

The first performance in England was given at the invitation of Mr. Daniel Mayer at St. James's Hall, on the 9th of May, 1890, since which date he has appeared at a large number of concerts and recitals in London and the provinces, his performances being uniformly marked by a crescendo of success and enthusiasm by the increasing audiences.

Paderewski has composed a large number of piano-forte pieces, many of which have attained great popularity; a concerto in A minor, for piano and orchestra, conceived in a broad and lofty style, and evincing great originality of subject and treatment; a Sonata for orchestra in G; a Concerto for violin and orchestra in G minor and over eighty vocal pieces in the German, French and Polish languages.

Paderewski married at the early age of nineteen. Although he lost his wife through illness, he has a son living. Paderewski is exceeding y natural in his manners, kind-hearted and unaffected in the last degree, and possesses one of the rare t qualifications among great players, that of being a wonderfully good and patient listener. I may add that his memory is so vast and comprehensive that he is enabled to perform without book a repertoire which covers a range of composition of the ancient and modern writers practically without limit.

Since Franz Liszt and Anton Rubinstein, admittedly the pianistic giants of their time, no artist has appeared to create the same stir in the artistic world as Ignace Jan Paderewski, and it is highly gratifying to know that his transcendent ability is meeting with that recognition and reward which only the most highly gifted can command.

AUTUMN TOURS TO THE SOUTH.

Under Pennsylvania Railroad's Personally-Conducted System.

Without crossing the oceans into foreign lands a decided movement by Northern State inhabitants has been directed to the New South, and every fall and winter hundreds journey, some for health, many for pleasure and speculation, to the genial suns of the near South.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has undertaken a personally conducted pleasure tour from New York to the mountains of Maryland and Virginia, and the prominent cities of the upper South. The specific points covered by the tour are Buena Vista, Md.; Cumberland, Pa.; Luray Caverns, the Natural Bridge, the Grottoes of the Shenandoah, Va., and the cities of Richmond and Washington. The scenery of the entire route is picturesque and attractive, and the season is so well timed as to present the scenic beauties in their best form. The tour will leave New York on Thursday, Oct. 8th. The entire round trip covers a period of nine days, and the excursion tickets, covering all travelling expenses, will be sold from New York at $30.00.

For itineraries containing complete information as to routes, special train service, descriptive notes, etc., apply to or address Tourist Agent, Pennsylvania Railroad, 849 Broadway, New York.

The Dairy Kitchen has moved 8 doors west to Nos. 24 and 26 East 14th Street, and is now known as "The Metropolis." Retaining all its old popular features, it has added these new ones, namely, the Royal Hungarian Band; a $1,000 soda fountain, finest and largest in the world; a first class table d'hote dinner of 12 courses for 50 cents; a fancy cake and bread bakery; ladies' dining rooms; gentlemen's cafe and smoking rooms; delicious candies; pure fruit juice sods, 5 cents, surpassing all others. Open every day from 6 A. M. to 1 P. M.

After his Concert Tour, 1890.

To Wm. Knabe, Esq., Baltimore.

Dear Sir,—My renewed and by more use—under aggravating circumstances, as bad health and tiresome traveling—enlarged experience of your Pianos this present and last (ran-atlantic) season has throughout confirmed myself in the opinion I expressed last year, viz., that inward and touch of the Knabe Pianos are more sympathetic to my ears and hands than sound and touch of any other Pianos in the United States. As I met with frequent opportunities of establishing comparisons between the Knabe Pianos and instruments of rivalising or would-rivalising producers, I dare now add that I declare them the absolutely best in America. With sincere regards,

Yours truly,

33 UNION SQUARE.

HAVE YOU SEEN IT?

Have you dined there? Where? Why, at "The Columbia," on Union Square. The talk of all New York. The most luxurious and magnificent place of its kind in the world. A perfect palace of delight, it stands unrivaled, and is first, last and all the time the best place in the city to obtain a table d'hote dinner, a lunch, a box of delicious confections, or a glass of most refreshing soda, drawn hot or cold, with syrups made from pure fruit juices. Your attention is first drawn to "The Columbia" by its exquisitely arranged windows, each being composed of one solid slab of plate glass over, and filling in its purity and whiteness, and on these are arranged with rare tact and skill the choicest confections. But once across the threshold and all else fades into insignificance. "Surely," you exclaim "this must be Aladdin's palace." A vista of Mexican onyx, French plate mirrors, tasteries, plush and silk portieres, mosaic floors, parquet, carpetings and mirrads of electric lights, twinkling like phantom wilde-the-wesps from diamond cut glass globes, is presented to your view, making a scene unequaled in its beauty, e, thralling, entrancing, and, once seen, will ever linger in your memory like a strain of heavenly music. As you enter the door, the soda fountain first claims your attention, and well it might, for it is the largest, the handsomest and the most expensive ever made. Next come the counters of solid onyx, laden with sweets unsurpassed for purity and delicious flavor; then back of this the luxurious seating 1,000 The band is playing, now soft and low, soothing your tired nerves, now stirring your very soul with a merry waltz. Well could you imagine yourself in fairyland, for rich tapestries adorn the walls and Persian rugs the floor, and silence and magnificence are found with n the door. But you with difficulty arouse yourself from the spell cast over you by the beauty of your surroundings, and lo! like magic you are served with course after course of the choicest viands. Everything as tempting to the palate as the elements are to the eye. Surely more than this could not be said.

The accommodations for private dinner or theatre parties are such as to make even the most exacting delighted with the almost unobtainable recesses of this wonderful place. To fully appreciate the banquet rooms they must be seen. We can do justice to their luxurious furnishings. "The Columbia" is open every day in the year from 6 a. m. until midnight. The cost of fitting up this palatial edifice was $80,000. Every where are displayed the most refined taste and thorough knowledge of the beautiful in art. Not in a single instance could a suggestion be made that could add to its beauty or the comfort and satisfaction of its guests. The prices are marvelously moderate, the table d'hote dinner, from 5 to 8 p. m., being but 75c. Charming music for banquets or dancing in furnished grand

ADMIRABLE FACULTY,

With no end in view but the betterment of knowledge and the consequent elevation of the public taste, with no other revenue than that contributed by lovers of music and the very small returns derived from the nominal tuition charged, and with no contribution whatever from talented candidates for admission unable to pay for high-class tuition. It is believed that the National Conservatory addresses itself to all patriotic and music-loving Americans as a

NATIONAL ENTERPRISE

Of the utmost importance to the artistic future of the land.

It has now been in existence six years; it enlists the services of fifty-three instructors, some of international reputation. Its actual pupils number 348, and has supplied tuition, since its establishment, to 2,227 students.

PURPOSE AND SCOPE

The Conservatory is open to all persons evincing sufficient talent to justify their admission. The full course of instruction covers from 3 to 5 years, but varies with the aptitude and diligence of students.

The Vocal Course includes Singing, Solfeggio, Piano, Diction, History of Music, Deportment, Fencing and Chorus.

The Instrumental Studies include Piano, Organ, Harp, Violin, Viola, Violoncello, Contrabass, Flute, Oboe, Clarionet, Bassoon, French Horn, Cornet, Trombone, etc. An Orchestral Class is formed and also a special Children's Solfeggio Class.

R. M. WALTERS, the Piano Manufacturer, of University Place, corner 12th Street, has scored a great triumph by the introduction of his celebrated piano in the public schools of New York and many of the large educational institutions throughout the country.

ALFRED GRUNFELD,

Who will make his first appearance before an American audience in the Madison Square Garden Concert Hall on October 23, has visited in turn all the large cities of Europe; and everywhere, in Berlin and in Paris, in St. Petersburg and in London, his playing has called forth the wildest enthusiasm. His triumphs withal have not been won over the moneyed masses exclusively. Half of the nobility of the old world has at one time or another been under the spell of his achievements. That he has not lacked suitable recognition may be inferred from his title of "Court Pianist to his Majesty the King of Prussia" and "Court Pianist to the Emperor of Austria," while no end of exceptional experiences have fallen to his lot. Grunfeld and his brother Heinrich, the great European violoncellist, who accompanies the pianist on his American tour, were the only participants in the last concert which the late Emperor Frederick gave while still Crown Prince of Germany. At the special request of Carmen Sylva, he appeared in Bucharest before a select audience of one hundred listeners. On another occasion he was summoned into the presence of the Empress of Russia, in the Anitschkow Palace, the Czarina desiring to thank him personally for a concert given in aid of the Red Cross Society. Grunfeld has been received by the King of Sweden and honored by the presence of Prince Hohenlohe, Count Wilczek, Prince Furstenberg, Prince Metternich and Baron Rothschild. In a word, all classes of society have done him homage. No less precious than social tributes have been those of the virtuosos co-workers. Hans Von Bulow wrote of him to a musical journal as follows: "He is not only the foremost representative of the model school of Kullak, but he dominates an individuality as to impress most favorably both heart and ear. I candidly admit," continues Bulow, "that I entered the concert hall anything but favorably inclined. Had not suddenly friends attempted to console me when Mowskowski romped in—he treated the piano as a passionately loved bride." I, as I would treat my grandmother's in depicting him to me as a sort of graceful pianoclown who was not to be taken au serieux? Personal experience has taught me something more. I forbear to mention those qualities of Grunfeld which all critics are in accord: the wonderful versatility of his technique, the softness, tenderness and fullness, the beautiful light and shade of his touch, etc. His interpretation of Schumann's masterworks, and especially of his Etudes, Symphoniques and Fantasie op. 17, I must declare the nearest possible approach to perfection. Such deep poetic conception united with such minute correctness, those compositions have seldom been favored with. If, then," concludes Von Bulow, "Mr. Editor, I should still have the good fortune of being regarded as competent to judge, permit me to request you to award Alfred Grunfeld a foremost place among those virtuosos whom it is really worth while considering in earnest."

THE PIANO OF AMERICA.

Honors of the highest distinction have followed merit well earned, and obtained only by the closest application, expert judgment and perseverance. Notwithstanding the manifold success attained by the manufacturers of the Hardman name, the preference displayed by Her Majesty Queen Victoria, H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, H. R. H. the Duchess of Fife, the English Nobility, and General Porfirio Diaz, Vice-President of San Salvador, in selecting "The Piano of America" for their use, gives the Hardman Piano a standard position in the front ranks. Royal patronage, general popularity (rarely conferred in favor of one instrument), and the immense increase in its sale throughout the world, its price has not been advanced. The same rates for renting prevail, and it is still sold on the usual liberal terms. It is fair to assert that the Hardman piano is indeed a marvel of musical progress, it; worth and value has been permanently established, and time can only serve to add to the golden opinions won by its many excellent qualities. Hardman, Peck & Co. also have on exhibition at their warerooms, 4th ave. and 14th street, the "Self-Playing Symphony," an instrument which you, or anyone, can play selections from Chopin, Liszt and Wagner, or any piece of music ever written, with the proficiency of a virtuoso. It would be wise to visit their warerooms and hear this wonderful instrument, or to write Hardman, Peck & Co. for a catalogue, which is furnished free on application.

Notwithstanding the reports of several morning papers to the contrary, the engagement of Antonin Dvorak as Director of the National Conservatory of Music is an accomplished fact. This engagement marks an epoch in the history of music in this country which is not to be un-ter-valued. Mr. Antonin Dvorak is a musician, composer and conductor of such eminent genius that he must naturally cast a bright reflection upon the future of musical events of the coming season, and those who have been instrumental in bringing him to this country deserve the praise of the nation. We congratulate Mrs. Jeannette M. Thurber on this brilliant acquisition.

"Why, Adolphus, what is the matter? Why do you tremble so?" "My best girl just 'shook' me."

THE CELEBRATED

PIANOS SOHMER PIANOS

ARE THE BEST.

Are Preferred by the conscientious Musical Instructors and Musicians. Are the FAVORITES of the Music Loving Public.

The "North American Review" says of the Celebrated Sohmer Pianos:

"No one can fail to notice in them every good quality which one is entitled to expect from a good instrument; nobility, elasticity and utmost clearness of tone, and an extent of power which never fails, added to which a perfect evenness of touch renders them as near perfection as has been thus far attained. Their touch unites with absolute precision a delicacy and pliability, and a most happy responsive quality not found in the instruments of any other maker.

While the present firm of Sohmer & Co. was founded in 1872, its existence really extends further back than 1860. Its author and head, Mr. Hugo Sohmer, is a native of the Black Forest, in Germany, coming of a good family in comfortable circumstances, and was given a most finished scholastic and literary education, at the same time acquiring a thorough knowledge of Music and the Pianoforte. At sixteen years of age he arrived in New York and was apprenticed to piano making in the factory of Schuetze & Ludolph. Thoroughly learning his trade with this firm, he returned to Europe in 1858 and traveled in the various capitals, studying piano making critically and scientifically from every possible standpoint. In 1860 he returned to New York, and in 1872 commenced embodying in practical form the ideas which his training and travel had brought. His partner was Mr. Joseph Kueker, who still continues in the firm—a pianomaker who studied the art and trade thoroughly in the Vienna Shops, and added considerable experience gained in the shops of prominent makers. At present the firm consists, in addition to Messrs. Sohmer and Kueker, of Mr. Charles Fahr and George Kelchnaus, each member of the firm being in charge of a special department, to which he devotes his entire energies. The concern now has, in addition to its extensive warehouse on Fourteenth Street and Third Avenue, a new factory at Astoria, which is the most magnificent and complete establishment in the country, and the advantages which has done much for Long Island in inducing her manufacturers to establish themselves there.

Even with the present average production of the firm, which is at the high figure of forty Pianos per week, it is yet insufficient to supply the extensive demand, the firm being 20 days largely in arrears of its orders.

A widely-spread constituency demanding these celebrated instruments, they may be had not only at the principal warerooms, 149 to 155 East Fourteenth Street, New York, but at Messrs. Sumner & Co., 248 State Street, Chicago; Union Club Building, San Francisco; 1522 Oliver Street, St. Louis, Mo.; 1123 Main Street, Kansas City; as also of local dealers throughout the country.

The laurels of the firm of Sohmer & Co. have been justly earned and cheerfully bestowed."

Ignace J. Paderewski

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH.

Ignace Jan Paderewski is admittedly the legitimate successor of Anton Rubinstein, and the mantle of fame worn through four decades by the illustrious Mosdawan has fallen upon the shoulders of this already world-famous Polish artist.

Even in the present days of juvenile prodigies and phenomenal exhibitions of musinic power, Paderewski has appeared to astonish the general public and to charm music lovers by the marvellous dexterity he displays upon the key-board, and by the manifestation of much rarer qualities—lifting him above the heads of all his contemporaries—he has acquired in an unusually short time the highest position in the artistic world. The more frequently the opportunity has been afforded of hearing Paderewski, the greater admiration his performances have excited.

In purely mechanical skill it seems impossible to exceed the limits of his amazing achievements. He has his bright and delicate moods as well as his dreamy and romantic humors, which find expression in the performance of the beautiful pianoforte works of his fellow-countryman, Frederic Chopin, interest in whose works increases year by year; for fire and fineness of execution nothing can surpass his playing of his master's Scherzos and Fantasies; for breadth of style and forcible delivery his performance of his own concerto in A minor, together with the concertos of Rubinstein and Beethoven, is superb, while for sweep of hand, extraordinary rapidity of finger and mastery over Liszt's Rhapsodies and Fantasias he is practically unrivaled in the world. There is yet to be considered the surpassing beauty of those momentary fancies and graceful touches, which, when the music admits of it, can only be imparted by the most gifted of artists, but which adds so much charm to the composition itself. In this delightful quality Paderewski excels any pianist I have heard; in point of fact, his playing never gives me the idea of a studied performance, but seems to be rather the outcome of inherent and spontaneous musical feeling. Of all living pianists he reminds me most of Anton Rubinstein; but his manipulation is more delicate, far surer and clearer than that of the great Moldavian. He never pays a false note, and the fire and musical impulse which animate Paderewski never infringe upon the hardiand which divides enthusiasm from extravagance.

Ignace Jan Paderewski first saw the light at Podosia, a province of Russian Poland, on the 6th of November, 1860, and at the early age of three began to play the piano. At seven his father placed him under the care of a local teacher, Pierre Sowinski, and with him master the young Ignace remained for four years. In 1870 he went to Warsaw, where the foundation of his knowledge of harmony and counterpoint was acquired from Roguski; but he subsequently pursued this branch of his studies under the care of Frederick Kiel, the eminent teacher and theorist of Berlin.

Shortly after this date Paderewski undertook his first tournée, which extended throughout Russia, Siberia, Servia and Roumania, during the course of which he performed nothing but his own compositions. At eighteen years of age he was nominated Professor of Music to the Warsaw Conservatory, and it is no secret that the money earned in this capacity was devoted to the acquisition of general knowledge after the hours when his musical duties had ceased. In 1884 he held a professorship at the Conservatory of Music in Strasburg, but during that year he abandoned teaching and resolved upon the more fascinating career of a classic virtuoso. Paderewski accordingly removed to Vienna and placed himself under his fellow-countryman, Theodor Leschetsky, the well-known successful trainer of pianists and husband of the no less famous pianiste, Annette Essipoff, and in the execution of three years hard study he made his début before the critical Viennese public in 1887, and was at once proclaimed to be one of the most remarkable pianists of the day.

From that date he paid several visits to he principal towns throughout Germany, always with increasing success, and in the Autumn of 1889 he made his first appearance before a Parisian audience, and, as my readers are aware, became the "lion" of the Paris season.

The first performance in England was given at the suggestion of Mr. Daniel Mayer at St. James's Hall, on the 9th of May, 1890, since which date he has appeared at a large number of concerts and recitals in London and the provinces, his performances being uniformly marked by a crescendo of success and enthusiasm by the increasing audiences.

Paderewski has composed a large number of piano-forte pieces, many of which have attained great popularity, a concerto in A minor, for piano and orchestra, conceived in a broad and lofty style, and evincing great originality of subject and treatment. A trio for orchestra in G; a concerto for violin and orchestra in G minor and over eighty vocal pieces in the German, French and Polish languages.

Paderewski married at the early age of nineteen. Although he lost his wife through illness, he has a son living. Paderewski is exceedingly natural in his manners, kind-hearted and unaffected in the last degree, and possesses one of the rarest qualifications among great players, that of being a wonderfully good and patient listener. I may add that his memory is so vast and comprehensive that he is enabled to perform without book a repertoire which covers a range of compositions of the ancient and modern writers practically without limit.

Since Franz Liszt and Anton Rubinstein, admittedly the pianistic giants of their time, no artist has appeared to create the same stir in the artistic world as Ignace Jan Paderewski, and it is highly gratifying to know that his transcendent ability is meeting with that recognition and reward which only the most highly gifted can command.

AUTUMN TOURS TO THE SOUTH.
Under Pennsylvania Railroad's Personally-Conducted System.

Without crossing the oceans into foreign lands a decided movement by Northern State inhabitants has been directed to the New South, and every fall and winter hundreds journey, some for health, many for pleasure and speculation, to the genial suns of the near South.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company announces a personally conducted pleasure tour from New York to the mountains of Maryland and Virginia, and the prominent cities of the upper South. The specific points covered by the tour are Buena Vista, Md.; Gettysburg, Pa.; Luray Caverns, the Natural Bridge, the Grottoes of the Shenandoah, Va., and the cities of Richmond and Washington. The scenery of the entire route is picturesque and attractive, and the season is so well timed as to present the scenic beauties in their best form. The tour will leave New York on Thursday, October 15. The entire round trip covers a period of nine days, and the excursion tickets, covering all travelling expenses, will be sold from New York at $60.00.

For itineraries containing complete information as to routes, special-train service, descriptive notes, etc., apply to or address Tourist Agent, Pennsylvania Railroad, 849 Broadway, New York.

The Dairy Kitchen has moved 8 doors west to Nos. 24 and 26 East 14th Street, and is now known as "The Merropolis." Retaining all its old popular features, it has added these new ones, namely, the Royal Hungarian Band; a $10,000 soda fountain finest and largest in the world; a first class table d'hote dinner of 12 courses for 50 cents; a fancy cake and bread bakery; ladies' dining rooms; gentlemen's cafe and smoking rooms; delicious candies; pure fruit juice soda, 5 cents, surpassing all others. Open every day from 6 A. M. to 1 P. M.

"That young Nocdles had a chance of making the best bargain of his life last night, yet he missed it." "I'm not surprised. What was it?" "Why, Miss Sharp offered him a penny for his thoughts."

VON BÜLOW'S LETTER

After his Concert Tour, 1890.

To Wm. Knabe, Esq., Baltimore.

Dear Sir,—My renewed and by more use—under ages varying circumstances, as bad health and tiresome traveling—enlarged experience of your Pianos this (second and last trans-atlantic) season has thoroughly confirmed myself in the opinion I expressed last year, viz., that sound and touch of the Knabe Pianos are more sympathetic to my ears and hands than sound and touch of any other Pianos in the United States. As I now with frequent opportunities of establishing comparisons between the Knabe Pianos and instruments of rivalizing or would-rivalizing producers, I dare now add that I declare them the absolutely best in America. With sincere regards,

Yours truly,

33 UNION SQUARE.

HAVE YOU SEEN IT?

Have you dined there? Where? Why, at "The Columbia," on Union Square. The tall- of all New York. The most luxurious and magnificent place of its kind in the world. A perfect palace of delight, it stands unrivaled, and is first, last and all the time the best place in the city to obtain a table d'hote dinner, a lunch, a box of delicious confections, or a glass of most refreshing soda, drawn hot or cold, with syrups made from pure fruit juices. Your attention is first drawn to "The Columbia" by its exquisitely arranged windows, each being composed of one solid slab of priceless onyx, d zzling in its purity and white-ness, and on these are arranged with rare tact and skill the choicest confections. But once across the threshold and all else fades into insignificance. "Surely," you exclaim "this must be Aladdin's palace." A vista of Mexican onyx, French plate mirrors, tapestries, plush and silk draperies, mosaic floors, parquet carpetings and myriads of electric lights, twinkling like phantom will-o'-the-wisps from diamond-cut glass globes, is presented to your view, making a scene unequaled in its beauty, exhilirating, entrancing, and, once seen, will ever linger in your memory like a strain of heavenly music. As you enter the door, the soda fountain first claims your attention, and well it might, for it is the largest, the handsomest and the most expensive ever made. Near come the counters of solid onyx, laden with sweets unsurpassed for purity and delicious flavor; then back of this the restaurant, seating 1,000. The band is playing, now soft and low, soothing your tired nerves, now stirring your very soul with a merry waltz. Well could you imagine yourself in Ireland, for rich tapestries adorn the walls and Persian rugs the floor, and splendor and magnificence are found within the door. But you with difficulty arouse yourself from the spell which you have by the beauty of your surroundings, and lo! like magic you are served with course after course of the choicest viands. Everything as tempting to the palate as the environments are to the eye. Surely more than this could not be said.

The accommodations for private dinner or theatre parties are such as to make even the most exacting delighted with the almost inexhaustible space of this wonderful place. To fully appreciate the banquet rooms they must be seen. No one can do justice to their luxurious furnishings. "The Columbia" is open every day in the year from 6 a. m. until midnight. The cost of fitting up this palatial edifice was $80,000. Everywhere are displayed the most refined taste and thorough knowledge of the beautiful in art. Nor in a single instance could a suggestion be made that could add to its beauty or the comfort and satisfaction of its guests. The prices are marvelously moderate, the table d'hote dinner, from 5 to 8 p. m., being but 50c. Charming music for banquets or dancing is furnished, gratis.

PROFESSOR GIUSEPPE DE GRANDI begs to announce that he will resume his lessons on Monday, September 7, at his studio, No. 208 East 14th Street, New York. Francesco Lamperti, the celebrated Professor of Singing at the Royal Conservatory, Milan, pronounced Professor De Grandi his best and most gifted pupil; Adelina Patti, Lilli Lehmann, Mme. Scalchi, Marcella Sembrich, Signor Nicolini Perotti, Mascagni, etc., have unequivocally indorsed his method of teaching.

It is a noteworthy fact that in spite of European influence and rumors to the contrary, Japanese art and all articles of manufacture from the land of the chrysanthemum continue to excite and interest the lovers of the artistic and beautiful in America.

The National Conservatory is the Only Musical Institute

In America in which the ground work of a thorough musical education is laid, and the structure is afterward carried to completion. Its processors have been appointed without consideration of expense and wholly on their merits and reputation, and perform an

ADMIRABLE FACULTY.

With no end in view but the impartment of knowledge and the consequent elevation of the public taste, with no other revenue than that contributed by lovers of music and the very small returns derived from the nominal tuition charged, and with no contribution who ever from talented candidates for admission unable to pay for high-class tuition. It is believed that the National Conservatory addresses itself to all patriotic and music-loving Americans as a

NATIONAL ENTERPRISE

Of the utmost importance in the artistic future of the land.

It has now been in existence six years; it enlists the services of fifty-three instructors, some of international renown. Its actual pupils number 346, and has supplied tuition, since its establishment, to 2,237 students.

PURPOSE AND SCOPE

The Conservatory is open to all persons evincing sufficient talent to justify their admission. The full course of instruction covers from 3 to 5 years, but varies with the aptitude and diligence of students.

The Vocal Course includes Singing, Solfeggio, Piano, Diction, History of Music, Deportment, Fencing and Chorus.

The Instrumental Studies include Piano, Organ, Harp, Violin, Viola, Violoncello, Contrabass, Flute, Oboe, Clarionet, Bassoon, French Horn, Cornet, Trombone, etc. An Orchestral Class is formed and also a special Children's Solfeggio Class.

R. M. WALTERS, the Piano Manufacturer, of University Place, corner 14th Street, has scored a great triumph by the introduction of his celebrated pianos in the public schools of New York and many of the large educational institutions throughout the country.

ALFRED GRUNFELD,

Who will make his first appearance before an American audience in the Madison Square Garden Concert Hall on October 25, has visited in turn all the large cities of Europe; and everywhere, in Berlin and in Paris, in St. Petersburg and in London, his playing has called forth the wildest enthusiasm. His triumphs withal have not been won over the moneyed masses exclusively. Half of the nobility of the old world has at one time or another been under the spell of his achievements. That he has not lacked suitable recognition may be inferred from his title of "Court Pianist to his Majesty the King of Prussia" and "Court Pianist to the Emperor of Austria," while no end of exceptional experiences have fallen to his lot. Grunfeld and his brother Heinrich, the great Bohemian violoncellist, who accompanies the pianist on his American tour, were the only participants in the last concert which the late Emperor Frederick gave while still Crown Prince of Germany. At the special request of Carmen Sylva, he appeared in Bucharest before a select audience of one hundred listeners. On another occasion he was summoned into the presence of the Empress of Russia, in the Gatschkow Palace, the Czarina desiring to thank Alfred Grunfeld for concerts given in aid of the Red Cross Society. Grunfeld has been received by the King of Sweden and honored by the patronage of Prince Hohenlohe Count Wilczek, Prince Furstenberg, Prince Metternich and Baron Rothschild. In a word, all classes of society have done him homage. No less precious than social tributes have been those of the virtuoso's co-artists. Hans Von Bulow wrote of him to a musical journal as follows: "He is no only the foremost representative of the model school of Kullak, but to distinct an individuality as to impress most favorably both heart and ear. I candidly admit, continues Bulow, that I entered the concert hall anything but favorably inclined. Had not sundry friends attempted to console me when Mowenberg accompanied us—he treated the piano as a passionately loved bride." I, as I was distant my grandmother in depriving him to me as a sort of graceful pianoclown so was not to be taken as serious. Personal experience has taught me something more I forbear to mention those qualities concerning which all critics are in accord; the wonderful versatility of his technique, the solidness, tenderness and fullness, the beautiful light and shade of his touch, etc. His interpretation of Schumann's masterworks, and especially of his Etudes, Symphonyques and Fantasie op. 17, I must declare the nearest possible approach to perfection. Such deep poetic conception united with such minute correctness, those compositions have seldom been favored with. If, then," concludes Von Bulow, "Mr. Editor, I should still have the good fortune of being regarded as competent to judge, permit me to request you to award Alfred Grunfeld a foremost place among those virtuosos whom it is really worth while considering in earnest."

THE PIANO OF AMERICA.

Honors of the highest distinction have followed merit well earned, and obtained only by the closest application, expert judgment and perseverance. Notwithstanding the manifold success attained by the manufacturers of the Hardman piano, the preference displayed by her Majesty Queen Victoria, H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, H. R. H. the Duchess of Fife, the English Nobility, and General Rets, Vice-President of San Salvador, in selecting "The Piano of America" for their use, given the Hardman Piano a standard position in the front ranks. Royal patronage, general popularity (rarely combined in favor of one instrument), and the immense increase in its sale throughout the world, its price has not been advanced. The same rates for renting prevail, and it is still sold on the usual liberal terms. It is fair to assert that the Hardman piano is indeed a marvel of musical progress, it; worth and value has been permanently established, and time can only serve to add to the golden opinions won by its many excellent qualities. Hardman, Peck & Co. also have on exhibition at their warerooms, 5th ave. and 19th street, the "Self-Playing Symphony," an instrument which you, or anyone, can play selections from Chopin, Liszt and Wagner, or any piece of music ever written, with the proficiency of a virtuoso. It would be wise to visit their warerooms and hear this wonderful instrument, or to write Hardman, Peck & Co. for a catalogue, which is furnished free on application.

Notwithstanding the reports of several morning papers to the contrary, the engagement of Antonin Dvorak as Director of the National Conservatory of Music is an accomplished fact. This engagement marks an epoch in the history of music in this country which is not to be under-valued. Mr. Antonin Dvorak is a musician, composer and conductor of such eminent genius that he must naturally cast a bright reflection upon the future of musical events of the coming season, and those who have been instrumental in bringing him to this country deserve the praise of the nation. We congratulate Mrs. Jeannette M. Thurber on this brilliant acquisition.

"Why, Adolphus, what is the matter? Why do you tremble so?" "My best girl just 'shook' me."

THE CELEBRATED

PIANOS SOHMER PIANOS

ARE THE BEST.

Are Preferred by the conscientious Musical Instructors and Musicians. Are the FAVORITES of the Music Loving Public.

The "North American Review" says of the Celebrated Sohmer Pianos:

"No one can fail to notice in them every good quality which one is entitled to expect from a good instrument; nobility, elasticity and utmost clearness of tone, and an extent of power which never fails, added to which a perfect evenness of touch renders them as near perfection as has been attained for musical. Their touch unites with absolute precision a delicacy and pliability, and a most happy responsive quality not found in the instruments of any other maker.

While the present firm of Sohmer & Co. was founded in 1872, its existence really extends further back than 1860. Its author and head, Mr. Hugo Sohmer, is a native of the Black Forest, in Germany, coming of a good family in comfortable circumstances, and was given a most finished scientific and literary education, at the same time acquiring a thorough knowledge of Music and the Pianoforte. At sixteen years of age he arrived in New York and was apprenticed to piano-making in the factory of Schuetze & Lodolph. Thoroughly learning his trade with this firm, he returned to Europe in 1858 and traveled in the various capitals, studying piano-making critically and scientifically from every possible standpoint. In 1859 he returned to New York, and in 1861 commenced embodying in practical form the ideas which his training and travel had brought. His partner was Mr. Joseph Kuder, who still continues in the firm—a pianomaker who studied the art and trade thoroughly in the Vienna Shops, and added considerable experience gained in the shops of prominent makers. At present the firm consists, in addition to Messrs. Sohmer and Kuder, of Mr. Charles Fahr and George Reichmann, each member of the firm being in charge of a special department, to which he devotes his entire energies. The concern now has, in addition to its extensive warehouse on Fourteenth Street and Third Avenue, a new factory at Astoria, which is the most magnificent and complete establishment in the country, and the advent of which has done much for Long Island in inducing her manufacturers to establish themselves there.

Even with the present average production of the firm, which is at the high figure of forty Pianos per week, it is yet insufficient to supply the extensive demand, the firm being to-day in the possession of its seventh year of its success.

A widely-spread constituency demanding these celebrated instruments, they may be had not only at the principal warerooms, 149 to 155 East Fourteenth Street, New York, but at Monadnock Block; 298 State Street, Chicago; Union Club Building, San Francisco; 1502 Olive Street, St. Louis, Mo.; 1123 Main Street, Kansas City; as also of local dealers throughout the country.

The laurels of the firm of Sohmer & Co. have been justly earned and cheerfully bestowed."

Ignace J. Paderewski

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH.

Ignace Jan Paderewski is admittedly the legitimate successor of Anton Rubinstein, and the maniac of fame went through four decades by the mantle of Moldavian has fallen upon the shoulders of this already world-famous Polish artist.

Even in the present days of juvenile prodigies and phenomenal exhibitions of pianistic power, Paderewski has appeared to astonish the general public, and to charm music lovers by the marvelous dexterity he displays upon the key-board, and by the manifestation of such rarer qualities—following him above the heads of all his contemporaries—he has acquired in an unusually short time the highest position in the aristocratic world. The more frequently the opportunity has been afforded of hearing Paderewski, the greater admiration his performances have excited.

In purely mechanical skill it seems impossible to exceed the lofiness of his amazing achievements. He has his light and delicate moods as well as his dreamy and romantic humors, which find expression in the performance of the beautiful piano-forte works of his fellow-countryman, Frederic Chopin, interest in whose works increases year by year, for fire and fineness of execution nothing can surpass his playing of his master's Scherzos and Polonaises, for breadth of style and forcible delivery his performance of his own concerto in A minor, together with the concertos of Rubinstein and Beethoven, is superb, while for sweep of hand, extraordinary rapidity of finger and mastery over Liszt's Rhapsodies and Fantasias he is practically unrivaled in the world. There is yet to be considered the surpassing beauty of those momentary touches and graceful touches, which, when the music admits of it, can only be ensured by the most gifted of artists, but which adds so much charm to the composition itself. In this delightful quality Paderewski excels any pianist I have heard; in point of fact, his playing every given moment of a musical performance, but seems to be rather the outcome of inherent and spontaneous musical feeling. Of all living pianists he reminds me most of Anton Rubinstein; but his manipulation is more delicate, far surer and clearer than that of the great Moldavian. He never plays a false note, and the fire and musical impulse which animate Paderewski never infringe upon the refinement which divines enthusiasm from extravagance.

Ignace Jan Paderewski first saw the light at Podolia, a province of Russian Poland, on the 6th of November, 1860, and at the early age of three began to play the piano, at seven his father placed him under the care of a local teacher, Pierre Sowinski, and with this master the young Ignace remained for four years. In 1872 he went to Warsaw, where the foundation of his knowledge of harmony and counterpoint was acquired from Kogusas; but he subsequently pursued this branch of his art under the late Freerick Kiel, the eminent teacher and theorist of Berlin.

Shortly after this date Paderewski undertook his first tournée, which extended throughout Russia, Siberia, Servia and Roumania, during the course of which he performed nothing but his own compositions. At eighteen years of age he was nominated Professor of Music to the Warsaw Conservatory, and it is no secret that the money earned in this capacity was devoted to the acquisition of general knowledge after the hours which his musical duties had ceased. In 1885 he held a professorship at the Conservatory of Music in Strasburg, but during that year he abandoned teaching and resolved upon the more fascinating career of a pianist. Paderewski accordingly removed to Vienna and placed himself under his fellow-countryman, Theodor Leschetsky, the well-known successful trainer of pianists, and husband of the no less famous pianiste, Annette Essipoff, and at the expiration of three years hard study he made his début before the critical Viennese public in 1887, and was at once proclaimed to be one of the most remarkable pianists of the day.

From that date he paid several visits to the principal towns throughout Germany, always with increasing success, and in the Autumn of 1889 he made his first appearance before a Parisian audience, and, as my readers are aware, became the "lion" of the Paris season.

The first performance in England was given at the instigation of Mr. Daniel Mayer at St. James's Hall, on the 9th of May, 1890, since which date he has appeared at a large number of concerts and recitals in London and the provinces, his performances being uniformly marked by a crescendo of success and enthusiasm by the increasing audiences.

Paderewski has composed a large number of piano-forte pieces, many of which have attained great popularity; a concerto in A minor, for piano and orchestra, conceived in a broad and lofty style, and evincing great originality of subject and treatment; a Suite for orchestra in G; a Concerto for violin and orchestra in G minor and over eighty vocal pieces in the German, French and Polish languages.

Paderewski married at the early age of nineteen. Although he lost his wife through illness, he has a son living. Paderewski is exceeding y natural in his manners, kind-hearted and unaffected in the last degree, and possesses one of the rare t qualifications among great players, that of being a wonderfully good and patient listener. I may add that his memory is so vast and comprehensive that he is enabled to perform without book a repertoire which covers a range of compositions of the ancient and modern writers practically without limit.

Since Franz Liszt and Anton Rubinstein, admittedly the pianistic giants of their time, no artist has appeared to create the same stir in the artistic world as Ignace Jan Paderewski, and it is highly gratifying to know that his transcendent ability is meeting with that recognition and reward which only the most highly gifted can command.

MR. GEORGE W. BUSTEED,
160 East 21d Street, New York.

DEAR SIR,—I have great pleasure in notifying you that a bottle of your Sun Cholera Medicine, which I had in my possession when a passenger on the 'Alesia,' saved four or five lives, and no one else many more, when attacked by this malignant disease. On procuring at once twelve bottles, to convince me he of the efficacy of your admirable remedy.

Very respectfully,
REV. DR. NEWLAND MAYNARD,

AUTUMN TOURS TO THE SOUTH.
Under Pennsylvania Railroad's Personally-Conducted System.

Without crossing the ocean into foreign lands a decided movement by Northern State inhabitants has been directed to the New South, and every fall and winter hundreds journey, some for health, many for pleasure and speculation, to the genial suns of the near South.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company announces a personally-conducted pleasure tour from New York to the mountains of Maryland and Virginia, and the prominent cities of the upper South. The scenery encountered by the tour are Buena Vista, Md.; Gettysburg, Pa.; Luray Caverns, the Natural Bridge, the Grottoes of the Shenandoah, Va., and the cities of Richmond and Washington. The scenery of the entire route is picturesque and attractive, and the season is so well timed as to present the scenic beauties in their best forms. The tour will leave New York on Thursday, October 15. The entire round trip covers a period of nine days, and the excursion tickets, covering all travelling expenses, will be sold from New York at $60.00.

For itineraries containing complete information as to routes special-train service, descriptive notes, etc., apply to or address Tourist Agent, Pennsylvania Railroad, 849 Broadway, New York.

Lovers of good music will no doubt be delighted to learn that after the close of the Seidl Concerts at the Madison Square Garden, a series of Sunday Concerts will be inaugurated by Mr. Anton Seidl at the Lenox Lyceum. Mr. John Mahnken, who managed the Thomas Concerts up to his departure for Chicago, will manage these Sunday entertainments. We can safely predict that they will meet with universal favor, and should not be surprised to see them continued during the whole winter season.

The Dairy Kitchen has moved 8 doors west to Nos. 24 and 26 East 14th Street, and is now known as "The Metropolis." Retaining all its old popular features, it has added these new ones, namely: the Royal Hungarian Band; a $15,000 soda fountain finest and largest in the world; a first-class table d'hote dinner of 12 courses for 50 cents; a fancy cake and bread bakery; ladies' din ng rooms; gentlemen's cafe and smoking rooms; delicious candies; pure fruit juice soda, 5 cents, surpassing all others. Open every day from 6 A. M. to 12 P. M.

VON BÜLOW'S LETTER

After his Concert Tour, 1890.

To Wm. Knabe, Esq., Baltimore.

Dear Sir,—My renewed and by more use—under aggravating circumstances, as bad health and tiresome traveling—enlarged experience of your Pianos (its become and last trans-atlantic) season has throughout confirmed myself in the opinion I expressed last year, viz., that a sound and touch of the Knabe Pianos are more sympathetic to my ears and hands than sound and touch of any other Pianos in the United States. As I met with frequent opportunities of establishing comparisons between the Knabe Pianos and instruments of rivalising or would-rivalising producers, I dare now add that I declare them the absolutely best in America.

With sincere regards,

Yours truly,

DR. HANS VON BÜLOW.

33 UNION SQUARE.

HAVE YOU SEEN IT?

Have you dined there? Where? Why, at "The Columbia," on Union Square. The talk of all New York. The most luxurious and magnificent place of its kind in the world. A perfect palace of delight, it stands unrivaled, and at first, last and all the time the best place in the city to obtain a table d'hote dinner, a lunch, a box of delicious confections, or a glass of most refreshing soda, drawn hot or cold, with syrups made from pure fruit juices. Your attention is first drawn to "The Columbia" by its exquisitely arranged windows, each being composed of one solid slab of priceless onyx, dazzling in its purity and whiteness, and on which are arranged with rare tact and skill the choicest confections. But once across the threshold and all else fades into insignificance. "Surely," you exclaim "this must be Aladdin's palace." A vista of Mexican onyx, French plate mirrors, tapestries, plush and silk draperies, mosaic floors, parquet carpet lines and an maids of electric light, twinkling like phantom willo'-the-wisps from diamond cut glass globes, is presented to your view, making a scene unequaled in its beauty, enthralling, entrancing, and, once seen, will ever linger in your memory like a strain of heavenly music. As you enter the door, the cool fountain first claims your attention, and well it might, for it is the largest, the handsomest and the most expensive ever made. Next come the counters of solid onyx, laden with sweets unsurpassed for purity and delicious flavor, and back of this the restaurant, seating 1,000. The hand organ playing, now soft and low, soothing your tired nerves, now stirring your very soul with a merry waltz. Well could you imagine yourself in Fairyland, for rich tapestries adorn the walls, and Persian rugs the floor, and splendor and magnificence are found within the door. But you will doubtless arouse yourself from the spell cast upon you by the beauty of your surroundings, and let like all else you are served with course after course of the choicest viands. Everything is appetizing to the taste as the environments are to the eye. Surely more than this could not be said.

The accommodations for private dinner or theatre parties are such as to make even the most exacting delighted with the almost inexhaustible resources of this wonderful place. To fully appreciate the banquet rooms they must be seen. No pen can do justice to these luxurious furnishings. "The Columbia" is open every day in the year from 6 a. m. until midnight. The cost of fitting up this palatial edifice was $80,000. Every where are displayed the most refined taste and thorough knowledge of the beautiful in art. Not in a single instance could a suggestion be made that could add to its beauty or the comfort and satisfaction of its guests. The prices are marvelously moderate, the table d'hote dinner, from 5 to 8 p. m., being but 50 cents. The music for banquets or dancing in furnished gratis.

The National Conservatory is the Only Musical Institute

In America in which the ground work of a thorough musical education is laid, and the structure is afterward carried to completion Its professors have been appointed without consideration of expense and wholly on their merits and reputation, and they form an

ADMIRABLE FACULTY,

With no end in view but the impartment of knowledge and the consequent elevation of the public taste, with no other revenue than that contributed by lovers of music and the very small returns derived from the nominal tuition charged, and with no contribution whatever from talented candidates for admission unable to pay for high-class tuition. It is believed that the National Conservatory addresses itself to all patriotic and music-loving Americans as a

NATIONAL ENTERPRISE

Of the utmost importance in the artistic future of the land.

It has now been in existence six years; it enlists the services of fifty-three instructors, some of international reputation. Its actual pupils number 348, and has supplied tuition, since its establishment, to 2,227 students.

PURPOSE AND SCOPE

The Conservatory is open to all persons evincing sufficient talent to justify their admission. The full course of instruction covers from 3 to 5 years, but varies with the aptitude and diligence of students.

The Vocal Course includes Singing, Solfeggio, Piano, Diction, History of Music, Deportment, Fencing and Chorus.

The Instrumental Studies include Piano, Organ, Harp, Violin, Viola, Violoncello, Contrabass, Flute, Oboe, Clarionet, Bassoon, French Horn, Cornet, Trombone, etc. An Orchestral Class is formed and also a special Children's Solfeggio Class.

R. M. Walters, the Piano Manufacturer, of University Place, corner 12th Street, has scored a great triumph by the introduction of his celebrated pianos in the public schools of New York and many of the large educational institutions throughout the country.

ALFRED GRUNFELD,

Who will make his first appearance before an American audience in the Madison Square Garden Concert Hall on October 19, has visited in turn all the large cities of Europe; and every-where, in Berlin and in Paris, in St. Petersburg and in London, his playing has called forth the wildest enthusiasm. His triumphs withal have not been won over the moneyed masses exclusively. Half of the nobility of the old world has at one time or another been under the spell of his achievements. That he has not lacked suitable recognition may be inferred from his title of "Court Pianist to his Majesty the King of Prussia" and "Court Pianist to the Emperor of Austria," while no end of exceptional experiences have fallen to his lot. Grunfeld and his brother Heinrich, the great European violoncellist, who accompanies the pianist on his American tour, were the only participants in the last concert which the late Emperor Frederick gave while still Crown Prince of Germany. At the special request of Carmen Sylva, he appeared in Bucharest before a select audience of one hundred listeners. On another occasion he was summoned into the presence of the Empress of Russia, in the Anitschkow Palace, the Czarina desiring to think him in person for a concert given in aid of the Red Cross Society. Grunfeld has been received at the King of Sweden and honored by the patronage of Prince Bismarck, the Count Wiczeck, Prince Furstenberg, Prince Metternich and Baron Rothschild. In a word, all classes of society have done him homage. No less precious than social tributes have been those of the virtuoso's co-workers. Hans Von Bulow wrote of him to a musical journal as follows: "He is not only the foremost representative of the model school of Kullak, but so distinct an individuality as to impress most favorably both heart and ear. I candidly admit," continues Bulow, "that I entered the concert hall anything but favorably inclined. Had not sundry friends attempted to console me when Mowakowski compared us—he treated the piano as a passionately loved bride," I, as I would treat my grandmother in depicting him to me as a sort of graceful pianoclown was not to be taken as serious. Personal experience has taught me something more. I forbear to mention those qualities concerning which all critics are in accord. His versatility of his technique, the softness, tenderness and fullness, the beautiful light and shade of his touch, etc. His interpretation of Schumann's masterworks, and especially of his Etudes, Symphonigues and Fantasie op. 17, I must declare the nearest possible approach to perfection. Such deep poetic conception united with such minute correctness, those compositions have seldom been favored with. If, then," concludes Von Bulow, "Mr. Editor, I should still have the good fortune of being regarded as competent to judge, permit me to request you to award Alfred Grunfeld a foremost place among those virtuosos whom it is really worth while considering in earnest."

THE PIANO OF AMERICA.

Honors of the highest distinction have followed merit well earned, and obtained only by the closest application, expert judgment and perseverance. Notwithstanding the manifold success attained by the manufacturers of the Hardman piano, the preference displayed by her Majesty Queen Victoria, H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, H. R. H. the Duchess of Fife, the English Nobility, and General Frias, Vice-president of San Salvador, in selecting "The Piano of America" for their use, gives the Hardman Piano a standard position in the front ranks. Royal patronage, general popularity rarely combined in favor of one instrument, and the immense increase in its sale throughout the world, its price has not been advanced. The same rates for renting prevail, and it is still sold on the usual liberal terms. It is fair to assert that the Hardman piano is indeed a marvel of musical progress in worth and value has been permanently established, and time can only serve to add to the golden opinions won by its many excellent qualities. Hardman, Peck & Co. also have an exhibition at their warerooms, 5th ave. and 20th street, the "Self-Playing Symphony," an instrument which you, or anyone, can play selections from Chopin, Liszt and Wagner, or any piece of music ever written, with the proficiency of a virtuoso. It would be wise to visit their warerooms and hear this wonderful instrument, or to write Hardman, Peck & Co. for a catalogue, which is furnished free on application.

Notwithstanding the reports of several morning papers to the contrary, the engagement of Antonin Dvorak as Director of the National Conservatory of Music is an accomplished fact. This engagement marks an epoch in the history of music in this country which is not to be under-valued. Mr. Antonin Dvorak is a musician, composer and conductor of such eminent genius that he must naturally cast a bright reflection upon the future of musical events of the coming season, and those who have been instrumental in bringing him to this country deserve the praise of the nation. We congratulate Mrs. Jeannette M. Thurber on this brilliant acquisition.

"Why, Adolphus, what is the matter? Why do you tremble so?" "My best girl just 'shook' me."

THE CELEBRATED

PIANOS SOHMER PIANOS

ARE THE BEST.

Are Preferred by the conscientious Musical Instructors and Musicians. Are the FAVORITES of the Music Loving Public.

The "North American Review" says of the Celebrated Sohmer Pianos:

"No one can fail to refer in them every good quality which one is entitled to expect from a good instrument: nobility, elasticity and utmost clearness of tone, and an event of power which never fails, added to which a perfect evenness of touch renders them as near perfection as has been thus far attained. Their touch unites with absolute precision a delicacy and pliability, and a most happy responsive quality not found in the instruments of any other maker."

While the present firm of Sohmer & Co. was founded in 1871, its existence really extends further back than 1860. Its author and head, Mr. Hugo Sohmer, is a native of the Black Forest, in Germany, coming of a good family in comfortable circumstances, and was given a most finished scientific and literary education, at the same time acquiring a thorough knowledge of Music and the Pianoforte. At sixteen years of age he arrived in New York and was apprenticed to piano-making in the factory of Schuetze & Ludolph. Thoroughly learning his trade with this firm, he returned to Europe in 1858 and travelled in the various capitals, studying piano-making critically and scientifically from every possible standpoint. In 1860 he returned to New York, and in 1871 announced embodying in practical form the ideas which his training and travel had brought him. His partner was Mr. Joseph Kuder, who still continues in the firm—a pianomaker who studied the art and trade thoroughly in the Vienna Shops, and added considerable experience gained in the shops of prominent makers. At present the firm consists, in addition to Messrs. Sohmer and Kuder, of Mr. C. Alex. Fahr and George Reichmann, each member of the firm being in charge of a special department, to which he devotes his entire energies. The concern now has, in addition to its extensive warehouse at Fourteenth Street and Fifth Avenue, a new factory at Astoria, which is the most magnificent and complete establishment in the country, and the advent of which has done much for Long Island in inducing fine manufactures to establish themselves there.

Even with the present average production of the firm, which is at the high figure of forty Pianos per week, it is yet insufficient to supply the extensive demand, the firm being so-far behind in its orders.

A widely-spread constituency demanding these celebrated instruments, they may be had not only at the principal warerooms, 149 to 155 East Fourteenth Street, New York, but at Monroe, Canada; 136 State Street, Chicago; Union Club Building, San Francisco; 1502 Olive Street, St. Louis, Mo.; 1103 Main Street, Kansas City; as also of local dealers throughout the country.

The laurels of the firm of Sohmer & Co. have been justly earned and cheerfully bestowed."

Ignace J. Paderewski

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH.

Ignace Jan Paderewski is a limited v the legitimate successor of Anton Rubinstein, and the maestro of the century. Through a tour decades he has industrious Mo cavian has fallen upon the shoulders of this already world-lam ous Polish artist.

Even in the present days of juvenile prodigies and phenomenal exhibitions of pianistic power, Paderew k has appeared to astonish the general public, and to charm music lovers by the marvelous dexterity he displays upon the key-board, and by the manifestation of such rarer qualities—lifting him above the heads of all his contemporaries—he has acquired in an unusually short time the highest position in the artistic world. The more frequently the opportunity has been afforded of hearing Paderewski, the greater admiration his performances have excited.

In purely mechanical skill it seems impossible to exceed the limits of his amazing achievements. He has his light and delicate moods as well as his dreamy and romantic humors, which find expression in the performance of the beautiful pianoforte works of his fellow-countryman, Frederic Chopin, interest in whose works increases year by year; for fire and fineness of execution nothing can surpass his playing of his master's Scherzos and Fantasias; for breadth of style and forcible delivery his performance of his own concerto in A minor, together with the concertos of Rubinstein and Beethoven, is superb, while for sweep of hand, extraordinary rapidity of finger and mastery over Liszt's Rhapsodies and Fantasias he is practically unrivaled in the world. There is yet to be considered the surpassing beauty of those momentary flashes and graceful touches, which, when the music admits of it, can only be realized by the most gifted of artists, but which adds so much charm to the composition itself. In this delightful quality Paderewski excels any pianist I have heard; in point of fact, his playing never gives me the idea of a studied performance, but seems to be rather the outcome of inherent and spontaneous musical feeling. Of all living pianists he reminds me most of Anton Rubinstein; but his manipulation is more delicate, far surer and clearer than that of the great Moldavian. He never puts a false note, and the fire and musical impulse which animate Paderewski never infringe upon the burdened touch divines enthusiasm from extravagance.

Ignace Jan Paderewski first saw the light at Podolia, a province of Russian Poland, on the 6th of November, 1860 and at the early age of three began to play the piano. At seven his father placed him under the care of a local teacher, Pierre Sowinski, and with this master the young genius remained for four years. In 1872 he went to Warsaw, where the foundation of his knowledge of harmony and counterpoint was acquired from Roguski; but he subsequently pursued the branches of his studies under the late Frederick Kiel, the eminent teacher and theorist of Berlin.

Shortly after this date Paderewski undertook his first journey, which extended throughout Russia, Siberia, Servia and Roumania, during the course of which he gave many—nothing but his own compositions. At eighteen years of age he was nominated Professor of Music to the Warsaw Conservatory, and it is no secret that the money earned in this capacity was devoted to the acquisition of general knowledge after the hours when his musical duties had ceased. In 1878 he held a professorship at the Conservatory of Music in Strasburg, but during that year he abandoned teaching and devoted upon the more fascinating career of a pianistic virtuoso. Paderewski accordingly removed to Vienna and placed himself under his fellow-countryman, Theodor Leschetizky, the self-known successful trainer of pianists and husband of the no less famous pianiste, Annette Essipoff, and at the expiration of three years he already he made his début before the critical Viennese public in 1887, and was at once proclaimed to be one of the most remarkable pianists of the day.

From this date he paid several visits to the principal towns throughout Germany, always with increasing success, and in the Autumn of 1889 he made his first appearance before a Parisian audience, and, as my readers are aware, became the "lion" of the Paris season.

The first performance in England was given at the instigation of Mr. Daniel Mayer at St. James's Hall, on the 9th of May, 1890, since which date he has appeared at a large number of concerts and recitals in London and the provinces, his performances being uniformly marked by a crescendo of success and enthusiasm by the increasing audiences.

Paderewski has composed a large number of piano-forte pieces, many of which have attained great popularity; a concerto in A minor, for piano and orchestra, conceived in a broad and lofty style, and evincing great originality of subject and treatment; a Suite for orchestra in G; a Concerto for violin and orchestra in G minor and over eighty vocal pieces in the German, French and Polish languages.

Paderewski married at the early age of nineteen. Although he lost his wife through illness, he has a son living. Paderewski is exceedingly natural in his manners, kind-hearted and unaffected to the last degree, and possesses one of the rarest qualifications among great players, that of being a wonderfully good and patient listener. I may add that his memory is so vast and comprehensive that he is enabled to perform without book a repertoire which covers a range of compositions of the ancient and modern writers practically without limit.

Since Franz Liszt and Anton Rubinstein, admittedly the greatest giants of their time, no artist has appeared to create the same stir in the artistic world as Ignace Jan Paderewski, and it is highly gratifying to know that his transcendent ability is meeting with that recognition and reward which only the most highly gilted can command.

AUTUMN TOURS TO THE SOUTH.

Under Pennsylvania Railroad's Personally-Conducted System.

Without crossing the oceans into foreign lands a decided movement by Northern State inhabitants has been directed to the New South, and every fall and winter hundreds journey, some for health, many for pleasure and speculation, to the genial wastes of heir South.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company announces a personally conducted pleasure tour from New York to the mountains of Maryland and Virginia, and the principal cities of the under South. The specific points covered by the tour are Buena Vista, Md., Cumberland, Pa.; Luray Caverns, Shenandoah River, the fortresses of he Shenandoah, Va., and the cities of Richmond and Washington. The scenery of the entire route is picturesque and attractive, and the season is so well timed as to present its scenic features in their best light. The tour will leave New York on Thursday, October 15. The entire round trip covers a period of nine days, and the excursion tickets, covering all travelling expenses, will be sold from New York and Return.

For itineraries containing complete information as to routes, transit-steam service, descriptive notes, etc., apply to or address Tourist Agent, Pennsylvania Railroad, 849 Broadway, New York.

Lovers of good music will no doubt be delighted to learn that after the close of he Seidl Concerts at the Madison Square Garden, a series of Sunday Concerts will be inaugurated by Mr. Anton Seidl at the Lenox Lyceum. Mr. John Mahnken, who managed the Thomas Concerts up to his departure for Chicago, will manage these Sunday entertainments. We can safely predict that they will meet with universal favor, and should not be surprised to see them continued during the whole winter season.

The Daisy Kitchen has moved 8 doors west to Nos. 24 and 26 East 14th Street, and is now known as "The Metropolis." Retaining all its old popular features, it has added these new ones, namely, the Royal Hungarian Band; a $3,000 soda fountain, finest and largest in the world; a first class table d'hote dinner of 12 courses for 50 cents; a fancy cake and bread bakery; ladies' dining room; gentlemen's cafe and smoking room; delicious candies; pure fruit juice sodas, 5 cents, surpassing all others. Open every day from 6 A. M. to 12 P. M.

VON BÜLOW'S LETTER

After his Concert Tour, 1890.

To Wm. Knabe, Esq., Baltimore.

Dear Sir,—My renewed and by more use—under surrounding circumstances, as had health and tiresome traveling—enlarged experience of your Pianos thus (second and last transatlantic) season has throughout confirmed myself in the opinion I expressed last year, viz., that sound and touch of the Knabe Pianos are more sympathetic to my ears and hands than sound and touch of any other Pianos in the United States. As I met with frequent opportunities of establishing comparisons between the Knabe Pianos and instruments of rivalizing or would-rivalizing producers, I dare now add that I declare them the absolutely best in America.

With sincere regards,

Yours truly,

HAVE YOU SEEN IT?

Have you dined there? Where? Why, at "The Columbia," on Union Square. The talk of all New York. The most luxurious and magnificent place of its kind in the world. A perfect palace of delight, it stands unrivaled, and as first, last and all the time the best place in the city to obtain a table d'hote dinner, a lunch, a box of delicious confections, or a glass of most refreshing soda, drawn hot or cold, with syrups made from pure fruit juices. Your attention is first drawn to "The Columbia" by its exquisitely arranged windows, each being composed of one solid slab of priceless cut glass, dazzling in its purity and whiteness, and on these are arranged with rare taste and skill the choicest confections. But once across the threshold and a feeling fades into insignificance. "Surely," you exclaim, "this must be Aladdin's palace." A vista of Mexican onyx, French plate mirrors, tapestries, plush and silk draperies, mosaic floors, moquet carpet rugs and myriads of electric lights, twinkling like phantom will-o'-the-wisps from diamond cut glass globes, is presented to your view, making a scene unequaled in its beauty, its thralling, entrancing, and, once seen, will ever linger in your memory like a strain of heavenly music. As you enter the door, the soda fountain first claims your attention, and well it might, for it is the largest, the handsomest and the most expensive ever made. Next come the counters of solid onyx, laden with sweets unsurpassed for purity and delicious flavor; then each of the restaurant, seating 1,000. The band is playing, now soft and low, soothing your tired nerves, now stirring every nerve and with a merry waltz. Well could you imagine yourself in fairyland, for the tapestries adorn the walls and the costly rugs the floor, and splendor and magnificence are found within the door. But you will delightedly arouse yourself from the spell cast upon you by the beauty of your surroundings, and lo! to whatever you are served with course after course of the choicest viands. Everything is done to please the palate as the environments are to the eye. Surely more than this could not be asked.

The accommodations for private dinner or theatre parties are such as to make even the most exacting dissatisfied with the almost inexhaustible resources of this palatial place. Private dining rooms that must be seen. No pen can do justice to their luxurious furnishings. The Columbia is open every day in the year from 6 A.M. to 12 P.M. PROFESSOR GIUSEPPE DE GRANDI begs to announce that he will resume his lessons on Monday, September 7, at his studio, No. 208 East 14th Street, New York. Francesco Lamperti, the celebrated Professor of Singing of the Royal Conservatory, Milan, pronounced Professor De Grandi his best and most gifted pupil; Adelina Patti, Lilli Lehmann, Mme. Scalchi, Marcella Sembrich, Signor Nicolini Perotti, Mascagni, etc., have unequivocally indorsed his method of teaching.

It is a noteworthy fact that in spite of European influence and rumors to the contrary, Japanese art and all articles of manufacture from the land of the chrysanthemum continue to excite and interest the lovers of the artistic and beautiful in America.

The National Conservatory is the Only Musical Institute

In America in which the ground work of a thorough musical education is laid, and the structure is afterward carried to completion. Its promoters have been appointed without consideration of expense and wholly on their merits and reputation, and they form an

ADMIRABLE FACULTY,

With no end in view but the impartment of knowledge and the consequent elevation of the public taste, with no other revenue than that contributed by lovers of music and the very small returns derived from the nominal tuition charged, and with no contribution whatever from talented candidates for admission unable to pay for high-class tuition. It is believed that the National Conservatory addresses itself to all patriotic and music-loving Americans as a

NATIONAL ENTERPRISE

Of the utmost importance in the artistic future of the land.

It has now been in existence six years; it enlists the services of fifty-three instructors, some of international reputation. Its actual pupils number 348, and has supplied tuition, since its establishment, to 2,297 students.

PURPOSE AND SCOPE

The Conservatory is open to all persons evincing sufficient talent to justify their admission. The full course of instruction covers from 3 to 5 years, but varies with the aptitude and diligence of students.

The Vocal Course includes Singing, Solfeggio, Piano, Diction, History of Music, Deportment, Fencing and Chorus.

The Instrumental Studies include Piano, Organ, Harp, Violin, Viola, Violoncello, Contrabass, Flute, Oboe, Clarionet, Bassoon, French Horn, Cornet, Trombone, etc. An Orchestral Class is formed and also a special Children's Solfeggio Class.

Drug Store Clerk—"How does the fly paper that I sold you go, Mrs. Hendricks?" Mrs. Hendricks—"The flies are just stuck on it."

"Maud, dearest, do you think I could make you happy?" "I should think so; Mrs. Jenkins' husband happyfied her." "How?" "He insured his life for $10,000 and then died."

"What a lovely ruby you wear!" she said as she made a vain hunt for her eyeglasses; "but what a queer place to pin it! Why don't you wear it in your scarf instead of in the back of your neck?" And the young man who was calling on that Boston girl remarked, as he strode from the room, "It's downright poor taste to make fun of a boil."

MASON & HAMLIN.

Their New Piano and Organ Warerooms on Fifth Avenue.

Owing to the steadily increasing demand for the Mason & Hamlin Piano—and for its world-famous companion, the Mason & Hamlin Organ—the Mason & Hamlin Company have leased, and have just moved into, elegant and spacious quarters at 158 Fifth Avenue, between 20th and 21st Streets. Every facility is here afforded for the proper display of the magnificent instruments made by this time-honored firm, and a delightful music hall has also been provided especially for the charming recitals given each season by this musical firm.

R. M. Watters, the Piano Manufacturer, of University Place, corner 14th Street, has scored a great triumph by the introduction of his celebrated pianos in the public schools of New York and many of the large educational institutions throughout the country.

That the choice viands, splendid candies and delicious pure fruit juice soda, all sold at popular prices, with charming music, at "The Metropole," 24 and 26 E. 14th Street (near Union Square), are appreciated, is proven by the fact that over 7,000 persons patronize the immense establishment daily. 1,000 seating capacity.

Stranger (in Tombstone, Ariz.)—I hear your bank has suspended? Resident—Yes, so is the president.

"Did you propose to the beautiful Miss Rox, last night, Charlie?" "I did, and she also proposed." "What?" "That I wait till the end of the summer for her answer."

"Ho," said Professor Feelem, the eminent phrenologist, "my profession does not yield a life full of sunshine, as many suppose, I tell you;" and he wiped away a tear. "I've felt some pretty hard bumps in my life."

Mrs. Potts—Just to think of you talking to me in such a style! You who used to swear I was an angel. Mr. Potts—Look here, my dear, that isn't fair. What is the use of twitting a man about the fiction he dealt in fifteen years ago?

GRAND OPERA

IN ENGLISH.

The announcement of a season of opera in English will be gratifying to a large circle of music lovers. It is made by Mr. James W. Morrissey, and under his management the third season of English grand opera in New York is now in successful progress at the Grand Opera House for a short period of six weeks only. During this time will be presented for one week each, in the order named, "Trovatore," "Martha," "Bohemian Girl," "Faust," "Carmen" and "Lucia." The company engaged is notably better than in past seasons. It includes many well-known names and some new ones—Miss Louise Natali, Miss Camille Muori, Miss Bella Tomlins, Miss Fannie Meyers, Miss Stella Beaumont, Mr. F. Michenela, Mr. A. Montegriffo, Mr. Wm. Ferguson, Signor G. Tagliapietra, Mr. W. H. Clarke. A large chorus, attractive ballets and a full orchestra are among the features. A subscription list has been opened, to which a number of names are already attached—Mrs. George Gould, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kinzler, Mr. and Mrs. G. Morosini, Mr. James H. Breslin, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunlap and many others. Popular prices will range from 50 cents to $1.

Why would it be impossible for horses to vote on any measure? Because all their votes would be neighs.

"I suppose you will be somewhat particular in your choice of a wife, Mr. Jones?" "Not a bit of it. Will you marry me, Miss Smith?"

French Editor—Did you make a minute of yesterday's duel? Assistant—No, Monsieur; it was impossible. French Editor—Why? Assistant—Because it only has two seconds.

Father (sternly)—Joe, do you want me to put you in the dark closet? Little Joe (equivocally)—Papa, what makes you ask me such questions?

"How did that case against you by the man who broke his leg on your sidewalk go?" "It met with the same fate the plaintiff did." "What was that?" "Slipped up on an appeal."

"You are not the young lady to whom I give lessons," said the piano teacher. "No. The young lady to whom you give lessons is sick, and she has sent me to practice for her."

"Here's an apple, Johnny." "Thanks, ma'am. Now please gimme one for my little sister." "Certainly. How good of you to think of your little sister." Yes'm; if I didn't, she'd keep a teasin' me for mine."

VON BÜLOW'S LETTER

After his Concert Tour, 1890.

To Wm. Knabe, Esq., Baltimore.

Dear Sir,—My renewed and by more use—under aggravating circumstances, as bad health and unreasonable traveling charged experience of your Pianos this (second and last trans-atlantic) season has throughout confirmed myself in the opinion I expressed last year, viz., that sound and touch of the Knabe Pianos are more sympathetic to my ears and hands than sound and touch of any other Pianos in the United States. As I met with frequent opportunities of establishing comparisons between the Knabe Pianos and instruments of rivalling or would rivalizing producers, I dare now add that I declare them the absolutely best in America. With sincere regards,

Yours truly,

DR. HANS VON BÜLOW.

The National Conservatory is the Only Musical Institute
In America in which the ground work of a thorough musical education is laid, and the structure is afterward carried to completion. Its processes have been appointed without consideration of expense and solely on their merits and reputation, and they form an

ADMIRABLE FACULTY,
With no end in view but the impartment of knowledge and the consequent elevation of the standard of taste, with no other revenue than that contributed by lovers of music and the very small returns derived from the nominal tuition charged, and with no contribut on who ever from talented candidates for admission unable to pay for his tuition. It is believed that the National Conservatory addresses itself to all patriotic and music-loving Americans as a

NATIONAL ENTERPRISE
Of the utmost importance in the artistic future of the land.

It has now been in existence six years; it enlists the services of fifty-three instructors, some of minor national reputation. Its actual pupils number 748, and has supplied tuition, since its establishment, to 2,227 students.

PURPOSE AND SCOPE.
The Conservatory is open to all persons evincing sufficient talent to justify their admission. The full course of instruction covers from 3 to 5 years but varies with the aptitude and diligence of students.

The Vocal Course includes Singing, Solfeggio, Piano, Diction, History of Music, Deportment, Fencing and Chorus.

The Instrumental Studies include Piano, Organ, Harp, Violin, Viola, Violoncello, Contrabass, Flute, Oboe, Clarionet, Bassoon, French Horn, Cornet, Trombone, etc., etc. An Orchestral Class in form of and also a special Children's Solfeggio Class.

ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS.
Voice—September 24 and 25, from 9 to 12 A.M.; from 2 to 5, and from 8 to 10 P.M. Applicants are required to bring their music.
Violin, Violoncello, Contrabass, Harp and all other Orchestral Instruments—September 26, from 9 to 12 A.M., and 2 to 5 P.M. Applicants are required to bring their instruments and music.
Piano and Organ—September 29, at the same hours as Violin. Applicants are required to bring their music.
Orchestra—November 2, from 4 to 6 P.M. Applicants are required to bring their instruments.

VON BÜLOW'S LETTER

After his Concert Tour, 1890.

To Wm. Knabe, Esq., Baltimore.

Dear Sir,—My renewed and by more use—under aggravating circumstances, as bad health and tiresome traveling—enlarged experience of your Pianos this (second and last trans-atlantic) season has throughout confirmed myself in the opinion I expressed last year, viz., that sound and touch of the Knabe Pianos are more sympathetic to my ears and hands than sound and touch of any other Pianos in the United States. As I met with frequent opportunities of establishing comparisons between the Knabe Pianos and instruments of rivalising or would-rivalising producers, I dare now add that I declare them the absolutely best in America. With sincere regards,

Yours truly,

The National Conservatory is the Only Musical Institute

In America in which the ground work of a thorough musical education is laid, and the structure is afterward carried to completion Its processors have been appointed without consideration of expense and wholly on their merits and reputation, and they form an

ADMIRABLE FACULTY.

With no end in view but the improvement of knowledge and the consequent elevation of the public taste, with no other revenue than that c ntributed by lovers of music and the very small returns derived from the nomin al tuition charged, and with no comfort in the ever free talented candi'a es for admission unable to pay for high-class tuition it is believed that the National Conservatory addresses itself to all patriotic and music-loving Americans as a

NATIONAL ENTERPRISE

Of the utmost importance in the artistic future of the land.

It is now seen in existence six years; it entices the services of fifty-three instructors, some of modern tional reputation. Its actual pupils number 345, and has supplied tuition, since its establishment, to 2,217 students.

PURPOSE AND SCOPE

The Conservatory is open to all persons evincing sufficient talent to justify their admission. The full course of instruction covers from 3 to 5 years. but it rries with the aptitude and diligence of students.

The Vocal Course includes Singing, Solfeggio, Piano, Diction, History of Music, Deportment, Fencing and Chorus.

The Instrumental Studies include Piano, Organ, Harp, Violin, Viola, Violoncello, Contrabass, Flute, Oboe, Clarionet, Bassoon, French Horn, Cornet, Trombone, etc. An Orchestral Class is form d and also a special Children's Solfeggio Class.

The firm of Decker Brothers is one of the foremost in the country, and occupies a very enviable position in the Piano Trade. They manufacture an instrument which is second to none, and acknowledged by eminent artists to possess a rich singing tone, immense power and fine mechanism. Messrs. Decker Bros. employ the most skillful workmen, personally select the material and superintend their work. To possess a Decker Piano means to have procured the best.

MASON & HAMLIN.

Their New Piano and Organ Warerooms on Fifth Avenue.

Owing to the steadily increasing demand for the Mason & Hamlin Piano—and for its world famous companion, the Mason & Hamlin Organ—the Mason & Hamlin Company have leased the elegant and spacious quarters at 158 Fifth Avenue, between 20th and 21st Streets. Every facility is here afforded for the proper display of the magnificent instruments made by this time-honored firm, and a delightful music hall has also been provided especially for the charming recitals given each season by this musical firm.

R. M. Walters, the Piano Manufacturer, of University Place, corner 12th Street, has scored a great triumph by the introduction of his celebrated pianos in the public schools of New York and many of the large educational institutions throughout the country.

That the choice viands, splendid candies and delicious pure fruit Juice soda, all sold at popular prices, with charming music, at "The Metropolis," 24 and 26 E. 14th Street (near Union Square), are appreciated, is proven by the fact that over 7,000 persons patronize the immense establishment daily. 1,200 seating capacity.

Stranger (in Tombstone, Ariz.)—I hear your bank has suspended? Resident—Yes, so is the president.

"Did you propose to the beautiful Miss Rox, last night, Charlie?" "I did, and she also proposed." "What?" "That I wait till the end of the summer for her answer."

"No," said Professor Feelem, the eminent phrenologist, "my profession does not yield a life full of sunshine, as many suppose, I tell you;" and he wiped away a tear. "I've felt some pretty hard bumps in my life."

Mrs. Potts—Just to think of you talking to me in such a style! You who used to swear I was an angel. Mr. Potts—Look here, my dear, that isn't fair. What is the use of twitting a man about the fiction he deals in fifteen years ago?

VON BÜLOW'S LETTER

After his Concert Tour, 1890.

To Wm. Knabe, Esq., Baltimore.

Dear Sir,—My renewed and by more use—under aggravating circumstances, as bad health and tiresome traveling—enlarged experience of your Pianos this (second and last trans-atlantic) season has throughout confirmed myself in the opinion I expressed last year, viz., that sound and touch of the Knabe Pianos are more sympathetic to my ears and hands than sound and touch of any other Pianos in the United States. As I met with frequent opportunities of establishing comparisons between the Knabe Pianos and instruments of rivalising or would-rivalising producers, I dare now add that I declare them the absolutely best in America.

With sincere regards,

Yours truly,

DR. HANS VON BÜLOW.

Why would it be impossible for horses to vote on any measure? Because all their votes would be neighs.

"I suppose you will be somewhat particular in your choice of a wife, Mr. Jones?" "Not a bit of it. Will you marry me, Miss Smith?"

French Editor—Did you make a minute of yesterday's duel? Assistant—No, Monsieur; it was impossible. French Editor—Why? Assistant—Because it only ha t two seconds.

Father (sternly)—Joe, do you want me to put you in the dark closet? Little Joe (equivocally)—Papa, what makes you ask me such questions?

"How did that case against you by the man who broke his leg on your sidewalk go?" "It met with the same fate the plaintiff did." "What was that?" "Slipped up on an appeal."

"You are not the young lady to whom I give lessons," said the piano teacher. "No. The young lady to whom you give lessons is sick, and she has sent me to practice for her."

"Here's an apple, Johnny." "Thanks, ma'am. Now please gimme one for my little sister." "Certainly. How good of you to think of your little sister." "Yes'm; if I didn't, she'd keep a teasin' me for mine."

VON BÜLOW'S LETTER

After his Concert Tour, 1890.

To Wm Knabe, Esq., Baltimore.

Dear Sir,—My renewed and by more use—under actually circumstances—as bad health and tiresome travelling—matured experience of your Pianos this season and last transatlantic season has throughout confirmed myself in the opinion I expressed last year, viz., that they are and touch of the Knabe Pianos are more sympathetic, in my ears and hands than sound and touch of any other Pianos in the United States. As I met with frequent opportunities of establishing comparisons between the Knabe Pianos and instruments of rival firms, so would treat my professors. I dare now add that I declare them the absolutely best in America. With sincere regards, Yours truly,

HANS VON BÜLOW.

The National Conservatory is the Only Musical Institute
in America in which the ground work of a thorough musical education is laid, and the structure is afterward carried to completion. Its professors have been appointed without consideration of expense and wholly on their merits and reputation, and they form an

ADMIRABLE FACULTY,
With no end in view but the impartment of knowledge and the consequent elevation of the public taste, with no other revenue than that contributed by lovers of music and the very small returns derived from the nominal tuition charged, and with no contribution whatever from talented candidates for admission unable to pay for high-class tuition it is believed that the National Conservatory addresses itself to all patriotic and music-loving Americans as a

NATIONAL ENTERPRISE
Of the utmost importance in the artistic future of the land.
It has now been in existence six years; it enlists the services of fifty-three instructors, some of international reputation. Its annual pupils number 518, and has supplied tuition, since its establishment, to 2,817 students.

PURPOSE AND SCOPE.
The Conservatory is open to all persons evincing sufficient talent to justify their admission. The full course of instruction covers from 3 to 5 years, but works with the aptitude and diligence of students.
The Vocal Course includes Singing, Solfeggio, Piano, Diction, History of Music, Deportment, Fencing and Chorus
The Instrumental Studies include Piano, Organ, Harp, Violin, Viola, Violoncello, Contrabass, Flute, Oboe, Clarionet, Bassoon, French Horn, Cornet, Trombone, etc. An Orchestral Class is formed and also a special Children's Solfeggio class.

ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS
Voice—September 24 and 25, from 9 to 12 A. M.; from 2 to 5 and from 8 to 10 P.M. Applicants are required to bring their music.
Violin, Violoncello, Contrabass, Harp and all other Orchestral Instruments—September 28, from 9 to 12 A. M., and 2 to 5 P.M. Applicants are required to bring their instruments and music.
Piano and Organ—September 29, at the same hours as Violin. Applicants are required to bring their music.
Orchestra—November 2, from 4 to 6 P.M. Applicants are required to bring their instruments.
Chorus—November 4, from 8 to 10 P.M.

"Men's sins always find them out." A bill collector has about the same kind of luck.

The pin has a head and the needle has none, but the latter is twice as sharp as the former.

Hayseed—What building is that? Smart New Yorker—That's a ten-story building. Can't you count?

Trainboy—Have a copy of "Baled Hay," sir? Pennibs (author of the book)—Ah, um, do you sell many copies of "Baled Hay?" Trainboy—Oh, I catch a sucker once in a while.

Wife—Now this is a nice time for you to come home from the lodge! Here it is half past 2. Husband—What of it? If I hadn't gone to the lodge at all it would be half past 2 just the same, wouldn't it?

Teacher (after explaining the points of the compass)—Johnnie, step to the window and tell me if smoke is coming from any of the chimneys. Johnnie (at the window)—Yes ma'm. Teacher—Now, tell me which way the wind is blowing. Johnnie—Perpendic'lar.

Mrs. Dusky—Am dem de black stockings you told me about buyin'? Miss Saffron—Yes, dem is de ones, Cicely, an' dey only cos' seventy-five cents. "Am dey silk?" "Not 'zactly, but dey'rs jes' as good." "An' will dey wash?" "Dat I don't know; I'se only had 'em six weeks."

Will begin publication July 1. Enlarged to 12 pages. STARR MORRISSEY, Proprietor, Long Branch, N. J.

The softest road is sometimes the hardest to travel.

If the boys do not kiss the misses, then the girls will miss the kisses.

"Does your wife ever let you have the last word?" "No, sir. I married a widow."

If money could be borrowed as easily as trouble, the world would be full of round-shouldered people.

Traveling Agent—Are you the head of the house, sir? Mr. Cowed—Hem!—Ah!—I represent her.

"Why are you here, my poor fellow?" asked the visitor of the prisoner. "De walls is so thick I can't git out. Dat why—see?"

Bachelor—Ned, how would you define a love letter? Benedict—A love letter is a thing that ten years afterward you generally wish you hadn't written.

An old offender was lately introduced to Judge Duffy as John Simmons, alias Jones, alias Smith. "I'll try the two women first," said the Judge. "Bring in Alice Jones."

Drawing Teacher—Now, this is a symmetrical figure. Can any one tell me what symmetry is? Ah! There is a little boy with his hand up. What is symmetry, little boy? Jimmy Scanlan—Plaze, sor, it do be a place fwhere they buries dead paple.

Yahsley—I see by the paper that the New Jersey census figures go to show that only one man in a thousand reaches the age of seventy, five. Dihsley (who comes over in the ferry from Jersey City every morning)—Well, no; when a New Jersey grandpa reaches three-score and ten, his family conclude he's not worth wasting quinine on any longer.

"Why don't you go to work?" she asked of the tramp. "I am a-working, lady." "At what? You show no signs of it?" "No matter for that, mum, I'm a-working as a traveling adver. for a soap firm. I'm the 'Before Using' card, and my pardner around the corner represents the 'After Using' end of the combination. Thank you, mum."

MASON & HAMLIN.

Their New Piano and Organ Warerooms on Fifth Avenue.

Owing to the steadily increasing demand for the Mason & Hamlin Piano—and for its world-famous companion, the Mason & Hamlin Organ—the Mason & Hamlin Company have leased, and have just moved into, elegant and spacious quarters at 158 Fifth Avenue, between 20th and 21st Streets. Every facility is here afforded for the proper display of the magnificent instruments made by this time-honored firm, and a delightful music hall has also been provided especially for the charming recitals given each season by this musical firm.

R. M. Walters, the Piano Manufacturer, of University Place, corner 12th Street, has scored a great triumph by the introduction of his celebrated pianos in the public schools of New York and many of the large educational institutions throughout the country.

That the choice viands, splendid candies and delicious pure fruit juice soda, all sold at popular prices, with charming music, at "The Metropole," 24 and 26 E. 14th Street (near Union Square), are appreciated, is proven by the fact that over 5,000 persons patronize the immense establishment daily, 1,200 seating capacity.

Stranger (in Tombstone, Ariz.)—I hear your bank has suspended? Resident—Yes, so is the president.

"Did you propose to the beautiful Miss Rox, last night, Charlie?" "I did, and she also proposed." "What?" "That I wait till the end of the summer for her answer."

"Ho," said Professor Feelem, the eminent phrenologist, "my profession does not yield a life full of sunshine, as many suppose, I tell you;" and he wiped away a tear. "I've felt some pretty hard humps in my life."

Mrs. Potts—Just to think of you talking to me in such a style! You who used to swear I was an angel. Mr. Potts—Look here, my dear, that isn't fair. What is the use of twitting a man about the fiction he dealt in fifteen years ago?

GRAND OPERA

IN ENGLISH.

The announcement of a season of opera in English will be gratifying to a large circle of music lovers. It is made by Mr. James W. Morrissey, and under his management the third season of English grand opera in New York is now in successful progress at the Grand Opera House for a short period of six weeks only. During this time will be presented for one week each, in the order named, "Trovatore," "Martha," "Bohemian Girl," "Faust," "Carmen" and "Lucia." The company engaged is notably better than in past seasons. It includes many well-known names and some new ones—Miss Louise Natali, Miss Camille Muori, Miss Bella Tomlins, Miss Fannie Meyers, Miss Stella Beaumont, Mr. F. Michenela, Mr. A. Montegriffo, Mr. Wm. Ferguson, Signor G. Tagliapietra, Mr. W. H. Clarke. A large chorus, attractive ballets and a full orchestra are among the features. A subscription list has been opened, to which a number of names are already attached—Mrs. George Gould, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kinsler, Mr. and Mrs. G. Morosini, Mr. James H. Breslin, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunlap and many others. Popular prices will range from 50 cents to $1.

Why would it be impossible for horses to vote on any measure? Because all their votes would be neighs.

"I suppose you will be somewhat particular in your choice of a wife, Mr. Jones?" "Not a bit of it. Will you marry me, Miss Smith?"

French Editor—Did you make a minute of yesterday's duel? Assistant—No, Monsieur; it was impossible. French Editor—Why? Assistant—Because it only ha i two seconds.

Father (sternly)—Joe, do you want me to put you in the dark closet? Little Joe (equivocally)—Papa, what makes you ask me such questions?

"How did that case against you by the man who broke his leg on your sidewalk go?" "It met with the same fate the plaintiff did." "What was that?" "Slipped up on an appeal."

"You are not the young lady to whom I give lessons," said the piano teacher. "No. The young lady to whom you give lessons is sick, and she has sent me to practice for her."

"Here's an apple, Johnny." "Thanks, ma'am. Now please gimme one for my little sister." "Certainly. How good of you to think of your little sister." Yes'm;

VON BÜLOW'S LETTER

After his Concert Tour, 1890.

To Wm. Knabe, Esq., Baltimore.

Dear Sirs,—My renewed and by more use—under aggravating circumstances, as bad health and irresponsible traveling—enhanced experience on your Pianos this (second and last tran-atlantic) season has throughout confirmed myself in the opinion I expressed last year, viz., that sound and touch of the Knabe Pianos are more sympathetic to my ears and hands than sound and touch of any other Pianos in the United States. As I met with frequent opportunities of establishing comparisons between the Knabe Pianos and instruments of rivalising or would-rivalising producers, I dare now add that I declare them the absolutely best in America.

With sincere regards,

Yours truly,

DR. HANS VON BÜLOW.

The National Conservatory is the Only Musical Institute
In America in which the ground work of a thorough musical education is laid, and the structure is afterward carried to completion. Its processes have been appointed without consideration of expense and wholly on their merits and reputation, and they form an

ADMIRABLE FACULTY,
With no end in view but the improvement of knowledge and the consequent elevation of the public taste, with no other revenue than that contributed by lovers of music and the very small regents derived from the nominal tuition charged, and with no competition who ever from talented candidates for admission unable to pay for higher-class tuition. It is believed that the National Conservatory adresses itself to all patriotic and music-loving Americans.

NATIONAL ENTERPRISE
Of the utmost importance in the artistic future of the land.

It has now been in existence six years; it enlists the services of fifty three instructors, some of international reputation. Its actual pupils number 2,6, and has supplied tuition, since its establishment, to 2,247 students.

PURPOSE AND SCOPE.
The Conservatory is open to all persons evincing sufficient talent to justify their admission. The full course of instruction covers from 3 to 5 years. Proficiency in the attendance and diligence of students.

The Vocal Course includes Singing, Solfeggio, Piano, Diction, History of Music, Deportment, Fencing and Chorus.

The Instrumental Studies include Piano, Organ, Harp, Violin, Viola, Violoncello, Contrabass, Flute, Oboe, Clarionet, Bassoon, French Horn, Cornet, Trombone, etc. An Orchestral Class is form d and also a special Children's Solfeggio Class.

ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS.
Voice—September 24 and 25, from 9 to 12 A.M.; from 1 to 5, and from 8 to 10 P.M. Applicants are required to bring their music.

THE "NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW"

SAYS OF THE CELEBRATED

SOHMER

PIANOS:

"No one can fail to notice in them every good quality which one is entitled to expect from a good instrument; a nobility, elasticity and sympathy of tone, and an extent of power which never fails, added to which a perfect evenness of touch in every octave—near perfection as has been thus far attained. Their touch unites with absolute precision a delicacy and pliability, and a most happy and responsive quality not found in the instruments of any other maker.

While the present firm of Sohmer & Co. was founded in 1872, its existence really extends further back than 1860. Its author and head, Mr. Hugo Sohmer, is a native of the Black Forest, in Germany, coming of a good family in comfortable circumstances, and was given a most finished scientific and literary education, at the same time acquiring a thorough knowledge of music and the pianoforte. At sixteen years of age he arrived in New York, and was apprenticed to piano-making in the factory of Schuyler & Ludolph. Thoroughly learning his trade with this firm, he returned to Europe in 1854, and worked in the various capitals, studying pianos, making critically and scientifically from every possible standpoint. In 1859 he returned to New York, and in 1862 commenced work on the vertical form of the idea which his training and travel had brought. He just was Mr. Joseph Sohmer, who, at various times in the firm; a piano-maker who studied the art and trade thoroughly in the Vienna shops, and added considerable experience gained in the shops of prominent makers. At present the firm consists, in addition to Messrs. Sohmer and Ander, of Mr. Charles Fair and George Bekhouse, each member of the firm being in charge of a special department, to which he devotes his entire energies. The concern now has, in addition to its extensive warehouse on Fourteenth Street and Third Avenue, a new factory at Astoria, which is the most magnificent and complete establishment in the country, and the advent of which has done much for Long Island in inducing other manufacturers to establish themselves there.

Even with the present average production of the firm, which is the high figure of forty pianos per week, it is not sufficient to supply the extensive demand, the firm being to-day largely in arrears of its orders.

A widely-spread constituency demanding these celebrated instruments, they may be had not only at the principal warerooms, 149 to 155 East Fourteenth Street, New York, but at Montreal, Canada; 226 State Street, Chicago; Union Club Building, San Francisco; 1522 Oliver Street, St. Louis, Mo.; 1125 Main Street, Kansas City; as also of local dealers throughout the country.

The laurels of the firm of Sohmer & Co. have been justly earned and cheerfully bestowed."

FOUR UNIQUE FEATURES

Entirely Original with that Train.

FINANCIAL REPORTS. Including the fluctuations of active stocks, the financial and commercial news of foreign and domestic markets, the weekly bank statement and the principal events of the day.

STENOGRAPHERS AND TYPE-WRITERS. Free for the use of passengers for conducting their correspondence en route. An Amanuensis with a machine on West and East bound trains. Letters and telegrams forwarded from the train.

LADIES' MAIDS. Experienced colored waiting maids to attend on ladies who may be traveling alone or with small children. Aged or infirm ladies receive their special care.

OBSERVATION CARS. Attached to the rear of the train, fitted with an open sitting-room, peculiarly attractive to ladies and children.

MINOR CHARACTERISTICS. But not less essential, are the magnificent Pullman Sleeping Apartments, single or en suite, bath-rooms for both sexes, a barber's saloon, inclined lavatories, superior dining service—everything that taste, comfort and luxury could demand, combining all the conveniences of home, hotel or club. During the summer the seats of the cars are upholstered in a light airy barcloth, peculiarly appropriate to the season.

The limited leaves New York every day from Station foot of Cortlandt and Desbrosses Streets, at 10.00 A. M., for Chicago and Cincinnati.

Tickets, reservations of space, may be procured at the office of the Company, or by addressing SAMUEL CARPENTER, Eastern Passenger Agent, 849 Broadway, New York.

CHAS. E. PUGH, General Manager. J. R. WOOD, General Passenger Agent.

After considerable delay, the second Strauss Album has made its appearance. The Oliver Ditson Company, of Boston, are the publishers, and they deserve credit for the elegant outfit of the book. The Eduard Strauss vignette is a perfect likeness and an artistic piece of work; the music is clear, distinct and correct, and the selections very clever. We especially mention those of Eduard Strauss, whose concert season in New York will close this week: "Life in America" (waltz), "In the Whirl" (polka), "As we sing we dance" (waltz), "Dancing Vienna" (polka), "Glowing Lights" (waltz), and many others. The book will, no doubt, be in great demand. It is to be obtained at Chas. H. Ditson & Co.'s, Broadway, between 19th and 20th Streets.

THE ÆOLIAN PARLOR ORCHESTRA.

THE MOST WONDERFUL AND PERFECT OF ALL MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

It combines Violin, Horn, Flute and Cello effects which gives it the variety and volume of a small Orchestra.

The instrument is entirely under the control of the performer, and all the beautiful changes of tempo and endless variety of orchestral effects can be given at will.

There is nothing that will give more real pleasure, or make the home more attractive than one of these instruments.

THE ÆOLIAN ORGAN AND MUSIC CO., 831 Broadway, New York.

My Dear Sirs:

Your Æolian Organ interests me greatly—so much so, that I take no hesitation in saying that I regard it as a very useful and meritorious invention. I can readily conceive that it will enable even those who cannot play to produce on the "Æolian" everything to which they wish to listen, for the manual skill that is necessary should be easily and quickly enough acquired by everybody.

I think I can safely predict a widespread popularity for this instrument. Believe me, that this is the very sincere wish of

Very truly yours,

Anton Seidl

It will interest and entertain every member of the family, as even those without a musical education can master the instrument with a few weeks practice.

The musical catalogue embraces over five thousand different selections, including all classes of music, from Operas and Symphonies to the lighter Ballads and Dance Music. Your visit to our warerooms to see the Æolian will be esteemed a favor.

Any piece of music ever composed can be obtained for the Æolian.

Dear Sir,—My renewed and by no means use-under aggravating circumstances, as bad health and tiresome traveling—enlarged experience of your Pianos this (second and last transatlantic) season has throughout confirmed myself in the opinion I expressed last year, viz., that sound and touch of the Knabe Pianos are more sympathetic to my ears and hands than sound and touch of any other Pianos in the United States. As I met with frequent opportunities of establishing comparisons between the Knabe Pianos and Instruments of rivalling or would-be-rivalling producers, I dare now add that I declare them the absolutely best in America. With sincere regards,

PROGRAMME.

GRAND PROMENADE CONCERTS.

ANTON SEIDL
AND HIS
METROPOLITAN ORCHESTRA.

TWENTY-FOURTH CONCERT.
Tuesday Evening, October 11, 1890.
AT 8 O'CLOCK.

GRAND POPULAR CONCERT.

PROGRAMME.

1. Overture—"Fra Diavolo".....Auber
2. Selections—"Traviata".....Verdi
3. Grand Centennial March.....Wagner

Anton Seidl tells the following characteristic story of Wagner's inability to gain inspiration from a subject of which he knew nothing: "After he had accepted the commission to write the 'Centennial March' for the Ladies' Committee of the Philadelphia Exhibition, he wandered, puzzled to distraction, about the streets of Bayreuth for days, trying to think of leading themes on which to build his musical structure. He often expressed his regret that he had undertaken the commission, because, as he acknowledged, he could not grasp the spirit of the subject he wished to illustrate in music. He was astonished and flattered at the magnificence of the sum offered him, which was more than he had received up to that time for the whole of his operas from German theatre publishers. But he was determined to compose the march. For a long time, however, he was unable to get any musical themes to work upon. He knew nothing of American history, or of the national melodies of the country, with the exception of 'America,' which he knew was the same as the Prussian and English national hymns. But something came to him at last. One day, after taking his accustomed walk in the beautiful surroundings of the city, he was returning to the city, when he had to pass through a very narrow and gloomy alley-way, which ends in a covered archway, and leads into the great square or market place. Walking through the dark, lone alley, his thoughts were occupied with a theme for the march which should represent the condition of the country in the dark days of the revolution when the people were engaged in the daily struggle against the British. This he had in his mind. Suddenly, while buried in thought, he came out through the archway upon the broad market place, which was bathed in clear, soft afternoon sunlight. All at once the contrast of the two scenes struck him and another theme came into his mind. It was as if he himself had left the bonds and fetters of gloom and uncertainty behind and had come into the full radiance of the light of freedom and victory. The contrast he afterwards worked out in the 'Centennial March.'"

INTERMISSION OF TEN MINUTES.

4. Overture—"Rienzi".....Wagner
5. Ballet Music.....Smareglia
("The Vassal of Seighet," Hungarian Ballet. New.)
6. Flower Girl Scene.....Wagner

In the second act of "Parsifal" occurs this wondrous scene. Parsifal enters the realm of Klingsor, the magician, who represents the spirit of evil. The wicked knight has fled, wounded, before Parsifal. The scene changes, and a garden of wondrous beauty rises to view, tropical vegetation and almost luxuriant growth of flowers. On the ramparts stands Parsifal gazing down upon the garden in astonishment. Lovely maidens, arrayed like flowers, rush in, bewailing their wounded knights. Upon seeing Parsifal they surround him, endeavor to caress him, and exert all their charms upon him.

7. Ballet Music—"ASCANIO" (new) ..... Saint-Saëns

(a) Entrance of the Master of Ceremonies. (Introduction.)
(b) Venus, Juno and Pallas. (Quaint old dance.)
(c) Diana, Dryades and Naiades. (Gavotte.)
(d) Bacchus and the Bacchantes. (Bacchanale.)
(e) Vision of Phœbus and the Muses.
(f) Phœbus' invocation to love.
(g) Love calls up Psyche. (Adagio.)
(h) Assemblage of Goddesses with the Muses, the Nymphs and Bacchantes.
(i) Variations for the Flute.
(k) The Dragon of Hesperides brings the golden apple.
(l) Final Waltz.

"Ascanio" is the latest operatic work from the pen of Camille Saint-Saëns, the foremost and most gifted of the modern French composers. It was recently produced in Paris, where it achieved a remarkable success. Shortly before its production the mysterious disappearance of M. Saint-Saëns, caused much anxiety to his friends and music lovers, and for some time it was feared he had been foully dealt with, as his whereabouts could no where be learned. It was during this time that his latest work was brought out in Paris, but he was not present to witness and enjoy its success. "Benvenuto Cellini" is one of the characters in the opera, and at a fete given by "Ascanio" in his honor, this ballet of Mythological characters is danced. The title of each part clearly indicates the action on the stage.

8. "The Nations" ..... Moszkowski

(a) Spain.
(b) Germany.
(c) Hungary.

Moskowski is a young composer, born in Prussian-Poland, and a German in musical training. He studied with Lutz, and has made some valuable contributions to the literature of the concert-room. A distinguished pianist, he has written much for that instrument, and has proven by his larger compositions that he possesses original ideas and a thorough knowledge of the resources of the modern orchestra.

9. Three Waltzes ..... Delibes

(a) Slow Waltz from "Sylvia"
(b) Marionet Waltz from "Coppelia."
(c) Entr'acte Waltz from "Naila."

These dances are scored most daintily, and are distinguished by the elegance and gracefulness in which French composers of ballet music particularly excel, and which has made Delibes' names from "Sylvia" and "Coppelia" favorites in orchestral programmes. Delibes selected his story for "Sylvia" from Tasso's pastoral "Aminta" (published in 1581, a subject which does not afford the same opportunity for action as "Coppelia," but his treatment of it is within does not afford the same opportunity for action as "Coppelia," but his treatment of it is admirable, and he has composed more truly poetic and more charming than the music to these ballets. The third waltz is an intermezzo from Delibes' ballet "Naila," and in its original form is hardly more than a sketch. Frank Doppler, the musical director of the ballet at the Vienna Opera, has filled out and enlarged this sketch to its present proportions. The first subject played by the violins is by Delibes. The second, a beautiful entire theme given out by the violoncello, is by Doppler.

INTERMISSION OF TEN MINUTES.

10. "Kermesse" ..... Godard

Godard's music possesses the charm of originality, and the grace and finish which is a distinguishing feature of the modern French school of composers. His melodies are beautiful in thought, and are ingeniously treated, and his orchestral writing is a proof of his musical scholarship.

11. "Near the Ball" ..... Gillet

(For String Orchestra.)

(a) Gillet's music possesses a dauntless, grace and melodious rhythm that is as unique as it is charming. He has written a number of compositions for string orchestra, but nothing more exquisite in their delicacy than "Near the Ball" can be found violoncellist, and in connected with an orchestra at Nice. Mr. Seidl was the first to introduce these charming compositions to American audiences.

12. Cornation March ..... Swendsen

Johann Severin Swendsen is a Norwegian by birth, and is, at the present time, Director of the Royal Opera at Copenhagen. This march was written for the coronation of the composer's august friend and patron, Oscar II., King of Norway and Sweden, which event took place on the 18th of September, 1829, and it was played for the first time on that occasion.

The ballet girl dosen't kick at what she is paid, but for what she is paid.

In an up town theatre lately a handsome young lady was heard to say to her escort: "Let us take supper, after the play, at the Dairy Kitchen on Union Square." Said he, "That suits me to a T." Said she, "They have the largest theatre trade of any place in the city, and the music is perfectly charming." She told the truth, and her reward will be a handsome box of our best D. K. Candies whenever she chooses to call for it.

The approaching Fall and Winter Season will cause those who desire and can afford to buy Fur Garments to provide themselves with these luxuries or necessities. Mr. A. Jaekel, at No. 17 East 19th street, is the leader of fashion in this branch of business, and the several grand medals he has received at the Paris Exposition sufficiently demonstrate this fact. He has now on exhibition a fine selection of Seal Garments of the latest styles, such as Jackets, Pellerines, Newmarkets, Saques, etc. His Capes, made of various modern furs, are acknowledged to be the best fitting and most admirable to be obtained.

DESCRIPTION
OF THE
NEW GARDEN THEATRE,
MADISON AVE. AND 27TH STREET.

SAM'L FRENCH & SON, - - - - - - - - General Managers.

The Garden Theatre, Madison Avenue and 27th Street, is on the ground floor, and was opened Saturday Evening, September 27th, with the latest London comedy success, entitled, "Doctor Bill."

This Theatre will compare favorably in size with the majority of the theatres in New York, seating 1,200, and accommodating 1,600.

The seating has been most carefully studied, every seat in the house commanding a perfect view of the stage. An innovation has also been attempted in keeping the stage itself low, so that those in the front rows can see the stage floor. The enclosure for the musicians is modeled on that of Bayreuth, and is sunk below the line of vision.

An endeavor has been made by the treatment of lines and architecture to give the audience a feeling of all being near the stage. To this end the proscenium arch has been brought forward to the level of the boxes and the entire framing of the stage made as rich and elaborate as possible. The most careful study has been made of the lines of the house to lead up and concentrate them on this central point.

The style of the theatre, which leans towards Louis XVI., has been most carefully carried out in the architecture, the decorations, the draperies and the delicate striped silk on the walls. It is also suggested in the drop curtain, which is a faithful copy of Boldini's picture of "The Park of Versailles" in the time of Louis XVI.

The decoration of the theatre is in the most permanent form, being entirely in relief and papier maché adorned with gold. The house when lighted in the evening will blaze with warmth and splendor.

The marble work, rich silks, curtains and portières making it the finest theatre in effect in the city.

VLADIMIR DE PACHMANN.

Newport, 14th April, 1892.

Messrs. Chickering and Sons
Gentlemen!

Da es meine Absicht ist ein Concertflügel für meinen eigenen Gebrauch, in Europa anzuschaffen so bitte ich Sie freundlichst mir den Preis und die Bedingungen mitzutheilen.

Die Chickering Flügel sind die bekannten Repräsentanten der Kunst des Klavierbaues und entsprechen, wie keine anderen, allen Erfordernissen der anspruchsvollsten Forderung, so dass Sie, in solchem Falle, mir wohl das Beste und Vollkommenste in der Welt empfehlen werden.

Hochachtungsvoll ergebenst
Vladimir de Pachmann.

(TRANSLATION.)

Messrs Chickering & Sons:
Gentlemen:

As it is my intention to take with me to Europe for my personal use, a Concert Grand, I beg you will acquaint me with the artist price of the same. The Chickering Pianos are the noblest products of the pianomaker's art, and respond, as no others do, to every requirement of the most exacting virtuoso; in other words, they attain the highest point of perfection and are the model instruments of the world.

Respectfully yours, VLADIMIR DE PACHMANN.

THE "NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW"

SAYS OF THE CELEBRATED

SOHMER

PIANOS:

"No one can fail to notice in them every good quality which one is entitled to expect from a good instrument; nobility, elasticity and utmost cleanness of tone, and an extent of power which never fails, added to which a perfect evenness of touch renders them an easy perfection as has been thus far attained. Their touch unites with absolute precision a delicacy and pliability, and a most happy and responsive quality not found in the instruments of any other maker.

While the present firm of Sohmer & Co. was founded in 1872, its existence really extends further back than 1860. Its author and head, Mr. Hugo Sohmer, is a native of the Black Forest, in Germany, coming of a good family in comfortable circumstances, and was given a most finished school and literary education, at the same time acquiring a thorough knowledge of music and the pianoforte. At sixteen years of age he arrived in New York, and was apprenticed to piano-making in the factory of Schuetze & Lindorph. Thoroughly learning this trade with this firm, he returned to Europe in 1859 and travelled in the various capitals, studying piano-making critically and scientifically from every possible standpoint. In 1860 he returned to New York, and in 1872 commenced embodying in practical form the ideas which his training and travel had brought. His partner was Mr. Joseph Koder, who still continues in the firm; a piano-maker of no attainments in the art and trade thoroughly in the Vienna shops, and added considerable experience gained in the shops of prominent makers. At present the firm consists, in addition to Messrs. Sohmer and Koder, of Mr. Charles Fahr and George Heilbronn, each member of the firm being in charge of a special department, to which he devotes his entire energies. The concern now has, in addition to its extensive warerooms on Fourteenth Street and Third Avenue, a new factory at Astoria, which is the most magnificent and complete establishment in the country, and the advent of which has done much for Long Island in inducing other manufacturers to locate themselves there.

Even with the present average production of the firm, which is the high figure of forty pianos per week, it is very insufficient to supply the extensive demand, the firm being to-day largely in arrears of its orders.

A widely-spread constituency demanding those celebrated instruments, they may be had not only at the principal warerooms, 149 to 155 East Fourteenth Street, New York, but at Montreal, Canada; 220 State Street, Chicago; Union Club Building, San Francisco; 1808 Olive Street, St. Louis, Mo.; 1108 Main Street, Kansas City; as also of local dealers throughout the country.

The laurels of the firm of Sohmer & Co. have been justly earned and cheerfully bestowed."

THE PENNSYLVANIA LIMITED
PRESENTS
FOUR UNIQUE FEATURES
Entirely Original with that Train.

FINANCIAL REPORTS. Including the fluctuations of active stocks, the financial and commercial news of foreign and domestic markets, the weekly bank statement and the principal events of the day.

STENOGRAPHERS AND TYPE-WRITERS. Free for the use of passengers for conducting their correspondence en route. An Amanuensis with a machine on West and East bound trains. Letters and telegrams forwarded from the train.

LADIES' MAIDS. Experienced colored waiting maids to attend on ladies who may be travelling alone or with small children. Aged or infirm ladies receive their special care.

OBSERVATION CARS. Attached to the rear of the train, fitted with an open sitting-room, peculiarly attractive to ladies and children.

MINOR CHARACTERISTICS. But not less essential, are the magnificent Pullman Sleeping Apartments, single or en suite, bath-rooms for both sexes, a barber's saloon, inclosed lavatories, superior dining service—everything that taste, comfort and luxury could demand, combining all the conveniences of home, hotel or club. During the summer the seats of the cars are uphostered in a light airy haircloth, peculiarly appropriate to the season.

The limited leaves New York every day from Station foot of Cortlandt and Desbrosses Streets, at 10 00 A. M., for Chicago and Cincinnati.

Tickets, reservations of space, may be procured at the office of the Company, or by addressing SAMUEL CARPENTER, Eastern Passenger Agent, 849 Broadway, New York.

CHAS. E. PUGH, General Manager. J. R. WOOD, General Passenger Agent.

After considerable delay, the second Strauss Album has made its appearance. The Oliver Ditson Company, of Boston, are the publishers, and they deserve credit for the elegant outfit of the book. The Eduard Strauss vignette is a perfect likeness and an artistic piece of work; the music is clear, di tinct and correct, and the selections very clever. We especially mention those of Eduard Strauss, whose concert season in New York will close this week: "Life in America" (waltz), "In the Whirl" (polka), "As we sing we dance" (waltz), "Dancing Vienna" (polka), "Glowing Lights" (waltz), and many others. The book will, no do bt, be in great demand. It is to be obtained at Chas. H. Ditson & Co.'s, Broadway, between 19th and 20th Streets.

ÆOLIAN PARLOR ORCHESTRA

THE MOST WONDERFUL AND PERFECT OF ALL MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

It combines Violin, Horn, Flute and Cello effects which gives it the variety and volume of a small Orchestra.

The instrument is entirely under the control of the performer, and all the beautiful changes of tempo and endless variety of orchestral effects can be given at will.

There is nothing that will give more real pleasure, or make the home more attractive than one of these instruments.

THE ÆOLIAN ORGAN AND MUSIC CO., 831 Broadway, New York.

My Dear Sirs:

Your Æolian Organ interested me greatly—so much so, that I take no hesitation in saying that I regard it as a very useful and meritorious invention. I can readily conceive that it will enable even those who cannot play to produce on the "Æolian" everything in which they wish to listen, for the manual skill that is necessary should be easily and quickly enough acquired by everybody.

I think I can safely predict a wides read popularity for this instrument. Believe me, that this is the very sincere wish of

Very truly yours,

Anton Seidl

New York, April 21, 1890.

It will interest and entertain every member of the family, as even those without a musical education can master the instrument with a few weeks practice.

The musical catalogue embraces over five thousand different selections, including all classes of music, from Operas and Symphonies to the lighter Ballads and Dance Music. Your visit to our warerooms to see the Æolian will be esteemed a favor.

Any piece of music ever composed can be obtained for the Æolian.

VON BÜLOW'S LETTER
After his Concert Tour, 1890.

To Wm Knabe, Esq., Baltimore.
Dear Sir,—My renewed and by more use—under aggravating circumstances, as bad health and tiresome traveling—enlarged experience of your Pianos this (second and last transatlantic) season has throughout confirmed myself in the opinion I expressed last year, viz. that sound and touch of the Knabe Pianos are more sympathetic to my ears and hands than sound and touch of any other Pianos in the United States. As I met with frequent opportunities of such flashing comparisons between the Knabe Pianos and Instruments of rival standing of world-rivalling producers, I dare now add that I declare them the absolutely best in America. With sincere regards,
Yours Truly,

GRAND PROMENADE CONCERTS.

ANTON SEIDL
AND HIS
METROPOLITAN ORCHESTRA.

THIRD CONCERT,

Monday Evening, September 22, 1890,

AT 8 O'CLOCK.

PROGRAMME.

1. March—"Troyenne" ..... Berlioz
A Triumphal March, drawn from the "Fall of Troy," is used by the composer through the score of "The Trojans in Carthage" to characterize his hero and the mission against which the unhappy Dido's love is wrecked; and, finally, to usher in the eventual overthrow of Carthage by placing it under the clouds of threats, which the Carthaginians hurl after the departing Trojan ships.—(Kreibiel.)

2. Overture—"Midsummer-night's Dream" ..... Mendelssohn

3. { (a) Aragonaise, } from the "Carmen Suite" ..... Biset
{ (b) Toreador, } .....

4. Dances (from "Bal Costumé"). ..... Rubinstein
This suite, which consists of a number of dances, is divided into two series, and is descriptive of the brilliant scenes, the gaiety and merriment of a fancy-dress ball. The music is characteristic of the different nations, and shows Rubinstein's wonderful power as a writer of descriptive music, and his mastership in "Musical Nationalization."

5. "Three Nations" ..... Moszkowski
(a) Spain.
(b) Germany.
(c) Hungary.
Moszkowski is a young composer, born in Prussian-Poland, and a German in musical training. He studied with Liszt, and has made some valuable contributions to the literature of the concert-room. A distinguished pianist, he has written much for that instrument, and has proved by his large compositions that he possesses original ideas and a thorough knowledge of the resources of the modern orchestra.

FOREIGN NOTES.

It is not generally known that Cuba produces three grades of tobacco—the "Remedios," or third grade, raised in the eastern end of the Island called in Spanish Vuelta Arriba; the "Partido," grown in the centre part; and the first grade famous the world over, called, after the district in which it is produced, "Vuelta Abajo." Strange as it may seem, they speak of an Havana cigar in the eastern part of Cuba the same as we do here in New York, meaning a cigar made from the celebrated "Vuelta Abajo" tobacco. The district being small, the supply is limited; and, as the demand is great, it is not easy to obtain reliable cigars. Nearly all manufacturers in Havana and surrounding towns, and at Key West, work the second grade tobacco—"Partido." The real fine tobacco—the incomparable "Vuelta Abajo—is manufactured into cigars at Havana by a few leading firms only. In the front rank will be found the great EDEN factory of Bances & Lopez. The well-known house of Calixto, Lopez & Co., growers of, and dealers in, this choice tobacco, furnish the Eden factory with the very finest stock; and no connoisseur, no one who can appreciate delicate aroma in tobacco, will ever be disappointed with an Eden cigar.

The New York Branch of the firm of Calixto, Lopez & Co. supply the stands in the Madison Square Garden with all the brands of imported cigars they offer.

The readers of the Madison Square Garden Programme and the admirers of Strauss music should not fail to buy the "Strauss Album," published by C. H. Ditson & Co., 867 Broadway, N. Y. The Album is finely gotten up, and contains a number of old and new waltzes, polkas, galops and mazurkas. Of the old ones the Pizzicati polka, by Johann and Joseph, is the most charming, and of the new a waltz called "Veni and Vidi," by Eduard Strauss, deserves special mention. It possesses all the elements of a brilliant waltz and has a sentimental and well-balanced introduction. Messrs. C. H. Ditson & Co. promises a further edition of new Strauss music, which will be out in a few weeks.

6. "Danse Macabre"..... Saint-Saens
This is the third of the French composer's Symphonic Poems. The grim monarch, Death, invites his skeleton guests to come forth from their graves for a dance at mid-night. At the hour named, the uncanny ones arrive, and dance to a weird waltz measure until the cock crows, when the gruesome revelers hie them back to their graves.

7. { (a) Love Scene (from "Serenade")..... Herbert
{ (b) Polonaise.
(For String Orchestra.)
Victor Herbert, who has been in America but a few years, occupies a foremost place as a virtuoso and composer His compositions show originality, musical taste and melodic invention, and his clever instrumentation proves his knowledge of the technicalities of his art. Victor Herbert is a grandson of Samuel Lover, and Dublin is the city of his birth Much of his life, before coming to this country, was passed in Stuttgart, where he pursued his musical studies.

8. Symphonic Poem—"Les Préludes"..... Liszt
Of the twelve Symphonic Poems which Liszt wrote, "Les Préludes" is the third. As a motto for musical illustration, he has prefaced his score with a passage from Lamartine's "Meditations Poetiques." Liszt has sought to portray some of the salient points in the drama of Life, in which Love plays the principal rôle.

9. Suite—"Peer Gynt"..... Grieg
(a) Morning.
(b) Asa's Death.
(c) Anitra's Dance.
(d) Dance in the Halls of the Mountain King.
Heinrich Ibsen's dramatic poem, "Peer Gynt," furnishes the subject-matter which has inspired Grieg's composition. Peer Gynt is a young Norwegian peasant, bold and reckless, and whose character is not without a sinister side. He lives with his mother, Aas, whose love for him is strong, and who has implicit belief in him. His rival having won the hand of Anitra, a Solveig loves Peer; and, as his guardian angel, watches over him through all the years of his wild life; though he neglects and deserts her, and sinks lower and lower. She, with the patience and trust born of true love, awaits in the mountains his return to his better-self. When, as an old man, weary with wanderings, he returns to the Hall of the Mountain King, he hears a Whitsun song, sung by Solveig, and recognizes the voice of his good angel.

INTERMISSION OF TEN MINUTES.

10. "Kaiser Marsch"..... Wagner
This work was Wagner's patriotic tribute to commem rate the triumph of the German armies in France, and the near establishment of the German Empire in 1871. It was first performed at a grand concert in Berlin, on the 9th of May, 1871, for the benefit of the "Konig Wilhelm Verein," when it aroused the enthusiasm of a vast audience, which included the victorious monarch, Emperor William.

11. Ballet Music—"L'Africaine"..... Meyerbeer
12. { (a) Persian Slave Dance (from the "King of Lahore")..... Massenet
{ (b) Bacchanale (from "Philémon et Baucis")..... Gounod
The Opera of "Philémon et Baucis," was brought out in 1860, and, though it contains some pleasing music, it did not achieve a success. The Bacchanal, and the song of Vulcan are, perhaps, the best known numbers of Gounod's opera.

13. Ballet Suite—"Sylvia"..... Delibes
(a) Cortège.
(b) Valse Lente.
(c) Pizzicati.
(d) Bacchanale.

THE CHICKERING PIANO USED EXCLUSIVELY.
The Mason and Hamlin Liszt Organ Exclusively used by the Madison Square Garden.

THE CHICKERING PIANO
—AND—
VLADIMIR DE PACHMANN.

Newyork, 18th April, 1891.

Messrs. Chickering and Sons,
Gentlemen!

Da ich meine Absicht habe
eine Concertreise für meinen eigenen
Gebrauch, in Europa zu machen so bitte ich Sie freundlichst mir ein Stutz
Flügel für meine künstlerischen
Zwecke
Ihre Chickering Flügel sind die berühmtesten
Erzeugnisse der Kunst des Pianofortebaues und entsprechen, wie keine anderen, allen Bedingungen des ausgebildetsten Virtuosen,
in anderen Worten, sie erfüllen die höchste
Kunst des Pianomachers und sind das
Meisterinstrument der Welt.
Hochachtungsvoll ergebenst
Wladimir de Pachmann.

(TRANSLATION.)

Messrs Chickering & Sons:
Gentlemen:
As it is my intention to take with me to Europe for my personal use, a Concert Grand, I beg you will acquaint me with the artist price of the same. The Chickering Pianos are the noblest products of the pianomaker's art, and respond, as no others do, to every requirement of the most exacting virtuoso; in other words, they attain the highest point of perfection and are the model instruments of the world.
Respectfully yours, Vladimir de Pachmann.

DOCTOR BILL.

The New Farce Comedy

WITH WHICH THE

"GARDEN THEATRE WILL OPEN.

The theatre in connection with the Madison Square Garden will open on September 27, with a new farce comedy, entitled "Doctor Bill." Dr. William Brown is a young practitioner, and settled down to domesticity after a busy career as ladies' doctor. Very many of his patients having moved in the livelier walks of the drama, in the most agreeable and entertaining of these he has taken considerable interest as a friend rather than as a doctor. However, he has sufficient income to live without his profession, and he has determined to practice no more. His father-in-law, Mr. Firman, objects to this—for he believes that work is good for the young. Firman sends out circulars broadcast announcing the eagerness of Dr. William Brown to prescribe for his fellow creatures.

During Brown's absence from the house the old gentleman has a huge brass plate affixed to the door—of course without his son-in-law's knowledge—inviting consultation. Opposite to Dr. Brown there live a Mr. and Mrs. Horton. He, a superintendent of police, irritable and suspicious; she, a pleasure-loving lady with a wise knowledge of the world, who believes in the frailties of mankind, their proneness to flirtations and general inconstancy.

Mrs. Brown, on the other hand, thoroughly believes that her husband, the Doctor, is possessed of all the virtues. Mrs. Horton is sceptical; she sends for Dr. Brown in order to ascertain whether he has any of the tendencies she has observed in some other practitioners, notably in her old friend Dr. Bill, and that she shall report to his wife the result of her investigations. Brown, however, when he receives a letter begging him to call on Mrs. Horton, declines at first to do so, and gives his answer for delivery to a young friend, Mr. George Webster, who has, as it happens, been much struck by the fascinations of the lady at a fancy fair. The idea occurs to him of gaining an interview by presenting himself as Dr. William Brown. This scheme he carries out, and soon convinces Mrs. Horton that her new acquaintance, Mrs. Brown, is far too credulous with regard to her husband. She therefore persuades the "doctor" to go into an adjoining room—unlighted—and wait there while she sends for his wife. Mrs. Brown promptly arrives, and is told where she may find her "husband" who—it being dark—will suppose that the in-comer is his hostess. The echo of a resounding box on the ear is the only intimation of what takes place. Mrs. Horton locks the door of that room, and puts the key on the table.

Presently the real Dr. Brown appears upon the scene. Mrs. Horton recognizes her old friend, Dr. Bill; but, when she finds who he really is, she swoons in his arms, and, to bring her round, the doctor puts the key down her back.

It has the desired effect, and she pushes the doctor into another dark room, hoping to get rid of his wife away without discovery. But the key—where is the key with which to let her out?

Here the fun reaches its full height, and the scene "brings down the house."

It is down Mrs Horton's back, and in her resolve to get at it she begins to tear off her things. The confusion comes to a climax when the jealous Superintendent of Police reaches home. —N. Y. World.

This building is plastered with "King's Windsor Cement," a material which is fire, water and vermin proof. A brief statement of the advantages of King's Windsor Cement is in order: It has 300 per cent. more tensile strength than lime and hair plastering, and therefore must materially strengthen the structure. It is 100 per cent. harder than lime and hair plastering, and therefore renders the walls less liable to injury. It will not chip or pit. It requires one-third less labor. Houses finished with this material can be occupied with safety from four to six weeks earlier than those finished in the old method. Work done with this material does not require any sizing for decorating or painting. Mortar made of this material has one-third less water in it than the old style of lime and hair mortar. The work can be finished with any material and is warranted not to discolor it. The material can be finished in any style that the ordinary plastering can. It adheres equally well to any building material. Experience has proved that ceilings well soaked from leaking roofs have not been injured where this material has been used. It seasons so rapidly that carpenters can follow the plasterers almost immediately, and the two sets of mechanics can practically work at the same time. It is particularly valuable for setting tile, slabs, and laying front brick. It requires less material than the old system, there is much less weight on the building, and adds to, rather than detracts from, the strength of the building. It has elasticity and great tensile strength, which enables the surface to be decorated or painted within a very short time after it is applied. No more shrinkage of wood-work from green planter where this material is used. Any mechanic who understands his trade can apply it. Among the numerous buildings where it has been used to the entire satisfaction of the owners we note, besides the Madison Square Garden, the New York C. & H. R. RR. Co.'s depots at Yonkers and Niagara Falls; Dr. Meredith's Church; Lincoln Club; residences of Eben J. Knowlton and H. C. Hulbert, in Brooklyn; Arlington House, Washington, D. C.; Hier Flats, Syracuse, New York; Mr. George Westinghouse's Villa at Lenox, Mass.; Kobbin's Island Club, Long Island; Holland House, in course of construction at 5th Avenue and 30th Street; U. S. Court House and Post Office at Williamsport, Pa., and many other places throughout the country too numerous to mention. The manufacturers will be glad to send further particulars, including sample, and a list of prominent builders and architects who employ this material. Address, J. B. King & Co., patenters and sole manufacturers, 24 State Street, New York. We also manufacture King's Diamond Brand Calcined Plaster.

FOREIGN NOTES.

It is not generally known that Cuba produces three grades of tobacco—the "Remedios," or third grade, raised in the eastern end of the Island called in Spanish Vuelta Arriba; the "Partido," grown in the centre part; and the first grade famous the world over, called, after the district in which it is produced, "Vuelta Abajo." Strange as it may seem, many speak of an Havana cigar in the eastern part of Cuba the same as we do here in New York, meaning a cigar made from the celebrated "Vuelta Abajo" tobacco. The district being small, the supply is limited; and, as the demand is great, it is not easy to obtain reliable cigars. Nearly all manufacturers in Havana and surrounding towns, and at Key West, work the second grade tobacco—"Partido." The real fine tobacco—the incomparable "Vuelta Abajo—is manufactured into cigars at Havana by a few leading firms only. In the front rank will be found the great EDEN factory of Bances & Lopez. The well-known house of Calixto, Lopez & Co., growers of, and dealers in, this choice tobacco, furnish the Eden factory with the very finest stock; and no connoisseur, no one who can appreciate delicate aroma in tobacco, will ever be disappointed with an Eden cigar.

The New York Branch of the firm of Calixto, Lopez & Co. supply the stands in the Madison Square Garden with all the brands of imported cigars they offer.

MASON & HAMLIN.

Their New Piano and Organ Warerooms on Fifth Avenue.

Owing to the steadily increasing demand for the Mason & Hamlin Piano—and for its world-famous companion, the Mason & Hamlin Organ—the Mason & Hamlin Company have leased and have just moved into elegant and spacious quarters at 156 Fifth Avenue, between 20th and 21st Streets. Every facility is here afforded for the proper display of the magnificent instruments made by this time-honored firm, and a delightful music hall has also been provided especially for the charming recitals given each season by this musical firm.

The firm of Decker Brothers is one of the foremost in the country, and occupies a very enviable position in the Piano Trade. They manufacture an instrument which is second to none, and acknowledged by eminent artists to possess a rich singing tone, immense power, and fine mechanism. Messrs. Decker Bros. employ the most skillful workmen, personally select the material, and superintend their work. To possess a Decker Piano means to have procured the best.

The readers of the Madison Square Garden Programme and the admirers of Strauss music should not fail to buy the "Strauss Album," published by C. H. Ditson & Co., 867 Broadway, N. Y. The Album is finely gotten up, and contains a number of old and new waltzes, polkas, galops and mazurkas. Of the old ones the Pizzicati polka, by Johann and Joseph, is the most charming, and of the new a waltz called "Veil and Crown," by Eduard Strauss, deserves special mention. It possesses all the elements of a brilliant waltz and has a sentimental and well-balanced introduction. Messrs. C. H. Ditson & Co. promise a further edition of new Strauss music, which will be out in a few weeks.

Those of our readers who sojourn or intend going in the country should not fail to read the advertisement of Mr. A. Jaeckel, the Furrier, No. 11 East 19th Street, on page 3. He is the leader of fashion in his line of business, and he received the Grand Gold Medal at the Paris Exposition in 1889. His Summer Capes for sea shore, mountain, and evening receptions, are made of the finest furs, of elegant material, and are guaranteed to be an absolute fit. We deem these garments marvels of beauty and an absolute necessity in completing the outfit of a lady whose summer months are spent in the country. Parties should not omit to send their winter furs to Mr. A. Jaeckel on storage. The charge is but nominal

In an up town theatre lately a handsome young lady was heard to say to her escort: "I let us take supper, after the play, at the Dairy Kitchen on Union Square." Said he, "That suits me to a T." Said she, "They have the largest theatre trade of any place in the city, and the music is perfectly charming." She told the truth, and her reward will be a handsome box of our best D. K. Candies whenever she chooses to call for it.

The 100th Night Programme.

Advantage will no doubt be taken by the public of the announcement that Strauss and the grand ballets will shortly finish their season at the Madison Square Garden Amphitheatre. But two weeks longer remain to witness this combination. On Wednesday evening next, the immense bill of the 100th performance will be repeated, in addition to which Signor Tagliapietro will be heard in the grand bull-fighting aria of "The Toreador" from "Carmen." He will be aided by the five Austrian and German singing societies. Other popular operatic selections in English and German will be heard during the evening.

"DOCTOR BILL."

"Doctor Bill" will hold consultations every evening from 8 until 10:30 at the "Garden Theatre," beginning Monday, September 29th. Prescriptions can now be filled by mail, telephone or in person, and, as Doctor Botcherby says to Hester Cratebrook, "they are nice and easy to take."

LONDON.—Max Hambourg, the latest infant pianist (age eleven), made his second appearance on the 21st ult., at Prince's Hall, creating a more favorable impression than at his debut; his playing of a Bach prelude and fugue was quite remarkable in one so young.

"Hamlet," the opera which was the most recently presented at the Covent Garden, received excellent treatment at the hands of Mme. Melba and Richard, MM. Jean de Reszke, Plançon and Isnardon; the original French text was used. The season was to have closed on the 25th ult. with a performance of "Carmen," our talented country woman assuming the title role with Jean de Reszke (Jose) and Lassalle (Escamillo).

SIXTH AVENUE AND 20TH STREET.

This building is plastered with "King's Windsor Cement," a material which is free from water and vermin proof. A brief statement of the advantages of King's Windsor Cement is in order: It has 300 per cent. more tensile strength than lime and hair plastering, and therefore most materially strengthen the structure. It is 100 per cent. harder than lime and hair plastering, and therefore renders the walls less liable to injury. It will not chip or pit. It requires one-third less labor. Houses finished with this material can be occupied with safety from four to six weeks earlier than those finished in the old method. Work done with this material does not require any sizing for decorating or papering. Mortar made of this material has one-third less water in it than the old style of lime and hair mortar. The work can be finished with any material and is warranted not to discolor it. The material can be finished in any style that the ordinary plastering can. It adheres equally well to any building material. Experience has proved that ceilings well soaked from leaking roofs have not been injured where this material has been used. It seasons so rapidly that carpenters can follow the plasterers almost immediately, and the two sets of mechanics can practically work at the same time. It is peculiarly valuable for setting tile, slabs, and laying from brick. It requires less material than the old system, there is much less weight on the building, and adds to, rather than detracts from, the strength of the building. It has elasticity and great tensile strength, which enables the surface to be decorated or painted within a very short time after it is applied. No more shrinkage of woodwork from green plaster where this material is used. Any mechanic who understands his trade can apply it. Among the numerous buildings where it has been used to the entire satisfaction of the owners we note, besides the Madison Square Garden, the New York C. & H. R. R. R. Co.'s depot at Yonkers and Niagara Falls; Dr. Meredith's Church; Lincoln Club; residences of Eben J. Knowlton and H. C. Hulbert, in Brooklyn; Arlington House, Washington, D. C.; Hier Flats, Syracuse, New York; Mr. George Westinghouse's Villa at Lenox, Mass.; Robbin's Island Club, Long Island; Holland House, in course of construction at 4th Avenue and 30th Street; U. S. Court-House and Post Office at Williamsport, Pa., and many other places throughout the country too numerous to mention. The manufacturers will be glad to send further particulars, including sample, and a list of prominent builders and architects who employ this material. Address, J. B. King & Co., patentees and sole manufacturers, 19 State Street, New York. We also manufacture King's Diamond Brand Calcined Plaster.

VON BÜLOW'S LETTER
After his Concert Tour, 1890.

To Wm. Knabe, Esq., Baltimore.

Dear Sir.—My renewed and by more use—under aggravating circumstances, as bad health and tiresome traveling—enlarged experience of your Pianos this (second and last transatlantic) season has throughout confirmed myself in the opinion I expressed last year, viz.: that sound and touch of the Knabe Pianos are more sympathetic to my ears and hands than sound and touch of any other Pianos in the United States. As I met with frequent opportunities of establishing comparisons between the Knabe Pianos and instruments of rivaling or would-rivaling producers, I dare now add that I declare them the absolutely best in America. With sincere regards,

Yours Truly,
DR. HANS VON BÜLOW.

CUBAN TOBACCOS.

It is not generally known that Cuba produces three grades of tobacco—the "Remedios," or third grade, raised in the eastern end of the Island, called in Spanish Vuelta Arriba; the "Partido," grown in the centre part; and the first grade, famous the world over, called, after the district in which it is produced, "Vuelta Abajo." Strange as it may seem, they speak of an Havana cigar in the eastern part of Cuba the same as we do here in New York, meaning a cigar made from the celebrated "Vuelta Abajo" tobacco. The district being small, the supply is limited; and, as the demand is great, it is not easy to obtain reliable cigars. Nearly all manufacturers in Havana and surrounding towns, and at Key West, work the second grade tobacco—"Partido." The real fine tobacco—the incomparable "Vuelta Abajo"—is manufactured into cigars at Havana by a few leading firms only. In the front rank will be found the great EDEN factory of Bances & Lopez. The well-known house of Calixto, Lopez & Co., growers of, and dealers in, this choice tobacco, turn ish the Eden factory with the very finest stock; and no connoisseur, no one who can appreciate delicate aroma in tobacco, will ever be disappointed with an Eden cigar.

The New York branch of the firm of Calixto, Lopez & Co. supplies the stands in the Madison Square Garden with all the brands of imported cigars they offer.

Their New Piano and Organ Warerooms on Fifth Avenue.
Owing to the steadily increasing demand for the Mason & Hamlin Piano—and for its world-famous companion, the Mason & Hamlin Organ—the Mason & Hamlin Company have leased and have just moved into elegant and spacious quarters at 148 Fifth Avenue, between 20th and 21st Streets. Every facility is here afforded for the proper display of the magnificent instruments made by this time-honored firm, and a delightful music hall has also been provided especially for the charming recitals given each season by this musical firm.

The firm of Decker Brothers is one of the foremost in the country, and occupies a very enviable position in the Piano Trade. They manufacture an instrument which is second to none, and acknowledged by eminent artists to possess a rich singing tone, immense power, and fine mechanism. Messrs. Decker Bros. employ the most skillful workmen, personally select the material, and superintend their work. To possess a Decker Piano means to have procured the best.

The readers of the Madison Square Garden Programme and the admirers of Strauss music should not fail to buy the "Strauss Album," published by C. H. Ditson & Co., 867 Broadway, N. Y. The Album is finely gotten up, and contains a number of old and new waltzes, polkas, galops and mazurkas. Of the old ones the Pizzecati polka, by Johann and Joseph, is the most charming, and of the new a waltz called "Veil and Crown," by Eduard Strauss, deserves special mention. It possesses all the elements of a brilliant waltz and has a semi-mental and well-balanced introduction. Messrs. C. H. Ditson & Co. promises a further edition of new Strauss music, which will be out in a few weeks.

Those of our readers who sojourn or intend going in the country should not fail to read the advertisement of Mr. A. Jaeckel, the Furrier, No. 11 East 19th Street, on page 3. He is the leader of fashion in his line of business, and he received the Grand Gold Medal at the Paris Exposition in 1889. His Summer Capes for sea shore, mountain, and evening receptions, are made of the finest furs, of elegant material, and are guaranteed to be an absolute fit. We deem these garments marvels of beauty and an absolute necessity in completing the outfit of a lady whose summer months are spent in the country. Parties should not omit to send their winter furs to Mr. A. Jaeckel on storage. The charge is but nominal

In an uptown theatre lately a handsome young lady was heard to say to her escort: "Let us take supper, after the play, at the Dairy Kitchen on Union Square." Said he, "That suits me to a T." Said she, "They have the largest theatre trade of any place in the city, and the music is perfectly charming." She told the truth, and her reward will be a handsome box of our best D. K. Candies whenever she chooses to call for it.

Sunday Nights with Strauss.

The management has the pleasure to announce that Strauss and his Imperial and Royal Vienna Court Orchestra will appear every Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock, in a programme embracing his own compositions, together with the works of Beethoven, Mozart, Gounod, Mendelssohn, Wagner, Balfe, Flotow Schubert and Liszt. For these Sunday night concerts, the entire Amphitheatre (except boxes) will be opened to the public at 50 cents, and the seats in boxes sold at $1 each. Places can now be secured without extra charge.

A new four-act lyric opera, by E. Chapuis, entitled "Enguerrande," is announced for performance at the Opera Comique next year The question now is, How will M. Paravey find time to rehearse and produce the forty odd acts which he has promised to bring out during the coming season, when for the past years the average has been from six to eight acts per season?

BARCELONA.—Professor Sabalza, of the Music School, has composed an opera, "The Bells of Roncal," which will receive its initial performance at a concert given in memory of the great tenor, Gayarré, lately deceased.

Conductor Bimboni's new opera, "La Modella," was given with flattering success on the 18th ult., at the Lirico Theatre.

BILBAO.—On the 13th ult. "Lohengrin" was produced, creating extraordinary enthusiasm. The principal singers were Arkel (Elsa), Pasqua (Ortruda), Cardinali (Lohengrin), and Battistini (Telramondo). The conductor, Goula, received great applause, and divided the honors with the vocalists.

This building is plastered with "King's Windsor Cement," a material which is fire, water and vermin proof. A brief statement of the advantages of King's Windsor Cement is in order: It has 900 per cent. more tensile strength than lime and hair plastering, and therefore must materially strengthen the structure. It is 100 per cent. harder than lime and hair plastering, and therefore renders the walls less liable to injury. It will not chip or pit. It requires one-third less labor. Houses finished with this material can be occupied with safety from four to six weeks earlier than those finished in the old method. Work done with this material does not require any tinting for decorating or papering. Mortar made of this material has one-third less water in it than the old style of lime and hair mortar. The work can be finished with any material and is warranted not to discolor it. The material can be finished in any style that the ordinary plastering can. It adheres equally well to any building material. Experience has proved that ceilings well soaked from leaking roofs have not been injured where this material has been used. It seasons so rapidly that carpenters can follow the plasterers almost immediately, and the two sets of mechanics can practically work at the same time. It is peculiarly valuable for setting tile, slabs, and laying front brick. It requires less material than the old system, there is much less weight on the building, and adds to, rather than detracts from, the strength of the building. It is elasticity and great tensile strength, which enables the surface to be decorated or painted within a very short time after it is applied. No more shrinkage of wood-work from green plaster where this material is used. Any mechanic who understands his trade can apply it. Among the numerous buildings where it has been used to the entire satisfaction of the owners, we note, besides the Madison Square Garden, the New York C. & H. R. RR. Co.'s depots at Yonkers and Niagara Falls; Dr. Meredith's Church; Lincoln Club; residences of Eben J. Knowlton and H. C. Hulbert, in Brooklyn; Arlington House, Washington, D. C.; Hier Flats, Syracuse, New York; Mr. George Westinghouse's Villa at Lenox, Mass.; Robbin's Island Club, Long Island; Holland House, in course of construction at 5th Avenue and 30th Street; U. S. Court House and Post Office at Williamsport, Pa., and many other places throughout the country too numerous to mention. The manufacturers will be glad to send further particulars, including sample, and a list of prominent builders and architects who employ this material. Address, J. B. King & Co., patentees and sole manufacturers, 24 State Street, New York. We also manufacture King's Diamond Grand Calcined Plaster.

Sunday Nights with Strauss.

The great success achieved by Eduard Strauss and his Orchestra in giving the Public the most excellent concerts of popular music ever heard here, has induced the management to announce that, until further notice, Sunday Night Concerts will be given at the Madison Square Gardan Amphitheatre, where the world-renowned director and composer will conduct his own entrancing works together with the compositions of the most eminent tone-poets.

A desirable feature at these Concerts will be that five thousand seats in the Orchestra and Arena will be opened to the Public at Fifty Cents each, and the Box seats placed at One Dollar. Tickets can now be secured at the Box Office.

LONDON.—The performance lately given of Meyerbeer's "Le Prophète" at Covent Garden is admitted to have been one of the best since Mario's time, according to a certain English journal. The principal roles were filled by Jean de Reszké (Jean de Leyde), Mme. Richard (Fides) and Mme. Nuovina (Berthe). The first-named achieved a remarkable success, Mme. Richard ably seconded his efforts, but was vocally weak, her high notes and intonation being at times uncertain.

The performance of "St. Paul" at Crystal Palace was attended by an audience of nearly 23,000 persons. The chorus was one of the largest ever assembled in London, numbering 2,500 adult and 500 children's voices. The orchestra of 500 (a rather large one) was conducted by Mr. Manns. The choral and instrumental forces were exceedingly well-balanced, though the altos were somewhat weak. The execution, with the exception of some slight uncertainties of attack, was accurate and highly impressive in effect. Of the soloists, Mmes. Albani and Patey and Messrs. Lloyd and Watkin Mills were received with particular favor.

At the Westminster Abbey festival, given in aid of the Royal Society of Musicians, on the 10th inst., the soloists were Mme. Nordica, Mrs. Patey, Messrs. Lloyd and Mills. The chorus and orchestra numbered 500, under the direction of Professor Bridge.

MASON & HAMLIN.

Their New Piano and Organ Warerooms on Fifth Avenue.

Owing to the steadily increasing demand for the Mason & Hamlin Piano—and for its world-famous companion, the Mason & Hamlin Organ—the Mason & Hamlin Company have leased and have just moved into elegant and spacious quarters at 158 Fifth Avenue, between 20th and 21st Streets. Every facility is here afforded for the proper display of the magnificent instruments made by this time-honored firm, and a delightful music hall has also been provided especially for the charming recitals given each season by this musical firm.

Travelers to Europe will find the accommodations afforded by the Cheque Bank of inestimable value. These cheques are accepted in payment by hotels and can be cashed at all times and all hours. In view of this fact it would be imprudent for Travelers to cumber themselves with coin or bills. We consider the method of the Cheque Bank by far the cheapest, safest and best form of carrying foreign exchange, and recommend their agents, Messrs. E. J. Mathews & Co., No. 2 Wall Street, this city, to the attention of our readers.

Don Aurelio Ceruelos, the distinguished Spanish pianist from the Conservatory of Paris, has been engaged by Signor De Vivo for a long tour in the United States, Canada, British Columbia and Mexico with the "Alhalia Grand Operatic Concert Company," which will begin in New York on or about September 20. Señor Ceruelos besides being a brilliant pianist, is a clever composer. He has already published fifty-eight pieces for piano and various songs. The most noted piano composition is a "Tarantella" for fourteen pianos, lately performed in Havana with great success. His latest composition is "The Spanish Patrol," dedicated to Mrs. Grover Cleveland. Señor Cerueloss is knighted for his artistic ability by the late King Alfonso of Spain.

The readers of the Madison Square Garden Programme and the admirers of Strauss music should not fail to buy the "Strauss Album," published by C. H. Ditson & Co., 867 Broadway, N. Y. The Album is finely gotten up, and contains a number of old and new waltzes, polkas, galops and mazurkas. Of the old ones the Pizzecati polka, by Johann and Joseph, is the most charming, and of the new a waltz called "Veil and Crown," by Eduard Strauss, deserves special mention. It possesses all the elements of a brilliant waltz and has a sentimental and well-balanced introduction. Messrs. C. H. Ditson & Co. promises a further edition of new Strauss music, which will be out in a few weeks.

The firm of Decker Brothers is one of the foremost in the country, and occupies a very enviable position in the Piano Trade. They manufacture an instrument which is second to none, and acknowledged by eminent artists to possess a rich singing tone, immense power, and fine mechanism. Messrs. Decker Bros. employ the most skillful workmen, personally select the material, and superintend their work. To possess a Decker Piano means to have procured the best.

Those of our readers who sojourn or intend going in the country should not fail to read the advertisement of Mr. A. Jaeckel, the Furrier, No. 11 East 19th Street, on page 3. He is the leader of fashion in his line of business, and he received the Grand Gold Medal at the Paris Exposition in 1889. His Summer Capes for sea shore, mountain, and evening receptions, are made of the finest furs, of elegant materials, and are guaranteed to be an absolute fit. We deem these garments marvels of beauty and an absolute necessity in completing the outfit of a lady whose summer months are spent in the country. Parties should not omit to send their winter furs to Mr. A. Jaeckel on storage. The charge is but nominal.

MILAN.—Those who are supposed to know, assert that Gomez, the Brazilian composer and protege of Dom Pedro, is composing an opera for the Scala; this, with Spiro Samara's "Ljonella," makes two new works to be brought out next season at the famous opera house which will be under the management of Sonzogno, the great musical publisher; Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" and Masscnet's "Le Cid" also figure on the preliminary announcements, and will be given in Milan for the first time, so that the outlook is very promising for a brilliant and successful season.

NAPLES.—At the Sannazaro Theatre, a new opera, "Un bacio alla regina," by Camillo de Nardis, was received with indulgent favor last month. The execution of the work left much to be desired.

FOREIGN NOTES.

PARIS.—Godard's "Dante" seems to have been definitely placed on the retired list, as we surmised last week. Messager's "Basoche" holds its own and is given two or three times a week, alternating with operas of the regular Opera Comique repertory. The receipts are unusually high for the season, running from 5,000 to 6,300 francs per night.

Berlioz's "La prise de Troie" ("Les Troyens ?") will be given at the Odeon, with Lamoureux conductor, under the auspices of the "Société des Grandes Auditions de France," which high sounding and magnilo[illegible]ent title has been adopted by a society whose avowed object in life is the encouragement of national composers.

Ernest Guiraud, one of the lights of the "new" French school, is writing an opera, entitled "Frédégonde et Brynhilde"; intended for the Grand Opera. M. Guiraud is an American by birth, his native city being New Orleans.

Johann Strauss recently received 3,000 francs ($600) from royalties on his waltzes played by the barrel organs of the French capital.

The Marquis de Saint Hilaire recently presented a Siradivarius violin to the Museum of the Conservatoire; the instrument, which is of the "long" shape, dates from 1699.

Mme. Pauline Viardot-Garcia has composed an operetta entitled "Le Dernier Magicien," which was recently heard in her salon. The subject is taken from a Persian story by Tourgénieff. The music is pretty and elegant.

DOLLS' OUTFITS.

CHOOSING THE NATIONAL FLOWER.

ARGUMENT.

In Flora's garden the flowers are sleeping. As dawn appears the insects commence their overture to the rising sun. The ferns shake out their fronds as the Morning Breeze and the butterflies awakening flutter round their favorite blossoms. The bees challenge the bright-winged flies and urge their right to the sweetest calyx in the garden.

The South Wind passes over the combatants and wakens all the flowers, filling the air with entrancing odors and blending the opening petals in color-harmonies. And so the garden's day begins.

Columbia has long been seeking for some gem from Flora's garden which shall represent the National Flower of America; as the Lily France, the Red Rose England, or the Shamrock Erin's island home.

But how can she make her choice where all of Flora's gifts are so lavish? The South Wind cannot advise, for his breath sends petals flying. The Butterflies, incorrigible flirts, stay with no love, and laugh at constancy.

How can she appeal to the Bees who rob the secrets of a thousand blooms? How question the Dragon Flies who dart across the air and disappear?

But at Columbia's prayer Flora herself appears in person and exhibits her treasures; the saintly Lily, the heart-easing Pansy, the modest Violet, the dainty Daisy, the stately Cactus, and all the brightest blossoms of her realm. The Goddess decks the ground with baskets of flowers while butterflies are caught to gem the dewy grass. Columbia is embarrassed in her choice. Enticed by the Pond Lily she is at last subdued by the gorgeous Golden Rod, and after her selection has been ratified by the Goddess Flora, after the marvelous Orchids, arriving from the tropics, have congratulated her on her choice, Columbia elevates her Gold n Rod to the high position of America's National Flower, and all the buds combine to form the splendid bouquet which is the Goddess' gift to our favored land.

PEACE AND WAR.

GRAND ROMANTIC BALLET IN ONE ACT.

Written, designed and invented, by ALFRED THOMPSON, Member of the Dramatic Authors' Societies of England, France and America.

The Dances arranged by LEON ESPINOSA, late of the Imperial Opera, St. Petersburg.

The Music expressly composed by PAUL CRESSONOIS, of Paris.

ARGUMENT.

Before the old city's gates beneath the turreted ramparts of its walls, the Place d'Armes is alive with merry-makers. Young men and maidens are filling the air with laughter while the elder citizens carouse and drink to the peaceful days they are enjoying. The Burgomaster's daughter is about to wed a rich merchant's son and the wedding is to crown the fete which such a time of peace allows. The bridal procession is saluted by the citizens, while the bridesmaids express their happiness in an epithalamium.

The Burgomaster drinks to their prosperity and the best dancers in the city join in a Czardas that sets every foot in motion. All is peace, there is not a thought of war, but a distant gun spreads consternation over every face. Fear and horror take the place of joy and gladness. Suddenly, with a blast of alarm, the heralds and trumpeters of Bellona force their way into the square. War is declared! Bellona, the Goddess of War, is here! Surrounded by her suite and mounted on her Dragon Car, which slaves drag sullenly along, while the dogs of war show their bloody fangs in menace, Bellona dominates the scene while the crowds of citizens cower round or fly in terror to shelter. The fatal Goddess describes the beauty of War and the clarion calls the combatants to arms. Now Bellona's troops pass before their queen in review: Barbarians of the Iron Age; the Nimrods of Nineveh; the Champions of Pharaoh's Court; the Centurions of the Roman Republic; the Pyrrhic Heroes of Etruria; the Templars of the Crusades; the Tourney-Knights of Nuremburg; the Swiss Lansquenets; the Hussars of Hungary; the Grenadiers of the Guard; the winged cohort of Chevaliers-Gardes; and last the glittering phalanx of Bellona's own fantastic Amazons.

Here, the Phyrric dance, figures forth the hand-to-hand combats of real war.

The heroes, wearying of this mimic warfare, clamor for their prisoners. Beautiful slaves taken in victory are dragged forward to be sold to the highest bidder. One, more beautiful than the rest, indignant at her cruel treatment, after a delirious dance of fascination, kills herself with her own poignard rather than fall into the hands of her ravishers. A quarrel arises among the soldiery for the remaining slaves which is arrested by the entrance of Discord and the Furies. Bellona quells the brutal instincts of her troops and forms her army for the attack on the city.

The Testudo is raised to scale the ramparts, and the Goddess of War and her Furies direct the scene.

The attack is made, the walls crumble and fall, and in the sky beyond the Angel of Peace descends while the Valkyrie, the Angels of Consolat on, drive away the horrible Demons of War.

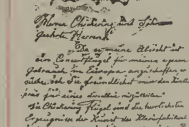
VLADIMIR DE PACHMANN.



(TRANSLATION.)

MESSRS. CHICKERING & SONS:
GENTLEMEN:
As it is my intention to take with me to Europe for my personal use, a Concert Grand, I beg you will acquaint me with the artist price of the same. The Chickering Pianos are the noblest products of the pianomaker's art, and respond, as no others do, to every requirement of the most exacting virtuoso; in other words, they attain the highest point of perfection and are the model instruments of the world.
Respectfully yours, VLADIMIR DE PACHMANN.

Witness—Impossible, sir. It was the day I didn't have to buy any of my children a pair of shoes

Wife—"The physician thinks that you need a tonic, John, and has left me a prescription." Sick man—"What is it?" Wife (reading the prescription)—"Well, there's beef—iron—" Sick man—"Yah, beef and iron, what good is that fool stuff going to do?" Wife—"I haven't finished reading it yet, John; there's beef, iron, wine—" Sick man—"Wine, too? Well, you send over to the drug store and get a lot of it put up and we'll see what it's like."

INSTRUCTION TO WAITERS.—Landlord (aside to new waiter)—Mind you pay every attention to that stout gentleman yonder with the bloated face and wildly flashing eyes. He is a coarse, ill-mannered brute, and if he does not get exactly what he likes he is apt to throw the plate at your head. But as for that other gentleman, with the bald head and the close-cropped whiskers, sitting by himself at the side table, you can treat him without ceremony. Broken scraps of meat, the emptyings of wine and beer glasses—anything is good enough for him. He is a nice, amiable, well-bred gentleman, who will never give you a cross word.—Gartenlaube.

FOREIGN NOTES.

LONDON.—Lady Charles Halle (Mrs. Norman Neruda (contemplates a concert tour in the United States during the coming season.

Mme. Carreno gave her first recital on the 29th ult., creating an uncommonly favorable impression. Her best effort was her magnificent interpretation of Schumann's "Études Symphoniques;" MacDowell's "Witches' Dance" and a charming "Intermezzo in A," by the reciter, were received with great applause, and were encored, as was Henselt's "Si Oiseau j'etais" and Rubinstein's "Valse Caprice."

Mr. Frederic Clifford's "Orchestral Picture," entitled "Clouds and Sunshine," received its initial performance at the first Philharmonic concert. The execution of the young English composer's maiden work was a masterly one, and reflected great credit on Mr. Cowen, who conducted the orchestra. Mr. Clifford's composition was received with great favor, and, on its conclusion, its author was twice called to the platform amidst general enthusiasm.

Sarasate's first concert since his return from America was given on the 7th inst.

Paderewski has been engaged by the Messrs. Chappell, and was announced to appear on the 10th inst. in an orchestral concert under Mr. Henschel's directorship.

BERLIN.—Xavier Scharwenka is engaged upon an opera entitled "Mataswintha." He had parts of it performed before a few invited guests recently; the vocal solos were sung by Frauleins Friede and Asmann, Messrs. Zarnekoff and von Milde, assisted by a chorus and a pianoforte accompaniment. According to some competent musicians who attended the performance, the new work contains many effective pages, particularly in the second act.

Mme. Sembrich, having finished her St. Petersburg season, is now singing at the Kroll Theatre with enormous success.

FLORENCE.—The Swedish prima donna, Sigrid Arnoldson, is singing with great success at the Niccolini Theatre. She is called the new Patti, and attracts immense audiences. An Italian journal calls attention to a curious fact in connection with la Arnoldson, i. e., that her husband is a nephew of the late Marquis de Caux, at one time the husband of Mme. Patti.

ROME.—The second of the three operas chosen for public performance in the Sonzogno competition has just been produced at the Costanzi, and according to the Trovatore created a most favorable impression on critics and public, the latter being aroused to genuine enthusiasm. The new opera is "Cavalleria Rusticana," by Pietro Mascagni, a young Sicilian who has given evidence in his first work of being the possessor of considerable musical knowledge, besides originality and abundance of inspiration; the work is in one act and from beginning to end is fresh and spontaneous; one incident follows another, the interest constantly increasing until the final climax of great dramatic as well as musical intensity is reached with stupendous effect.

PARMA.—The directorship of the Conservatory has been accepted for the time being by Arrigo Boito, who hopes to soon be able to transfer the reins of office to his friend Faccio. Faccio is improving daily, but it is feared that it will be many months before he will be in a condition to enter on the active duties of his position.

AN ABSOLUTELY FIRST-CLASS PIANO.

"I am sorry to give you pain, Mr. Ferguson," she said to the kneeling youth, "but your score is a goose egg this time." "Not much, Miss Kajones," he replied haughtily, as he rose up and took his hat; "you can't prevent me from scoring a home run."

Jenkins (to Brown, earnestly)—"Brown what would you say if I were to ask you to lend me twenty dollars?" Brown (reflectively)—"What would I say? Oh, I would probably say 'Ho, ho, ho—ha, ha, ha—wow, wow, wow,' or something of that sort Jenkins."

"Waiter, bring me a couple of soft-boiled eggs." Voice at next table—The same for me. But, waiter, be sure they are fresh. "All right." Waiter's voice in the distance—Four soft-boiled eggs; two must be fresh.

MASON & HAMLIN.
Their New Piano and Organ Warerooms on Fifth Avenue.
Owing to the steadily increasing demand for the Mason & Hamlin Piano—and for its world-famous companion, the Mason & Hamlin Organ—the Mason & Hamlin Company have leased and have just moved into elegant and spacious quarters at 158 Fifth Avenue, between 16th and 21st Streets. Every facility is here afforded for the proper display of the magnificent instruments made by this time-honored firm, and a delightful music hall has also been provided especially for the charming recitals given each season by this musical firm.

The attention of our readers is called to the removal of Messrs. A. Besthoff & Son to 935 Broadway (extending through to 137 Fifth Avenue), For the past so years or more, this firm has been established in this city as importers of European novelties, the finest leather goods, bronzes and fancy goods of every description, and has gained an enviable reputation. Their present spacious stores have been fitted up at an expense of over $40,000, and present an elegant appearance, and when completed will, no doubt, be the handsomest establishment of the kind in New York. Messrs. Besthoff & Son only seek the patronage of the critical, and with that object one of the firm frequently pays a visit to Europe in order to personally select the choicest novelties with circumspection and rare artistic taste.

On the 8th of May the popular firm of piano makers, Messrs. Kranich & Bach was incorporated as a stock company under the laws of the State of New York. The capital stock is $300,000, fully paid up. The officers of the new company are President, Jacques Bach; Vice-President, Fred. Kranich; Treasurer, Hellmuth Kranich, and Secretary, Louis P. Bach. The stock is entirely held by Messrs. Kranich & Bach and their sons. There will be no change in policy of the firm and the business has been incorporated simply for convenience and in conformity with the policy which led to the incorporation of such firms as Steinway & Sons, Chickering & Sons, Mason & Hamlin, Behr Bros., Geo. Steck & Co, Henry F. Miller & Sons, Emerson Piano Co., Wheelock & Co., Hallet & Davis, Hanover Bros., Ditson & Co., Vose & Sons, and many others. There is a rumor that before the close of this year Messrs. Kranich & Bach, the eminent piano manufacturers, will open their own branch house in Chicago. Mr. Bach is at present in Europe with his family, and it is said that on his return the final arrangements will be completed.

The Mason and Hamlin Liszt Organ Exclusively used by the Madison Square Garden.

Max Maretzek, the genial veteran, is giving some "finishing" lessons to a young California, by name Ollie Archmere. Miss Archmere has a fine kind of singing soubrette and very successful. Max heard her and saw great possibilities. He is now educating her in all the great soprano roles. Next year she is to go to the Paris Conservatory, and then, when her studies are completed, she is to make her debut at the Opera Comique. Her voice is said to be very pure and melodious, added to which she has an engaging presence and a charming figure. Max is very enthusiastic about her and prophesies great things.

One thing is certain: if the pupil is worthy of her master, she will make a great success.

The London Times of May 24 thus speaks of Mme. Nordica's rentree at the Philharmonic concert. "Nordica, who was in splendid voice, sang Beethoven's 'Ah Perfido,' in magnificent style, expressing its various changes of emotion with consummate art. The whole was excellent, but the delivery of the recitative had a fire and passion that a very few artists now living could have attained. The prayer of Elisabeth from 'Tannhäuser' made less demands upon the singer but was scarcely less beautifully sung."

The Strauss Concerts.

Eduard Strauss and his Vienna Orchestra, together with the two ballets of "Peace and War" and "Choosing the National Flower," will be the all-summer attraction at the Madison Square Garden Amphitheatre, beginning next Monday night. The inauguration will be such as New Yorkers have never witnessed. Everything which savors of elegance, ease, beauty, and culture has been gathered to adorn this great amphitheatre. The wonder is that we have been able to get along without such a place of amusement all these years, and the projectors have undoubtedly worked for the public good as well as for their own interest. Nothing we have had since New York was incorporated as a city looked more like success than does this vast enclosure with its magnificent surroundings.

At the close of the performance a serenade will be tendered to Mr. Strauss at the Hotel Brunswick. Mr. T. Henry French and Mr. Arpad Bauer will see to the necessary arrangements, and the Hungary Band of the Eden Musee, under Erdelyis Naczi, and the Oesterreich Singing Society will combine. The singing society, with over fifty voices, will sing "Das Deutsche Lied," "Nechet da" and wo Rosen blühen," and a Tyrol waltz.

ST. PETERSBURG.—The Arcadia Summer Theatre will be called henceforth the Ziem Theatre; it will be opened shortly for a season of grand opera in French. Among the artists engaged is the famous baritone Devoyod, a great favorite of the St. Petersburg public; he will probably appear in Halévy's "Charles VI."

BARCELONA.—The Liceo Opera House reopened on the 8th ult. with "Lucrezia Borgia," sung with great success by Borghi-Mamo, Moretti, Vidal, etc.; on the 11th Bizet's "Fanciulla di Perth" was given for the first time in Barcelona, and was received with enthusiasm, several numbers being encored; the rôle of the protagonist was filled by Señorita Carrera, a pupil of Sig. Goula, orchestra leader, who made her debut on this occasion.

HIS SUCCESS IN CHICAGO.

The reports from Chicago are equally enthusiastic as those from other cities as regards the Strauss Orchestra. The Inter-Ocean sings of his "wonderful witchery;" the Chicago News exclaims, "More ideal waltz p'aying could not be imagined;" the Tribune writes that his music was imbued with a poetic quality that amounted to a revelation; the Times displays striking headlines: "A Tremendous, Brilliant and Fashionable Audience—One Now Appreciates How This Orchestra has Won World-Wide Fame—The Delicious Whirl—Electric Dash and Absolute Perfection of Tempo, Accent and Rhythm," while the Herald sadly complains: "Strauss has captured Chicago. He won the battle with a single shot, and Chicago gracefully surrendered. The city is his." The Staats Zeitung, the great German paper, agrees with the rest in acknowledging Strauss' victory, and adds: "The orchestra not merely played dance music incomparably. Such numbers as Gounod's "Dove," Reinecke's "Evening Prayer," and others were played so finely and with such precision that they won many recalls, and with extraordinary beauty was played the potpourri from "The Mikado," whose finale was again given on a recall." At the first concert, between the first and second parts, a laurel wreath was presented to Herr Strauss from the German-Austrian Society Vindobona. It bore the inscription, "From the German Austrians of Chicago to the Waltz King."

MILAN.—We understand that the Maestro Leopoldo Mugnone has been appointed orchestra leader at the Scala Opera House.

CONDUCTOR SIGFRIED HEHRENS, of Philadelphia, opened the summer season of opera at Schlitz's Park, Milwaukee, with the "Huguenots," June 9. The troupe is the Hess English Opera Company. Among the principals is Mr. William Castle, the well remembered tenor.

DOLLS' OUTFITS.

CHOOSING THE NATIONAL FLOWER.

ARGUMENT.

In Flora's garden the flowers are sleeping. As dawn appears the insects commence their overture to the rising sun. The ferns shake out their fronds as the Morning Breeze and the butterflies awakening flutter round their favorite blossoms. The bees challenge the bright-winged flies and urge their flight to the sweetest calyx in the garden.

The South Wind passes over the combatants and wakens all the flowers, filling the air with entrancing odors and blending the opening petals in colorharmonies. And so the garden's day begins.

Columbia has long been seeking for some gem from Flora's garden which shall represent the National Flower of America; as the Lily France, the Red Rose England, or the Shamrock Erin's island home.

But how can she make her choice where all of Flora's gifts are so lavish?

The South Wind cannot advise, for his breath sends petals flying. The Butterflies, incorrigible flirts, stay with no love, and laugh at constancy.

How can she appeal to the Bees who rob the sweets of a thousand blooms? How question the Dragon Flies who dart across the air and disappear?

But at Columbia's prayer Flora herself appears in person and exhibits her treasures; the saintly Lily, the heart-easing Pansy, the modest Violet, the dainty Daisy, the stately Cactus, and all the brightest blossoms of her realm. The Goddess decks the ground with baskets of flowers while butterflies are caught to gem the dewy grass Columbia is embarrassed in her choice. Enticed by the Pond Lily she is at last subdued by the gorgeous Golden Rod, and after her selection has been ratified by the Goddess Flora, after the marvelous Orchids, arriving from the tropics, have congratulated her on her choice, Columbia elevates her Gold n Rod to the high position of America's National Flower, and all the buds combine to form the splendid bouquet which is the Goddess' gift to our favored land. PEACE AND WAR.

GRAND ROMANTIC BALLET IN ONE ACT.

Written, designed and invented, by ALFRED THOMPSON, Member of the Dramatic Authors' Societies of England, France and America.

The Dances arranged by LEON ESPINOSA, late of the Imperial Opera, St. Petersburg.

The Music expressly composed by PAUL CRESSONOIS, of Paris.

ARGUMENT.

Before the old city's gates beneath the turreted ramparts of its walls, the Place d'Armes is alive with merry-makers. Young men and maidens are filling the air with laughter while the elder citizens carouse and drink to the peaceful days they are enjoying. The Burgomaster's daughter is about to wed a rich merchant's son and the wedding is to crown the fete when such a time of peace allows. The bridal procession is saluted by the citizens, while the bridesmaids express their happin..ss in an epithalamium.

The Burgomaster drinks to their prosperity and the best dancers in the city join in a Czardas that sets every foot in motion. All is peace, there is not a thought of war, but a distant gun spreads consternation over every face. Fear and horror take the place of joy and gladness. Suddenly, with a blast of alarm, the heralds and trumpeters of Bellona force their way into the square. War is declared! Bellona, the Goddess of War, is here! Surrounded by her suite and mounted on her Dragon Car, which slaves drag sullenly along, while the dogs of war show their bloody fangs in menace, Bellona dominates the scene while the crowds of citizens cower round or fly in terror to shelter. The fata' Goddess describes the beauty of War and the clarion calls the combatants to arms. Now Bellona's troops pass before their queen in review: Barbarians of the Iron Age; the Nimrods of Nineveh; the Champions of Pharaoh's Court; the Centurions of the Roman Republic; the Pyrrhic Heroes of Etruria; the Templars of the Crusades; the Tourney-Knights of Nuremburg; the Swiss Lansquenets of Hungary; the Grenadiers of the Guard; the winged cohort of Chevaliers-Gardes; and last the glittering phalanx of Bellona s own fantastic Amazons.

Here, the Phyrric dance, figures forth the hand-to-hand combats of real war.

The heroes, wearying of this mimic warfare, clamor for their prisoners. Beautiful slaves taken in victory are dragged forward to be sold to the highest bidder. One, more beautiful than the rest, indignant at her cruel treatment, after a delirious dance of fascination, kills herself with her own poignard rather than fall into the hands of her ravishers. A quarrel arises among the soldiery for the remaining slaves which is are led by the entrance of Discord and the Furies. Bellona quells the brutal instincts of her troops and forms her army for the attack on the city.

The Testudo is raised to scale the ramparts, and the Goddess of War and her Furies direct the scene.

The attack is made, the walls crumble and fall, and in the sky beyond the Angel of Peace descends while the Valkyrie, the Angels of Consolation, drive away the horrible Demons of War. A. T.

Counsel to witness, the father of a large family—Why are you so certain, Mr. Smith, that the event occurred on such a date? May you not be mistaken?

Witness—Impossible, sir. It was the day I didn't have to buy any of my children a pair of shoes.

Wife—"The physician thinks that you need a tonic, John, and has left me a prescription." Sick man—"What is it?" Wife (reading the prescription)—"Well, there's beef—iron—" Sick man—"Yah, beef and iron, what good is that fool stuff going to do?" Wife—"I haven't finished reading it yet, John; there's beef, iron, wine—" Sick man—"Wine, too? Well, you send over to the drug store and get a lot of it put up and we'll see what it's like."

INSTRUCTION TO WAITERS.—Landlord (aside to new waiter)—Mind you pay every attention to that stout gentleman yonder with the bloated face and wildly flashing eyes. He is a coarse, ill-mannered brute, and if he does not get exactly what he likes he is apt to throw the plate at your head. But as for that other gentleman, with the bald head and the close-cropped whiskers, sitting by himself at the side table, you can treat him without ceremony. Broken scraps of meat, the emptyings of wine and beer glasses—anything is good enough for him. He is a nice, amiable, well-bred gentleman, who will never give you a cross word.—Gartenlaube.

FOREIGN NOTES.

LONDON.—Lady Charles Halle (Mme. Norman Neruda (contemplates a concert tour in the United States during the coming season.

Mme. Carreno gave her first recital on the 29th ult., creating an uncommonly favorable impression. Her best effort was her magnificent interpretation of Schumann's "Etudes Symphoniques;" MacDowell's "Witches' Dance" and a charming "Intermezzo in A," by the reciter, were received with great applause, and were encored, as was Hensel's "Si Oiseau j'etais" and Ruhinstein's "Valse Caprice."

Mr. Frederic Clifford's "Orchestral Picture," entitled "Clouds and Sunshine," received its initial performance at the first Philharmonic concert. The execution of the young English composer's maiden work was a masterly one, and reflected great credit on Mr. Cowen, who conducted the orchestra. Mr. Clifford's composition was received with great favor, and, on its conclusion, its author was twice called to the platform amidst general enthusiasm.

Sarasate's first concert since his return from America was given on the 7th inst.

Paderewski has been engaged by the Messrs. Chappell, and was announced to appear on the 10th inst. in an orchestral concert under Mr. Henschel's directorship.

BERLIN.—Xavier Scharwenka is engaged upon an opera entitled "Matasswintha." He had parts of it performed before a few invited guests recently; the vocal solos were sung by Frauleins Friede and Asmann, Messrs. Zarnekoff and von Milde, assisted by a chorus and a pianoforte accompaniment. According to some competent musicians who attended the performance, the new work contains many effective pages, particularly in the second act.

Mme. Sembrich, having finished her St. Petersburg season, is now singing at the Kroll Theatre with enormous success.

FLORENCE.—The Swedish prima donna, Sigrid Arnoldson, is singing with great success at the Niccolini Theatre. She is called the new Patti, and attracts immense audiences. An Italian journal calls attention to a curious fact in connection with la Arnoldson, i. e., that her husband is a nephew of the late Marquis de Caux, at one time the husband of Mme. Patti.

ROME.—The second of the three operas chosen for public performance in the Sonzogno competition has just been produced at the Costanzi, and according to the Trovatore created a most favorable impression on critics and public, the latter being aroused to genuine enthusiasm. The new opera is "Cavalleria Rusticana," by Pietro Mascagni, a young Sicilian who has given evidence in his first work of being the possessor of considerable musical knowledge, besides originality and abundance of inspiration; the work is in one act and from beginning to end is fresh and spontaneous; one incident follows another, the interest constantly increasing until the final climax of great dramatic as well as musical intensity is reached with stupendous effect.

PARMA.—The directorship of the Conservatory has been accepted for the time being by Arrigo Boito, who hopes to soon be able to transfer the reins of office to his friend Faccio. Faccio is improving daily, but it is feared that it will be many months before he will be in a condition to enter on the active duties of his position.

AN ABSOLUTELY FIRST-CLASS PIANO.

"I am sorry to give you pain, Mr. Ferguson," she said to the kneeling youth, "but your score is a goose EGG this time." "Not much, Miss Kajones," he replied haughtily, as he rose up and took his hat; "you can't prevent me from scoring a home run."

Jenkins (to Brown, earnestly)—"Brown what would you say if I were to ask you to lend me twenty dollars?" Brown (reflectively)—"What would I say? Oh, I would probably say 'Ho, ho, ho—ha, ha, ha—wow, wow, wow,' or something of that sort Jenkins."

"Waiter, bring me a couple of soft-boiled eggs." Voice at next table—The same for me. But, waiter, be sure they are fresh. "All right." Waiter's voice in the distance—Four soft-boiled eggs; two must be fresh.

MASON & HAMLIN.
Their New Piano and Organ Warerooms on Fifth Avenue.
Owing to the steadily increasing demand for the Mason & Hamlin Piano—and for its world-famous companion, the Mason & Hamlin Organ—the Mason & Hamlin Company have leased and have just moved into elegant and spacious quarters at 158 Fifth Avenue, between 20th and 21st Streets. Every facility is here afforded for the proper display of the magnificent instruments made by this time-honored firm, and a delightful music hall has also been provided especially for the charming recitals given each season by this musical firm.

The attention of our readers is called to the removal of Messrs. A Besthoff & Son to 935 Broadway (extending through to 150 Fifth Avenue). For the past 20 years or more, this firm has been established in this city as importers of European novelties, the finest leather goods, bronzes and fancy goods of every description, and has gained an enviable reputation. Their present spacious stores have been fitted up at an expense of over $40,000, and present an elegant appearance, and when completed will, no doubt, be the handsomest establishment of the kind in New York. Messrs. Besthoff & Son only seek the patronage of the critical, and with that object one of the firm frequently pays a visit to Europe in order to personally select the choicest novelties with circumspection and rare artistic taste.

On the 8th of May the popular firm of piano makers, Messrs. Kranich & Bach was incorporated as a stock company under the laws of the State of New York. The capital stock is $300,000, fully paid up. The officers of the new company are President, Jacques Bach; Vice-President, Fred. Kranich; Treasurer, Hellmuth Kranich, and Secretary, Louis P. Bach. The stock is entirely held by Messrs. Kranich & Bach and their sons. There will be no change in policy of the firm and the business has been incorporated simply for convenience and in conformity with the policy which led to the incorporation of such firms as Steinway & Sons, Chickering & Sons, Mason & Hamlin, Behr Bros., Geo. Steck & Co, Henry F. Miller & Sons, Emerson Piano Co., Wheelock & Co., Hallet & Davis, Conover Bros., Ditson & Co., Vose & Sons, and many others. There is a rumor that before the close of this year Messrs. Kranich & Bach, the eminent piano manufacturers, will open their own branch house in Chicago. Mr. Bach is at present in Europe with his family, and it is said that on his return the final arrangements will be completed.

The Piano used by the Madison Square Garden is from the celebrated firm of Chickering & Sons.

The Mason and Hamlin Liszt Organ Exclusively used by the Madison Square Garden.

Max Maretzek, the genial veteran, is giving some "finishing" lessons to a young California, by name Ollie Archmere. Miss Archmere had been a kind of singing soubrette and very successful. Max heard her, and saw great possibilities. He is now educating her in all the great soprano roles. Next year she is to go to the Paris Conservatory, and then, when her studies are completed, she is to make her debut at the Opera Comique. Her voice is said to be very pure and melodious, added to which she has an engaging presence and a charming figure. Max is very enthusiastic about her and prophesies great things.

One thing is certain: If the pupil is worthy of her master, she will make a great success.

The London Times of May 24 thus speaks of Mme. Nordica's rentree at the Philharmonic concert. "Nordica, who was in splendid voice, sang Beethoven's 'Ah Perfido,' in magnificent style, expressing its various changes of emotion with consummate art. The whole was excellent, but the delivery of the recitative bad a fire and passion that a very few artists now living could have attained. The prayer of Elizabeth from 'Tannhäuser' made less demands upon the singer but was scarcely less beautifully sung."

The Strauss Concerts.

Eduard Strauss and his Vienna Orchestra, together with the two ballets of "Peace and War" and "Choosing the National Flower," will be the all-summer attraction at the Madison Square Garden Amphitheatre, beginning next Monday night. The inauguration will be such as New Yorkers have never witnessed. Everything which savors of elegance, ease, beauty, and culture has been gathered to adorn this great amphitheatre. The wonder is that we have been able to get along without such a place of amusement all these years, and the projectors have undoubtedly worked for the public good as well as for their own interest. Nothing we have had since New York was incorporated as a city looked more like success than does this vast enclosure with its magnificent surroundings.

At the close of the performance a serenade will be tendered to Mr. Strauss at the Hotel Brunswick. Mr. T. Henry French and Mr. Arpad Bauer will see to the necessary arrangements, and the Hungary Band of the Eden Musee, under Erdelys Naczi, and the Oesterreich Singing Society will combine. The singing society, with over fifty voices, will sing "Das Deutsche Lied," "Noch ist die Zeit wo Rosen blühen," and a Tyrol waltz.

ST. PETERSBURG.—The Arcadia Summer Theatre will be called henceforth the Eden Theatre; it will be opened shortly for a season of grand opera in French. Among the artists engaged is the famous baritone Devoyod, a great favorite of the St. Petersburg public; he will probably appear in Halévy's "Charles VI."

BARCELONA.—The Liceo Opera House reopened on the 8th ult. with "Lucrezia Borgia," sung with great success by Borghi-Mamo, Moretti, Vidal, etc.; on the 11th Bizet's "Fanciulla di Perth" was given for the first time in Barcelona, and was received with enthusiasm, several numbers being encored; the rôle of the protagonist was filled by Señorita Carrera, a pupil of Sig. Goula, orchestra leader, who made her debut on this occasion.

HIS SUCCESS IN CHICAGO.

The reports from Chicago are equally enthusiastic as those from other cities as regards the Strauss Orchestra. The Inter-Ocean sings of his "wonderful witchery;" the Chicago News exclaims, "More ideal waltz p'aying could not be imagined;" the Tribune writes that his music was imbued with a poetic quality that amounted to a revelation; the Times displays striking headlines: "A Tremendous, Brilliant and Fashionable Audience —One Now Appreciates How This Orchestra has Won World-Wide Fame—The Delicious Whirl—Electric Dash and Absolute Perfection of Tempo, Accent and Rhythm," while the Herald sadly complains: "Strauss has captured Chicago. He won the battle with a single shot, and Chicago gracefully surrendered. The city is his." The Staats Zeitung, the great German paper, agrees with the rest in acknowledging Strauss' victory, and adds: "The orchestra not merely played dance music incomparably. Such numbers as Gounod's "Dove," Reinecke's "Evening Prayer," and others were played so finely and with such precision that they won many recalls, and with extraordinary beauty was played the potpourri from "The Mikado," whose finale was again given on a recall." At the first concert, between the first and second parts, a laurel wreath was presented to Herr Strauss from the German-Austrian Society Vindobona. It bore the inscription, "From the German Austrians of Chicago to the Waltz King."

MILAN.—We understand that the Maestro Leopoldo Mugnone has been appointed orchestra leader at the Scala Opera House.

CONDUCTOR SIGFRIED BEHRENS, of Philadelphia, opened the summer season of opera at Schlitz's Park, Milwaukee, with the "Huguenots," June 9. The troupe is the Hess English Opera Company. Among the principals is Mr. William Castle, the well remembered tenor.

CHOOSING THE NATIONAL FLOWER.

ARGUMENT.

In Flora's garden the flowers are sleeping. As dawn appears the insects commence their overture to the rising sun. The ferns shake out their fronds as the Morning Breeze and the butterflies awakening flutter round their favorite blossoms. The bees challenge the bright-winged flies and urge their right to the sweetest calyx in the garden.

The South Wind passes over the combatants and wakens all the flowers, filling the air with entrancing odors and blending the opening petals in color-harmonies. And so the garden's day begins.

Columbia has long been seeking for some gem from Flora's garden which shall represent the National Flower of America; as the Lily France, the Red Rose England, or the Shamrock Erin's island home.

But how can she make her choice where all of Flora's gifts are so lavish?

The South Wind cannot advise, for his breath sends petals flying. The Butterflies, incorrigible flirts, may with no love, and laugh at constancy.

How can she appeal to the Bees who rob the sweets of a thousand blooms? How question the Dragon Flies who dart across the air and disappear?

But at Columbia's prayer Flora herself appears in person and exhibits her treasures; the saintly Lily, the heart-easing Pansy, the modest Violet, the dainty Daisy, the stately Cactus, and all the brightest blossoms of her realm. The Goddess decks the ground with baskets of flowers while butterflies are caught to gem the dewy grass Columbia is embarrassed in her choice. Enticed by the Pond Lily she is at last subdued by the gorgeous Golden Rod, and after her selection has been ratified by the Goddess Flora, after the marvelous Orchids, arriving from the tropics, have congratulated her on her choice, Columbia elevates her Gold n Rod to the high position of America's National Flower, and all the buds combine to form the splendid bouquet which is the Goddess' gift to our favored land. PEACE AND WAR.

GRAND ROMANTIC BALLET IN ONE ACT.

Written, designed and invented, by ALFRED THOMPSON, Member of the Dramatic Authors' Societies of England, France and America.

The Dances arranged by LEON ESPINOSA, late of the Imperial Opera, St. Petersburg.

The Music expressly composed by PAUL CRESSONOIS, of Paris.

ARGUMENT.

Before the old city's gates beneath the turreted ramparts of its walls, the Place d'Armes is alive with merry-makers. Young men and maidens are filling the air with laughter while the elder citizens carouse and drink to the peaceful days they are enjoying. The Burgomaster's daughter is bout to wed a rich merchant's son and the wedding is to crown the fete with such a time of peace allows. The bridal procession is saluted by the citizens, while the bridesmaids express their happin ss in an epithalamium

The Burgomaster drinks to their prosperity and the best dancers in the city join in a Czardas that sets every foot in motion. All is peace, there is not a thought of war, but a distant gun spreads consternation over every face. Fear and horror take the place of joy and peace. Suddenly, with a blast of alarm, the heralds and trumpeters of Bellona force their way into the square. War is declared! Bellona, the Goddess of War is here! Surrounded by her suite and mounted on her Dragon Car, which slaves drag sullenly along, while the dogs of war show their bloody fangs in menace, Bellona dominates the scene while the crowds of citizens cower round or fly in terror to shelter. The fatal Goddess describes the beauty of War and Destruction calls the combatants to arms. Now Bellona's troops pass before their queen in review: Barbarians of the Iron Age; the Nimrods or Nineveh; the Champions of Pharaoh's Court; the Centurions of the Roman Republic; the Pyrrhic Heroes of Etruria; the Templars of the Crusades; the Tourney-Knights of Nuremburg; the Swiss Lansquenets; the Hussars of Hungary; the Grenadiers of the Guard; the winged cohort of Chevaliers-Gardes; and last the glittering phalanx of Bellona's own fantastic Amazons.

Here, the Phyrric dance, figures forth the hand-to-hand combats of real war.

The heroes, wearying of this mimic warfare, clamor for their prisoners. Beautiful slaves taken in victory are dragged forward to be sold to the highest bidder. One, more beautiful than the rest, indignant at her cruel treatment, after a delirious dance of fascination, kills herself with her own poignard rather than fall into the hands of her ravishers. A quarrel arises among the soldiery for the remaining slaves which is arre ted by the entrance of Discord and the Furies. Bellona quells the brutal instincts of her troops and forms her army for the attack on the city.

The Testudo is raised to scale the ramparts, and the Goddess of War and her Furies direct the scene.

The attack is made, the walls crumble and fall, and in the sky beyond the Angel of Peace descends while the Valkyrie, the Angels of Consolat on, drive away the horrible Demons of War. A. T.

FOREIGN NOTES.

LONDON.—Lady Charles Halle (Mme. Norman Neruda (contemplates a concert tour in the United States during the coming season.

Mme. Carreno gave her first recital on the 29th ult., creating an uncommonly favorable impression. Her best effort was her magnificent interpretation of Schumann's "Études Symphoniques;' MacDowell's "Witches' Dance" and a charming "Intermezzo in A," by the reciter, were received with great applause, and were encored, as was Henseit's "Si Oiseau j'etais" and Rubinstein's "Valse Caprice."

Mr. Frederic Clifford's "Orchestral Picture," entitled "Clouds and Sunshine," received its initial performance at the first Philharmonic concert. The execution of the young English composer's maiden work was a masterly one, and reflected great credit on Mr. Cowen, who conducted the orchestra. Mr. Clifford's composition was received with great favor, and, on its conclusion, its author was twice called to the platform amidst general enthusiasm.

Sarasate's first concert since his return from America was given on the 7th inst.

Paderewski has been engaged by the Messrs. Chappell, and was announced to appear on the 10th inst. in an orchestral concert under Mr. Henschel's directorship.

BERLIN.—Xavier Scharwenka is engaged upon an opera entitled "Mataswintha." He had parts of it performed before a few invited guests recently; the vocal solos were sung by Frauleins Friede and Asmann, Messrs. Zarnekoff and von Milde, assisted by a chorus and a pianoforte accompaniment. According to some competent musicians who attended the performance, the new work contains many effective pages, particularly in the second act.

Mme. Semhrich, having finished her St. Petersburg season, is now singing at the Kroll Theatre with enormous success.

FLORENCE.—The Swedish prima donna, Sigrid Arnoldson, is singing with great success at the Niccolini Theatre. She is called the new Patti, and attracts immense audiences. An Italian journal calls attention to a curious fact in connection with la Arnoldson, i. e., that her husband is a nephew of the late Marquis de Caux, at one time the husband of Mme. Patti.

ROME.—The second of the three operas chosen for public performance in the Sonzogno competition has just been produced at the Costanzi, and according to the Trovatore created a most favorable impression on critics and public, the latter being aroused to genuine enthusiasm. The new opera is "Cavalleria Rusticana," by Pietro Mascagni, a young Sicilian who has given evidence in his first work of being the possessor of considerable musical knowledge, besides originality and abundance of inspiration; the work is in one act and from beginning to end is fresh and spontaneous; one incident follows another, the interest constantly increasing until the final climax of great dramatic as well as musical intensity is reached with stupendous effect.

PARMA.—The directorship of the Conservatory has been accepted for the time being by Arrigo Boito, who hopes to soon be able to transfer the reins of office to his friend Faccio. Faccio is improving daily, but it is feared that it will be many months before he will be in a condition to enter on the active duties of his position.

"I am sorry to give you pain, Mr. Ferguson," she said to the kneeling youth, 'but your score is a goose egg this time." "Not much, Miss Kajones," he replied haughtily, as he rose up and took his hat; "you can't prevent me from scoring a home run."

Jenkins (to Brown, earnestly)—"Brown what would you say if I were to ask you to lend me twenty dollars?" Brown (reflectively)—"What would I say? Oh, I would probably say 'Ho, ho, ho—ha, ha, ha—wow, wow, wow,' or something of that sort Jenkins."

"Waiter, bring me a couple of soft-boiled eggs." Voice at next table—"The same for me. But, waiter, be sure they are fresh. "All right." Waiter's voice in the distance—Four soft-boiled eggs; two must be fresh.

MASON & HAMLIN.

Their New Piano and Organ Warerooms on Fifth Avenue.

Owing to the steadily increasing demand for the Mason & Hamlin Piano—and for its world-famous companion, the Mason & Hamlin Organ—the Mason & Hamlin Company have leased and have just moved into elegant and spacious quarters at 158 Fifth Avenue, between 20th and 21st Streets. Every facility is here afforded for the proper display of the magnificent instruments made by this time-honored firm, and a delightful music hall has also been provided especially for the charming recitals given each season by this musical firm.

The attention of our readers is called to the removal of Messrs. A. Benthoff & Son to 235 Broad way (extending through to 237 Fifth Avenue). For the past 20 years or more, this firm has been established in this city as importers of European novelties, the finest leather goods, bronzes and fancy goods of every description, and has gained an enviable reputation. Their present spacious stores have been fitted up at an expense of over $40,000, and present an elegant appearance, and when completed will, no doubt, be the handsomest establishment of the kind in New York. Messrs. Benthoff & Son only seek the patronage of the crême, and with that object one of the firm frequently pays a visit to Europe in order to personally select the choicest novelties with circumspection and rare artistic taste.

On the 8th of May the popular firm of piano makers, Messrs. Kranich & Bach was incorporated as a stock company under the laws of the State of New York. The capital stock is $200,000, fully paid up. The officers of the new company are President, Jacques Bach; Vice-President, Fred. Kranich; Treasurer, Hellmuth Kranich, and Secretary, Louis P. Bach. The stock is entirely held by Messrs. Kranich & Bach and their sons. There will be no change in policy of the firm and the business has been incorporated simply for convenience and in conformity with the policy which led to the incorporation of such firms as Steinway & Sons, Chickering & Sons, Mason & Hamlin, Behr Bros., Geo. Steck & Co., Henry F. Miller & Sons, Emerson Piano Co., Wheelock & Co., Hallet & Davis, Conover Bros., Ditson & Co., Vose & Sons, and many others. There is a rumor that before the close of this year Messrs. Kranich & Bach, the eminent piano manufacturers, will open their own branch house in Chicago. Mr. Bach is at present in Europe with his family, and it is said that on his return the final arrangements will be completed.

The Piano used by the Madison Square Garden is from the celebrated firm of Chickering & Sons.

The Mason and Hamlin Liszt Organ Exclusively used by the Madison Square Garden.

Max Maretzek, the genial veteran, is giving some "finishing" lessons to a young California, by name Ollie Archmere. Miss Archmere had been a kind of singing soubrette and very successful. Max heard her, and saw great possibilities. He is now educating her in all the great soprano roles. Next year she is to go to the Paris Conservatory, and then, when her studies are completed, she is to make her debut at the Opera Comique. Her voice is said to be very pure and melodious, added to which she has an engaging presence and a charming figure. Max is very enthusiastic about her and prophesies great things.

One thing is certain: if the pupil is worthy of her master, she will make a great success.

The London Times of May 24 thus speaks of Mme Nordica's rentree at the Philharmonic concert. "Nordica, who was in splendid voice, sang Beethoven's 'Ah Perfido,' in magnificent style, expressing its various changes of emotion with consummate art. The whole was excellent, but the delivery of the recitative had a fire and passion that a very few artists now living could have attained. The prayer of Elizabeth from 'Tannhäuser' made less demands upon the singer but was scarcely less beautifully sung."

The Strauss Concerts.

Eduard Strauss and his Vienna Orchestra, together with the two ballets of "Peace and War" and "Choosing the National Flower," will be the all-summer attraction at the Madison Square Garden Amphitheatre, beginning next Monday night. The inauguration will be such as New Yorkers have never witnessed. Everything which savors of elegance, ease, beauty, and culture has been gathered to adorn this great amphitheatre. The wonder is that we have been able to get along without such a place of amusement all these years, and the projectors have undoubtedly worked for the public good as well as for their own interest. Nothing we have had since New York was incorporated as a city looked more like success than does this vast enclosure with its magnificent surroundings.

At the close of the performance a serenade will be tendered to Mr. Strauss at the Hotel Brunswick. Mr. T. Henry French and Mr. Arpad Bauer will see to the necessary arrangements, and the Hungary Band of the Eden Musee, under Erdelys Naczi, and the Oesterreich Singing Society will combine. The singing society, with over fifty voices, will sing "Das Deutsche Lied," "Noch ist die Zeit wo Rosen blühen," and a Tyrol waltz.

ST. PETERSBURG.—The Arcadia Summer Theatre will be called henceforth the Eden Theatre; it will be opened shortly for a season of grand opera in French. Among the artists engaged is the famous baritone Devoyod, a great favorite of the St. Petersburg public; he will probably appear in Halévy's "Charles VI."

BARCELONA.—The Liceo Opera House reopened on the 8th ult. with "Lucrezia Borgia," sung with great success by Borghi-Mamo, Moretti, Vidal, etc.; on the 11th Bizet's "Fanciulla di Perth" was given for the first time in Barcelona, and was received with enthusiasm, several numbers being encored; the rôle of the protagonist was filled by Señorita Carrera, a pupil of Sig. Goula, orchestra leader, who made her debut on this occasion.

HIS SUCCESS IN CHICAGO.

The reports from Chicago are equally enthusiastic as those from other cities as regards the Strauss Orchestra. The Inter-Ocean sings of his "wonderful witchery;" the Chicago News exclaims, "More ideal waltz p'aying could not be imagined;" the Tribune writes that his music was imbued with a poetic quality that amounted to a revelation; the Times displays striking headlines: "A Tremendous, Brilliant and Fashionable Audience —One Now Appreciates How This Orchestra has Won World-Wide Fame—The Delicious Whirl—Electric Dash and Absolute Perfection of Tempo, Accent and Rhythm," while the Herald sadly complains: "Strauss has captured Chicago. He won the battle with a single shot, and Chicago gracefully surrendered. The city is his." The Staats Zeitung, the great German paper, agrees with the rest in acknowledging Strauss' victory, and adds: "The orchestra not merely played dance music incomparably. Such numbers as Gounod's "Dove," Reinecke's "Evening Prayer," and others were played so finely and with such perfection that they won many recalls, and with extraordinary beauty was played the potpourri from "The Mikado," whose finale was again given on a recall." At the first concert, between the first and second parts, a laurel wreath was presented to Herr Strauss from the German-Austrian Society Vindobona. It bore the inscription, "From the German Austrians of Chicago to the Waltz King."

MILAN.—We understand that the Maestro Leopoldo Mugnone has been appointed orchestra leader at the Scala Opera House.

CONDUCTOR SIGFRIED BEHRENS, of Philadelphia, opened the summer season of opera at Schlitz's Park, Milwaukee, with the "Huguenots," June 9. The troupe is the Hess English Opera Company. Among the principals is Mr. William Castle, the well remembered tenor.

CHOOSING THE NATIONAL FLOWER.

ARGUMENT.

In Flora's garden the flowers are sleeping. As dawn appears the insects commence their over-ure to the rising sun. The ferns shake out their fronds as the Morning Breeze and the butterflies awakening flutter round their favorite blossoms. The bees challenge the bright-winged flies and urge their right to the sweetest calyx in the garden.

The South Wind passes over the combatants and wakens all the flowers, filling the air with entrancing odors and blending the opening petals in colorharmonies. And so the garden's day begins.

Columbia has long been seeking for some gem from Flora's garden which shall represent the National Flower of America; as the Lily France, the Red Rose England, or the Shamrock Erin's island home.

But how can she make her choice where all of Flora's gifts are so lavish? The South Wind cannot advise, for his breath sends all petals flying. The Butterflies, incorrigible flirts, stay with no love, and laugh at constancy.

How can she appeal to the Bees who roh the sweets of a thousand blooms? How question the Dragon Flies who dart across the air and disappear?

But at Columbia's prayer Flora herself appears in person and exhibits her treasures; the saintly Lily, the heart-easing Pansy, the modest Violet, the dainty Daisy, the stately Cactus, and all the brightest blossoms of her realm. The Goddess decks the ground with baskets of flowers while butterflies are caught to gem the dewy grass Columbia is embarrassed in her choice. Enticed by the Pond Lily she is at last subdued by the gorgeous Golden Rod, and after her selection has been ratified by the Goddess Flora, after the marvelous Orchids, arriving from the tropics, have congratulated her on her choice, Columbia elevates her Gold n Rod to the high position of America's National Flower, and all the buds combine to form the splendid bouquet which is the Goddess' gift to our favored land.

PEACE AND WAR.

GRAND ROMANTIC BALLET IN ONE ACT.

Written, designed and invented, by ALFRED THOMPSON, Member of the Dramatic Authors' Societies of England, France and America.

The Dances arranged by LEON ESPINOSA, late of the Imperial Opera, St. Petersburg.

The Music expressly composed by PAUL CRESSONOIS, of Paris.

ARGUMENT.

Before the old city's gates beneath the turreted ramparts of its walls, the Place d'Armes is alive with merry-makers. Young men and maidens are filling the air with laughter while the elder citizens carouse and drink to the peaceful days they are enjoying. The Burgomaster's daughter is bout to wed a rich merchant's son and the wedding is to crown the fete when such a time of peace allows. The bridal procession is saluted by the citizens, while the bridesmaids express their happin ss in an epithalamium

The Burgomaster drinks to their prosperity and the best dancers in the city join in a Czardas that sets every foot in motion. All is peace, there is not a thought of war, but a distant gun spreads consternation over every face. Fear and horror take the place of joy and gladness. Suddenly, with a blast of alarm, the heralds and trumpeters of Bellona force their way into the square. War is declared! Bellona, the Goddess of War is here! Surrounded by her suite and mounted on her Dragon Car, which slaves drag sullenly along, while the dogs of war show their bloody fangs in menace, Bellona dominates the scene while the crowds of citizens cower round or fly in terror to shelter. The fatal Goddess describes the beauty of War and the clarion calls the combatants to arms. Now Bellona's troops pass before their queen in review: Barbarians of the Iron Age; the Nimrods o' Nineveh; the Champions of Pharaoh's Court; the Centurions of the Roman Republic; the Pyrrhic Heroes of Etruria; the Templars of the Crusades; the Tourney-Knights of Nuremburg; the Swiss Lansquenets; the Hussars of Hungary; the Grenadiers of the Guard; the winged Cuirassiers-Gardes; and last the glittering phalanx of Bellona s own fantastic Amazons.

Here, the Phyrric dance, figures forth the hand-to-hand combats of real war.

The heroes, wearying of this mimic warfare, clamor for their prisoners. Beautiful slaves taken in victory are dragged forward to be sold to the highest bidder. One, more beautiful than the rest, indignant at her cruel treatment, after a delirious dance of fascination, kills herself with her own poignard rather than fall into the hands of her ravishers. A quarrel arises among the soldiery for the remaining slaves which is arre ted by the entrance of Discord and the Furies. Bellona quells the brutal instincts of her troops and forms her army for the attack on the city.

The Testudo is raised to scale the ramparts, and the Godde s of War and her Furies direct the scene.

The attack is made, the walls crumble and fall, and in the sky beyond the Angel of Peace descends while the Valkyrie, the Angels of Consolat on, drive away the horrible Demons of War.

MESSRS CHICKERING & SONS:

GENTLEMEN:

As it is my intention to take with me to Europe, for my personal use, a Concert Grand, I beg you will acquaint me with the artist price of the same. The Chickering Pianos are the nonest products of the pianomaker's art, and respond, as no others do, to every requirement of the most exacting virtuoso; in other words, they attain the highest point of perfection and are the model instruments of the world.

Respectfully you s, VLADIMIR DE PACHMAN S.

GRAVESEND BEACH, L. I., July 25, 1887.

Dr. James P. Campbell,

Respected Sir: Please find inclosed $2 for more of your excellent ARSENIC COMPLEXION WAFERS. I have used three boxes, and find they have done for me what all "face lotions" in the world could not do, i. e., given me a clear and healthy skin and a complexion with which I am more than content.

As you value life, health, beauty, love and happiness, use only DR. CAMPBELL'S SAFE ARSENIC COMPLEXION WAFERS!

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 25, 1887.

Dr. Campbell:

DEAR SIR:—Inclosed find one dollar for a box of DR. CAMPBELL'S SAFE ARSENIC COMPLEXION WAFERS. My entire complexion is "Like a Lily" from using your wafers, and she recommends them highly as driving away all impurities of the blood. Send me the precious wafers as soon as you can and oblige

THE WORLD'S INDUSTRIAL AND COTTON CENTENNIAL EXPOSITION.

NEW ORLEANS, May 29, 1885.

To Mr. LOUIS GRUNEWALD, New Orleans, (Agent of Messrs. STEINWAY & SONS.)

DEAR SIR:—In making our official report as Jurors of Group 8, Class 868, on Musical Instruments, we deeply regretted the fact of being debarred to express our opinion on the exquisite display of several magnificent Steinway Pianos at your beautiful exhibit at our Exposition; but as they were not entered for competition, and only for exhibition, we had to abide by our instructions and ignore them as well as other makers for above reasons.

As professional artists, however, we feel it our sacred duty to express to you, unsolicited, our great admiration for the Steinway Pianos, which we consider the "Beau Ideal" of a perfect instrument, combining in its great mechanical construction all those eminent qualities of touch, sympathetic and singing qualities of tone, brilliancy, power, etc., which render them more than dear to any artist or amateur who loves music as produced on any of these wonderful and, we think, unsurpassed pianos.

Had the "Steinways" been entered for competition, our work, in place of being anything but easy and pleasant, would have become a labor of love, and instantaneously resulted in our conferring the "highest awards" possible to the Steinways. We write this after having individually expressed ourselves in mutual conversation, and tender this as a tribute to a firm which has done so much to elevate true musical art in this country, and which has the good fortune to be represented in our section by you, Mr. Grunewald, to whom we beg to tender our assurances of personal esteem and best wishes for future success.

Very respectfully and fraternally,

TESTIMONIAL FROM Madame TREBELLI.

"I am greatly pleased with the Steinway Grand Pianoforte purchased from you some years ago. The wonderful beauty and sweetness of its tone, its singing quality and power of supporting the voice, and its perfect freedom from harshness, together with its exquisitely light and delicate touch, render it to my mind not only much superior to the Pianofortes of all other makers, but also eminently worthy of the great reputation which the Steinway Pianofortes have everywhere acquired."

"THE GARDEN was gorgeous with colored lights, which spanned the structure in huge arches. Elsewhere electric lights cast their white glow over the scene. From ventilators at the sides, air that had been passed over ice was forced into the building by wheels driven by electricity. These ventilators were labelled severally: "Long Branch Breeze," "Atlantic City Breeze," "Saratoga Breeze," and "Newport Breeze."—N. Y. Sun.

"THAT NEW YORK wants a first-class Summer Concert Garden respectably conducted, was amply proved by the throng which gathered at the Madison Square Garden last night to attend the opening of a series of concerts. The place has been once more made worthy of the name of a Garden. Four ventilators through which the air is driven in veritable breezes, after having been cooled by passing over ice, keep the temperature delightfully low."—Commercial Adv.

"THE NEW series of Summernight Concerts in the Madison Square Garden was successfully opened last night. The orchestra under the direction of Gustave Hinrichs performed a very creditable programme."—Evening Post.

"IN A few words, this Garden is just the place for families and loungers to drop into and enjoy an hour evening's pleasure. Four immense swing fans send breezes through the Garden in a manner to remind of Manhattan Beach, and the faded and heated citizen lays back and enjoys that at his very door, which requires an hour's sail to attain."—Daily News.

"UNDER THE direction of Gustav Hinrichs, a large orchestra on Monday night gave the first of a series of Summernight Concerts at the Madison Square Garden. The success of this concert from all points of view, is a matter of congratulation to the gentlemen who have charge of this necessary style of amusement."—Musical Courier.

"THERE is a fine floor for walking, nnmberless little tables where the inner man can be refreshed with cooling beverages, and there are boxes and seats where you may not smoke, and where you are only allowed to drink in the strains of Gustav Hinrichs' orchestra of sixty pieces."—Home Journal.

"THE FIRST of the Summernight Concerts at Madison Square Garden last evening, attracted a large audience. The great hall presented an attractive appearance with its embellishments of flowers and evergreens, with many colored lights. ADELINA PATTI.

During my artistic career in the art centres of the world, I have used the pianos of nearly all celebrated manufacturers, but none of them can be compared to yours,—none possess to such a marvelous degree that sympathetic, poetic and singing tone quality which distinguishes the Steinway as peerless among them all.

RICHARD WAGNER.

Sounds of such beauty as those coming from my Steinway Grand, flatter and coax the most agreeable tone-pictures from my harmonic melodic senses.

In a word, "I find your Grand piano of wondrous beauty. It is a noble work of art.

FRANZ LISZT.

The magnificent Steinway Grand piano now stands in my music room, and presents a harmonic totality of admirable qualities, a detailed enumeration of which is the more superfluous, as the instrument fully justifies its world-wide reputation.

ANTON RUBINSTEIN.

Your unrivalled piano-fortes have done full justice to their world-wide reputation, both for excellence and capacity of enduring the severest trials. For, during all my long and difficult journeys all over America in a very inclement season, I need and have been enabled to use your pianos exclusively in my two hundred and fifteen concerts, and also in private, with the most eminent satisfaction and effect.

THEODORE THOMAS.

I consider the Steinway piano the best piano at present made, and that is the reason why I use it in private and also in all my public concerts. As long as the pianos of Messrs. Steinway and Sons retain that high degree of excellence of manufacture, and those admirable qualities which have always distinguished them, I shall continue to use them in preference to all other pianos.

FELICIEN DAVID.

In my idea, they are superior to all I have heard or tried to the present day, and in giving you this certificate I not only fulfil a duty of conscience, but at the same time render justice to the man and manufacturer who has realized in his productions the greatest progress in the art of piano-making.

ADOLPHE HENSELT.

It is with the greatest pleasure that I have just played upon your pianos, and cannot refrain from expressing to you in writing my admiration, and how much I was satisfied with them.

MARMONTEL.

The International and French Jury, in placing them first on the list, brilliantly confirm the lively and deep impression which these excellent pianos have produced on me.

ANNETTE ESSIPOFF.

No other European or American pianos known to me possess such extraordinary durability under the severest usage, nor combine all excellences to such a high degree as yours, and in them I have found my ideal instrument.

ETELKA GERSTER.

I regard the Steinway as the beau ideal of all pianos, and with their essentially noble and poetic tone quality these instruments are wonderfully sympathetic to me. I admire the easy, elastic and agreeable touch, the evenness, richness and surprising duration of tone, blending so effectively with and supporting the human voice, and all these qualities render, in my opinion, the Steinway piano the most desirable instrument of all—certainly the best to accompany the voice.

THE NEW METROPOLITAN CONCERT HALL.

On the corners of Broadway, Forty-first street and Seventh avenue there is now in process of completion an edifice that bids fair to become an important factor in the world of amusement. Exteriorally it is stately and an ornament to the locality. Interiorally it is unique, spacious, beautiful—artistic and embellished with rich carvings, illuminated by colored glass and apparently in every way adapted to the purpose for which the building has been constructed—that of a music hall, restaurant and café combined, where, after the manner of similar places in Europe, the public may assemble and enjoy the entertain afforded by music and association.

The undertaking has been contemplated by Mr. Rudolph Aronson for a number of years, but it was not until last year that the full project was so far perfected that the ground could be broken and the work begun.

It will be opened to the public on the 29th inst., although an informal reception will be given by the Board of Trustees at an earlier day, probably on the 27th. The president of the latter is James P. Kerry. Among the stockholders are some of the wealthiest citizens of New York.

A reporter of the Herald, in an interview with Mr. Aronson yesterday, elicited the following facts:

"I have been busy for three or four years," he said, "on this enterprise, feeling assured after what I had seen in Europe, that it would prove not only an excellent speculation in a pecuniary point of view, but be a welcome addition to the list of already existing places of entertainment in New York. On returning from my last visit abroad I conferred with a number of wealthy gentlemen and proposed a scheme. At first they doubted the possibility of raising a sufficient sum of money; but you see that this barrier has been crossed, and we have now nothing to do but go ahead and give the public good entertainment. All of the largest cites of Europe have institutions of this character—Berlin, Munich, Paris and Vienna. Our building, however, is in every respect sufficiently superior to any other with which I am familiar. While I was in Vienna, Strauss, the Valse King, took much interest in my undertaking, and gave me many instructions as regards the proper interpretation of the lighter style of music, of which he is the confessed exemplar, especially in the matter of tempo, which is very essential to a good performance. Several rehearsals were held by him for my special benefit, and I received a letter from him not long ago which shows he continued interest in the work. Another thing I should mention here is, that during my trip in 1878, I visited a number of prominent composers and made arrangements with them to obtain the scores immediately after the first rendition at any new music, so that it might be presented here before it was made public by printing. Depend upon it, that I shall have concerts that will adhere in style to those of Strauss in Vienna, Arban in Paris, and Gung'l in Berlin.

"What will be the character of your orchestra?"

"It will consist of about forty-eight pieces and some of the best musical talent in New York. Among the artists will be a number of admirable soloists. The orchestra will be located in the centre of the auditorium and arranged precisely like that in Vienna, so that promenaders will enjoy the full benefit of the melodies. The hall itself is like a sounding board, so perfect are its acoustics qualities."

"And what do you propose to produce in the way of music?"

"All musical novelties that are worth listening to. As I said before, I shall give the earliest foreign compositions, and whenever anything good is offered that illustrates American talent I shall with equal pleasure produce that. For the inauguration I have composed the 'Inauguration March', and 'Sweet Sixteen Waltz,' besides making a number of arrangements and adaptations that will be presented in due time."

"What are the prices of admission to be?"

"The entrance fee will be twenty-five cents, with all the seats free, except the private boxes, which will range in price from $2 to $5. The hall will hold six or seven thousand people, and the promenade on the roof probably twelve hundred more. The restaurant is on the Seventh avenue side, where we propose to introduce quite a novelty in the country—a wit, a small orchestra, which will play between five and eight in the afternoon, while the visitors are eating. We shall also have billiard and reading rooms, but no 'stand up bar,' or bowling alleys. In short, we propose to make an American institution on a European model that will in every way commend itself to a refined public."

Mr. James N. Blamphin, harp soloist in Mr. Aronson's orchestra, gives instruction on the harp, at his residence, No. 32 West 40th street.

—Garrick and Foote, one night, were leaving the Bedford together, when the latter, in paying his bill, dropped a guinea, and not finding it, said, "Where on earth can it be gone to?" "Gone to the devil I think," replied Garrick, who assisted in the search. "Well said, David," was Foote's reply, "let you alone for making a guinea go further than anybody else."

—Theodore Hook had a curious recipe for avoiding exposure to the night air. "I was very ill," he said, "some months ago, and my doctor gave me particular orders not to expose myself to it. So I come up (from Fulham) every day to Crockford's, or some such place to dinner, and then I am all right—no account to go home again till about four or five o'clock in the morning."

—A man recently ascended the Column Vendome, in Paris, for the purpose of committing suicide. As he was about taking the fatal step, a gentleman touched him on the shoulder and said: "My friend, be careful what you do. There is a fine of ten thousand francs for leaping from top of this monument." The man walked down the spiral staircase, not having had the means to indulge in such a luxury.

—Mme. la Comtesse de D., "reared in the lap of Mme. Campan," and consequently qualified to give instructions in etiquette, says: "A lady entering an omnibus or street car should bow slightly to the other passengers." It is in order to produce this salutation that the conductor raps his passengers on the back and the driver starts his horse a minute too soon, for the American public has never understood the high motives by which they were actuated.

THERE is a good story told of Douglas Jerrold, who was consulted by Mr. Bentley, the publisher, as to the title of a periodical which he contemplated and which was afterwards well known. "I think of calling it "The Wits' Miscellany," said the publisher. Jerrold demurred on the score of modesty, to which Mr. Bentley responded, "Well, suppose we call it 'Bentley's Miscellany?'" "There," retorted Jerrold, "you needn't go to the other extreme."

IS there anything neater in the way of retort than that given by Samuel Rogers, the poet, to Lady Donegal? Once at a dinner she called across the table to Rogers; "Now, I am sure you are talking against me." "Lady Donegal," was his quick and quiet reply, "I pass my life in defending you."

A PAIR of lovers idly strolled
Adown an avenue;
Said he, "Now tell me what it is
That you would like to do?"

And said, "I'd like to buy my shoes

AN exchange says there was recently killed in the Kentucky River a catfish weighing 178½ pounds. This is, of course, a lie. If it had been dead that a trout weighing that amount had been caught, we should have believed it. We have caught them ourselves nearly as heavy as that, but our luck never amounted to much.—Boston Transcript.

THEY MET AND PARTED.—"Now then," says tramp No. 1 to No. 2 as they turned into Mountain street from Woodward avenue the other day, "here is the game; you walk down the street and ring the bell of some house. When the lady answers you tell her that you haven't had anything to eat for three days. If she says she don't care to let her that you are desperate and ready to commit any crime. If she starts to slam the door on you hold it open with your foot and roll your eyes and look savage. I'll arrive just about then, and I'll take you by the neck, slam you around, and pitch you out of the yard. I'm the lady's protector and the hero of the block, you see. I'll be very modest and claw off, but I'll tell her I'm a stranger and need a quarter to buy food. She'll hand it over, and I'll join you around the corner and divide. See?" "Magnificent!" replied No. 2. "You ought to be in the United States Senate! Well, here I go." He passed down the street and selected a house, and the programme was carefully followed out until he reached the point where he said he was desperate. At that instant the ball door was pulled wide open, and a six-foot husband shot out with his right hand and knocked No. 2 clear off the lower step. No. 1 was just rushing in, and six footer thought he might as well kill two birds with one stone, so he gave him one on the jaw, and when tired of walking around on their prostrate bodies he flung them over the fence. The tramps limped down to the corner, looked at each other in deep disgust, and then separated forever.—Detroit Free Press.

SMILES.

Heck, I hear the ladies say,
"He has such a winning way."
That's to say, his breath is sweet,
And his teeth are white and neat.
And he smiles so much, you see,
Always using SOZODONT.

Smiles are becoming only when the lips display pearly teeth. It is also very desirable that the breath be sweet. The use of SOZODONT produces both of these results, it gently but surely removes the tartar from the teeth, and it delivers every trace of tartar from the teeth, and it delivered by members of the MEDICAL, DRAMATIC and MUSICAL professions. In every class of society SOZODONT is recognized as the dentifrice which beautifies and preserves. Ask any one who has used SOZODONT, what he or she thinks of it and the reply will be strongly affirmative of its excellence. All druggists keep it.

HUMOUR.

The weight of the transgressor—1,900 for a ton.

—To hang a critic is a pious act. It is only swinging a censor.

—When a Boston girl goes to the fish market to buy perch she asks for scandbeptergyan.

—The Detroit Free Press says that the rage for embroidered stockings has reached the squaws.

—A Henghishman upon hearing the cackling in a poultry yard exclaimed: "Oh! this is really hen-chanting!"

—London Punch has joined the Liberals, but Punch will just suit Gladstone. The Premier has not the faintest sympathy with a joke, and he will find few jokes in Punch.

—"Very intellectual boy that of yours, Mr. Goggles; I should like to examne his head." Proud father—"Johnny, what bumps have you got?" "I've got the bumps of eating, father, and the bump that Billy Hopkins gave me on the nose; but I'm layin' for him."

—"What, twenty-five cents a pound for sausages! Why, I can get 'em down at Schmidt's for twenty cents." "Vell, den, vy didn't yer?" "Cause Schmidt is out of 'em." "Vell, den, av I was owit of 'em I sell 'em for twenty cents, too."—Buffalo Express.

—"Sir," said an astonished landlady to a traveler who had sent his cup forward for the seventh time, "you must be very fond of coffee." "Yes, madam, I am," he replied, "or I should never have drunk so much water to get a little of it."

—Mowing-day incident

"Break, break, oh sea!"

"Shake, shake!" says she,

"Shake what?" says he.

"That carpet, says she.

"I tumble, I tumble," says he.

And gathering himself up, he quietly went out to the back yard, took up his fishpole, and went fishing.—Yonkers Statesman.

—While an Indian girl sat waxing at the window for her lover to call and take her to an ice-cream parlor, a bolt of lightning killed her instantly. The moral of this sad event is so obvious every girl will at once see that it is better to buy her own ice cream during leap year at least.—Boston Globe.

—A woman is the only human being who tries to catch two trains at once. When she is in a hurry to get to the railroad station you often see her wildly reaching for the end of her dress, which is meanwhile tripping her up and sweeping along in its tumultuous course all the loose dirt on the sidewalk.

—Prices move all articles. In winter, when there is no sale for ice, a man can slip and sprain his ankle on it at every corner; but when summer comes it goes up so high that two small lumps in a glass cost twenty cents, though, to be sure, the barkeeper throws in a liquid chromo.—Anderson Bazaar.

Madame Marie Roze is known to be a particular friend of M. Gounod and her interest in M. Gounod's works made her anxious, now some years ago, to know which of his two most successful works, "Faust" and "Romeo and Juliet," the composer really preferred. M. Gounod was suspected at the time of cherishing a particular liking for "Romeo and Juliet," and Madame Marie Roze determined to ascertain from the master what his own personal views in regard to the two works really were. The reply to this delicate question is given in a recently published biography of Gounod by Madame de Bovet. "Faust," wrote Gounod in true oracular style, "is older but I was younger; Romeo is younger, but I was older. Now decide for yourself." When Rossini was asked which of two operas, both from his pen, he preferred, he at once replied, "Don Giovanni."

The Japanese do not, as a rule, publish separately the works of any special author, as we publish Shakspeare, Byron, &c., in one or more volumes; they publish anthologies of all the poetic works of a particular period.

In Japanese theatres, during the intermissions, all sorts of food, fruits, cakes, etc. are carried around and offered for sale. Those sitting nearest the stage often climb up and eat their rice and drink their tea in front of the curtain.

A Californian, being asked whether they ever had quail on toast in his town replied: "Why, certainly. I can't throw a piece of toast out of the window without having a quail come and sit upon it."

SEASON 1890-1891.

The seventh regular season of GRAND OPERA IN GERMAN, will extend over a period of seventeen weeks, and will include fifty subscription nights, with one matinee.

The Directors desire not only to give another successful season of Opera, but to make the Opera House a permanent home for music in America, free from all distinction as to class or prejudice. It is their earnest wish to make the Opera House a school of art for all nationalities, and to that end it is proposed to present several new works by French, German and Italian composers, for the first time in America during the coming season. Among these will be "Le Roi D'Ys," by Lalo; "Esclarmonde," by Massenet; "Asrael," by Franchetti; "The Vassal of Szigeth," by Smareglia; "The Templar and Jewess," (Ivanhoe), by Marschner, and "Le Mage," by Massenet, which last opera will be produced simultaneously here and in Paris.

The revivals will be of special interest, including "Carmen," "Hamlet," "Merry Wives of Windsor," and "The Taming of the Shrew," thus affording a repertoire so varied and attractive that it will appeal to all music-lovers alike. Three new Ballets will probably be presented during the season: "Dresden China," "Le Reve," and "Nella."

A beggar in Madrid used to ask alms with great dignity. A person passing by said to him, "Are you not ashamed to follow this scandalous trade, you who are able to work?" "Sir," answered the beggar, "I ask you for money, not advice"; then turned his back upon him with all stateliness of a Castilian.

A Russian poet, fifty years ago, published a volume of epigrams which he dedicated to the Czar. The Czar liked it so much that he had a book made for the poet which had banknotes in place of leaves. Meeting the poet, he asked how he liked the book. "So much" said the poet, "that I can hardly await the second volume." The Czar smiled and on the following day sent him another book like the first, but marked "Second and Last Volume."

Among the distinguished Parisians who attended the funeral of the composer Delibes were Dumas, Sardou, Halevy, Hervé, Jules Claretie, Leon Say, Reyer, Coquelin and many others.

La Scala, Milan, used to be one of most important opera theatres in the world. Of late, however, it has to a certain extent, suffered in common with most other Italian opera houses. The Italian Government have now appointed a commission to inquire into the causes and the remedy. Senators, lawyers, landowners, and even workmen are upon this committee, which, it is said, curiously enough, does not include a single professor of music.

Historians trace from the sacred dances of ancient Greece the dramatic art of the civilized world. Thus, in the Dionysian festivals, the wonderous life of the Wine-god was danced and sung; and from its solemn hymns and laughable jests arose tragedy and comedy.

The London St. James Gazette remarks: "When (long hence) the run of 'Ivanhoe' comes to an end, Mr. D'Oyly Carte could scarcely do better than produce a work which has only to be named to be at once recognized as the finest opera in the English language. No reference is intended either to the 'Bohemian Girl' or 'Maritana;' but simply to the 'Oberon' of Weber, which no opera-goer of the present day can have heard in its original shape. It is played occasionally in Germany—where we have seen it announced at the Berlin Opera House as 'translated from the French of Planché;' and a French version of it (by a Frenchman) has been played at the Theatre Lyrique of Paris. Mr. Mapleson, too, brought out some years ago an Italian version of 'Oberon,' with added recitatives by Sir Julius Benedict, Weber's favorite pupil. But never does it seem to have occurred to any of our managers to revive the work in its original language and its original form."

HERR ANTON SEIDL SAYS:

THE ÆOLIAN ORGAN & MUSIC CO.
831 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

MY DEAR SIRS!

Your Æolian Organ interested me greatly—so much so, that I take no hesitation in saying that I regard it as a very useful and meritorious invention. I can readily conceive that it will enable even those who cannot play, to produce on the "Aeolian" nearly everything to which they wish to listen, for the manual skill that is necessary should be easily and quickly enough acquired by everybody.

I think I can safely predict a widespread popularity for this instrument.

Believe me, that this is the sincere wish of

Anton Seidl

New York, April 21, 1890.

All the Wagner Operas, and every piece of music ever written can be obtained for the Æolian. Anyone can play it with a week's practice.

It is not true that Wagner disliked the French. "I am supposed to be bitterly disposed toward the French," he wrote; "And why? Because they hissed my 'Tannhauser?' Is it certain that it was heard correctly? Auber could answer for me; into his ear I whispered my woes. The moment for earnest music had not then arrived. As regards the journalists, I cannot complain of them. I did not visit them as did Mcyerbeer; yet Baudelaire, Champfleury and Schuré have written the best articles on my works that have appeared. I am not as dissatisfied with Paris as report says."

LOHENGRIN.

ACT I.—The rising curtain reveals a meadow near Antwerp, on which King Henry has assembled the nobles of Brabant. Count Telramund, whose offer of marriage has been refused by Elsa, Princess of Brabant, seeks to avenge himself by accusing her of having murdered her younger brother, in order that she might share the rule of the country with a secret lover. Elsa appears before the King, declares her innocence, and tells of a vision in which a knight appeared to her, promising to be her champion. The Herald's first call for her knight remains unanswered, but after the second a knight appears on a boat drawn by a swan. After making Elsa a promise never to ask him who he is or whence he came, he vanquishes Telramund, but generously spares his life.

ACT II.—Telramund and his wife Ortrud are before the palace. The two plot revenge, and Ortrud, who is a witch, knows that if she can induce Elsa to ask Lohengrin the forbidden question, he will have to leave her. So when Elsa, is about to enter the church, she takes her aside, and hints that Lohengrin is a sorcerer. Subsequently Telramund interupts the bridal pair and accuses Lohengrin of witchcraft, but is obliged to yield to the popular indignation, and the bridal procession moves on.

ACT III.—Scene at the opening of Act III., represents the bridal chamber. The evil insinuations of Ortrud leave Elsa no peace, and, notwithstanding her husband's warning, she yields to her anxious curiosity and asks the fatal question about his name and home. Hardly has she uttered these words, when Telramund rushes in to assassinate Lohengrin, who, however, passes his own sword through his enemy. The scene changes to the same meadow seen in Act I. The body of Telramund is brought before the King and Lohengrin announces that he is obliged to depart, and that he is one of the knights of the Holy Grail whose mission is to assist innocent mortals in distress, but who can only do so on condition of concealing their origin. The swan now arrives to take him away, when Ortrud advances and announces that the swan is no one else than Elsa's brother, converted by Ortrud's magic arts into a swan. Lohengrin's prayer changes him back to human form, and a dove having taken its place, the knight departs.

Madame Marie Roze is known to be a particular friend of M. Gounod and her interest in M. Gounod's works made her anxious, now some years ago, to know which of his two most successful works, "Faust" and "Romeo and Juliet," the composer really preferred. M. Gounod was suspected at the time of cherishing a particular liking for "Romeo and Juliet," and Madame Marie Roze determined to ascertain from the master what his own personal views in regard to the two works really were. The reply to this delicate question is given in a recently published biography of Gounod by Madame de Bovet. "Faust," wrote Gounod in true oracular style, "is older but I was younger; Romeo is younger, but I was older. Now decide for yourself." When Rossini was asked which of two operas, both from his pen, he preferred, he at once replied, "Don Giovanni."

The Japanese do not, as a rule, publish separately the works of any special author, as we publish Shakspeare, Byron, &c., in one or more volumes; they publish anthologies of all the poetic works of a particular period.

SEASON 1890-1891.

The seventh regular season of GRAND OPERA IN GERMAN, will extend over a period of seventeen weeks, and will include fifty subscription nights and seventeen matinees.

The Directors desire, not only to give regular successful seasons of Opera, but to make the Opera House a permanent home for music in America, free from all distinction as to class or prejudice. It is their earnest wish to make the Opera House a school of art for all nationalities, and to that end it is proposed to present several new works by French, German and Italian composers, for the first time in America during the coming season. Among these will be "Le Roi D'Ys," by Lalo; "Esclarmonde," by Massenet; "Asrael," by Franchetti; "The Vassal of Sidgeth," by Smareglia; "The Templar and Jewess," (translation), by Marschner, and "Le Mage," by Massenet, which last opera will be produced simultaneously here and in Paris.

The revivals will be of special interest, including "Carmen," "Hamlet," "Merry Wives of Windsor," and "The Taming of the Shrew," thus affording a repertoire so varied and attractive that it will appeal to all music-lovers alike. Three new Ballets will probably be presented during the season: "Dresden China," "Le Reve," and "Nella."

A Russian poet, fifty years ago, published a volume of epigrams which he dedicated to the Czar. The Czar liked it so much that he had a book made for the poet which had banknotes in place of leaves. Meeting the poet, he asked how he liked the book. "So much" said the poet, "that I can hardly await the second volume." The Czar smiled and on the following day sent him another book like the first, but marked "Second and Last Volume."

Among the distinguished Parisians who attended the funeral of the composer Delibes were Dumas, Sardou, Halévy, Hervé, Jules Claretie, Leon Say, Reyer, Coquelin and many others.

DECKER BROTHERS' MATCHLESS PIANOS, 33 UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

La Scala, Milan, used to be one of most important opera theatres in the world. Of late, however, it has to a certain extent, suffered in common with most other Italian opera houses. The Italian Government have now appointed a commission to inquire into the causes and the remedy. Senators, lawyers, landowners, and even workmen are upon this committee, which, it is said, curiously enough, does not include a single professor of music.

Historians trace from the sacred dances of ancient Greece the dramatic art of the civilized world. Thus, in the Dionysian festivals, the wonderous life of the Wine-god was danced and sung; and from its solemn hymns and laughable jests arose tragedy and comedy.

"Cheerfulness will render the face of a plain woman handsome, if it be coupled with intelligence."
Rivarol.

The London St. James Gazette remarks: "When (long hence) the run of 'Ivanhoe' comes to an end, Mr. D'Oyly Carte could scarcely do better than produce a work which has only to be named to be at once recognized as the finest opera in the English language. No reference is intended either to the 'Bohemian Girl' or 'Maritana;' but simply to the 'Oberon' of Weber, which no opera-goer of the present day can have heard in its original shape. It is played occasionally in Germany—where we have seen it announced at the Berlin Opera House as 'translated from the French of Planché;' and a French version of it (by a Frenchman) has been played at the Theatre Lyrique of Paris. Mr. Mapleson, too, brought out some years ago an Italian version of 'Oberon,' with added recitatives by Sir Julius Benedict, Weber's favorite pupil. But never does it seem to have occurred to any of our managers to revive the work in its original language and its original form."

HERR ANTON SEIDL SAYS:

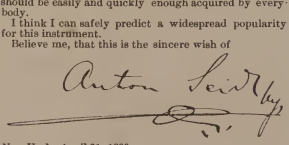
THE ÆOLIAN ORGAN & MUSIC CO.
831 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

MY DEAR SIRS!

Your Æolian Organ interested me greatly—so much so, that I take no hesitation in saying that I regard it as a very useful and meritorious invention. I can readily conceive that it will enable even those who cannot play, to produce on the "Aeolian" nearly everything to which they wish to listen, for the manual skill that is necessary should be easily and quickly enough acquired by everybody.

I think I can safely predict a widespread popularity for this instrument.

Believe me, that this is the sincere wish of



New York, April 21, 1890.

All the Wagner Operas, and every piece of music ever written can be obtained for the Æolian. Anyone can play it with a week's practice.

It is not true that Wagner disliked the French. "I am supposed to be bitterly disposed toward the French," he wrote; "And why? Because they hissed my 'Tannhauscr?' Is it certain that it was heard correctly? Auber could answer for me; into his ear I whispered my woes. The moment for earnest music had not then arrived. As regards the journalists, I cannot complain of them. I did not visit them as did Meyerbeer; yet Baudelaire, Champfleury and Schure have written the best articles on my works that have appeared. I am not as dissatisfied with Paris as report says."

DIE GOTTERDAMMERUNG.

PRELUDE.—Same scene as at end of "Siegfried." Having won and wedded Brünnhilde, Siegfried gives her, as a pledge, the ring which he had found in the Dragon's den, and departs in quest of nightly adventure.

ACT I.—King Gunther's castle at the Rhine. Hagen (son of Gunther's mother and of the Nibelung, Alberich, who wishes to recover the ring through Hagen), advises Gunther to marry Brünnhilde. But he knows that none but Siegfried can approach the rock of the Valkyries, where she lives. Siegfried's opportune arrival enables him to carry out a cunning plot. He brews a magic draught and Gutrune, the King's sister, hands it to Siegfried. It has the effect of making him fall in love with Gutrune and forget all about Brünnhilde. Gunther promises him his sister's hand if he will woo Brünnhilde for him. Siegfried accepts and departs with Gunther. Scene changes back to Brunnhilde. She is visited by her sister, Waltraute, who urges her to restore her to the Rhine maidens. But Brunnhilde refuses to part ring with this pledge of faith. Meanwhile Siegfried has followe Hagen's advice and put on the Tarnhelmet, which enables him to assume the form of Gunther. He arrives, seizes Brunnhilde, forcibly takes the ring from her, and next morning takes her down to the Rhine, where Gunther is waiting for her.

ACT II—Alberich meets Hagen, and once more urges him to secure the ring. Siegfried, thanks to the magic Tarnhelmet, arrives before Gunther and Brunnhilde. Hagen calls out his men to celebrate the King's Wedding. Brunnhilde is puzzled and indignant when she sees Siegfried as Gutrune's lover, and her anger reaches a climax when she sees her ring on his hand. She accuses him of treachery, and declares to the King that he won and enjoyed her love. Siegfrieds swears, on the point of Hagen's spear, that his sword rested bet ween him and Brunnhilde that night; but she pushes him away and swears that she was his bride. Great consternatin. Siegfried sneers at Borunnhilde as being a shrew and puts his arms around Gutrune and joins the wedding guests. Gunther, who feels disgraced, remains with Brunnhilde and Hagen. At the latter's suggestion, they conclude that Siegfried must die, and Brunnhilde confides to him that she has made him invulnerable, except on the back, because Siegfried would never turn his back to an enemy.

ACT III.—The three Rhine maidens lament the loss of their gold and implore the sun to send that way the hero who wears their ring. The prayer is heard. Siegfried pursuing a bear, gets seperated from his companions and accidentally comes across the Rhine maidens. They beg him for the ring, but he refuses, whereupon they prophecy his death that very day. Hagen, Gunther and the other hunters arrive and recognize Siegfried. Siegfried relates the story about Mime, the forrest bird, and the dragon—a charming musical and poetic synopsis of the whole "Siegfried" drama. When he gets to the place where he followed the bird to where Brunhilde lay asleep, Hagen gives him a drink mixed the juice of an herb. This restores his remembrance of his wooing of Brunnhilde, and he relates it, to Gunther's horror. Two ravens fly across the stage. As Siegfried turns to look after them, Hagen steps him in the back. The body is placed on his shield and carried up the hill, in the moonlight, to the sound of the majestic funeral march.

Scene changes back to royal palace. Siegfried's body is brought in and Gutrune throws herself on it. Hagen confesses he killed him, and claims the ring on his finger; but the corpse raises its hand in awful warning. At the moment Brunnhilde arrives. She orders a funeral byre to be built, and after a final lament throws a brand into it. Then she mounts her horse and dashes into the flames. Soon the fire collapses, and the Rhine rises and covers the fire-place, bearing on its waves the Rhine daughters, one of whom triumphily secures the ring. Hagen jumps in, and is dragged beneath the water. A red light is seen in the sky. Walhalla is in flames; the end of the gods has come.

Boito, the composer of 'Mefistofele, has for a number of years been at work on a new opera, "Nero." But he has repeatedly interrupted his labors in order to write a libretto for Verdi. At a recent banquet given in Milan, in Verdi's honor, he stated, however, that "Nero" would be ready for performance in 1892, as he is now at work on the last act. The opera has no overture, but opens with a chorus-march of great beauty for altos and children's voices, which accompanies the emperor on his way to the temple.

Dr. Hans von Bulow says that no one should call himself a pianist unless he knows at least fifty pieces by heart. Karl Merz heard a pianist play all of Mendelssohn's songs without wor sheet before sitting. When the blind Irish harpist Carolin heard one of Viotte's violin concertos he instantly repeated it on his harp although he had never heard it before. The blind flutist Dulken knew 120 concertos by heart and distinguished each by a certain number.

Sig. Mascagni is still the man of the day in Italy. He has been commissioned to write a cantata for the opening of the Exhibition at Palermo in 1892. He is now busily engaged in writing his opera founded on the tale of "Les Rantzau" by Erckman-Chatrian, which is also to be produced next autumn. Those who profess to know say that the overture is a very fine piece of music. Another opera of Mascagni's, "Guglielmo Ratcliff" (a work written before the "Cavalleria Rusticana"), is also to be performed next year. This is described as of a wierd and very original character.

SEASON 1890-1891.

The seventh regular season of GRAND OPERA IN GERMAN, will extend over a period of seventeen weeks, and will include fifty subscription nights and seventeen matinees.

The Directors desire, not only to give regular successful seasons of Opera, but to make the Opera House a permanent home for music in America, free from all distinction as to class or prejudice. It is their earnest wish to make the Opera House a school of art for all nationalities, and to that end it is proposed to produce several new works by French, German and Italian composers, for the first time in America during the coming season. Among these will be "Le Roi D'Ys," by Lalo; "Esclarmonde," by Massenet; "Asrael," by Franchetti; "The Vassal of Szigeth," by Smareglia; "The Templar and Jewess," (Ivanhoe), by Marschner, and "L'Allage," by Massenet, which last opera will be produced simultaneously here and in Paris.

The revivals will be of special interest, including "Carmen," "Hamlet," "Merry Wives of Windsor," and "The Taming of the Shrew," thus affording a repertoire so varied and attractive that it will appeal to all music lovers alike. Four new Ballets will probably be presented during the season: "Dresden China," "Le Reve," and "Nella."

FRENCH OPERATIC FINANCES.

The Grand Opera House, in Paris devours annually 3,600,000 francs. The architect, the inspector and the janitors receive together 14,700 francs for their services. The stage occupies twenty people, whose director, M. Gailhard, one of the administrators, receives an annual salary of 30,000 francs. The salaries of all the employees amount to 2,300,000 francs per year. For purchase of properties, repairs of the building, for heat and its illumination (the house contains 25,000 meters of gaspipes), for police and advertising is spent 1,300,000 francs every year. The stars receive together the sum of 831,000 francs per year. The choruses cost 214,830 francs, solo dancers and corps de ballet, 101,500 francs, the orchestra, 302,000 francs. The 96 persons employed on making, repairing the costumes draw together 147,500 francs. There are also 61 machinists, with a budget of 238,500 francs. The chief source of income are the 2,700 seats in the opera house, which are let in the first three balconies at an average of 15 francs. Those of the remaining two balconies cost about 6 francs. Most of the boxes are taken on long leases. Besides this the opera has an extra income of about 200,000 francs from the four annual carnival balls that are held there. But on the national holidays the representations must be free, and the prices for matinees are invariably reduced. The expenses surpass the income considerably, but the Grand Opera is liberally subsidized by the government.

At a recent lecture in London, a musician played on a couple of flutes that were found not long ago in an Egyptian tomb 3,000 years old. The critic of London Truth was not greatly impressed by them, for he wrote: "Until Mr. Southgate tried them, a few weeks ago, these archaic pipes had certainly not been played since the death of the lady of Fayoum in whose sarcophagus they were discovered, and who flourished before the days of King David of Israel. From the extraordinary sounds that they uttered—and their comparison to the drone of a bagpipe would be a scandalous libel upon the national instrument of Scotland—I am personally glad that my part in life did not lay in the duty of attending concerts in the days of the Dynasties."

JAPANESE TOPSY-TURVYDOM.

Japanese books begins at what we we call the end. Foot notes are printed at the top of a page. Wine is drank before and not after dinner, and the sweets come before the roast. Horses are mounted on the right side and when brought home their head is put where the tail ought to be and the animal is fed from a tub at the stable door. Babies are carried, not in arms, but on their backs. The best rooms in a house are at the back. Boats are hauled on the beach stern first. They do not say north-east and south-west but east north and west south. Letters are addressed in this way: America, New York, Fulton Street, 21 November, Smith, John, Mr.

Wagner states in one of his letters that Meyerbeer, for the performance of his "Huguenots" in Paris, had seven harps in the orchestra.

"It is only a few years," wrote Karl Merz, "that the American pianist, Gottschalk, amused his audiences by playing two tunes at the same time. If he were to come back to us, we would hardly dare to attempt such a thing again. Who brought about this change?"

The director of the Paris Academy of Fine Arts gave a Figaro reporter the following interesting information about the late Leo Delibes: "The last years of Delibes were devoted to a work after his own heart, Kassia, into which he intended to put the best there was in him and of which he felt capable. We shall hear Kassia; it is in the hands of a collaborator who will complete it; but Delibes will not hear his favorite work and this last crown will be veiled with crape."

DECKER BROTHERS' MATCHLESS PIANOS, 33 UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

In one of his letters to Heine (1852 Wagner wrote: "The small attention which G. paid to all my hints and directions appears to have made your hair stand on end! And yet Papa Fischer blames me so much for my Guide to 'Tannhauser'—he always imagines it to be my sole concern to see my operas performed, and that it is therefore unwise to make so many out-of-the-way demands. But I care absolutely nothing about my works being given: I am only anxious that that they should be so given as I intended; he who will not and cannot do that, let him leave them alone."

The present King of Bavaria is an incurable lunatic who constantly indulges in the most ludicrous schemes. His latest fad is to eat grass and to smoke cigarettes. But his favorite amusement is to shoot peasants (not pheasants). A number of peasants are hired to pass by his window, and the King fires at them with a shot gun loaded of course only with gunpowder. The peasants then tumble over as if they had been killed, and the King laughs delightedly.

Opera-goers are constantly using the words vibrato and tremolo, and yet few perhaps could tell wherein these two vocal habits exactly differ. The matter is complicated by the fact that the words do not mean the same thing in instrumental and vocal music. Violinists and Violincellists frequently produce a fine effect by a sort of rapid nervous shaking of the left hand without raising the finger from the string. This is called vibrato, while tremolo is the succession of sounds by rapidly moving the bow up and down on the same note. In vocal music, on the other hand, this apparent rapid iteration of the same note (really due to an alternate weakening and strengthening of the tone) is called vibrato, while the tremolo in vocal music resembles the instrumental vibrato. In vocal music both these habits are objectionable, except in very rare cases.

MY DEAR SIRS!

Your Æolian Organ interested me greatly—so much so, that I take no hesitation in saying that I regard it as a very useful and meritorious invention. I can readily conceive that it will enable even those who cannot play, to produce on the "Aeolian" nearly everything to which they wish to listen, for the manual skill that is necessary should be easily and quickly enough acquired by every body.

I think I can safely predict a widespread popularity for this instrument.

Believe me, that this is the sincere wish of

Metropolitan Conservatory of Music.

The Vocal Department in the Metropolitan Conservatory of Music advertises itself. New York and Brooklyn and the immediate vicinity give through its churches, self-supporting positions to nearly a hundred of its pupils. This embraces but four years of the school history. These positions were secured by competition, not by a word of influence on the part of the Directors. Our books are open for inspection. Does that not argue for the correctness of our methods in Voice Culture??

19 AND 21 EAST 14TH STREET.

DIE MEISTERSINGER.

ACT I.—Nuremburg, sixteenth century. Choral service in St. Catherine's Church, with orchestral interludes depicting the feelings of Walter, a young knight, towards Eva, the daughter of the goldsmith Pogner—a case of mutual love at first sight. On her way out, with her chaperone Magdelina, Walter accosts her and confesses his love, but hears she is no longer free as she is to be the bride of the winner at a coming public singing match of the Meistersinger (or Master-singers). Walter resolves to join their guild and become a competitor So he remains to be examined at their meeting. David, an apprentice, instructs him in regard to the pendantic mysteries and complicated rules for singing adopted by these master-singers. At last they appear in groups. Pogner announces what the prize is to be at the contest, and Walter, at his request, is examined—much to the disgust of the ugly and disagreeable Beckmesser, who proves to be Walter's only rival, all the other masters being married or widowers. Unfortunately, Beckmesser has chosen as secretie, to note down on a blackboard, behind a screen, every violation of Walter of the pedantic rules. Before Walter's song is half ended, he rushes out, his blackboard covered with marks. The shoe-maker poet, Hans Sachs speaks in Walter's favor, but is outvoted by the others, and Walter is rejected.

ACT II.—Narrow street. Hans Sachs' house to the left, Pogner's to the right. Apprentices make fun of David, who is in love with Magdelina. Eva hears of Walter's failure, and resolves to elope with him, but the appearance of the watchman compels them to hide. Once more they start, when the sound of a lute is heard. Beckmesser has come to serenade Eva. Just then, Sachs who wishes to prevent the elopement, moves out his bench, hammers away at a shoe, and sings humorous songs, constantly interrupting the angry Beckmesser's serenade. David comes out and seeing the disguised Magdelina at the window listening to the serenade intended for Eva, becomes jealous, and unmercifully beats Beckmesser. The tumult awakens all the neighbors, who rush into the street and join in the fight, till suddenly the watchman's horn is heard again, and all disperse.

ACT III.—Hans Sachs in his room reading and philosophizing. David comes in sings a charming song about St. John, and leaves Walter, who on account of the frustrated elopement, had spent the night with Sachs, comes down and tells of a wonderful dream he had—the melody of the well known prize-song. Sachs notes it down on paper. They leave. Beckmesser sneaks in and steals the song, thinking it is by the famous Sachs, and hoping to win the prize with it. Eva comes in to have her shoe fitted. Scene ends with the famous quintette. Last scene in meadow with city of Nuremberg in background. Popular festival, singing and dancing. Comic choruses of shoemakers, tailors and bakers. Grand procession of master-singers. Prize contest. Beckmesser sings first, but gets confused and sings amazing nonsense, until his voice is drowned by laughter. Sachs proposes that anyone who can properly sing that song, though not a member of the Trade Union, shall get the prize. All agree; Walter steps forward, sings it, and wins the bride.

Dr. Hans von Bulow says that no one should call himself a pianist unless he knows at least fifty pieces by heart. Karl Merz heard a pianist play all of Mendelssohn's songs without wor sfrom one sitting. When the blind Irish harpist Carolin heard one of Viotte's violin concertos, he instantly repeated it on his harp although he had never heard it before. The blind flutist Dulhon knew 125 concertos by heart and distinguished each by a certain number.

Sig. Mascagni is still the man of the day in Italy. He has been commissioned to write a cantata for the opening of the Exhibition at Palermo in 1892. He is now busily engaged in writing his opera founded on the tale of "Les Rantzau" by Erckman-Chatrian, which is to be produced next autumn. Those who profess to know say that the overture is a very fine piece of music. Another opera of Mascagni's, "Guglielmo Ratcliff" (a work written before the "Cavalleria Rusticana"), is also to be performed next year. This is described as of a wierd and very original character.

SEASON 1890-1891.

The seventh regular season of GRAND OPERA IN GERMAN, will extend over a period of seventeen weeks, and will include fifty subscription nights and seventeen matinees.

The Directors desire, not only to give regular successful season of Opera, but to make the Opera House a permanent home for music in America, free from all distinction as to class or prejudice. It is their earnest wish to make the Opera House a school of art for all nationalities, and to that end it is proposed to present several new works by French, German and Italian composers, for the first time in America during the coming season. Among these will be "Le Roi d'Ys," by Lalo; "Esclarmonde," by Massenet; "Asrael," by Franchetti; "The Vassal of Signeth," by Smareglia; "The Templar and Jewess," (Ivanhoe), by Marschner, and "Le Mage," by Massenet, which last opera will be produced simultaneously here and in Paris.

The revivals will be of special interest, including "Carmen," "Hamlet," "Merry Wives of Windsor," and "The Taming of the Shrew," thus affording a repertoire so varied and attractive that it will appeal to all music-lovers alike. Three new Ballets will probably be presented during the season: "Dresden China," "Le Reve," and "Nella."

FRENCH OPERATIC FINANCES.

The Grand Opera House, in Paris devours annually 3,600,000 francs. The architect, the inspector and the janitors receive together 14,700 francs for their services. The stage occupies twenty people, whose director, M. Gailhard, one of the administrators, receives an annual salary of 30,000 francs. The salaries of all the employees amount to 2,300,000 francs per year. For purchase of properties, repairs of the building, for heat and its illumination (the house contains 25,000 meters of gaspipes), for police and advertising is spent 1,300,000 francs every year. The stars receive together the sum of 831,000 francs per year. The choruses cost 214,830 francs, solo dancers and corps de ballet, 101,500 francs, the orchestra, 302,000 francs. The 56 persons employed on making, repairing the costumes draw together 147,500 francs. There are also 61 machinists, with a budget of 238,500 francs. The chief source of income are the 2,700 seats in the opera house, which are let in the first three balconies at an average of 15 francs, Those of the remaining two balconies cost about 6 francs. Most of the boxes are taken on long leases. Besides this the opera has an extra income of about 300,000 francs from the four annual carnival balls that are held there. But on the national holidays the representations must be free, and the prices for matinees are invariably reduced. The expenses surpass the income considerably, but the Grand Opera is liberally subsidized by the government.

At a recent lecture in London, a musician played on a couple of flutes that were found not long ago in an Egyptian tomb 3,000 years old. The critic of London Truth was not greatly impressed by them, for he wrote: "Until Mr. Southgate tried them, a few weeks ago, these archaic pipes had certainly not been played since the death of the lady of Fayoum in whose sarcophagus they were discovered, and who flourished before the days of King David of Israel. From the extraordinary sounds that they uttered—and their comparison to the drone of a bagpipe would be a scandalous libel upon the national instrument of Scotland—I am personally glad that my part in life did not lay in the duty of attending concerts in the days of the Dynasties."

JAPANESE TOPSY-TURVYDOM.

Japanese books begins at what we we call the end. Foot notes are printed at the top of a page. Wine is drank before and not after dinner, and the sweets come before the roast. Horses are mounted on the right side and when brought home their head is put where the tail ought to be and the animal is fed from a tub at the stable door. Babies are carried not in arms, but on their backs. The best rooms in a house are at the back. Boats are hauled on the beach stern first. They do not say north-east and south-west but east north and west south. Letters are addressed in this way: America, New York, Fulton Street, 21 November, Smith, John, Mr.

Wagner states in one of his letters that Meyerbeer, for the performance of his "Hugnenots" in Paris, had seven harps in the orchestra.

"It is only a few years," wrote Karl Merz, "that the American pianist, Gottschalk, amused his audiences by playing two tunes at the same time. If he were to come back to us, we would hardly dare to attempt such a thing again. Who brought about this change?"

The director of the Paris Academy of Fine Arts gave a Figaro reporter the following interesting information about the late Leo Delibes: "The last years of Delibes were devoted to a work after his own heart, Kassia, into which he intended to put the best there was in him and of which he felt capable. We shall hear Kassia; it is in the hands of a collaborator who will complete it; but Delibes will not hear his favorite work and this last crown will be veiled with crape."

In one of his letters to Heine (1852 Wagner wrote: "The small attention which G. paid to all my hints and directions appears to have made your hair stand on end! And yet Papa Fischer blames me so much for my Guide to 'Tannhauser'—he always imagines it to be my sole concern to see my operas performed, and that it is therefore unwise to make so many out-of-the-way demands. But I care absolutely nothing about my works being given: I an only anxious that that they should be so given as I intended: he who will not and cannot do that, let him leave them alone."

The present King of Bavaria is an incurable lunatic who constantly indulges in the most ludicrous schemes. His latest fad is to eat grass and to smoke cigarettes. But his favorite amusement is to shoot peasants (not pheasants). A number of peasants are hired to pass by his window, and the King fires at them with a shot gun loaded of course only with gunpowder. The peasants then tumble over as if they had been killed, and the King laughs delightedly.

Opera-goers are constantly using the words vibrato and tremolo, and yet few perhaps could tell wherein these two vocal habits exactly differ. The matter is complicated by the fact that the words do not mean the same thing in instrumental and vocal music. Violinists and Violincellists frequently produce a fine effect by a sort of rapid nervous shaking of the left hand without raising the finger from the string. This is called vibrato, while tremolo is the succession of sounds by rapidly moving the bow up and down on the same note. In vocal music, on the other hand, this apparent rapid iteration of the same note (really due to an alternate weakening and strengthening of the tone) is called vibrato, while the tremolo in vocal music resembles the instrumental vibrato. In vocal music both these habits are objectionable, except in very rare cases.

HERR ANTON SEIDL SAYS:

THE ÆOLIAN ORGAN & MUSIC CO.
831 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

MY DEAR SIRS!

Your Æolian Organ interested me greatly—so much so, that I take no hesitation in saying that I regard it as a very useful and meritorious invention. I can readily conceive that it will enable even those who cannot play, to produce on the "Aeolian" nearly everything to which they wish to listen, for the manual skill that is necessary should be easily and quickly enough acquired by everybody.

I think I can safely predict a widespread popularity for this instrument.

Believe me, that this is the sincere wish of

Anton Seidl

New York, April 21, 1890.

All the Wagner Operas, and every piece of music ever written can be obtained for the Æolian. Anyone can play it with a week's practice.

Metropolitan Conservatory of Music.

The Vocal Department in the Metropolitan Conservatory of Music advertises itself. New York and Brooklyn and the immediate vicinity give through its churches, self-supporting positions to nearly a hundred of its pupils. This embraces but four years of the school history. These positions were secured by competition, not by a word of influence on the part of the Directors. Our doors are open for inspection. Does that not argue for the correctness of our methods in Voice Culture??

19 AND 21 EAST 14TH STREET.

DIE GOTTERDAMMERUNG.

PRELUDE.—Same scene as at end of "Siegfried." Having won and wedded Brünnhilde, Siegfried gives her, as a pledge, the ring which he had found in the Dragon's den, and departs in quest of nightly adventure.

ACT I.—King Gunther's castle at the Rhine. Hagen (son of Gunther's mother and of the Nibelung, Alberich, who wishes to recover the ring through Hagen), advises Gunther to marry Brünnhilde. But he knows that none but Siegfried can approach the rock of the Valkyries, where she lives. Siegfried's opportune arrival enables him to carry out a cunning plot. He brews a magic draught and Gutrune, the King's sister, hands it to Siegfried. It has the effect of making him fall in love with Gutrune and forget all about Brünnhilde. Gunther promises him his sister's hand if he will woo Brünnhilde for him. Siegfried accepts and departs with Gunther. Scene changes back to Brunnhilde. She is visited by her sister, Waltraute, who urges her to restore her to the Rhine maidens. But Brunnhilde refuses to part ring with this pledge of faith. Meanwhile Siegfried has followe Hagen's advice and put on the Tarnhelmet, which enables him to assume the form of Gunther. He arrives, seizes Brunnhilde, forcibly takes the ring from her, and next morning takes her down to the Rhine, where Gunther is waiting for her.

ACT II—Alberich meets Hagen, and once more urges him to secure the ring. Siegfried, thanks to the magic Tarnhelmet, arrives before Gunther and Brunnhilde. Hagen calls out his men to celebrate the King's Wedding. Brunnhilde is puzzled and indignant when she sees Siegfried as Gutrune's lover, and her anger reaches climax when she sees her ring on his hand. She accuses him of treachery, and declares to the King that he won and enjoyed her love. Siegfrieds swears, on the point of Hagen's spear, that his sword rested between himand Brunnhilde that night; but she pushes him away and swears that she was his bride. Great consternatin. Siegfried sneers at Borunnhilde as being a shrew and puts his arms around Gutrune and joins the wedding guests. Gunther, who feels disgraced, remains with Brunnhilde and Hagen. At the latter's suggestion, they conclude that Siegfried must die, and Brunnhilde confides to him that she has made him invulnerable, except on the back, because Siegfried would never turn his back to an enemy.

ACT III.—The three Rhine maidens lament the loss of their gold and implore the sun to send that way the hero who wears their ring. The prayer is heard. Siegfried pursueing a bear, gets seperated from his companions and accidentally comes across the Rhine maidens. They beg him for the ring, but he refuses, whereupon they prophecy his death by very day. Hagen, Gunther and the other hunters arrive and prepare for a feast. Siegfried relates the story about Mime, the forrest bird, and the dragon—a charming musical and poetic synopsis of the whole "Siegfried" drama. When he gets to the place where he followed the bird to where Brunnhilde lay asleep, Hagen gives him a drink mixed the juice of an herb. This restores his remembrance of his wooing of Brunnhilde, and he relates it, to Gunther's horror. Two ravens fly across the stage. As Siegfried turns to look after them, Hagen stabs him in the back. The body is placed on his shield and carried up the hill, in the moonlight, to the sound of the majestic funeral march.

Scene changes back to royal palace. Siegfried's body is brought in and Gutrune throws herself on it. Hagen confesses he killed him, and claims the ring on his finger; but the corpse raises its hand in awful warning. At the moment Brunnhilde arrives. She orders a funeral pyre to be built, and after a final lament throws a brand into it. Then she mounts her horse and dashes into the flames. Soon the fire collapses, and the Rhine rises and covers the fire-place, bearing on its waves the Rhine daughters, one of whom triumphly secures the ring. Hagen jumps in, and is dragged beneath the water. A red light is seen in the sky. Walhalla is in flames; the end of the gods has come.

ADMIRABLE FACULTY.

With no end in view but the improvement of knowledge and the consequent education of the public side with no other revenue than that contributed by lovers of music and the very small returns derived from the nominal tuition charged; and with no contribution whatever from talented candidates for admission unable to pay for high class tuition, it is believed that the National Conservatory addresses itself to all patriotic and music loving Americans as a

San Francisco, Feb. 19, 1890.

MESSRS. BENJ. CURTAZ & SON :

Gentlemen—It affords me great pleasure to tender my sincerest appreciation for the magnificent Steck piano you so kindly sent me at my request, for use during my engagement in your city.

The Steck piano surely combines all the essential qualities of a really perfect piano, immense power with exquisite sweetness.

I do not hesitate to recommend them very strongly to professional and amateur singers, for they aid the human voice to a wonderful degree.

Wishing you the success the Steck so richly deserves.

I am, believe me, very truly yours,

THE CHOPIN CYCLUS.

Vladimir De Pachmann, has been engaged by Messrs Chickering & Sons to give a brief series of concerts in New York, Boston, and a few of the principal cities in the United States. The distinguished Russian Pianist, in the opinion of the foremost critics of England, France, Germany and Russia, is absolutely unrivaled as an exponent of Chopin's compositions. The popularity of Chopin's music, its worth as an educational factor, and the undisputed rank of Mr. De Pachmann as a Chopin interpreter and expounder, is a sufficient guarantee that the De Pachmann recitals and concerts will find immediate favor with the musical public. The New York and Boston Cycluses will include three recitals and one concert with orchestra.

The recitals in New York will take place at Chickering Hall, on the 7th, 8th and 9th of April; and on Friday, the 11th of April a grand concert with orchestra will be given, on which occasion Mme. Marguerite De Pachmann will make her first appearance in America.

The Sarasate-D'Albert Concert combination, after a very successful engagement in San Francisco, where they met with an enthusiastic welcome and continued and increasing interest, are on their way to Mexico. They will give six or eight concerts in that city, beginning Easter Sunday, and will, no doubt, win golden laurels from Mexican audiences.

REAL SILK WARP HENRIETTAS
Are made only in Bradford, England. Those manufactured by the Priestleys, of Bradford, are certainly as fine as silk by the purchaser, since they are of pure silk, pure wool, and pure and unchangeable dye, superior in softness and beauty, very durable, and handsome as long as they last.
The list of Priestley Fabrics includes all new and desirable Weaves, both silk and wool and all wool. They never fray, slip, crock, nor change color under additional severity they are all sales on the "Farmshed Board," and stamped on the under side of the selvedge, every five yards, with the name H. Priestley & Co. in gilt letters.
They are for sale by the principal dealers throughout the United States, and in New York city by James McCreery & Co., B. Altman & Co., Edward A. Morrison, Stern Brothers, Lord & Taylor, Jackson's Mourning Store, Simpson, Crawford & Simpson, and others.
